

INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR

ECOTECHNOLOGIES FOR THE
DEVELOPMENT OF MEXICO

15-19 February 1982
MEXICO D.F.

Organized by: INSTITUTE OF ECOLOGY AND
MEXICAN INSTITUTE OF APPROPRIATE TECHNOLOGY-IMETA

Co-Sponsor: MAB-UNESCO Program

Seminar Presidents: Gonzalo Halffter (Director Institute of Ecology)
Eugenia J. Olguín (Director IMETA)

PROGRAM:

Sixty experts from 15 countries will present their critical evaluation about the various technological alternatives adequate for the development of Mexico, and developing areas in general.

The socioeconomic problems concerning the development of appropriate ecotechnologies within the local conditions will be taken into consideration throughout the Seminar.

Food Production: Self-sufficient agroecosystems
Aquaculture
Food Technology
International and national policies

Environment: Rational management of natural resources
Waste recycling

Energy: Solar Energy Systems
Biogas production

Socio-economic aspects of appropriate technologies: Social impact
Technology transfer
Training and human resources formation

POST-SEMINAR COURSES
22-24 February 1982

- ANAEROBIC DIGESTORS
- AQUACULTURE BASED ON WASTES
- NON CONVENTIONAL FOOD PRODUCTION