

The image shows a sunlit courtyard with a central fountain. The fountain has several jets of water spraying upwards. The courtyard is paved with light-colored stone tiles. In the background, a building with a light-colored facade and a tall, narrow bell tower with a pointed roof is visible. The walls of the courtyard are covered in climbing roses, mostly red, with some white roses on the right. Several large terracotta pots with various flowers, including red and yellow roses, are placed around the courtyard. The sky is a clear, bright blue.

THE GARDEN MUSEUM

A DEDICATION

The majority of the items included in this catalogue serve as a tribute to the amazing passion of Mr. Takeo Horiuchi, a Japanese real-estate entrepreneur from Nagoya and a descendant of the powerful feudal shogun family which had relocated to the city from Kiyosu in the Aichi Prefecture some 400 years previously. In 1992 Mr. Horiuchi embarked on a personal mission spanning 20 years to assemble the world's finest collection of turn-of-the-century artefacts spearheaded by the most spectacular creations of Louis C. Tiffany and the designers and craftsmen working under his supervision.

During the two decades of his active pursuit of Tiffany's trophy artworks, Mr. Horiuchi was a constant fixture at New York City's auctions. In addition, he sought out and acquired masterpieces from private collectors and dealers to add to his ever growing holdings. As his collection expanded in size and importance, Mr. Horiuchi decided to create a museum by which to share it with the general public. Inaugurated in Nagoya in October, 1994, the opening event was accompanied by a catalogue illustrating 77 of the collection's works, the first of a series of annual publications.

Concerned about the likelihood of earthquakes in the area, Mr. Horiuchi decided to relocate his museum to the tourist resort of Matsue, located by the Sea of Japan on the western edge of the country. After four years of planning, the new facility opened in 2001. The location proved to be less accessible to visitors than anticipated, so he decided to construct an alternative museum at the foot of Mount Fuji. On March 31, 2007, the Matsue venue was closed. The planning for the new museum was under way when in March 2011, Japan was stricken by a series of devastating earthquakes. The subsequent seismology report issued by the Japanese government brought an abrupt halt to the plans for the expanded new Tiffany museum, as three earthquakes of Richter scale 8 magnitude were predicted around Mount Fuji within the next three decades. A glass museum, one housing the world's premier Tiffany Studios holdings, was unthinkable under the weight of such a cataclysmic forecast, bringing Mr. Horiuchi's unwavering art odyssey to a close. Out of concern and love for his precious collection, now comprising 620 artworks, Mr. Horiuchi elected not to proceed with his plans, allowing the fruits of his treasure-hunting years to leave the nation's shores for a safer home elsewhere, which occurred in a sale the next year to an equally consummate art lover and window collector, Allen Michaan of California. For diehard Tiffany enthusiasts in the United States, the unimaginable happened: the world's unrivalled collection, thought gone forever, was heading home. Mr Horiuchi's final auction purchase occurred in New York in March 2011, a week following the Fukushima nuclear meltdown and subsequent coastal tsunami that ravaged the norther shore of his homeland, proof that his appetite for collecting remained insatiable even after that unforeseen disaster.

Mr. Horiuchi's focus on the entire gamut of artistic disciplines in which Louis C. Tiffany worked set him apart from other Tiffany collectors, the majority of whom have traditionally selected one or more categories on which to focus their interest, i.e., lamps, windows, glassware. Mr. Horiuchi chose to concentrate on the twelve media in which Tiffany Studios operated, adding to these an inventory of archival records, including the firm's brochures, Price Lists, advertisements, and a selection of the materials and tools used by its workers to assemble the firm's various creations, such as its wooden lampshade molds, soldering irons and sheets of Favrite glassware, in so doing educating his audience on Tiffany's manufacturing process.

Combining a disarming charm with theatrical gestures and a smattering of comic English phrases that together served as an effective negotiating cocktail, Mr. Horiuchi brought chuckles to collectors and dealers alike as they sparred with him over the prices of those prized artworks he wished to acquire. Levity was further injected into his purchases in the early 1990s when wide swings in the exchange rate between the dollar and the Japanese yen occurred almost daily. Mr. Horiuchi would make his offer in yen, which led to inevitable confusion as the ongoing negotiations went back and forth, both sides checking the day's currency exchange rate repeatedly and scrambling to adjust their prices accordingly on their calculators. Often it was initially unclear in which currency the price had been agreed. On those occasions when the rate provided a stronger yen a day or two after an auction Mr. Horiuchi would advise the house's cashier that he would pay for his purchase at that day's rate, not the one on the sale date, flustering the cashier as he stammered to explain that this was not allowed, until the twinkle in Mr. Horiuchi's eye revealed the joke and generated joint laughter.

With the subsequent dispersal of his collection, Mr. Horiuchi will remain a giant in the Tiffany world with his achievements memorialized by his dedication to 'The Pursuit of Beauty', the phrase that Louis C. Tiffany had used to explain the creed that empowered his own artistic ambitions more than a century earlier.

WONDROUS PLUMAGE

TIFFANY'S EYE FOR BEAUTY

Peacocks played an integral role in innumerable facets of Louis Tiffany's artistic career and personal life. His many early trips to England and constant research through books and photographs were highly influential, especially the publicity generated by such works as William Morris' popular Peacocks and Dragons curtains made in 1878. He was also certainly aware of James Whistler's internationally famous Peacock Room that was completed the previous year and was favorably mentioned in Tiffany's 1914 authorized biography.

Tiffany was additionally very familiar, through his study of ancient cultures, Asian art and Christian symbolism, of the bird's iconographic significance throughout history. The peacock represented immortality to the ancient Romans because they thought its flesh was impervious to decay after death. Early Christians readily adapted this belief for their own theology. To them, the bird's ability to shed its feathers each year and then grow new plumage even more wondrous was symbolic of Christ's resurrection. In Asian societies, the Japanese used the peacock to represent kindness, love and selflessness, while the Chinese believed the bird promoted peace and guarded the world.

The bird also appears on occasion in Tiffany's personal life. He had vases filled with peacock feathers decorating his early residence in the Bella apartments. And peacocks, "which but a few days ago strutted about the beautiful lawns of the Tiffany place," were the unfortunate center of attention at his famous 1914 fête held at Laurelton Hall where the birds, still with full plumage, were served as the main course at dinner.

On an artistic level, Tiffany regularly incorporated peacocks into his works, beginning as early as 1881 when his glass mosaic panel at the newly-built Union League Club in New York City included the birds "treated in the Venetian manner." Later, the centerpiece of Tiffany's famous chapel created for the 1893 Columbian Exposition in Chicago was a superlative mosaic reredos comprised of two large peacocks. The peacock later appears in his jewelry, enamelware, leaded glass table lamps, blown glass objects and paintings. However, Tiffany's finest representation of the peacock were those featured in the leaded glass windows made by his firms.

The window offered here is perhaps the most resplendent depiction of a peacock ever fashioned by Tiffany Studios. A glorious bird, with a green-streaked sapphire body, stands proudly in the center, his neck slightly turned and detailed head and crest in profile. The plumage is spectacular. The "eyes," comprised of sapphire and emerald glass bordered in violet, lavender and apricot, are set among incredible feathers that are almost flamelike in appearance. Shading from a fiery red to paler shades tinged with purple, green and yellow, the plumage gradually shifts to a cooler palette of blues, aquamarines and greens.

Despite the magnificence of the peacock, the viewer is drawn to the finely crafted single crimson and scarlet rose laying at the bird's feet. The flower, detached from its bush and just beginning to wilt, might indicate the window's overall intent as a memorial, as the peacock represents victory over death, while the fallen rose symbolizes a lost love.

The window, possibly designed by Louis Tiffany himself, superbly demonstrates the full potential of his Favrite glass to reproduce any color or scene without the use of paints or stains. Although Tiffany Studios fashioned many windows featuring peacocks, the one offered here is conceivably the finest and most iconic example ever produced in its long history.

A RIPPLE EFFECT

TIFFANY'S RARE DRAGONFLY CHANDELIER

Louis Tiffany was captivated by nature in all of its many components, including insects. His artistic work throughout his life, that included wallpaper, enamels, mosaics, blown glass and jewelry, highlighted various creatures, such as butterflies and spiders. But none were perhaps as successfully utilized as the dragonfly. The insect appealed to Tiffany for a number of reasons, foremost perhaps being the dazzling and glistening multi-hued iridescence of its colorful body. But his intimate knowledge of Asian culture also played a major role in its attraction to him. The Chinese associated the dragonfly with prosperity, harmony and good fortune, while to the Japanese the dragonfly symbolized power and agility. It therefore should come as no surprise that the dragonfly was frequently incorporated into the leaded glass lamp shades produced by Tiffany's companies.

Proper credit for the designs of the initial dragonfly lamp shades deservedly goes to Clara Driscoll and Alice Gouvy, two of the so-called "Tiffany Girls," who developed the motif in 1899. Louis Tiffany, however, played the critical role in the model being manufactured in the first place. Despite the concerns of his accountants that the shade was too expensive to make and would never be profitable, Tiffany ignored their apprehensions and ordered the shade be put into production. His decision to place aesthetics over economics was proven to be justified when an early example was displayed at the 1900 Paris Exposition. Driscoll was awarded a bronze medal for the lamp and the Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company was presented with a gold medal for their work in electric lighting. The result was a lamp shade that achieved tremendous popularity.

Tiffany produced the Dragonfly shade in several shapes and sizes, both as table lamps and as chandeliers. Of all the variations, the hanging shade offered here is among the most exceptional. The model is listed in the company's 1906 Price List as "616. 28" DRAGON FLY, flying round, straight side, circular, complete $175," making it the second most expensive chandelier offered by Tiffany at the time. The model is exceptionally rare and was produced for less than five years. There are four known examples that depict dragonflies in flight on a rippled background, but this particular chandelier is likely unique, with drop-head dragonflies creating an irregular lower border.

The design features nine descending dragonflies with amber jewels for eyes, and bodies of bright green rippled opalescent glass. The green and blue-streaked filigreed wings are of smooth translucent glass that creates a wonderful contrast with the textured bodies. More extraordinary than the dragonflies is the shade's background. Each section of the green-streaked sapphire blue glass is deeply ruffled. The "Tiffany Girl" responsible for selecting the glass for the shade made certain that no two neighboring pieces had their textures going in the same direction, beautifully establishing the effect of dragonflies hovering over a pond with wind-blown rippling water. The smooth transparent jewels and cabochons of periwinkle, cerulean and emerald green are superb counterpoints to the rippled glass of the background.

Dragonfly chandeliers are rarely available and this is perhaps the finest example ever to be offered at auction. The shade brilliantly exhibits the unrivalled designing genius, the unexcelled skill of the glass selector, as well as the incomparable glass itself, that brought, and continues to bring, Louis Tiffany and his works international acclaim.

Louis Comfort Tiffany came across the young John Dikeman in 1889 as he was stepping out of his limousine at the Tiffany Glass factory in Corona, Queens. He offered the boy a job on the factory floor carrying out menial tasks such as sweeping glass shards. Dikeman's family later recalled that he had walked from Manhattan to the Queens plant in search of employment, but was initially turned away because of his young age. Dikeman began work for Tiffany that year, at the age of nine, and remained there until the firm's closure in 1932, by which time he was foreman of the Lamp Shop.

Louis Comfort Tiffany entrusted his lamp-making process to a select group of employees, an elite cohort which came to include Dikeman. When Tiffany Studios closed their doors, John Dikeman retained some of the lamp shop's equipment, which he used for the restorations and special commissions he undertook at his Flushing residence near the site of his life-long employer. A selection of this paraphernalia, including lamp molds, patterns, glass samples, and lamp making tools, is offered in lot 407.

Included among the items Dikeman reserved was an original watercolor cartoon illustrating the design for a 20-inch 'Poppy' lampshade, as well as several bronze filigree sections that were placed as overlays on the leaves and blossom centers (lot 408). The lot is additionally accompanied by an uncolored, numbered outline drawing that was used as a pattern for cutting glass pieces. This component material discloses the skill and intense labor that went into crafting each Tiffany Studios work, and brings to life the rich history of the esteemed glass workshop and those who worked there.

The "Dragonfly" is one of Tiffany Studios' earliest recorded lampshade designs: designed by Clara Driscoll, it made its debut in Siegfried Bing's 1899 exhibition L'Art Nouveau at the Grafton Gallery in London, identified as a "Dragon-fly design," presented on a blown glass base, and illustrated in Tiffany Studios 1899 catalogue Lamps and Fixtures. In April 1900, an article in The House Beautiful celebrated Tiffany's latest development in combining metal with Favrite glass and their advancement in the manufacture of electrical fixtures: "Metal and glass are twin products of fire, and their joint use is very appropriate. A dragon-fly design is of richly colored leaded glass, with large dragon-flies and water-flowers."

In 1904, a "Dragonfly and Waterflowers" shade appears illustrated on a mosaic glass base, described as "Mrs. Driscoll's Paris Prize Dragon Fly Lamp." Driscoll was the head of the Women's Glass Cutting Department at Tiffany Studios and worked there for seventeen years. In an article from April 17, 1904, she was highlighted in The New York Daily News as one of the few American women who earned $10,000 or more per year. She references the design in her letter: "This Dragonfly lamp is an idea that I had last summer and which Alice [Gouvy] worked out on a plaster mould. . . After she had made the drawing on this plaster mould I took it in hand and we worked and worked on it till the cost built up at such a rate that they had to mark it $250.00 when it was finished and everybody, even Mr. Belknap, thought it was impractical on account of the cost, but. . . then Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Belknap said—It is very original and makes talk, so perhaps it is not a bad investment. Then Mr. Tiffany got wind and came down and said it was the most interesting lamp in the place and then a rich woman bought it and then Mr. Tiffany said she couldn't have it, he wanted it to go to London and have another one made for her and one to go to Paris."

The "Dragonfly and Waterflowers" design was still in production in 1906, identified as "model 1467, 16 in. Dragonfly and water flowers design" and priced at $90 in the 1906 Price List. Less than five examples of the model are known to exist, including an example on a blown glass base in the collection of the Corning Museum of Glass, New York (inv. 2013.4.4).

This rare "Dragonfly and Waterflowers" shade on a spectacular "Dragonfly" mosaic base, is a stunning example of a significant turning point in the history of Tiffany Studios.

TIFFANY'S SUPERB VIEW

BRINGING NATURE INDOORS

Louis Tiffany's knowledge of botany was nearly on par with that of a professional horticulturist, as his having been on the managing board of the New York Botanical Gardens attests. His adoration of flowers played an integral role in all facets of his life and this love was on full display at Laurelton Hall, the artist's 580-acre estate in Oyster Bay, Long Island.

With the assistance of head gardener William Donald and 35 to 40 other full-time gardeners on the estate's permanent staff, Louis Tiffany landscaped the property in much the same way as he would paint on a giant canvas, planting numerous swaths of flowers, trees and colorful shrubs over wide expanses of land. An enormous greenhouse on site also enabled the interior of the mansion to be continually decorated from end to end with potted plants and cut flowers.

The intent of many of Tiffany's leaded glass windows for his domestic commissions was to create a seamless transition from indoors to outdoors by replicating exterior landscapes featuring flowers. As early as 1878, well before he began producing windows commercially, Tiffany created an element for his own rooms at the Bella apartments to accomplish this goal: "Speaking of flowers, we are to have a window garden. See how I have anticipated it by painting, on the side of the window casing, vines and leaves, carrying them to the top of the window in this conventional manner. Thus the contrast between flowers and window casing will not be so abrupt and startling. Nothing must stand isolated in the room, but, by means of art, all are subtly connected."

That was exactly Tiffany's intent again with the window offered here, made approximately thirty years later for the dining room at Laurelton Hall. The inspiration originated from his fondness for flowering vines, especially the wisteria. The Japanese variety, originally simply called the "blue vine," was brought to the United States in 1830 and eventually named after the American anatomist and physician Caspar Wistar. In addition to being familiar with the plant's incredible appearance when blooming, Tiffany was likely also well aware that the wisteria in Japan symbolized long life and immortality, as well as signifying love and tenderness. His adoration for the vine is obvious, as he planned for wisteria to grow over large sections of the mansion and elsewhere on the estate.

The Laurelton Hall dining room was bordered at one end by the centrally-situated Smoking Room and at the other end with a set of glass doors that allowed a spectacular view of Oyster Bay and led outdoors to the Daffodil Terrace. A visitor to the house in 1914 offered the following description:

The dining room represents a subtle adaptation of Chinese themes. As is everywhere manifest at Laurelton, the motif, wherever it be, has first passed through the crucible of Mr. Tiffany's fancy. Emerging, it is something new, unique—a distinct decorative entity. This room particularly discloses the touch of the alchemist. Frieze, walls, floors and furniture make up a composition which escapes all possibility of confusion with a type.

During the spring and summer months, diners had a colorful view of the canopy of blossoming wisteria vines growing directly outside. In the fall and winter, however, the view was considerably drearier. Tiffany, being a supreme colorist, needed something that would enliven the room and at the same time complement its basic blue and white theme. His solution was to place a set of seven leaded glass transom windows depicting flowering wisteria directly above the doors leading outside.

This is the only window of the seven created that is in private hands; the other six are in the permanent collection of the Charles Hosmer Morse Museum of American Art (Winter Park, FL). A large brown, plum and light yellow vine extends upward on one side and branches out horizontally over a pale olive and green trellis. Descending from the branches are a multitude of lush opalescent racemes in brilliant shades of navy, cobalt, violet and lavender among brown-streaked green foliage. The delicately beautiful background replicates the approach of dusk, shading from an opalescent deep blue on top to a purple-streaked translucent blue in the middle that continues to blue-tinged transparent glass at the bottom.

Items with a documented Laurelton Hall provenance rarely come onto the market and are rightfully considered to be artistic and historical treasures. Louis Tiffany supervised every aspect of the estate's interior design and this panel explicitly and superbly captures his decorating virtuosity. The window is an extraordinary reminder of Tiffany's unsurpassed talent for translating his abiding love of nature into transcending works of art.

PARADISE LOST

THE CROSS-CULTURAL SPLENDOR OF TIFFANY'S LAURELTON HALL

Completed in 1905, Laurelton Hall was perhaps Louis Comfort Tiffany's greatest artistic achievement. Wholly designed by Tiffany, the eighty-four room, eight-level Aesthetic movement showpiece sat on nearly 600 acres overlooking Oyster Bay, Long Island. The entirety of the estate took more than two years to complete at a cost of over two million dollars. Not only did Tiffany specify every detail of the architecture to his exacting standards, but also the creation of the sprawling gardens, the Romanesque terraces, and abundant fountains and pools.

As reflected in Tiffany's many art forms, the exoticism of other worlds clearly presided at Laurelton Hall. An impressive pair of towering ceramic Ming-style Chinese seated Buddhist lions over five feet tall guarded the entrance to the Loggia. These cross-cultural influences seen on the exterior of Laurelton Hall were also witnessed on the interior. The 'Main Hall,' featuring an impressive recessed central fountain, was surrounded by Byzantine influenced mosaic tiles covering the walls and extending up two-floors, with limestone columns topped by Asian-inspired capitals at the uppermost registers. A 'Chinese Carved Red and Gold Lacquer Octagonal Room' displayed lacquer wares from China and Japan, from the Ming dynasty and Edo period and beyond. And the 'American Indian Room,' with multiple shelves holding early basket weavings from the Klickitat and Salishan tribes of North America's Pacific Northwest, captivated any visitor to Laurelton Hall. The estate was also home to one of the most important Ming Dynasty Imperial Palace carpets ever created (sold at Christie's New York, 14 October 2020, lot 20, $1,710,000). Amongst this symphony of stimuli seen in the furniture and objects, Tiffany placed the best examples of his Studios' glass in the form of lighting, Favrite glass vases, and impressive stained glass windows. One such example was the transom window for the dining room. This handsome border of cascading Wisteria allowed for easterly light to flood in and blur the line between interior and exterior (see lot 410, the important Wisteria transom, which is one of the original seven created for the estate). Nature was clearly paramount in Tiffany's surroundings.

In 1918, Tiffany created the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation, which established Laurelton Hall as a retreat and study center for young artists. Of the eighty-four rooms in the immense structure, many were converted to art galleries of every variety with paintings by several important artists of the time, including a collection of work by Louis Comfort Tiffany himself. This melting pot of artistic notions and pioneering craftsmanship provided a breeding ground for education and innovation in American art. In 1946, thirteen years after Tiffany's death, the Foundation made the difficult decision to liquidate and sell the contents of Laurelton Hall. Parke-Bernet Galleries held the enormous sale of 1,147 lots, Objects of Art of Three Continents and Antique Oriental Rugs, The Extensive Collection of the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation, 24-28 September 1946 (see lot 413). The order of sale provided a mix of Tiffany Studio works such as chandeliers, lighting, cabinet vases, enamels and more, along with Egyptian and Roman Antiquities, historic textiles and carpets, Native American baskets, Japanese netsuke and lacquers, and Chinese jades, pottery and porcelains.

Sadly, in 1957, the Laurelton Hall estate sustained a fire which consumed much of the structure and left little in its wake. Hugh McKean, a one-time artist in residence and Foundation trustee, and his wife, Jeanette Genius McKean, salvaged what they could from the ruins in order to preserve the glory of the once renowned estate. Key architectural elements that were saved were generously donated to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York upon the renovations of the American Art wing in 1978. The largest portion of the treasures from Laurelton Hall can be found in the Charles Hosmer Morse Museum of American Art (Winter Park, Florida).

THE PASSION OF THE COLLECTOR

BRUCE RANDALL AT LAURELTON HALL

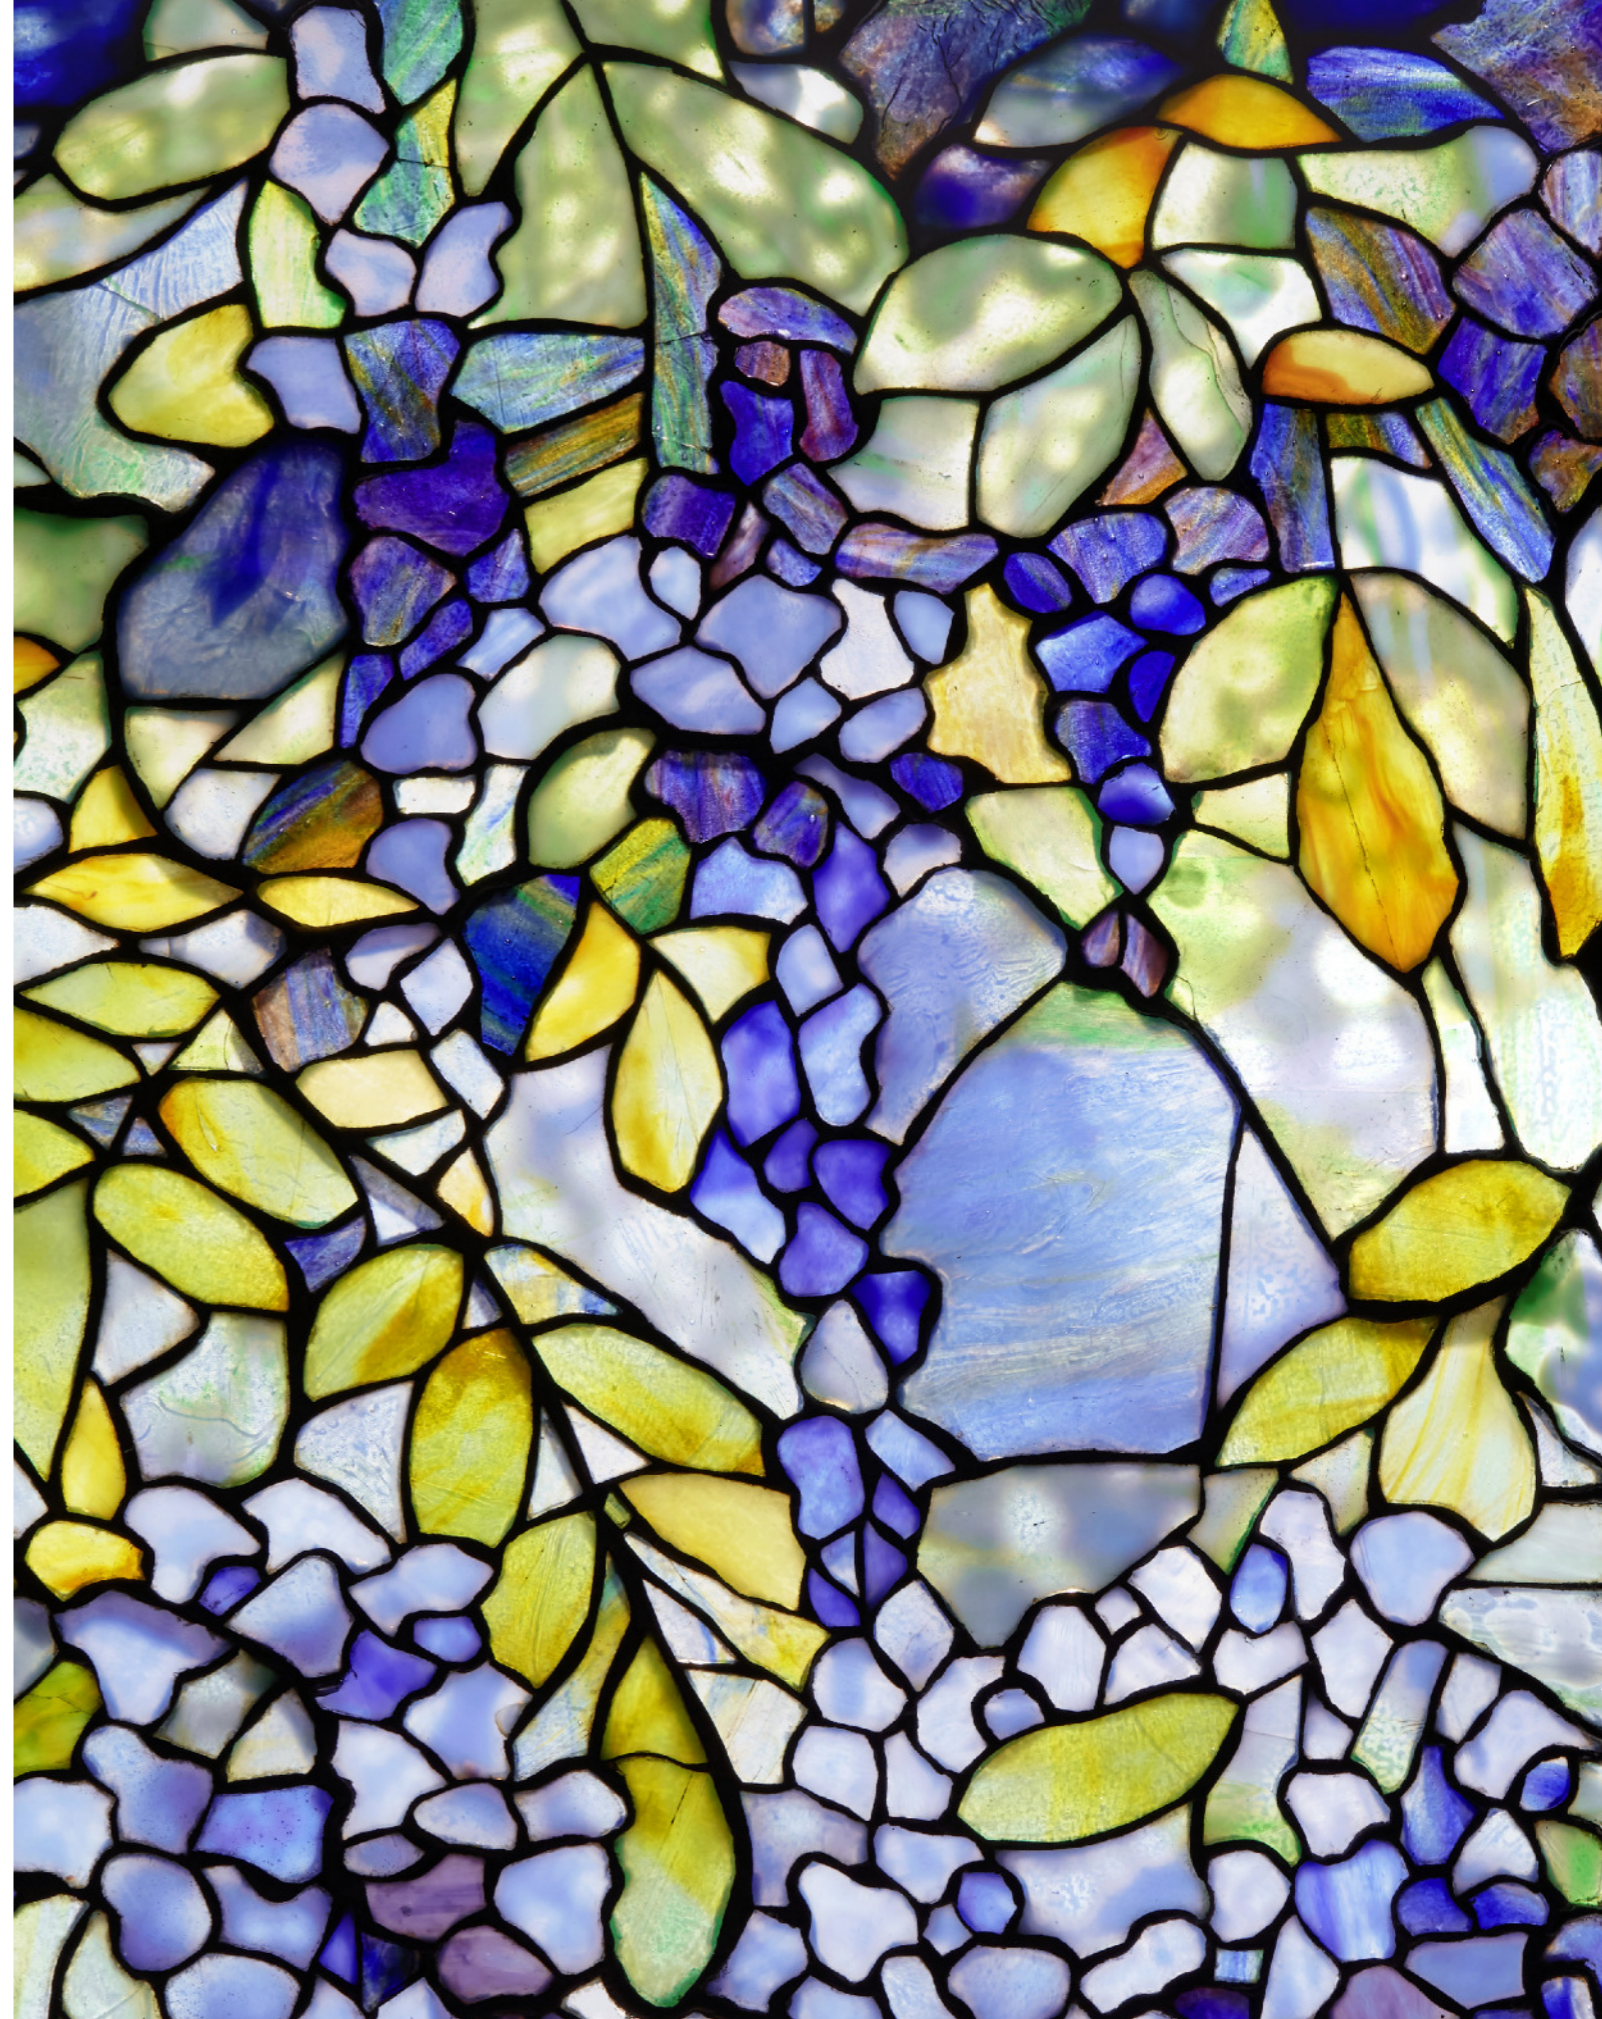

A devotional pursuit of excellence was in the nature of Bruce Randall (1931-2010). At the age of twenty-one, Randall dedicated himself to weight lifting and competed in key competitions such as World's Strongest Man. Although never to win the top title, in the summer of 1955 Randall weighed north of 400 pounds and could dead-lift 770 pounds. At what appeared to be peak strength, Randall transformed with all the dedication and perseverance exemplified before to focus on body-building. In less than two years, Randall dropped in weight to 231 pounds and concentrated on physique – he entered an exclusive world of muscle building occupied by only a few. In his own words, Randall endeavored to “look at life from the other side of the weight picture” and in 1959 Randall won the top seated prize of Mr. Universe at the London Palladium.

This ferocious drive for distinction permeated many facets of Randall's life. Drawing inspiration from his father, a noted antiquarian book dealer, Randall approached collecting in the same way he concentrated on his body – with vigor, determination and excellence. As a member of Montgomery Ward's sports advisory staff, Randall traveled across the country to mentor high school youths in the importance of physical fitness. During these trips, Randall visited antique shops and markets where he encountered works by Tiffany Studios such as lamps, Favrite glass vases and bronze 'fancy goods'. Not unexpectedly, Randall embarked upon an insatiable hunt for the very best in every discipline to which Tiffany had applied himself. Along the way, Randall acquired a parcel of land at Laurelton Hall, Tiffany's renowned Oyster Bay country estate, where he would house his growing collection of Tiffany works of art. He came to understand that collecting was more than an a pursuit for the best, it was also an intellectual endeavor and an acute responsibility to preserve the past.

Randall's message to the world was “Your body is your home... keep it fit.” It's with this emphasis on perfection that Tiffany too approached his art and life. “It is almost axiomatic with Tiffany that a functional object must also be beautiful, and he achieved this goal in such diverse media as glass, bronze, enamel and pottery.” Bruce Randall too understood the body not only as a functional organism, but also a beautiful one.

MAKING A MARK

THE WATERCOLORS OF LOUIS COMFORT TIFFANY

Louis Comfort Tiffany painted in watercolors and opaque gouache throughout his life. In 1867, he began to exhibit with the American Society for Painters in Water Colors, where his mentor and friend, Samuel Colman (1832–1920), served as its first president. The English practice of using watercolors to sketch outdoors provided a source of inspiration, as did the luminous works of J. M. W. Turner (1775–1851), who was known for his experiments with the quality and tint of his paper. Tiffany did use fine commercial papers, but he and Colman also salvaged old wrapping paper which they prepared with thinned glue. This surface had a flecked, handmade appearance, sometimes featuring bits of straw, and the tan/brown color resembled the tobacco-water tint associated with Turner.

In the early months of 1868, Tiffany studied in Paris with genre painter Léon-Charles-Adrien Bailly (1826–1871), though he also became fascinated with French Orientalism, an approach to Realism based on firsthand experience of Moorish Spain and North Africa. At the same time, it was steeped in the fantasy of the “other” and enhanced with exotic details derived from contemporary photography. Tiffany explored parts of Spain, Morocco, and Egypt in 1870–1871 in the company of Robert Swain Gifford (1840–1905). Tiffany’s Desert Scene (1873) depicts nomadic Bedouins with their camels and tents in the evening in the vicinity of an oasis. The subject, as well as the dramatic sky, recalled work by Alexandre-Gabriel Decamps (1803–1860).

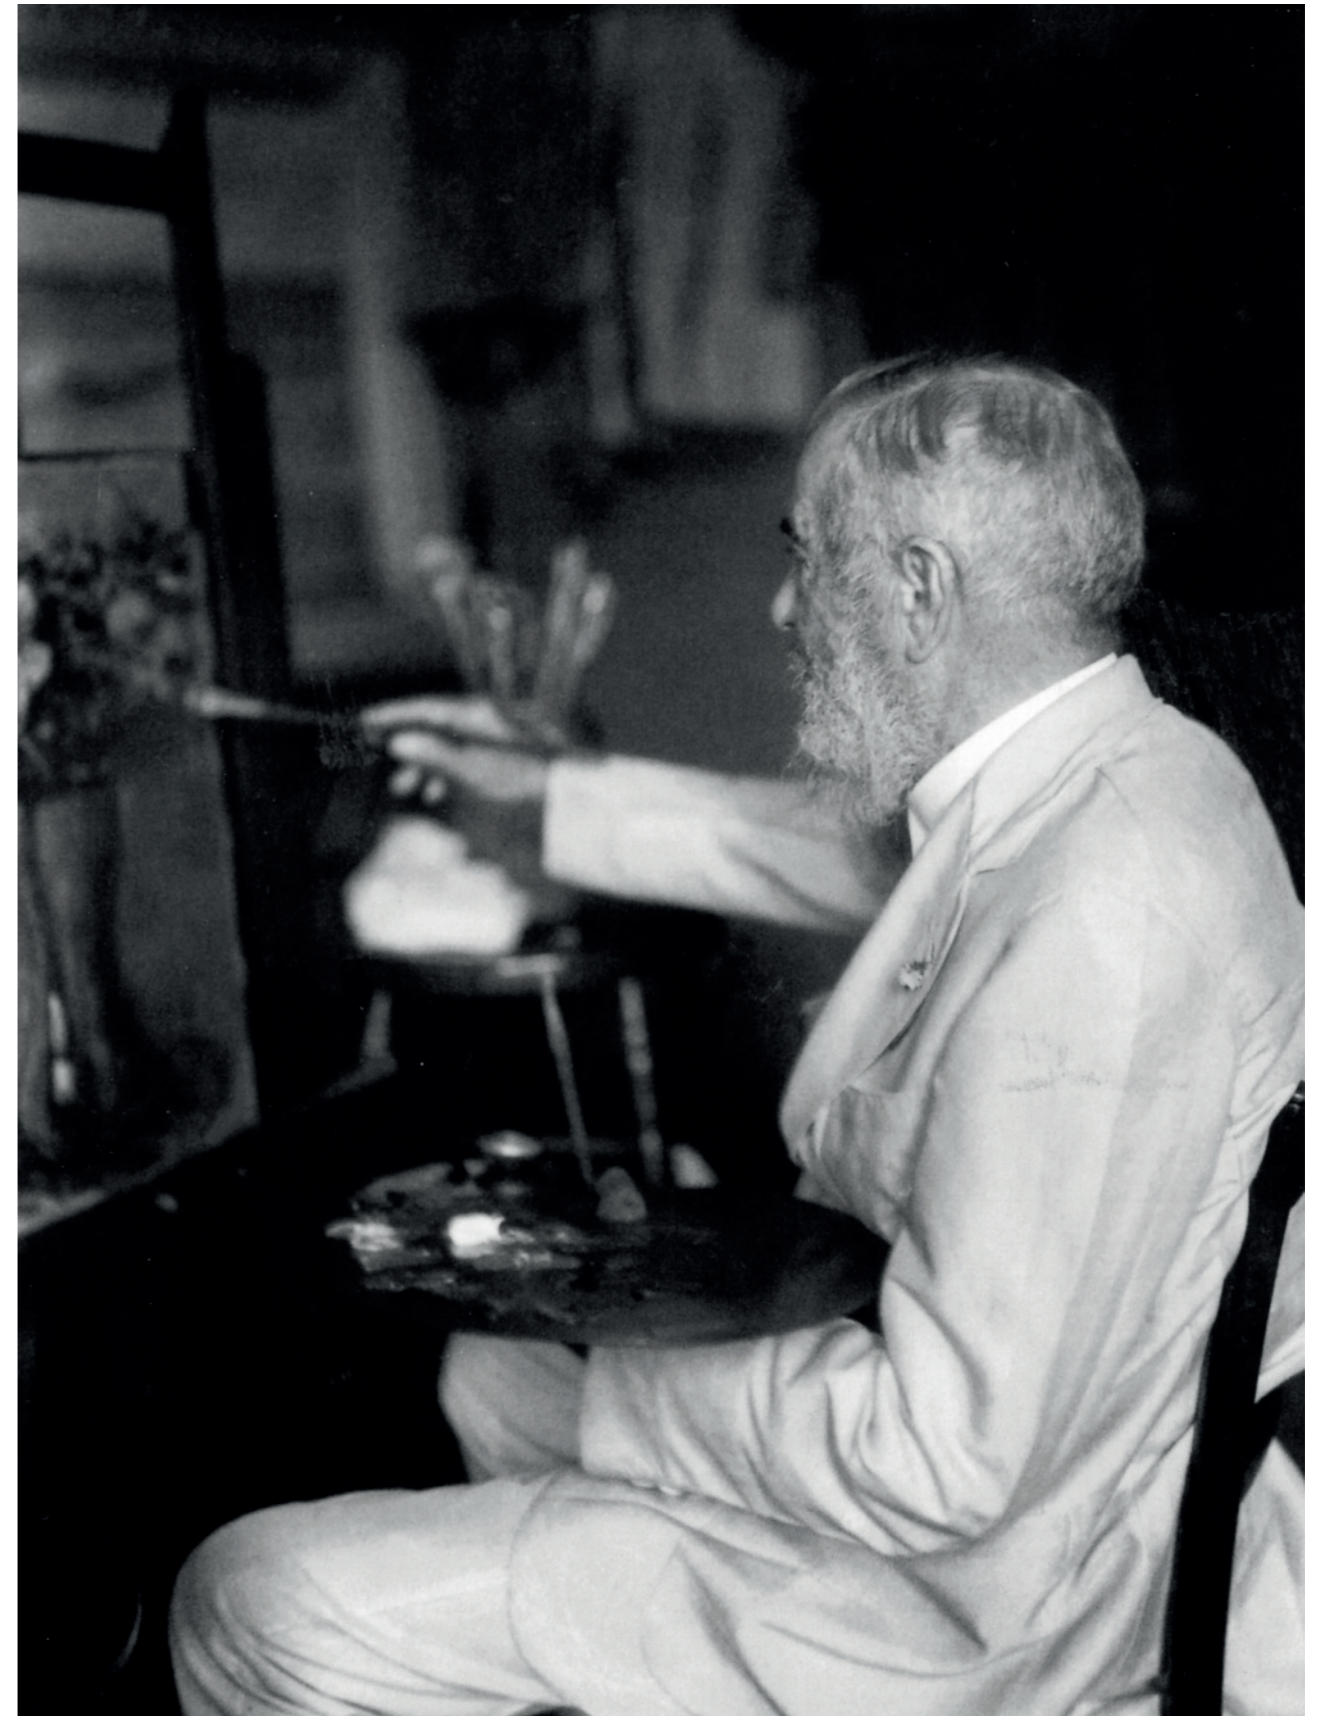

In 1874, Tiffany traveled through Europe with his pregnant wife, Mary, and May-May, his young daughter. By November, they had settled in the French Riviera town of Menton (Mentone when it was part of Italy) to await the birth of their child.

Roccabruna (today Roquebrune, translated as “brown rock”) was about four miles from Menton via the Corniche Road. Situated on a steep incline, its buildings stood between dramatic vertical stone outcrops. On November 8, 1874, Tiffany selected a view which included the ruined medieval castle and the bell tower of the church of Ste. Marguerite. Records show that Tiffany painted several scenes of Roccabruna from different vantage points in both watercolor and oil. In 1919, the Laurelton Hall Picture Gallery included three of these watercolors; acknowledging that there are some typographic errors in the associated inventory, one of these, possibly no. 96, is likely the work presented here.

In his watercolor of the monumental spiral staircase that was part of the seventeenth-century Francois I wing of the royal château at Blois, France, Tiffany focused attention on the architectural detail of the staircase, while also infusing it with sunlight and shadows. The composition was based on an albumen print by Séraphin-Médéric Mieusement (1840–1905). Although Tiffany’s painting is undated, it appears to have been exhibited in the winter of 1887–1888 at the Architectural League of New York as The Staircase Tower in the Castle of Blois. Likewise, in 1919, the Laurelton Hall Picture Gallery included an undated watercolor titled Chateau at Blois, France that accords in size with the painting offered here.

Today, Tiffany is far better known as a decorative artist, but as indicated in The Art Work of Louis C. Tiffany (1914), his stellar career was launched with his recognition as a painter. And when he later created Laurelton Hall, his Picture Gallery stood as an important part of his artistic legacy.

A SENSE OF OCCASION

THE GERTRUDE VANDERBILT WHITNEY COMMISSION

Despite his training under Tiffany & Co.'s acclaimed Design Director Edward C. Moore, hollowware designed by Louis Comfort Tiffany is exceedingly rare. Fewer than twenty known works in silver have been attributed to him. This scarcity of Tiffany's work in silver is underscored by the fact that the liquidation sale of Tiffany Studio's stock in 1936 contained not a single piece of solid silver. The auction of 1,726 lots contained bronze, Favrite glass, stained glass, silver-plated wares, and oriental carpets (see catalogue, Products of Louis Comfort Tiffany Studios on the Premises, 46 West 23rd Street, New York, Joseph and Jacobson Auctioneers, May 18-23, 1936).

Only one other silver tea service is known to have been designed by Louis Comfort Tiffany, and that service was for his own personal use at Laurelton Hall, the highly publicized mansion of his own design in Oyster Bay, New York, completed in 1905. Made between 1902 and 1904, the four-piece tea service was the only silver in the 1946 auction of the contents of Laurelton Hall (see catalogue, Favrile Glass...Objects of Art, Paintings, Antiques, Decorations, Belonging to the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation, Removed from Laurelton Hall, Parke-Bernet Galleries, September 24-28, 1946, p. 199). Three pieces of Laurelton Hall service are now in the collection of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, illustrated in Leslie Greene Bowman, Virtue in Design, L.A.C.M.A., 1990, p. 124. The tea service, which originally also included a kettle on lampstand, was displayed in the dining room at Laurelton Hall, and was possibly used with a copper tray as illustrated in Robert Koch, Louis C. Tiffany, Rebel in Glass, 1964, and in Charles H. Carpenter, Jr., "The Silver of Louis Comfort Tiffany," op.cit., fig. 1, p. 392.

Both the Laurelton Hall service and the present example were likely made by Julia Munson, talented metalworker and supervisor at Tiffany Studios. The visible hammer marks and high quality chasing on both services indicate her hand. At the time the Whitney tea service was made, Louis Comfort Tiffany was vice-president and artistic director of Tiffany & Co., which likely accounts for the inclusion of Tiffany & Co. tray and salver with this service.

ALL THE GILDED RAGE

TIFFANY'S CELEBRATED INTERIORS

As the son of the prominent New York jeweler Charles Lewis Tiffany (1812–1902) and a trained painter, Louis C. Tiffany developed a sophisticated understanding of both the fine and the decorative arts. He also had a considerable flair for business. Working in collaboration with some of the most noted artists and craftsmen of his day, from 1878 Tiffany developed a robust roster of interior design clients whose wealth and patronage allowed him to showcase his skill and experiment with materials and techniques that would define his career as a decorator.

One such client was William S. Kimball. After serving as a US Naval mechanic under Samuel Francis Du Pont in the 1860s, Kimball settled in Rochester where he earned a fortune as the head of William S. Kimball & Company tobacco manufacturers (merged with American Tobacco Company in 1890). In addition to his business success, Kimball held a number of civic and social positions, acting as trustee of the Rochester Savings Bank, president of the Rochester City Hospital, and director of the Rochester Railway Company among other roles.

In 1881 Kimball hired Tiffany to design the interior of his house that would reflect his state as “one of Rochester’s foremost citizens.” Referred to as Kimball’s Castle, the house was built in a sprawling Shingle Style and featured a hall, library, dining room, and parlor in custom Tiffany finish.

For the hall of the residence, Tiffany created a ‘Moorish’ sitting room which he separated from the staircase using a screen carved from panels of teakwood that were sent to New York by Lockwood de Forest from his workshop in Ahmedabad, India. Critics praised the splendid effect of the room, noting that “Messrs. Louis C. Tiffany and Company, to whom was intrusted [sic] the decoration of Mr. Kimball’s house, have here accomplished an extremely interesting result in perspective and color” (Artistic Houses, Vol. 2 (New York: D. Appleton & Co., 1884), p. 159).

The furniture of the hall, photographed in the second volume of Artistic Houses (1884), consisted of a hall table and settee, en suite, with distinctive lobed boll feet and studded nail decorations which are consistent with those on the present two side chairs as well as the accompanying sofa. The furniture was likely supplied by Tiffany, with de Forest acting as an official associate of the firm Louis C. Tiffany & Co., Associated Artists.

Elsewhere in the Kimball residence one could find the drop-leaf desk and matching table, with copper mounts, carved teak inset, and bands of nail-head decoration. Copper was frequently used in Tiffany's interiors during the 1880s (as well as in his glassworks later) and was valued for its malleability as well as for its warm finish which complemented lustrous hardwoods. The desk and table demonstrate Tiffany's attention to material in the achievement of beauty and design, the grain of the wood carefully aligned across surface and leaf and the circular pattern created by the hammering of the mounts echoed in the decorative studding on the drawers and legs. An almost identical desk, possibly in a different wood, appeared in the drawing room designed by Tiffany for Hamilton Fish at 251 East 17th Street in New York, illustrating the firm's ability simultaneously to streamline manufacture and to cater to the bespoke desires of wealthy clients.

While the origins of an association between Kimball and Tiffany are unknown, that Kimball hired the artist to design his interiors speaks to the former's ambitions on a social and artistic level. The rise of the interior decorator in the final two decades of the nineteenth century coincided with a renewed interest in the arts of home decoration, as the profits of industry produced not only new time for leisure but also new spaces in which to spend it. Salons, dining rooms, and other rooms for entertaining became the hallmarks of a genteel household as well as the showplaces for new talent and creativity – a fact on which Tiffany, a keen entrepreneur and ardent advocate of art in the US, was quick to capitalize.

When the second volume of Artistic Houses, a subscription edition dedicated to “the most beautiful and celebrated homes in the United States,” was published in 1884, the text noted: “Mr. W. S. Kimball's House, in Rochester, New York, is known to the decorators and architects of New York City as one of the finest private residences of the interior of the State.” The interiors of the house were contemporary with some of Tiffany's most notable early decorating projects, including his own rooms in the Bella apartments (1878) and on Madison Avenue (c. 1884), rooms in the residences of George Kemp (1879) and Cornelius Vanderbilt II (begun 1881), and the White House (1882–83).

TIFFANY'S FIRST COMMISSION

THE GEORGE KEMP HOUSE, 720 FIFTH AVENUE

In 1879 George Kemp, a wealthy pharmaceuticals manufacturer and social figure in New York, hired Louis C. Tiffany (1848–1933) to decorate a suite of rooms in his residence at 720 Fifth Avenue. Consisting of a hall, dining room, salon, and library, the commission was Tiffany's first as a professional interior decorator and featured many elements that would come to characterize his aesthetic: exotic materials, rich combinations of color and texture, and detailed carving designed to catch the eye and capture light and shadow. When completed the house was described as "one of the most striking dwellings in the city" and earned Tiffany a reputation as an expert in the arts of sumptuous living (The Manufacturer and Builder, May 1880, p. 104).

The timing of the Kemp commission was significant. Between 1878 and 1883, Louis C. Tiffany directed four businesses: Tiffany & Wheeler, established in partnership with Candance Wheeler (1827–1923), specializing in embroideries; Tiffany & de Forest, a decorating service formed in collaboration with Lockwood de Forest (1850–1932); L. C. Tiffany & Co., manufacturers of furniture; and Louis C. Tiffany & Co., Associated Artists, a consolidated firm that also enlisted the talents of Samuel Colman (1832–1920). The latter was restructured as Louis C. Tiffany & Co. in 1883 and by 1885 Tiffany would operate as sole proprietor under the name Tiffany Glass Company (later Tiffany Glass & Decorating Company), though he would continue to work with Wheeler, de Forest, and Colman on individual projects.

While working on the Kemp residence Tiffany also designed some of his most important public interiors. For the new Union League Club opened at Fifth Avenue and 39th Street in 1881, Tiffany provided an elaborate hall inspired by his travels in Europe and North Africa. For the Veterans' Room of the Seventh Regiment Armory on Park Avenue, devised in consultation with Stanford White (1853–1906) and completed in 1881, he created a tour de force in woodwork, metals, and glass. As George Kemp was a member of the Club and contributed funds for the Armory, it is possible that he recommended Tiffany for both projects.

Of note in the Kemp dining room was a harmony between elements of interior decoration. In geometric paneling was repeated the form of a large sideboard designed to showcase fine porcelains and silvers, while light filtered through colored-glass transoms enlivened a frieze of gilded canvas painted with fruits and vegetables and picked out the glow of polished wood. Oak was used throughout the room as well as for the furniture, which was executed specially for it and completed the ensemble.

The present armchair was one of a set of chairs photographed in the Kemp dining room for D. Appleton & Company's Artistic Houses, published 1883–84. The form is reminiscent of examples from the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, demonstrating Tiffany's appreciation for historical models, while foliate carving on the crest rail identifies it as part of the modern dining room suite. Numbering on the rear of the proper-left stretcher might indicate the involvement of Herter Brothers (active 1864–1906), another Tiffany associate who may also have executed furniture for Kemp's library.

Skylight installed in the passageway between the dining and breakfast rooms, Harbel Manor, Akron, Ohio, circa 1915

DARING ILLUSION

THE HARVEY FIRESTONE 'PERGOLA'

Harvey S. Firestone (1868-1938), who commissioned this stunning skylight of a trellis of clematis, was the founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, one of the first manufacturers of tires for the automobile industry. Firestone, a dynamic and active man, counted among his friends Henry Ford, Presidents Herbert Hoover and William Howard Taft, and naturalist John Burroughs. He built an English Tudor mansion in Akron, where his company was based, in 1912. He named it Harbel Manor – the name was a portmanteau of his and his wife Idabelle's names (other family properties also used the name – his estate in Florida, where he died, was Harbel Villa, and his rubber plantation in Liberia was simply Harbel). In 1915, Firestone enlarged the house when this skylight and its accompanying windows (now lost) were commissioned from Tiffany Studios to imitate a bower in a passageway between the dining room and breakfast room. By order of Firestone's will, the house was torn down in 1959, after the last family member who wanted to live there, his wife, had passed away in 1954.

The skylight is composed of three separate panels in individual steel frames with support bars that follow the pattern of the trellis and so are invisible. The background glass is clear with a rippled texture that scatters the light and helps obscure the roof structure above. The trellis is formed of streaky blue and amber glass, supporting dramatic flowers made of cobalt, white, and violet streaky glass and purple, lavender, and pink streaky glass. The tiny leaves are of various shades of green and white streaky glass. Fine copper foil joins the pieces, giving a naturalistic and organic quality to the shapes, the lines of the trellis, and the spidery tendrils of the vines. The delicate composition seems almost to tremble in an imagined breeze.

The clematis, which symbolizes cleverness and ingenuity, is an appropriate symbol for a captain of industry. The vibrant purple, pink, and white blooms twining about trellises served well for borders as well as skylights in Tiffany's work, imparting the impression of sitting in an arbor. Tiffany often combined it with morning glories, as in the spectacular landscape window in the Theodore Parker Unitarian Church in West Roxbury, MA, or with rambling roses in the skylight from Fenway Gate, a Boston mansion at 73 Hemenway Street.

YELLOW ROSE

A COLLECTOR'S PRIZED ENCOUNTER

TIFFANY'S RAMBLING ROSE

Vito D'Agostino, a New York teacher, was inspired by the artistry and craftsmanship exhibited in the lighting and mosaic panels produced by Tiffany Studios. In his pursuit of these beloved works, D'Agostino built one of the most storied, early collections of Tiffany. He was dedicated enough to acquire many works when Tiffany was liquidated in 1936. In 1933, he was fortunate to gain an invitation to Laurelton Hall, Louis Comfort Tiffany's home on Long Island, where he experienced the spectacular gardens and sprawling estate inspired by nature. This visit solidified his resolve to seek out the best and most unusual Tiffany pieces. A short list of the outstanding works that this tenacious collector was able to find over the years includes the Gould landscape window (later in the Garden Museum Collection), and the 'Squash' lamp at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. In 1998, Christie's offered a magnificent 'Magnolia' floor lamp from D'Agostino's collection and in 2001 Christie's also offered a rare 'Poppy' shade with exceptional coloration and composition.

Also within the collection was the present 'Yellow Rose' shade, one of only two known examples of this model. From the Tiffany Studios 1913 Price List, no. 1904, the 26 inch diameter YELLOW ROSE of domed shape, cost $350. Sotheby's New York offered a 'Rambling Rose Trellis' floor lamp in 1989 at an estimate of $50,000-70,000, Property from the Estate of Luigi DiScala, selling for $132,000. This same lamp appeared on the auction market again in 1997, at Sotheby's New York, with a slightly higher estimate of $80,000-120,000, ultimately reaching a buyer at $261,000. The density of the design and the rarity of the shade undoubtedly allowed for the lamp to soar beyond market expectation.

Presented here is the other rare example of this model, formerly from the collection of Vito D'Agostino. The shade demonstrates the rambling canary yellow and amber toned roses abounding from a mottled deep brown and green vinery, all fastened to a pale peach lattice work. The background is an opalescent pink and streaky baby blue with spots of deeper blue sky reminiscent of a slightly cloudy morning dawn.

John La Farge, Cherry Blossoms Against Spring Freshet, 1882-83. Yale University Art Gallery.

A MID-SUMMER MONTH'S BLOOM

JOHN LA FARGE'S HOLLYHOCK WINDOW

Hollyhocks were one of John La Farge’s favorite subjects. He painted them throughout his career, and designed a number of windows around them in the early 1880s. Windows of hollyhocks were created for Frederick Lothrop Ames’ Boston house (now in the St. Louis Art Museum) and as part of an ensemble for Thomas Ellwood Grover’s Canton, MA, house (now in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art, Philadelphia).

This window was one of two made for the Baltimore banker, railroad magnate, and millionaire Michael Jenkins (1842-1915). The other, Cherry Blossoms Against Spring Freshet, is now in the Yale University Art Gallery (inv. no. 2003.61.1). A similar window is in the collection of the Charles Hosmer Morse Museum of American Art in Winter Park, FL. La Farge designed another window of the same pattern for the New York home of J. Pierpont Morgan, although whether it was made is unknown.

Michael Jenkins and his wife, Mary Isabel (d. 1911), were generous donors to the Catholic church and were both recognized by Pope Pius X with a knighthood and ladyship, respectively. When Jenkins died, his house was given to the church as a home for elderly women. It was torn down in 1951.

The window, a relatively simple design, dates to the earliest days of La Farge’s work in stained glass, when he was experimenting with types of glass made at Brooklyn flint-glass factories, before opalescent glass was readily available. Selected from rejects cast off by the glassmakers, the glass specimens are unique. The white glass in the flowers and borders is exceptionally fiery, excellent examples of the effect that charmed La Farge in opalescent glass.

– Julie L. Sloan, consultant in stained glass, writes about windows from her home in Lake Placid, NY. She works on stained-glass conservation projects as well, including Frank Lloyd Wright’s Unity Temple, and The Riverside Church in New York

Joseph Briggs (1873-1937), born in Accrington, England, traveled to the United States in 1891 where he was hired by Louis Comfort Tiffany and climbed the ranks to become one of Tiffany's most prized employees. He was Tiffany's friend as well as business manager, and head of Tiffany Studios' Mosaic Department at the Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company building, Fourth Avenue and 25th Street, New York, New York. The present lot is Brigg's personal tool chest which he would have brought with him on his journey to the States. Each craftsman would acquire tools needed over their tenure in the trade and these chests offer a glimpse into a craftsman's techniques. Brigg's chest includes handmade chisels, punches, and hammers, bespoke tools he acquired throughout his career. The tools in this chest include a wide range of trades from glass making to wood carving to scribing, exemplifying the breadth of knowledge that Briggs held. This tool chest is a time capsule of sorts, allowing the present day viewer insight to the life of Joseph Briggs, a turn-of-the-century tradesman and Tiffany Studios employee.

PORTENDING HARVEST

TIFFANY'S ELABORATE STILL LIFE IN GLASS

To capture nature just as it is, in an exact moment of time, was the creed of artists from the early Dutch Old Master still life painters to Claude Monet, as exemplified in his renowned Water Lily series. Louis Comfort Tiffany and his Tiffany Studios employed the same ethos, in glass nonetheless, the aim being to memorialize the perfection of a just-budding lotus flower bursting into bloom, or a perfectly ripened fruit ready to be plucked from its vine. The present lot, Elaborate Grape, mimics this ideal of a moment frozen in time.

The Grape model was recorded in the Tiffany Studios 1906 price list as pattern number '348', at $375. The shade is part of the family of only a few other models with irregular borders and openwork bronze crowns, namely the Wisteria, Trumpet Creeper, and Apple Blossom. Together with the Grape, these more elaborate shades, which employed additional materials and which required an intensive effort to complete, were among the most expensive works offered by the Studios, as noted in the 1906 list. All of these shades were discontinued by the time the company's 1910 price list was published.

The Grape is accompanied by the model number '348', yet several variations of the model exist. The present lot is the most fanciful and lush version, also known as the Elaborate Grape. The grape clusters contain rippled glass, some textured on the outer surface and others on the interior, and in these particular hues of rich purple, vibrant violet and lighter lilac, depict the natural life of the fruit – a grape bunch ripened to perfection. The mottled and striated glass selected for the lush canopy of leaves in deeply saturated hues of greens and browns, further the notion of a portending harvest.

Acquired by Mr. Horiuchi at auction in 1992, the present lot is one of the very few examples of the Elaborate Grape known to exist. Another example, alternatively with bunches of green grapes, is in the collection of the Neustadt Collection of Tiffany Glass [inv. no. 86.IU.05a,b].

- (a) Certain words used in the catalogue description have special meanings. You can find details of these on the page headed “Important Notices and Explanation of Cataloguing Practice” which forms part of these terms. You can find a key to the Symbols found next to certain catalogue entries under the section of the catalogue called “Symbols Used in this Catalogue”.
- (b) Our description of any lot in the catalogue, any condition report and any other statement made by us (whether orally or in writing) about any lot, including about its nature or condition, artist, period, materials, approximate dimensions, or provenance are our opinion and not to be relied upon as a statement of fact. We do not carry out in-depth research of the sort carried out by professional historians and scholars. All dimensions and weights are approximate only.

2 OUR RESPONSIBILITY FOR OUR DESCRIPTION OF LOTS

We do not provide any guarantee in relation to the nature of a lot apart from our authenticity warranty contained in paragraph E2 and to the extent provided in paragraph I below.

3 CONDITION

- (a) The condition of lots sold in our auctions can vary widely due to factors such as age, previous damage, restoration, repair and wear and tear. Their nature means that they will rarely be in perfect condition. Lots are sold “as is,” in the condition they are in at the time of the sale, without any representation or warranty or assumption of liability of any kind as to condition by Christie’s or by the seller.
- (b) Any reference to condition in a catalogue entry or in a condition report will not amount to a full description of condition, and images may not show a lot clearly. Colours and shades may look different in print or on screen to how they look on physical inspection. Condition reports may be available to help you evaluate the condition of a lot. Condition reports are provided free of charge as a convenience to our buyers and are for guidance only. They offer our opinion but they may not refer to all faults, inherent defects, restoration, alteration or adaptation because our staff are not professional restorers or conservators. For that reason condition reports are not an alternative to examining a lot in person or seeking your own professional advice. It is your responsibility to ensure that you have requested, received and considered any condition report.

4 VIEWING LOTS PRE-AUCTION

- (a) If you are planning to bid on a lot, you should inspect it personally or through a knowledgeable representative before you make a bid to make sure that you accept the description and its condition. We recommend you get your own advice from a restorer or other professional adviser.
- (b) Pre-auction viewings are open to the public free of charge. Our specialists may be available to answer questions at pre-auction viewings or by appointment.

5 ESTIMATES

Estimates are based on the condition, rarity, quality and provenance of the lots and on prices recently paid at auction for similar property. Estimates can change. Neither you, nor anyone else, may rely on any estimates as a prediction or guarantee of the actual selling price of a lot or its value for any other purpose. Estimates do not include the buyer’s premium or any applicable taxes.

6 WITHDRAWAL

Christie’s may, at its option, withdraw any lot from auction at any time prior to or during the sale of the lot. Christie’s has no liability to you for any decision to withdraw.

7 JEWELLERY

- (a) Coloured gemstones (such as rubies, sapphires and emeralds) may have been treated to improve their look, through methods such as heating and oiling. These methods are accepted by the international jewellery trade but may make the gemstone less strong and/or require special care over time.
- (b) All types of gemstones may have been improved by some method. You may request a gemmological report for any item which does not have a report if the request is made to us at least three weeks before the date of the auction and you pay the fee for the report.
- (c) We do not obtain a gemmological report for every gemstone sold in our auctions. Where we do get gemmological reports from internationally accepted gemmological laboratories, such reports will be described in the catalogue. Reports from American gemmological laboratories will describe any improvement or treatment to the gemstone. Reports from European gemmological laboratories will describe any improvement or treatment only if we request that they do so, but will confirm when no improvement or treatment has been made. Because of differences in approach and technology, laboratories may not agree whether a particular gemstone has been treated, the amount of treatment, or whether treatment is permanent. The gemmological laboratories will only report on the improvements or treatments known to the laboratories at the date of the report.
- (d) For jewellery sales, estimates are based on the information in any gemmological report. If no report is available, assume that the gemstones may have been treated or enhanced.

8 WATCHES & CLOCKS

- (a) Almost all clocks and watches are repaired in their lifetime and may include parts which are not original. We do not give a warranty that any individual component part of any watch is authentic. Watchbands described as “associated” are not part of the original watch and may not be authentic. Clocks may be sold without pendulums, weights or keys.
- (b) As collectors’ watches often have very fine and complex mechanisms, you are responsible for any general service, change of battery, or further repair work that may be necessary. We do not give a warranty that any watch is in good working order. Certificates are not available unless described in the catalogue.
- (c) Most wristwatches have been opened to find out the type and quality of movement. For that reason, wristwatches with water resistant cases may not be waterproof and we recommend you have them checked by a competent watchmaker before use. Important information about the sale, transport and shipping of watches and watchbands can be found in paragraph H2(f).

B REGISTERING TO BID

1 NEW BIDDERS

- (a) If this is your first time bidding at Christie’s or you are a returning bidder who has not bought anything from any of our salerooms within the last two years you must register at least 48 hours before an auction begins to give us enough time to process and approve your registration. We may, at our option, decline to permit you to register as a bidder. You will be asked for the following:
 - (i) for individuals: Photo identification (driver’s licence, national identity card, or passport) and, if not shown on the ID document, proof of your current address (for example, a current utility bill or bank statement);
 - (ii) for corporate clients: Your Certificate of Incorporation or equivalent document(s) showing your name and registered address together with documentary proof of directors and beneficial owners; and
 - (iii) for trusts, partnerships, offshore companies and other business structures, please contact us in advance to discuss our requirements.
- (b) We may also ask you to give us a financial reference and/or a deposit as a condition of allowing you to bid. For help, please contact our Client Services Department at +1 212-636-2000.

2 RETURNING BIDDERS

As described in paragraph B(1) above, we may at our option ask you for current identification, a financial reference, or a deposit as a condition of allowing you to bid. If you have not bought anything from any of our salerooms within the last two years or if you want to spend more than on previous occasions, please contact our Client Services Department at +1 212-636-2000.

3 IF YOU FAIL TO PROVIDE THE RIGHT DOCUMENTS

If in our opinion you do not satisfy our bidder identification and registration procedures including, but not limited to completing any anti-money laundering and/or anti-terrorism financing checks we may require to our satisfaction, we may refuse to register you to bid, and if you make a successful bid, we may cancel the contract for sale between you and the seller.

4 BIDDING ON BEHALF OF ANOTHER PERSON

If you are bidding on behalf of another person, that person will need to complete the registration requirements above before you can bid, and supply a signed letter authorising you to bid for him/her. A bidder accepts personal liability to pay the purchase price and all other sums due unless it has been agreed in writing with Christie’s, before commencement of the auction, that the bidder is acting as an agent on behalf of a named third party acceptable to Christie’s and that Christie’s will only seek payment from the named third party.

5 BIDDING IN PERSON

If you wish to bid in the saleroom you must register for a numbered bidding paddle at least 30 minutes before the auction. You may register online at www.christies.com or in person. For help, please contact the Client Service Department on +1 212-636-2000.

6 BIDDING SERVICES

The bidding services described below are a free service offered as a convenience to our clients and Christie’s is not responsible for any error (human or otherwise), omission, or breakdown in providing these services.

- (a) Phone Bids
Your request for this service must be made no later than 24 hours prior to the auction. We will accept bids by telephone for lots only if our staff are available to take the bids. If you need to bid in a language other than in English, you must arrange this well before the auction. We may record telephone bids. By bidding on the telephone, you are agreeing to us recording your conversations. You also agree that your telephone bids are governed by these Conditions of Sale.
- (b) Internet Bids on Christie’s LIVE™
For certain auctions we will accept bids over the Internet. For more information, please visit <https://www.christies.com/buying-services/buying-guide/register-and-bid/>. As well as these Conditions of Sale, internet bids are governed by the Christie’s LIVE™ Terms of Use which are available at <https://www.christies.com/LiveBidding/OnlineTermsOfUse.aspx>.
- (c) Written Bids
You can find a Written Bid Form at any Christie’s office, or by choosing the sale and viewing the lots online at www.christies.com. We must receive your completed Written Bid at least 24 hours before the auction. Bids must be placed in the currency of the saleroom. The auctioneer will take reasonable steps to carry out written bids at the lowest possible price, taking into account the reserve. If you make a written bid on a lot which does not have a reserve and there is no higher bid than yours, we will bid on your behalf at around 50% of the low estimate or, if lower, the amount of your bid. If we receive written bids on a lot for identical amounts, and at the auction these are the highest bids on the lot, we will sell the lot to the bidder whose written bid we received first.

C CONDUCTING THE SALE

1 WHO CAN ENTER THE AUCTION

We may, at our option, refuse admission to our premises or decline to permit participation in any auction or to reject any bid.

2 RESERVES

Unless otherwise indicated, all lots are subject to a reserve. We identify lots that are offered without reserve with the symbol • next to the lot number. The reserve cannot be more than the lot’s low estimate.

3 AUCTIONEER’S DISCRETION

- The auctioneer can at his or her sole option:
- (a) refuse any bid;
 - (b) move the bidding backwards or forwards in any way he or she may decide, or change the order of the lots;
 - (c) withdraw any lot;
 - (d) divide any lot or combine any two or more lots;
 - (e) reopen or continue the bidding even after the hammer has fallen; and
 - (f) in the case of error or dispute related to bidding and whether during or after the auction, continue the bidding, determine the successful bidder, cancel the sale of the lot, or reoffer and resell any lot. If you believe that the auctioneer has accepted the successful bid in error, you must provide a written notice detailing your claim within 3 business days of the date of the auction. The auctioneer will consider such claim in good faith. If the auctioneer, in the exercise of his or her discretion under this paragraph, decides after the auction is complete, to cancel the sale of a lot, or reoffer and resell a lot, he or she will notify the successful bidder no later than by the end of the 7th calendar day following the date of the auction. The auctioneer’s decision in exercise of this discretion is final. This paragraph does not in any way prejudice Christie’s ability to cancel the sale of a lot under any other applicable provision of these Conditions of Sale, including the rights of cancellation set forth in sections B(3), E(2)(i), F(4), and J(1).

4 BIDDING

The auctioneer accepts bids from:

- (a) bidders in the saleroom;
- (b) telephone bidders;
- (c) internet bidders through Christie’s LIVE™ (as shown above in paragraph B6); and
- (d) written bids (also known as absentee bids or commission bids) left with us by a bidder before the auction.

5 BIDDING ON BEHALF OF THE SELLER

The auctioneer may, at his or her sole option, bid on behalf of the seller up to but not including the amount of the reserve either by making consecutive bids or by making bids in response to other bidders. The auctioneer will not identify these as bids made on behalf of the seller and will not make any bid on behalf of the seller at or above the reserve. If lots are offered without reserve, the auctioneer will generally decide to open the bidding at 50% of the low estimate for the lot. If no bid is made at that level, the auctioneer may decide to go backwards at his or her sole option until a bid is made, and then continue up from that amount. In the event that there are no bids on a lot, the auctioneer may deem such lot unsold.

6 BID INCREMENTS

Bidding generally starts below the low estimate and increases in steps (bid increments). The auctioneer will decide at his or her sole option where the bidding should start and the bid increments.

7 CURRENCY CONVERTER

The saleroom video screens (and Christies LIVE™) may show bids in some other major currencies as well as US dollars. Any conversion is for guidance only and we cannot be bound by any rate of exchange used. Christie’s is not responsible for any error (human or otherwise), omission or breakdown in providing these services.

8 SUCCESSFUL BIDS

Unless the auctioneer decides to use his or her discretion as set out in paragraph C3 above, when the auctioneer’s hammer strikes, we have accepted the last bid. This means a contract for sale has been formed between the seller and the successful bidder. We will issue an invoice only to the registered bidder who made the successful bid. While we send out invoices by mail and/or email after the auction, we do not accept responsibility for telling you whether or not your bid was successful. If you have bid by written bid, you should contact us by telephone or in person as soon as possible after the auction to get details of the outcome of your bid to avoid having to pay unnecessary storage charges.

9 LOCAL BIDDING LAWS

You agree that when bidding in any of our sales that you will strictly comply with all local laws and regulations in force at the time of the sale for the relevant sale site.

D THE BUYER'S PREMIUM AND TAXES

1 THE BUYER'S PREMIUM

In addition to the hammer price, the successful bidder agrees to pay us a buyer's premium on the hammer price of each lot sold. On all lots we charge 26% of the hammer price up to and including US$1,000,000, 20% on that part of the hammer price over US$1,000,000 and up to and including US$6,000,000, and 14.5% of that part of the hammer price above US$6,000,000.

2 TAXES

The successful bidder is responsible for any applicable taxes including any sales or use tax or equivalent tax wherever such taxes may arise on the hammer price, the buyer's premium, and/or any other charges related to the lot.

For lots Christie's ships to or within the United States, a sales or use tax may be due on the hammer price, buyer's premium, and/or any other charges related to the lot, regardless of the nationality or citizenship of the successful bidder. Christie's will collect sales tax where legally required. The applicable sales tax rate will be determined based upon the state, county, or locale to which the lot will be shipped. Christie's shall collect New York sales tax at a rate of 8.875% for any lot collected from Christie's in New York.

In accordance with New York law, if Christie's arranges the shipment of a lot out of New York State, New York sales tax does not apply, although sales tax and other applicable taxes for other states may apply. If you hire a shipper (other than a common carrier authorized by Christie's), to collect the lot from a Christie's New York location, Christie's must collect New York sales tax on the lot at a rate of 8.875% regardless of the ultimate destination of the lot.

If Christie's delivers the lot to, or the lot is collected by, any framer, restorer or other similar service provider in New York that you have hired, New York law considers the lot delivered to the successful bidder in New York and New York sales tax must be imposed regardless of the ultimate destination of the lot. In this circumstance, New York sales tax will apply to the lot even if Christie's or a common carrier (authorized by Christie's that you hire) subsequently delivers the lot outside New York.

Successful bidders claiming an exemption from sales tax must provide appropriate documentation to Christie's prior to the release of the lot or within 90 days after the sale, whichever is earlier. For shipments to those states for which Christie's is not required to collect sales tax, a successful bidder may have a use or similar tax obligation. It is the successful bidder's responsibility to pay all taxes due. Christie's recommends you consult your own independent tax advisor with any questions.

E WARRANTIES

1 SELLER'S WARRANTIES

For each lot, the seller gives a warranty that the seller:

- is the owner of the lot or a joint owner of the lot acting with the permission of the other co-owners or, if the seller is not the owner or a joint owner of the lot, has the permission of the owner to sell the lot, or the right to do so in law; and
- has the right to transfer ownership of the lot to the buyer without any restrictions or claims by anyone else.
- If either of the above warranties are incorrect, the seller shall not have to pay more than the purchase price (as defined in paragraph F1(a) below) paid by you to us. The seller will not be responsible to you for any reason for loss of profits or business, expected savings, loss of opportunity or interest, costs, damages, other damages or expenses. The seller gives no warranty in relation to any lot other than as set out above and, as far as the seller is allowed by law, all warranties from the seller to you, and all other obligations upon the seller which may be added to this agreement by law, are excluded.

2 OUR AUTHENTICITY WARRANTY

We warrant, subject to the terms below, that the lots in our sales are authentic (our "authenticity warranty"). If, within 5 years of the date of the auction, you give notice to us that your lot is not authentic, subject to the terms below, we will refund the purchase price paid by you. The meaning of authentic can be found in the glossary at the end of these Conditions of Sale. The terms of the authenticity warranty are as follows:

- It will be honored for claims notified within a period of 5 years from the date of the auction. After such time, we will not be obligated to honor the authenticity warranty.
- It is given only for information shown in UPPERCASE type in the first line of the catalogue description (the "Heading"). It does not apply to any information other than in the Heading even if shown in UPPERCASE type.
- The authenticity warranty does not apply to any Heading or part of a Heading which is qualified. Qualified means limited by a clarification in a lot's catalogue description or by the use in a Heading of one of the terms listed in the section titled Qualified Headings on the page of the catalogue headed "Important Notices and Explanation of Cataloguing Practice". For example, use of the term "ATTRIBUTED TO..." in a Heading means that the lot is in Christie's opinion probably a work by the named artist but no warranty is provided that the lot is the work of the named artist. Please read the full list of Qualified Headings and a lot's full catalogue description before bidding.

- The authenticity warranty applies to the Heading as amended by any Saleroom notice.
- The authenticity warranty does not apply where scholarship has developed since the auction leading to a change in generally accepted opinion. Further, it does not apply if the Heading either matched the generally accepted opinion of experts at the date of the auction or drew attention to any conflict of opinion.
- The authenticity warranty does not apply if the lot can only be shown not to be authentic by a scientific process which, on the date we published the catalogue, was not available or generally accepted for use, or which was unreasonably expensive or impractical, or which was likely to have damaged the lot.
- The benefit of the authenticity warranty is only available to the original buyer shown on the invoice for the lot issued at the time of the sale and only on the date of the notice of claim, the original buyer is the full owner of the lot and the lot is free from any claim, interest or restriction by anyone else. The benefit of this authenticity warranty may not be transferred to anyone else.
- In order to claim under the authenticity warranty you must:
 - give us written notice of your claim within 5 years of the date of the auction. We may require full details and supporting evidence of any such claim;
 - at Christie's option, we may require you to provide the written opinions of two recognised experts in the field of the lot mutually agreed by you and us in advance confirming that the lot is not authentic. If we have any doubts, we reserve the right to obtain additional opinions at our expense; and
 - return the lot at your expense to the saleroom from which you bought it in the condition it was in at the time of sale.
- Your only right under this authenticity warranty is to cancel the sale and receive a refund of the purchase price paid by you to us. We will not, under any circumstances, be required to pay you more than the purchase price nor will we be liable for any loss of profits or business, loss of opportunity or value, expected savings or interest, costs, damages, other damages or expenses.
- Books. Where the lot is a book, we give an additional warranty for 21 days from the date of the auction that any lot is defective in text or illustration, we will refund your purchase price, subject to the following terms:
 - This additional warranty does not apply to:
 - the absence of blanks, half titles, tissue guards or advertisements, damage in respect of bindings, stains, spotting, marginal tears or other defects not affecting completeness of the text or illustration;
 - drawings, autographs, letters or manuscripts, signed photographs, music, atlases, maps or periodicals;
 - books not identified by title;
 - lots sold without a printed estimate;
 - books which are described in the catalogue as sold not subject to return; or
 - defects stated in any condition report or announced at the time of sale.
 - To make a claim under this paragraph you must give written details of the defect and return the lot to the sale room at which you bought it in the same condition as at the time of sale, within 21 days of the date of the sale.
- South East Asian Modern and Contemporary Art and Chinese Calligraphy and Painting. In these categories, the authenticity warranty does not apply because current scholarship does not permit the making of definitive statements. Christie's does, however, agree to cancel a sale in either of these two categories of art where it has been proven the lot is a forgery. Christie's will refund to the original buyer the purchase price in accordance with the terms of Christie's Authenticity warranty, provided that the original buyer notifies us with full supporting evidence documenting the forgery claim within twelve (12) months of the date of the auction. Such evidence must be satisfactory to us that the property is a forgery in accordance with paragraph E2(h)(ii) above and the property must be returned to us in accordance with E2h(iii) above. Paragraphs E2(b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) and (i) also apply to a claim under these categories.

- Chinese, Japanese and Korean artefacts (excluding Chinese, Japanese and Korean calligraphy, paintings, prints, drawings and jewellery). In these categories, paragraph E2 (b) – (e) above shall be amended so that where no maker or artist is identified, the authenticity warranty is given not only for the Heading but also for information regarding date or period shown in UPPERCASE type in the second line of the catalogue description (the "Subheading"). Accordingly, all references to the Heading in paragraph E2 (b) – (e) above shall be read as references to both the Heading and the Subheading.

3 NO IMPLIED WARRANTIES

EXCEPT AS SET FORTH IN PARAGRAPHS E1 AND E2 ABOVE, NEITHER THE SELLER NOR THE CHRISTIE'S GROUP MAKE ANY OTHER WARRANTY, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, ORAL OR WRITTEN, WITH RESPECT TO THE LOT, INCLUDING THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, EACH OF WHICH IS SPECIFICALLY DISCLAIMED.

4 YOUR WARRANTIES

- You warrant that the funds used for settlement are not connected with any criminal activity, including tax evasion, and you are neither under investigation, nor have you been charged with or convicted of money laundering, terrorist activities or other crimes.
- Where you are bidding on behalf of another person, you warrant that:
 - you have conducted appropriate customer due diligence on the ultimate buyer(s) of the lot(s) in accordance with all applicable anti-money laundering and sanctions laws, consent to us relying on this due diligence, and you will retain for a period of not less than 5 years the documentation evidencing the due diligence. You will make such documentation promptly available for immediate inspection by an independent third-party auditor upon our written request to do so;
 - the arrangements between you and the ultimate buyer(s) in relation to the lot or otherwise do not, in whole or in part, facilitate tax crimes;
 - you do not know, and have no reason to suspect, that the funds used for settlement are connected with, the proceeds of any criminal activity, including tax evasion, or that the ultimate buyer(s) are under investigation, or have been charged with or convicted of money laundering, terrorist activities or other crimes.

Where the purchase price is payable in a specified cryptocurrency, the invoice will include both the amount due in the currency of the sale as well as a cryptocurrency amount. The cryptocurrency amount will be calculated by us based on the most recent published CME CF Ether-Dollar Reference Rate (BRR and ETHUSD_RR) index rate as determined by us, and will be disclosed in the invoice. The amount of cryptocurrency specified in the invoice is the amount of cryptocurrency that must be paid to us if that is the payment option you select regardless of whether the conversion rate at the time of auction or when you pay the invoice or at any other time is different. In the event that we are required to return any amounts to you hereunder, you agree to receive such amounts in the fiat amount of the saleroom.

2 TRANSFERRING OWNERSHIP TO YOU

You will not own the lot and ownership of the lot will not pass to you until we have received full and clear payment of the purchase price, even in circumstances where we have released the lot to you.

3 TRANSFERRING RISK TO YOU

The risk in and responsibility for the lot will transfer to you from whichever is the earlier of the following:

- When you collect the lot; or
- At the end of the 30th day following the date of the auction or, if earlier, the date the lot is taken into care by a third party warehouse as set out on the page headed 'Storage and Collection', unless we have agreed otherwise with you.

4 WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU DO NOT PAY

- If you fail to pay us the purchase price in full by the due date, we will be entitled to do one or more of the following (as well as enforce our rights under paragraph F5 and any other rights or remedies we have by law):

- we can charge interest from the due date at a rate of up to 1.34% per month on the unpaid amount due;
 - we can cancel the sale of the lot. If we do this, we may sell the lot again, publicly or privately on such terms we shall think necessary or appropriate, in which case you must pay us any shortfall between the purchase price and the proceeds from the resale. You must also pay all costs, expenses, losses, damages and legal fees we have to pay or may suffer and any shortfall in the seller's commission on the resale;
 - we can pay the seller an amount up to the net proceeds payable in respect of the amount bid by your default in which case you acknowledge and understand that Christie's will have all of the rights of the seller to pursue you for such amounts;
 - we can hold you legally responsible for the purchase price and may begin legal proceedings to recover it together with other losses, interest, legal fees and costs as far as we are allowed by law;
 - we can take what you owe us from any amounts which we or any company in the Christie's Group may owe you (including any deposit or other part-payment which you have paid to us);
 - we can, at our option, reveal your identity and contact details to the seller;
 - we can reject at any future auction any bids made by or on behalf of the buyer or to obtain a deposit from the buyer before accepting any bids;
 - we can exercise all the rights and remedies of a person holding security over any property in our possession owned by you, whether by way of pledge, security interest or in any other way as permitted by the law of the place where such property is located. You will be deemed to have granted such security to us and we may retain such property as collateral security for your obligations to us; and
 - we can take any other action we see necessary or appropriate.
- If you owe money to us or to another Christie's Group company, we can use any amount you do pay, including any deposit or other part-payment

5 KEEPING YOUR PROPERTY

If you owe money to us or to another Christie's Group company, as well as the rights set out in F4 above, we can use or deal with any of your property we hold or which is held by another Christie's Group company in any way we are allowed to by law. We will only release your property to you after you pay us or the relevant Christie's Group company in full for what you owe. However, if we choose, we can also sell your property in any way we think appropriate. We will use the proceeds of the sale against any amounts you owe us and we will pay any amount left from that sale to you. If there is a shortfall, you must pay us any difference between the amount we have received from the sale and the amount you owe us.

H TRANSPORT AND SHIPPING

1 SHIPPING

We would be happy to assist in making shipping arrangements on request. You must make all transport and shipping arrangements. However, we can arrange to pack, transport, and ship your property if you ask us to and pay the costs of doing so. We recommend that you ask us for an estimate, especially for any large items or items of high value that need professional packing. We may also suggest other handlers, packers, transporters, or experts if you ask us to do so. For more information, please contact Christie's Post-Sale Services at +1 212 636 2650. See the information set out at <https://www.christies.com/buying-services/buying-guide/ship/> or contact us at PostSaleUS@christies.com. We will take reasonable care when we are handling, packing, transporting, and shipping a. However, if we recommend another company for any of these purposes, we are not responsible for their acts, failure to act, or neglect.

2 EXPORT AND IMPORT

Any lot sold at auction may be affected by laws on exports from the country in which it is sold and the import restrictions of other countries. Many countries require a declaration of export for property leaving the country and/or an import declaration on entry of property into the country. Local laws may prevent you from importing a lot or may prevent you selling a lot in the country you import it into.

- You alone are responsible for getting advice about and meeting the requirements of any laws or regulations which apply to exporting or importing any lot prior to bidding. If you are refused a licence or there is a delay in getting one, you must still pay us in full for the lot. We may be able to help you apply for the appropriate licences if you ask us to and pay our fee for doing so. However, we cannot guarantee that you will get one. For more information, please contact Christie's Post-Sale Services Department at +1 212 636 2650 and PostSaleUS@christies.com. See the information set out at <https://www.christies.com/buying-services/buying-guide/ship/> or contact us at PostSaleUS@christies.com.
- You alone are responsible for any applicable taxes, tariffs or other government-imposed charges relating to the export or import of the lot. If Christie's exports or imports the lot on your behalf, and if Christie's pays these applicable taxes, tariffs or other government-imposed charges, you agree to refund that amount to Christie's.
- Endangered and protected species
Lots made of or including (regardless of the percentage) endangered and other protected species of wildlife are marked with the symbol - in the catalogue. This material includes, among other things, ivory, tortoiseshell, crocodile skin, rhinoceros horn, whalebone certain species of coral, and Brazilian rosewood. You should check the relevant customs laws and regulations before bidding on any lot containing wildlife material if you plan to import the lot into another country. Several countries refuse to allow you to import property containing these materials, and some other countries require a licence from the relevant regulatory agencies in the countries of exportation as well as importation. In some cases, the lot can only be shipped with an independent scientific confirmation of species and/or age, and you will need to obtain these at your own cost.

- Lots containing Ivory or materials resembling ivory
If a lot contains elephant ivory, or any other wildlife material that could be confused with elephant ivory (for example, mammoth ivory, walrus ivory, helmeted hornbill ivory) you may be prevented from exporting the lot from the US or shipping it between US States without first confirming its species by way of a rigorous scientific test acceptable to the applicable Fish and Wildlife authorities. You will buy that lot at your own risk and be responsible for any scientific test or other reports required for export from the USA or between US States at your own cost. We will not be obliged to cancel your purchase and refund the purchase price if your lot may not be exported, imported or shipped between US States, or it is seized for any reason by a government authority. It is your responsibility to determine and satisfy the requirements of any applicable laws or regulations relating to interstate shipping, export or import of property containing such protected or regulated material.
 - Lots of Iranian origin
Some countries prohibit or restrict the purchase, the export and/or import of Iranian-origin "works of conventional craftsmanship" (works that are not by a recognized artist and/or that have a function, (for example: carpets, bowls, ewers, tiles, ornamental boxes). For example, the USA prohibits the import and export of this type of property without a license issued by the US Department of the Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control. Other countries, such as Canada, only permit the import of this property in certain circumstances. As a convenience to buyers, Christie's indicates under the title of a lot if the lot originates from Iran (Persia). It is your responsibility to ensure you do not bid on or import a lot in contravention of the sanctions or trade embargoes that apply to you.
 - Gold
Gold of less than 18ct does not qualify in all countries as 'gold' and may be refused import into those countries as 'gold'.
 - Watches
Many of the watches offered for sale in this catalogue are pictured with straps made of endangered or protected animal materials such as alligator or crocodile. These lots are marked with the symbol 🐉 in the catalogue. These endangered species straps are shown for display purposes only and are not for sale. Christie's will remove and retain the strap prior to shipment from the sale site. At some sale sites, Christie's may, at its discretion, make the displayed endangered species strap available to the buyer of the lot free of charge if collected in person from the sale site within 1 year of the date of the auction. Please check with the department for details on a particular lot.
- For all symbols and other markings referred to in paragraph H2, please note that lots are marked as a convenience to you, but we do not accept liability for errors or for failing to mark lots.

I OUR LIABILITY TO YOU

- We give no warranty in relation to any statement made, or information given, by us or our representatives or employees, about any lot other than as set out in the authenticity warranty and, as far as we are allowed by law, all warranties and other terms which may be added to this agreement by law are excluded. The seller's warranties contained in paragraph E1 are their own and we do not have any liability to you in relation to those warranties.
- (i) We are not responsible to you for any reason (whether for breaking this agreement or for any other matter relating to your purchase of, or bid for, any lot) other than in the event of fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation by us or other than as expressly set out in these conditions of sale; or (ii) give any representation, warranty or guarantee or assume any liability of any kind in respect of any lot with regard to merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, description, size, quality, condition, attribution, authenticity, rarity, importance, medium, provenance, exhibition history, literature, or historical relevance. Except as required by local law, any warranty of any kind is excluded by this paragraph.
- In particular, please be aware that our written and telephone bidding services, Christie's LIVE™, condition reports, currency converter and saleroom video screens are free services and we are not responsible to you for any error (human or otherwise), omission or breakdown in these services.

- We have no responsibility to any person other than a buyer in connection with the purchase of any lot.
- If, in spite of the terms in paragraphs 1(a) to 1(d) or E2(i) above, we are found to be liable to you for any reason, we shall not have to pay more than the purchase price paid by you to us. We will not be responsible to you for any reason for loss of profits or business, loss of opportunity or value, expected savings or interest, costs, damages, or expenses.

J OTHER TERMS

1 OUR ABILITY TO CANCEL

2 RECORDINGS

We may videotape and record proceedings at any auction. We will keep any personal information confidential, except to the extent disclosure is required by law. However, we may, through this process, use or share these recordings with another Christie's Group company and marketing partners to analyse our customers and to help us to tailor our services for buyers. Unless we agree otherwise in writing, you may not videotape or record proceedings at any auction.

We own the copyright in all images, illustrations and written material produced by or for us relating to a lot (including the contents of our catalogues unless otherwise noted in the catalogue). You cannot use them without our prior written permission. We do not offer any guarantee that you will gain any copyright or other reproduction rights to the lot.

4 ENFORCING THIS AGREEMENT

If a court finds that any part of this agreement is not valid or is illegal or impossible to enforce, that part of the agreement will be treated as being deleted and the rest of this agreement will not be affected.

5 TRANSFERRING YOUR RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

You may not grant a security over or transfer your rights or responsibilities under these terms on the contract of sale with the buyer unless we have given our written permission. This agreement will be binding on your successors or estate and anyone who takes over your rights and responsibilities.

If we have provided a translation of this agreement, we will use this original version in deciding any issues or disputes which arise under this agreement.

We will hold and process your personal information and may pass it to another Christie's Group company for use as described in, and in line with, our privacy notice at www.christies.com/about-us/contact/privacy and if you are a resident of California you can see a copy of our California Consumer Privacy Act statement at <https://www.christies.com/about-us/contact/ccpa>.

8 WAIVER

No failure or delay to exercise any right or remedy provided under these Conditions of Sale shall constitute a waiver of that or any other right or remedy, nor shall it prevent or restrict the further exercise of that or any other right or remedy. No single or partial exercise of such right or remedy shall prevent or restrict the further exercise of that or any other right or remedy.

9 LAW AND DISPUTES

This agreement, and any non-contractual obligations arising out of or in connection with this agreement, or any other rights you may have relating to the purchase of a lot will be governed by the laws of New York. Before we or you start any court proceedings (except in the limited circumstances where the dispute, controversy or claim is related to proceedings brought by someone else and this dispute could be joined to those proceedings), we agree we will each try to settle the dispute by mediation submitted to JAMS, or its successor, for mediation in New York. If the Dispute is not settled by mediation within 60 days from the date when mediation is initiated, then the Dispute shall be submitted to JAMS, or its successor, for final and binding arbitration in accordance with its Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures or, if the Dispute involves a non-U.S. party, the JAMS International Arbitration Rules. The seat of the arbitration shall be New York and the arbitration shall be conducted by one arbitrator, who shall be appointed within 30 days after the initiation of the arbitration. The language used in the arbitral proceedings shall be English. The arbitrator shall order the production of documents only upon a showing that such documents are relevant and material to the outcome of the Dispute. The arbitration shall be confidential, except to the extent necessary to enforce a judgment or where disclosure is required by law. The arbitration award shall be final and binding on all parties involved. Judgment upon the award may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof or having jurisdiction over the relevant party or its assets. This arbitration and any proceedings conducted hereunder shall be governed by Title 9 (Arbitration) of the United States Code and by the United Nations Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards of June 10, 1958.

Sales totals are hammer price plus buyer's premium and do not reflect costs, financing fees, or application of buyer's or seller's credits. We regret that we cannot agree to requests to remove these details from www.christies.com.

IMPORTANT NOTICES AND EXPLANATION OF CATALOGUING PRACTICE

IMPORTANT NOTICES

△ Property Owned in part or in full by Christie’s

From time to time, Christie’s may offer a lot which it owns in whole or in part. Such property is identified in the catalogue with the symbol △ next to its lot number. Where Christie’s has an ownership or financial interest in every lot in the catalogue, Christie’s will not designate each lot with a symbol, but will state its interest in the front of the catalogue.

◊ Minimum Price Guarantees

On occasion, Christie’s has a direct financial interest in the outcome of the sale of certain lots consigned for sale. This will usually be where it has guaranteed to the Seller that whatever the outcome of the auction, the Seller will receive a minimum sale price for the work. This is known as a minimum price guarantee. Where Christie’s holds such financial interest we identify such lots with the symbol ◊ next to the lot number.

◊ ♦ Third Party Guarantees/Irrevocable bids

Where Christie’s has provided a Minimum Price Guarantee it is at risk of making a loss, which can be significant, if the lot fails to sell. Christie’s sometimes chooses to share that risk with a third party who agrees prior to the auction to place an irrevocable written bid on the lot. If there are no other higher bids, the third party commits to buy the lot at the level of their irrevocable written bid. In doing so, the third party takes on all or part of the risk of the lot not being sold. Lots which are subject to a third party guarantee arrangement are identified in the catalogue with the symbol ◊ ♦.

In most cases, Christie’s compensates the third party in exchange for accepting this risk. Where the third party is the successful bidder, the third party’s remuneration is based on a fixed financing fee. If the third party is not the successful bidder, the remuneration may either be based on a fixed fee or an amount calculated against the final hammer price. The third party may continue to bid for the lot above the irrevocable written bid. Where the third party is the successful bidder, Christie’s will report the purchase price net of the fixed financing fee.

Third party guarantors are required by us to disclose to anyone they are advising their financial interest in any lots they are guaranteeing. However, for the avoidance of any doubt, if you are advised by or bidding through an agent on a lot identified as being subject to a third party guarantee you should always ask your agent to confirm whether or not he or she has a financial interest in relation to the lot.

⌘ Bidding by interested parties

When a party with a direct or indirect interest in the lot who may have knowledge of the lot’s reserve or other material information may be bidding on the lot, we will mark the lot with this symbol ⌘. This interest can include beneficiaries of an estate that consigned the lot or a joint owner of a lot. Any interested party that successfully bids on a lot must comply with Christie’s Conditions of Sale, including paying the lot’s full Buyer’s premium plus applicable taxes.

Post-catalogue notifications

In certain instances, after the catalogue has been published, Christie’s may enter into an arrangement or become aware of bidding that would have required a catalogue symbol. In those instances, a pre-sale or pre-lot announcement will be made

Other Arrangements

Christie’s may enter into other arrangements not involving bids. These include arrangements where Christie’s has made loans or advanced money to consignors or prospective purchasers or where Christie’s has shared the risk of a guarantee with a partner without the partner being required to place an irrevocable written bid or otherwise participating in the bidding on the lot. Because such arrangements are unrelated to the bidding process they are not marked with a symbol in the catalogue.

EXPLANATION OF CATALOGUING PRACTICE

Terms used in a catalogue or lot description have the meanings ascribed to them below. Please note that all statements in a catalogue or lot description as to authorship are made subject to the provisions of the Conditions of Sale, including the authenticity warranty. Our use of these expressions does not take account of the condition of the lot or of the extent of any restoration. Written condition reports are usually available on request.

A term and its definition listed under ‘Qualified Headings’ is a qualified statement as to authorship. While the use of this term is based upon careful study and represents the opinion of specialists, Christie’s and the consignor assume no risk, liability and responsibility for the authenticity of authorship of any lot in this catalogue described by this term, and the authenticity warranty shall not be available with respect to lots described using this term.

PICTURES, DRAWINGS, PRINTS AND MINIATURES

Name(s) or Recognised Designation of an artist without any qualification: in Christie’s opinion a work by the artist.

QUALIFIED HEADINGS

“Attributed to ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion probably a work by the artist in whole or in part.

“Studio of ...”/“Workshop of ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work executed in the studio or workshop of the artist, possibly under his supervision.

“Circle of ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work of the period of the artist and showing his influence.

“Follower of...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work executed in the artist’s style but not necessarily by a pupil.

“Manner of...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work executed in the artist’s style but of a later date.

“After ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a copy (of any date) of a work of the artist.

“Signed ...”/“Dated ...”/“Inscribed ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion the work has been signed/dated/inscribed by the artist.

“With signature ...”/“With date ...”/“With inscription ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion the signature/ date/inscription appears to be by a hand other than that of the artist.

The date given for Old Master, Modern and Contemporary Prints is the date (or approximate date when prefixed with ‘circa’) on which the matrix was worked and not necessarily the date when the impression was printed or published.

CHINESE CERAMICS AND WORKS OF ART

When a piece is, in Christie’s opinion, of a certain period, reign or dynasty, its attribution appears in uppercase letters directly below the Heading of the description of the lot.

e.g. A BLUE AND WHITE BOWL
18TH CENTURY

If the date, period or reign mark mentioned in uppercase letters after the bold type first line states that the mark is of the period, then in Christie’s opinion, the piece is of the date, period or reign of the mark.

e.g. A BLUE AND WHITE BOWL
KANGXI SIX-CHARACTER MARK IN UNDERGLAZE BLUE
AND OF THE PERIOD (1662-1722)

If no date, period or reign mark is mentioned in uppercase letters after the bold description, in Christie’s opinion it is of uncertain date or late manufacture.

e.g. A BLUE AND WHITE BOWL

QUALIFIED HEADINGS

When a piece is, in Christie’s opinion, not of the period to which it would normally be attributed on stylistic grounds, this will be incorporated into the first line or the body of the text of the description.

e.g. A BLUE AND WHITE MING-STYLE BOWL; or
The Ming-style bowl is decorated with lotus scrolls...

In Christie’s qualified opinion this object most probably dates from Kangxi period but there remains the possibility that it may be dated differently.

e.g. KANGXI SIX-CHARACTER MARK IN UNDERGLAZE BLUE
AND PROBABLY OF THE PERIOD

In Christie’s qualified opinion, this object could be dated to the Kangxi period but there is a strong element of doubt.

e.g. KANGXI SIX-CHARACTER MARK IN UNDERGLAZE BLUE
AND POSSIBLY OF THE PERIOD

FABERGÉ

QUALIFIED HEADINGS

“Marked Fabergé, Workmaster ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work of the master’s workshop inscribed with his name or initials and his workmaster’s initials.

“By Fabergé ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion, a work of the master’s workshop, but without his mark.

“In the style of ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion a work of the period of the master and closely related to his style.

“Bearing marks ...”: in Christie’s qualified opinion not a work of the master’s workshop and bearing later marks.

JEWELLERY

“Boucheron”: when maker’s name appears in the title, in Christie’s opinion it is by that maker.

“Mount by Boucheron”: in Christie’s opinion the setting has been created by the jeweller using stones originally supplied by the jeweller’s client.

QUALIFIED HEADINGS

“Signed Boucheron / Signature Boucheron”: in Christie’s qualified opinion has a signature by the jeweller.

“With maker’s mark for Boucheron”: in Christie’s qualified opinion has a mark denoting the maker.

Periods

Art Nouveau 1895-1910

Belle Epoque 1895-1914

HANDBAGS

Condition Reports

The condition of lots sold in our auctions can vary widely due to factors such as age, previous damage, restoration, repair and wear and tear. Condition reports and grades are provided free of charge as a courtesy and convenience to our buyers and are for guidance only. They offer our honest opinion but they may not refer to all faults, restoration, alteration or adaptation. They are not an alternative to examining a lot in person or taking your own professional advice. Lots are sold “as is,” in the condition they are in at the time of the sale, without any representation or warranty as to condition by Christie’s or by the seller.

Grades in Condition Reports

We provide a general, numeric condition grade to help with overall condition guidance. Please review the specific condition report and extra images for each lot before bidding.

Grade 1: this item exhibits no signs of use or wear and could be considered as new. There are no flaws. Original packaging and protective plastic are likely intact as noted in the lot description.

Grade 2: this item exhibits minor flaws and could be considered nearly brand new. It may never have been used, or may have been used a few times. There are only minor condition notes, which can be found in the specific condition report.

Grade 3: this item exhibits visible signs of use. Any signs of use or wear are minor. This item is in good condition.

Grade 4: this item exhibits wear from frequent use. This item either has light overall wear or small areas of heavy wear. The item is considered to be in fair condition.

Grade 5: this item exhibits normal wear and tear from regular or heavy use. The item is in good, usable condition but it does have condition notes.

Grade 6: this item is damaged and requires repair. It is considered in fair condition.

Any reference to condition in a catalogue entry will not amount to a full description of condition, and images may not show the condition of a lot clearly. Colours and shades may look different in print or on screen to how they look in real life. It is your responsibility to ensure that you have received and considered any condition report and grading.

References to “HARDWARE”

Where used in this catalogue the term “hardware” refers to the metallic parts of the bag, such as the buckle hardware, base studs, lock and keys and /or strap, which are plated with a coloured finish (e.g. gold, silver, palladium). The terms “Gold Hardware”, “Silver Hardware”, “Palladium Hardware” etc. refer to the tone or colour of the hardware and not the actual material used. If the bag incorporates solid metal hardware this will be referenced in the lot description.

POST 1950 FURNITURE

All items of post-1950 furniture included in this sale are items either not originally supplied for use in a private home or sold as collector’s items. These items may not comply with the provisions of the Furniture and Furnishings (Fire) (Safety) Regulations 1988 (as amended in 1989, 1993 and 2010, the “Regulations”). Accordingly, these items should not be used as furniture in your home in their current condition. If you do intend to use such items for this purpose, you must first ensure that they are reupholstered, restuffed and/or recovered (as appropriate) in order that they comply with the provisions of the Regulations.
