

A Journal of the Gesellschaft Deutscher Chemiker

Angewandte Chemie

GDCh

International Edition

www.angewandte.org

2015–54/5

Quantitative trace analysis ...

... by NMR spectroscopy is feasible with a nuclear spin hyperpolarization method, namely signal amplification by reversible exchange (SABRE), as described by M. Tessari and co-workers in their Communication on page 1481 ff. SABRE was combined with the standard-addition method to determine concentrations of dilute analytes in complex mixtures.

WILEY-VCH