

A Journal of the Gesellschaft Deutscher Chemiker

Angewandte Chemie

International Edition

www.angewandte.org

2010–49/23

Petrosaspongiolide M ...

..., a marine natural product with anti-inflammatory properties, has an intriguing pharmacological profile. In their Communication on page 3960 ff. Casapullo and co-workers identified the macromolecular targets of this potential drug candidate; the 20S proteasome was found to be its most important target.

 WILEY-VCH

Inside Cover

Luigi Margarucci, Maria Chiara Monti, Alessandra Tosco, Raffaele Riccio, and Agostino Casapullo***

Petrosaspongiolide M, a marine natural product with anti-inflammatory properties, has an intriguing pharmacological profile. In their Communication on page 3960 ff. Casapullo and co-workers identified the macromolecular targets of this potential drug candidate; the 20S proteasome was found to be its most important target.

