

Colloid & Polymer Science has renewed:

This year 1994 was used to renew the journal Colloid & Polymer Science. With a rejuvenated Editorial Board, with in part new Regional Editors, and with a publication policy including Leading Contributions, articles and Short Communications, Colloid & Polymer Science proves to be an effective institution for the fast dissemination of scientific results. As a consequence of a severely strengthened refereeing system the time until publication for accepted manuscripts could be reduced to less than 6 months for articles and less than 3 months for Short Communications. With these new immediacies, Colloid & Polymer Science advances its longstanding tradition of commitment in Colloid and Polymer Science and its interdisciplinary interactions. As such, it reflects a demand which has lost none of its actuality as revealed in the trends of contemporary science.
