MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAM IN NURSING

A new master's degree program offered by The Catholic University of America's School of Nursing will prepare nurses to coordinate services for clients moving among various health care settings—hospitals, HMOs, home care, hospices, and physicians' offices. CUA's Continuity of Care program will provide specialized graduate-level education emphasizing nurses as health care consumer advocates. They will learn to educate clients about health care options and help find resources to meet financial, personal, and social needs. CUA's master's program is the second of its kind in the country and the only one in the Southeast. For information, call (202) 635-5400.
