

Introduction

The following chapters explain how to perform commissioning and line-up test of an ADM-1 equipment.

In order to easily recognize the cards and the LEDs, subrack layout and front panel devices functionalities are described as well as the hardware presetting to check and, if needed, to modify for each equipment card.

For the Initial line-up operations many references to the Local Controller software are made.

Therefore for further details, it is suggested to refer also to the "Local Operator's Handbook".
