
Letters to the editor

Letters received from readers in response to articles and ideas published in ANS are regularly featured, providing an opportunity for constructive critique, discussion, disagreements, and comment intended to stimulate the development of nursing science. Unless otherwise stated, we assume that letters addressed to the editor are intended for publication with your name and affiliation. As many letters as possible are published. When space is limited and we cannot publish all letters received, we select letters reflecting the range of opinions and ideas received. If a letter merits a response from an ANS author, we will obtain a reply and publish both letters.

University of Southern Maine

A Unit of the University of Maine

School of Nursing GRADUATE FACULTY POSITION

Immediate Opening

The University of Southern Maine School of Nursing is currently seeking nurse faculty for its Master of Science Degree (M.S.) Program in nursing. This program offers students both an advanced practice component focusing upon families in crisis and a choice of a functional role component in either Nursing Education, Nursing Administration, or Primary Care.

In addition to teaching in this program, the faculty will have an opportunity to collaborate in multidisciplinary teaching efforts with the faculties of other graduate and professional programs at the University of Southern Maine. This faculty position offers a highly professional, intellectually stimulating teaching environment and all of the advantages of living in Maine.

SALARY: Negotiable depending upon professional qualifications and experience.

QUALIFICATIONS: A Master's Degree in nursing with teaching experience and Doctorate.
