

A Journal of the Gesellschaft Deutscher Chemiker

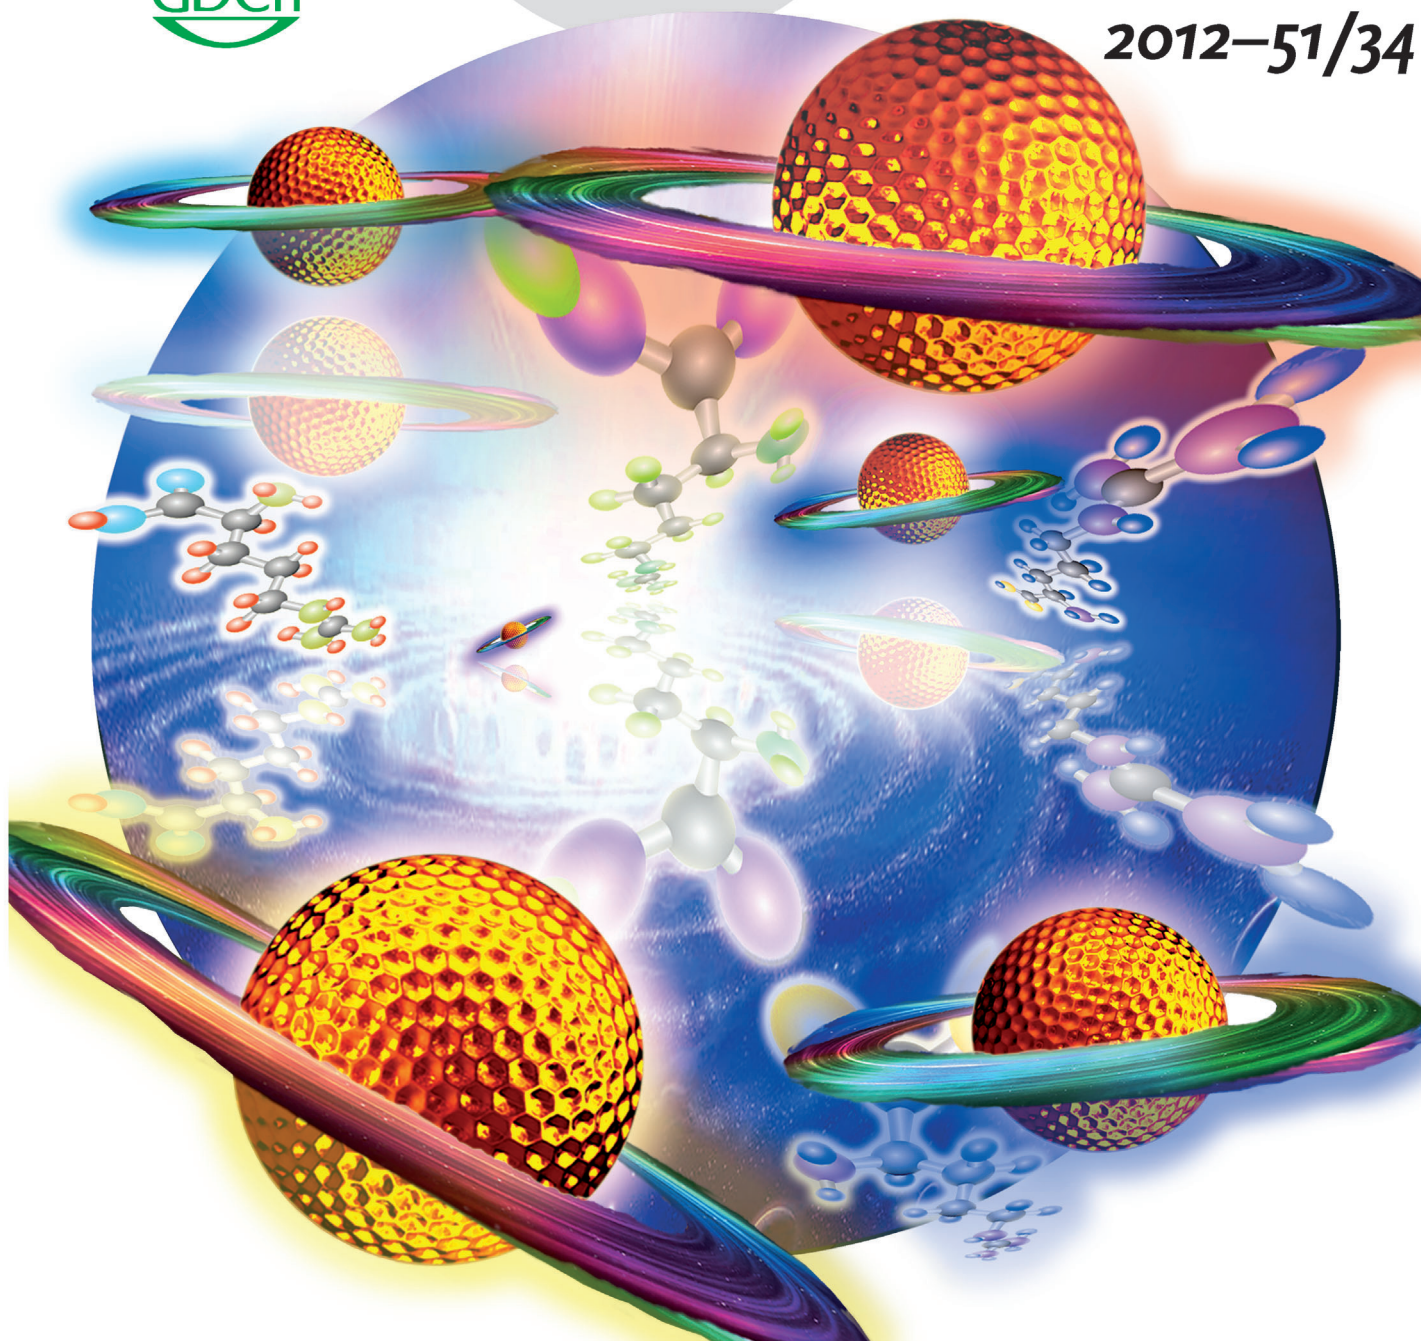

Angewandte Chemie

International Edition

GDCh

www.angewandte.org

2012–51/34

Fluorescent silicon nanoparticles ...

... (SiNPs; shiny spheres in the picture) modified with biological molecules are produced under microwave irradiation (ripples), as is described by Y. He, S. T. Lee, and co-workers in their Communication on page 8485 ff. This synthesis strategy offers exciting avenues for designing multifunctional silicon nanostructures.

 WILEY-VCH