CALL FOR MATERIALS

Aspen's Research Publishing Group invites Advances in Nursing Science readers to submit materials for possible publication in our forthcoming Pain Management Patient Education Manual.

To be used by health care professionals in teaching patients about pain management, the manual will contain the best patient education materials and forms culled from a variety of sources—private practices and clinics, hospital departments, rehabilitation and pain management centers, support organizations, and health associations. Chronic pain, acute pain, and cancer pain will all be addressed.

Materials may be submitted in any format. Examples include but are not limited to pamphlets, charts, helpful diagrams and charts from published or unpublished works, instructions or forms you've created, and handouts concerning the anatomy of pain, specific pain disorders, pharmacologic and nonpharmacologic treatment of pain, psychological factors, and activities of daily living. We're also looking for materials on pain assessment, reimbursement, and communication tips for professionals.

Any items selected for publication in the Pain Management Patient Education Manual will appear with a credit line giving full acknowledgment to the contributor.

Submit materials or requests for more information to Suzanne Niemeyer, Aspen Publishers, Inc., 200 Orchard Ridge Drive, Gaithersburg, MD 20878. Telephone: 301-417-7620.
