Industry's Future: Changing Patterns of Industrial Research

This fascinating volume provides the readers with an understanding of the dynamic processes that make industrial research a principal driving force in creating technical change, producing economic growth, and strengthening the technical institutions in society.

It describes and analyzes the major factors that shape the conduct and organization of industrial research, including the internationalization of R&D, restructuring of industry, declining defense expenditures and the pressure to develop access to sources of technical change outside the corporation.

The volume presents approaches for improved industry relations with government and academia, discusses complex conditions for conducting industrial research effectively and analyzes potential new conditions that can shape future industrial research. The experiences of specific corporations with modern management of technology are also described.

Editorial Information

Instructions to authors and copyright status form are printed in the first issue of each volume. Please conform to these instructions when submitting manuscripts.

Manuscripts for publication should be submitted to the Editor, Gordon G. Hammes, Duke University Medical Center, Box 3673, 081 Yellow Zone, Duke South, Durham, NC 27710. Correspondence regarding accepted papers and proofs should be directed to the Journal Publishing Operations at the address above. Page charges of $30.00 per page may be paid for papers published in this journal. Payment does not affect acceptance or scheduling of papers.

The American Chemical Society and its Editors assume no responsibility for the statements and opinions advanced by contributors.

Registered names and trademarks, etc., used in this publication, even without specific indication thereof, are not to be considered unprotected by law.

A nine character code that is unique to each article is assigned during the editorial production of the manuscript and appears at the end of the published paper. It serves as a link between the documents in the printed product and the electronic products (CJACS Plus Images and journals on CD-Rom) and makes it easy to retrieve the full text of the exact article on-line.

1995 Subscription and Ordering Information

Members may share/donate their personal subscriptions with/to libraries and the like but only after 5 years from publication.

New and renewal subscriptions should be sent with payment to American Chemical Society, Department L-0011, Columbus, OH 43268-0011.

Microforms and Back Issue orders should be sent to Microforms & Back Issues Office at the ACS Washington address.

Nonmember subscribers in Japan must enter subscription orders with Maruzen Company Ltd., 3-10 Nihonbashi 2-chome, Chuo-ku, Tokyo 103, Japan. Tel: (03) 272-7211.

Claims for missing numbers will not be allowed if loss was due to failure of notice of change of address to be received in the time specified; if claim is dated (a) North America, more than 90 days beyond issue date; (b) all other foreign, more than 180 days beyond issue date. Claims are handled by Member & Subscriber Services.

Supporting Information is noted in the table of contents with a "box". It is available as photocopy ($12.00 for up to 3 pages and $1.50 per page for additional pages, plus $2.00 for foreign postage) or as 24× microfiche ($12.00, plus $1.00 for foreign postage). Canadian residents should add 7% GST. See Supporting Information notice at the end of journal article for number of pages. Orders must give complete title of article, names of authors, journal, issue date, and page numbers. Prepayment is required and prices are subject to change. In 1995, electronic Supporting Information is available to current journal subscribers via the Internet using either gopher or World Wide Web protocols. Most often, the material is available as PDF files, which may be viewed using Adobe's Acrobat Reader, a program which is freely available on the Internet. However, some articles may include computer programs, PostScript files, word processing files, experimental data in a standard format (e.g., crystallographic parameters in CIF format), etc. In order to download the Supporting Information, users will need to enter their journal subscriber number, which can be found on the mailing label. Detailed instructions for using this service can be found on the Internet. With gopher, connect to pubs.acs.org, go to the "ACS Publications" selection, then to the "Supporting Information" selection. Read the README file in this directory for detailed instructions. When using a WWW client (e.g., Mosaic, Netscape), connect to the URL "<http://pubs.acs.org/>", select the "Supporting Info. for Journals" link. For further information on electronic access, send electronic mail to gopher@acsinfo.acs.org or phone (202) 872-4434. For information on microforms, contact Microforms & Back Issues at the ACS Washington address or phone (202) 872-4554. Supporting Information except structure factors also appears in the microfiche edition.
