

CHEMISTRY

A EUROPEAN JOURNAL

16/35

2010

An intense...

... electrochemiluminescent (ECL) quenching of surface-unpassivated CdTe quantum dots by an enzymatic cycle, which consumes the ECL co-reactant H_2O_2 for oxidation of hydroquinone as a model analyte catalyzed by horseradish peroxidase, is described in full detail in the Full Paper by H.-X. Ju et al. on page 10764 ff.

A Journal of

ChemPubSoc
Europe

Supported by ACES

Inside Cover

Xuan Liu, Lingxiao Cheng, Jianping Lei, Hui Liu, and Huangxian Ju*

An intense...

... electrochemiluminescent (ECL) quenching of surface-unpassivated CdTe quantum dots by an enzymatic cycle, which consumes the ECL co-reactant H_2O_2 for oxidation of hydroquinone as a model analyte catalyzed by horseradish peroxidase, is described in full detail in the Full Paper by H.-X. Ju et al. on page 10764 ff.

