

36. THIS MONTH IN HISTORY

There is more to April than you ever knew. We reveal some of the most significant and strange occurrences that took place throughout history in April.

38. SEMEN Q&A

In lieu of fielding specific questions this week, we would like to tackle some broader ones regarding a subject that many of you write in about: semen. Every week, We receive dozens of inquiries concerning male ejaculate and, given that most of them are concerned with the same issues, it seems best to address them all in one Q&A on semen.

42. SEX: SHOULD YOU WAIT?

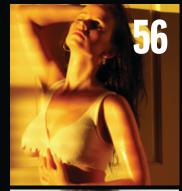

Couples who have sex early in a relationship may not experience the same satisfaction as those who delay sexual gratification. Sex is only one part of a meaningful relationship, but more young couples these days are exploring their sexual compatibility before developing a deeper emotional bond with their partners – and this may decrease their satisfaction as a couple later.

46. MEN & PORN

Over the last decade, accessibility to pornographic material has become much easier because of the popularity of the Internet. With the invention of girly magazines, starting in the 1950s, some people believe women became sexually objectified. To many men, purchasing magazines such as Playboy, Penthouse, and Hustler helped them to indulge their sexual fantasies safely and in private and it seems a large majority of the male species haven't been able to get enough ever since.

50. WHY YOU SHOULD QUIT DRINKING

Do you feel that you drink more alcohol than you should? Do you find it difficult to get through the day without drinking alcohol? Do you binge drink almost every weekend? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then you probably have a problem with alcoholism. Are you ready to stop drinking? Do you feel bad about the money you spend on alcohol? Do you need the extra motivation to stop drinking? If so, read on for some excellent reasons to give up drinking alcohol.

PANASONIC VORTEX ARC SHAVER

It might look a little odd, with its oversized head, but it's that head that helps thePanasonic Vortex Arc Shaver ($180) deliver a consistently close shave. Capable of wet or dry operation, the Arc features an ultra-thin foil, Nanotech blades that cut hairs off at their bases, Multi-Arc floating blades for uniform, even pressure on hard-to-shave spots like the chin, a blue LCD status display, a pop-up trimmer, and a fully automatic cleaning and charging system to ensure it's ready to go when you need it.

BURTON F-STOP PACK

Sure, Burton's best known for their snow-boarding gear, but that doesn't mean they can't use their wisdom for other things... like photography. The Burton F-Stop Pack ($225) was developed with help from the company's team of pro photographers, so it includes essential features like padded compartments for bodies, lenses, and the like, a removable storage pocket for smaller items, a load-balance waist harness to keep all that stuff from breaking your back on a long haul, a side-access cooler pocket, and external straps for attaching and carrying a tripod, or, if you're more adventurous,

ROLEX GMT MASTER II WATCH

A true classic, the Rolex GMT Master II Watch ($7,000) has been the unofficial watch of professional pilots and hardcore travelers since the time of smilling Pan-Am flights. In addition to the standard automatic movement and a 40mm stainless steel case with a crazy-durable ceramic bezel, the GMT Master II has an extra hand that lets you quickly see the time in a second one (back at the ranch). It comes in several colorways, but you can't go wrong with the silver-black-green.

ADIDAS SLVR S-M-L SHOES

Now here's an idea: shoes that are sized just like t-shirts. These Adidas SLVR S-M-L Shoes ($150) come in three easy to fit sizes — we'll let you guess what they are — and offer a four-way stretch mesh upper, ensuring both proper fit and breathability, two-tone laces, a stretchable outsole, and a stylish black, white, and red design.

SIR RICHARD'S CONDOMS

We're all for socially conscious companies, and we're also all for getting laid. Sir Richard's Condoms ($13) manage to combine these two things by promising to donate a condom to a country in need for every one you buy. Available in ultra thin, ribbed, pleasure dots, and extra large varieties, they also feature the nicest wrapper design you'll ever spend three seconds not looking at.

--If you think you are be being savvy by shopping for "dancer discounts"

--If you are more excited by a "sale" than a matching outfit.

--If you think it's better to tip someone to borrow some clothes/shoes (that have been worn/soiled/washed by god knows who/what when) than to buy your own.

--If you are not a new dancer......
--Then you are a herb. Or a genius.

YaY! for the people that realize that your look is your money.

YaY! for the people who want to be the first or only ones rocking the newest clothes and shoes.

YaY! for the people who rather roll up to work with a hand-bag instead of a trashy plastic bag.

YaY! for the people who appreciate being told honestly if an outfit looks good on them (or not.)

YaY! Fashion Fun!!

TEMBO TRUNKS

Sure, you could buy yourself a nice portable speaker system for the iPod, but there are times when their size, weight, and fragile nature make for a less than optimal experience. Enter theTembo Trunks ($40). These nearly indestructible, collapsible amplifiers use your iPod's or iPhone's included white earbuds to create sound up to 80dB, or more than enough to offer satisfying audio whether you're by the beach, pool, or campfire.

You don't have to be a college-age drunkard to enjoy a spirited game of beer pong, but the required furniture tends to expose the game's juvenile roots. Until now. The Custom Beer Pong Table ($750) takes the tailgating favorite and moves it into lounge territory, with a seamless poplar wood exterior, red plexiglass triangles lit from underneath by LEDs, detachable rear panels for easy maintenance, and a great-looking curved body that's more at home in a swanky home bar than in a frat house basement.

▼ PAINTBALL ROBOT

Feel like taking a flyer on a possibly vaporware remote control sentry? Then step right up and make a pledge for the Paintball Robot ($1,200). This tactical robot will feature a top-mounted paintball gun with elevation change capabilities, as well as a tracked base that can climb stairs and turn in place, all while being light enough for a single person to carry it, and allowing you to control it from afar. Sound far-fetched? It might be, but you'll never know if you don't try.

JACK DANIEL'S READY-TO-DRINK

If you're busy slaying the rabid possums that are messing up your grand championship of cornhole, you probably don't have time to waste mixing your own Jack & Coke. Enter the Jack Daniel's Ready-to-Drink ($10) offerings. These perfectly mixed beverages, which come in aluminum-bottle four-packs, give you instant access to Jack & Cola, Jack & Ginger, or Jack & Diet Cola.

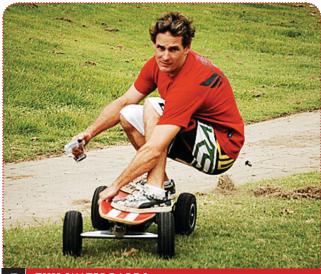

₹ THERMALTAKE LEVEL 10 SUPER GAMING MODULAR

Need a new box to house your custom gaming rig? The Thermaltake Level 10 Super Gaming Modular Case ($280) should do nicely. Sporting a crazy design based on the work of BMW Group Designworks, the Level 10 sports four cooling fans, a hinged side panel for easy interior access, intelligent cable management, five hot-swappable hard drive bays, plenty of accessible ports, including two USB 3.0 and four USB 2.0 connections, optional water cooling, and a fully black-powdered interior.

MITSUBISHI 92-INCH 3D HOME CINEMA TV

It used to be that you had to choose between installing a projector in your house or settling for a smaller screen. Not so with the Mitsubishi 92-inch 3D Home Cinema TV ($6,000). Powered by DLP technology, this gargantuan screen features a built-in 3D emitter, four HDMI inputs, Bluetooth for audio streaming, multiple speakers, rear speaker and subwoofer outputs, the Jade user interface, and a 120Hz sub-frame refresh rate.

FIIK SKATEBOARDS

Imagine being able to get up to speed on a skateboard without the need for a ramp, hill, or push-off. Now imagine that you could control the throttle with a simple controller. What you imagining is one of these Fiik Skateboards ($TBA). Powered by magnetic motor and a rechargeable lithium battery, they feature a digital wireless trottle control system, ABS brakes, oversized trucks, and a variety of wheels and decks, and the ability to zoom at over 20 mph without so much as touching the ground.

▼ APPLE MACBOOK PRO THUNDERBOLT

It's that time of year again: Apple's busy upgrading their desktops and laptops, starting with the new Apple MacBook Pro Thunderbolt ($1,200-$2,500). Available in 13-, 15-, and 17-inch varieties, these new laptops feature dual- or quad-core Intel Core i5 or i7 processors, plenty of RAM, FaceTime HD webcams, AMD Radeon HD graphics processors with up to 1GB of video memory, and the unibody aluminum enclosure we've come to know and love. New this time around is Thunderbolt I/O technology, developed by Intel, which provides a replacement for all sorts of ports while promising transfer speeds of up to 10Gbps. Wasn't there an AC/DC song about that?

CARTIER ROADSTER S WATCH

With a name like "Roadster S," you might be expecting a sportier look than you'll find on the Cartier Roadster S Watch ($3,500) — but that's okay. This less flashy but no less elegant version of the standard Roadster features a polished steel and ADLC coated case, a black rubber strap, a Cartier Caliber 049 automatic movement, a traditional silver opaline white Cartier dial with black Roman numerals, a white-on-black date indicator, and luminescent sword-style hands. It's not your mainstream luxury sports watch, but that's kind of the point.

RICHARD MILLE RM 027 NADAL WATCH

It would be pretty tough to own the clay like Rafael Nadal, but at least now you can tell time the same way. The Richard Mille RM 027 Nadal Watch ($525,000) is the swingin' Spaniard's new signature timepiece. It features a movement made from titanium and LITAL alloy, a high lithium content alloy containing aluminium, copper, magnesium and zirconium.

DIESEL TIME ZONE WATCH

With a blue/black color scheme and multiple dials, the Diesel Time Zone Watch ($300) is a futuristic, cockpit-like time-piece for the frequent traveler. Sporting a traditional round body, the watch keeps track of time in up to four time zones, including a digital readout of the time in a specified zone, and finishes things off with a lightly textured leather strap.

VICTORINOX LEGACY RÉSERVE DE MARCHE PLATINE

If you've ever wondered what watch Bond would wear while he was on vacation, you need look no further than the Victorinox Swiss Army Legacy Réserve de Marche Platine ($19,500). Available in a limited run of only 60 numbered platinum cases, the Legacy is a manifestation of practical luxury incarnate. The highest level of care and attention has been employed in the creation of this timepiece which features luminous numbers, platinum detailing, and the reliability and perfection of Swiss engineering.

MONTBLANC TIME WALKER TWINFLY CHRONOGRAPH

Whoever said all upscale timepieces needed to be gaudy must have never seen the Montblanc Time Walker TwinFly Chronograph Watch ($11,900). This decidedly high-end watch features a titanium black DLC or stainless 43mm case, a sapphire crystal, a Swiss automatic Montblanc caliber MB LL 100 movement, a power reserve of 72 hours, a chronograph with flyback function, a column control wheel, and a vertical disc clutch. If your pocketbook can handle it, you'd best hurry — only 300 of each style will be made.

URWERK UR-110 WATCH

Good news fans of overly-complicated timepieces: the Urwerk UR-110 Watch ($80,000) might be the company's craziest yet. Its asymmetrical face sports three torpedo-like hour/minute modules, with the time displayed on the far right, planetary gearing, a dial side Control Board, an "Oil Change" service indicator, a day/night indicator, and two air turbines to minimize wear, all crammed inside an attention-grabbing titanium case.

TIMEX ORIGINALS WATCHES

Go back in time (pun intended) with Timex Originals Watches ($36-$125). This line of classic Timex reissues spanning the 20th century includes a quaint analog model from the 1900s, Q Dial models, squarish stainless steel- and leather-banded timepieces, and the ubiquitous digital Indiglo model that adorned the wrists of so many Walmart shoppers during the '80s.

14

With a beefy 45mm face and masculine bullhead case design, which squares off the front corners while pushing the crown and pushers to the top, the Lum-Tec Bull45 Watch ($435-$500) is the company's most manly timepiece yet. Available in a variety of face designs, and with a brushed silver or hard PVD finish, each Bull45 offers thick sapphire crystal, water resistance down to 100 meters, the company's MDV ("Maximum Darkness Visibility") technology, a 12-hour chronograph timer, Miyota OS10

F.P. JOURNE SONNERIE SOUVERAINE WATCH

TX LINEAR DUO WATCH

, L

All you really need to know about this watch is that it costs half a million bucks and has a waiting list of two to three years. Requiring ten patents and six years of development (as you can see in the right photo there's some really crazy stuff happening on the inside), the F.P. Journe Sonnerie Souveraine ($560,000) is a grand-strike clockwatch and minute repeater. What does this mean? Basically, it sounds the hours and quarters — like dong, dong, dong... ding-dong, ding-dong for 3:30. This might not sound like a big deal, but it's apparently huge in real watchmaking.

Break with tradition while staying boardroom ready with the TX Linear Duo Watch ($675-$690). This linear chronograph watch melds a sporty, unique curved-face dial with a more conservative leather strap, and also features a stainless steel build, buckle closure, and water resistance down to 50 meters. It might not be the cheapest timepiece around, but it's also a hulluva lot cheaper than your average Breitling or Rolex.

TAG HEUER CARRERA CALIBRE 1887 CHRONOGRAPH

N.

We're all about stuff that uses old school tubes in its design, which is why we fell in love when we found the Nixie Watch from Cathode Corner ($400). It uses two nixie tubes — neon display tubes once used in calculators — to display the hours, minutes, and seconds in order through the flicking of the wrist. Plus, it is easily serviceable since the top comes off, and it is even possible to modify the watch's programming through the downloadable source code.

Mixing understated looks with advanced technology, the TAG Heuer Carrera Calibre 1887 Chronograph ($3,900) celebrates the company's 150th anniversary in style. The new Carrera Calibre is powered by TAG's new Calibre 1887 chronograph movement, which uses 320 components to ensure accuracy and longevity. Features include a scratch-resistant sapphire back to allow for a good look at the movement, three separate counters on the face, a leather or metal band, and luminescent hour and minute hands. And just think: you can have it for 1887 easy payments of $2.07 (plus shipping and handling).

LOUIS VUITTON SPEEDY DUOJET WATCH

OAKLEY HOLESHOT WATCH

The Louis Vuitton Speedy DuoJet ($3,500) features Quartz GMT dual time movement, which accommodates time zones that are only 15 or 30 minutes apart. It's got a Damier pattern steel bracelet, ice blue patterned dial, is waterproof up to 100 meters, and is the ultimate wrist wear for the hardcore traveller.

Inspired by the company's athletes, the Oakley Holeshot Watch ($550-$725) is an unapologetically sporty wristwatch featuring a Swiss Made chronograph movement, an Unotainium band, a sixhand analog display encase in pure sapphire crystal, water resistance down to 330 feet, and a case forged from stainless steel. Available in standard, stainless bracelet, and WWII-inspired 10th Mountain Division models.

F*akmy life

Funny, true stories, unless they happen to you.

My father came over to my house. I realized there were condoms on the table, so I subtly moved a vase to hide them. He then gave me a un amused look and said "I know you have sex. You've been married for nine years, grow the f up, dumb ass."

My boyfriend said we should do something a little kinky and handcuffed me, naked, to the bed. Then he got up, and said that things just weren't working out between us and at least this way, I couldn't chase after him.

My boyfriend was going down on me. I started to moan right when I was about to climax. He got worried, stopped and asked, "Are you okay?"

I told my boyfriend that I love him. He responded by asking for a blowjob.

I found out that my sister, who's claimed for the past six years to be lesbian, has become straight. She's now dating the guy that I've liked for two years.

My boyfriend did the Austin Powers dance/striptease while dancing to 'I Touch Myself'. It was cute until he ripped off his shirt and revealed that he'd shaved his chest hair in the shape of a penis.

I was having sex with a really hot guy. It was going great until his 6-year-old brother walked in and screamed so loudly it brought both of his parents running.

While having sex, I thought I was having an orgasm for the first time. Turns out I was just hyperventilating.

I told a cashier I always bullshit with that I was getting a new tattoo. She shook her head and said, "Honey, don't get a tattoo. You'll look like a whore." I already have five.

My five-year-old son decided to move all my stuffed animals I have around the house, into sex positions and massive orgies. What have I been teaching my son lately?

I discovered that seasickness also applies when making love on my girlfriend's new waterbed. I discovered that my Facebook profile picture, of me between my boyfriend and a friend, is actually me between my boyfriend and the girl he has been cheating on me with.

My girlfriend was giving me a hand job in the shower. As I was reaching climax, my mom walked by the bathroom door and started talking to me. My girlfriend didn't stop, and in order to distract from the situation at hand, I had to carry on the conversation with my mom.

My husband told me I was lucky to have someone who would love me no matter what my vagina smelled like.

My coworker returned the camera I lent her. After plugging the camera into my PC, I saw a file was still on it. Wanting to make sure I didn't delete something important, I opened it. To my horror, it was a video of my coworker pleasuring herself. She's old enough to be my mother.

My husband decided to imitate Borat and shout "Very Nice! I Excite!" while having sex. He's also decided that it was ingenious and does it every single time, the entire time.

My girlfriend went down on me for the first time. Just as I was reaching climax my brother raced into the bathroom right next to my door and began to vomit extremely loudly.

My boyfriend was inside a cell phone store talking to a sales guy while I waited outside. I sent him a text, not realizing that the guy was using his phone to call customer service. A topless photo of me shows up on his phone when I text him. The sales guy looked. Twice.

My girlfriend thought it would be sexy to stick her finger up my ass during sex. I screamed like a little girl and barely managed to finish. Afterward, she said, "Now you know how it feels."

While getting it on with my boyfriend, I decided to be spontaneous and do something sexy. I started taking his underwear off with my teeth. My teeth dragged over his shaft, and my braces cut up his foreskin in the process. Now he's not talking to

I told my boyfriend I was leaving him because he's cheating on me. He then told me he would die without me. When I said that I didn't care, he said "OK. I'll kill myself!" and then held his breath in attempt to suffocate himself. I can't believe I dated this idiot.

I married a wonderful man. Even though both of us were no longer virgins, we decided to wait until marriage to sleep together. He just told me I was the worst he's ever had.

I found out why my cell phone has been going missing every night for the last few months. My sister has been "borrowing" it so she can hold it against her crotch and repeatedly push the vibrate button.

My fiancé and I were cuddling on the couch watching TV when we started kissing. As I crawled onto his lap and started to unzip his pants, he said, "You're blocking the TV."

I had to take an emergency contraceptive. I was talking to my boyfriend about it, and I told him that my stomach really hurt. His response? "Aw. That's just the baby dying."

My mom was snooping around my room, and found the unopened box of glow in the dark condoms I bought myself year ago. She laughed and said, "No takers yet, eh?"

I was going down on my girlfriend. I thought everything was going well, then all of a sudden she gets up and screams at me "IT'S NOT A TACO EATING COMPETITION, CHILL OUT."

After some passionate love making with my husband, I accidentally farted on his leg. He shrieked and frantically began shaking his leg while screaming, "Get it off! Get it off!"

I had to explain to my boyfriend why I'd be angry if he had a foursome with 3 other people.

I went to my "not so technologically advanced" grandma's house to help her out with her computer. It appears she has very interesting conversations with the man who lives in the apartment above her.

t's not only for four-wheeled luxury vehicles that the top-quality range from high-end manufacturer MANSORY has received awards; its genuine custom bike is famous too. This is shown most impressively by the MANSORY bike Zapico, developed in collaboration with bike customiser Thomas M. George.

The hand of company boss Kourosh Mansory is plain to see: the finest carbon, most lavishly processed, decorates the impressive-looking cruiser while the front mask, bug spoiler, seat module, primary shield and silencer as well as the applications on the fuel tank, the frame, fork, wheel rims and airbox all originate from the MANSORY factory in the town of Brand in the Upper Palatinate region of Bavaria. The bike's leatherwork is further testament to the exquisite craftsmanship applied – unmistakeably MANSORY.

The custom bike is driven by a powerful 124 cubic inch (around 2,080 cm³) V2 engine made by the well-known American engine manufacturer S&S. This large two-cylinder engine delivers a full 160 hp to the extra-large rear tyres and can accelerate the 340 kg bike from 0 to 100 km/h in just 3,3 seconds.

Company owner and namesake Kourosh Mansory and his team have been customising exclusive car brands like Aston Martin, Bentley, Ferrari, Porsche and Rolls Royce since 1989. MANSORY stands for high-tech production combined with master craftsmanship and the finest materials. Harmoniously designed aerodynamics packages, ultra-light aluminium wheel rims and powerful engine performance upgrades form the basis of the company's technology range. Top-quality accessories and stylish interiors complete the range.

With a workforce of over 80 people, MANSORY can fulfil almost any motoring wish for its discerning customers. In Germany, Switzerland and, through its select sales partners, all over the world.

BIKE 6-PACK HOLDER

Okay, so maybe it's actually designed to hold pike polo mallets — but that doesn't mean the Bike 6-Pack Holder ($22) isn't great for holding a sudsy surprise. This leather frame cinch adjusts to secure just about anything to your bike's top tube, making it perfect for carrying a little liquid refreshment. Just remember to let your cargo settle before opening, unless you like beer showers.

We've loved Fuego's prior grills, but they all had one problem: they were stationary. The Fuego Element Portable Grill ($150) overcomes this limitation by using a totable body that features built-in legs that fold up to become handles, a red travel band to hold everything together when you're on the move, and an adjustable canvas shoulder strap for hands-free lugging. It's got a cast iron grill grate, push button ignition, an 8,000 BTU stainless steel burner, nearly 160 square inches of cooking area, and a dishwasher-safe tray to catch runoff, all inside a museum-quality design.

R.H. FORSCHNER BY VICTORINOX OYSTER KNIVES

Shucking oysters isn't exactly fun, but you can make the task less arduous by picking up one of these R.H. Forschner by Victorinox Oyster Knives ($15-$16). Inspired by the towns where they were perfected—including Boston, Galveston, New Haven, and Providence—these tools offer specialized blades, as well as oversized red SuperGrip handles that should help you finish the chore with all your digits intact.

STUFFED HAMBURGER PRESS

Sure, toppings are all well and good, but there's something special about a burger with its flavor accomplices stuffed inside the meat. The Stuffed Hamburger Press ($12) makes creating these culinary delights a breeze: simply fill each side with meat, press to make a well in the center for holding your goodies, and press one more time to ready the patty for cooking. Here's to that chorizo and poblano-stuffed turkey burger you've been thinking about.

V.I.O. POV.HD CAMERA

Whether you simply want to record your sporting exploits or you're shooting an FPS film noir, the V.I.O. POV. HD Camera ($600) should be at the top of your gear list. Offering a super-wide field of view when shooting in 1080p HD - it's slightly less when shooting in the slow-mo 60fps 720p mode - the POV.HD also features a shock-, dust-, and waterproof housing, a wireless remote, in-field editing and exposure control, SDHC storage, and the ability to mount to goggles, a helmet, or anywhere else that seems appropriate.

Ł

Ask her...

I've heard "I'm not in the mood" from my girlfriend too many times. I'm desperate. Have any tips?

It's probably the last thing you want to hear, but you have to back off a bit. Right now, she feels pressured to have sex, and that's turning booty into a chore instead of the pleasure fest it should be. Taking some time away from sex will reset her libido and make her want you as much as she did the first time. Declare intercourse off-limits for an entire month. This way she'll know that when you start massaging her feet or kissing her neck, it isn't to get into her pants; you're just showing her some love and affection. With the pressure off of her, she'll begin to want more than just a good rubdown

Most of the time, I can't hold out long enough for her to orgasm. How can I speed her up?

Why not make it a nonissue by ringing her bell before your train enters the station? A little lube and a lot of manual stimulation will work wonders.

(Spend at least 10 minutes giving her clitoris light, slow attention.) If you can't wait, wear a Trojan vibrating-ring condom (trojancondoms.com) to stimulate her at twice the speed.

She never lets loose when she's on top. What can I do?

To make a girl go primal, you need to short-circuit her inner critic, help her let go of self-consciousness, and just do what feels good. A bottle of champagne is always encouraged but optional. What you really need is a dark room (so she won't worry about jiggling thighs) and her favorite music turned up loud (to drown out the sound of skin slapping against skin). And you need to cheer her on by telling her that she's incredibly sexy and that you love it when she sweats and moans and moves hard and fast. Keep saying it and it'll slowly start to sink in.

I'm going down on a girl and she doesn't taste or smell like roses. Is there a polite way to back out?

Hold your breath and very slowly redirect your attention: Kiss your way up past her navel to her breasts. Give each of her nipples a swirl with your tongue, then kiss her shoulders, collarbone, and neck. She'll think you were going for the all-over body smooth from the get-go.

I hooked up with a gorgeous girl but was too drunk to perform. How do I get a second chance?

Did you call her the next day to say that you wished you'd been sober? If not, a softy is the least of your problems. Women are perfectly aware that a long night of drinking will turn a one-eyed snake into a gummy worm, and we seldom hold it against a guy. We know you may be too embarrassed to call. But if a week goes by and we still haven't gotten a post-hookup hello, we're pissed. If you want to see her naked body again, you'd better start with a good excuse. Try "I've wanted to get in touch with you every day this week, but work deadlines hit hard and my life has been crazy."

GUMPERT TORNANTE BY TOURING SUPERLEGGERA

TOURING SUPERLEGGERA and GUMPERT have chosen the 2011 Geneva Motor Show stage for the world premiere of the Tornante. TOURING SUPERLEGGERA provided the design and body engineering while GUMPERT will take care of manufacturing and sales of the next model, complementing the GUMPERT range as of 2012. The Tornante is showcased at the stage of 1:1 static style model in the best Italian tradition.

GUMPERT have gained a reputation for their impressive street legal racing cars. They addressed TOURING SUPERLEGGERA with a call for elegance, more passengers and luggage space, improved comfort, access and ventilation, and noise reduction. However, the fundamentals of performance and dynamic properties had to be respected without compromise.

At TOURING, designers and body engineers started then a process of creative elimination to define the true essentials of all the parameters involved, limiting unnecessary weight and volume. The result is still a thoroughbred, just a few grades more civilized, with some extra skills for an enjoyable voyage. It is called a Fast Tourer. However, let there be no misunderstanding about its intentions.

When selecting the partner for the new model's body design, GUMPERT recognised that elegance is part of the genetic code of TOURING SUPER-LEGGERA's creations. Even more remarkably, the paradigm of elegance was applied by TOURING to the race cars too. This distinctive approach was at the basis of many masterpieces, like the 1940 Mille Miglia winner BMW 328 Berlinetta, the Ferrari 166 and 340 and the inspiring Alfa Romeo 8C2900. They all were redoubtable race machines with singular grace.

In turn, TOURING was intrigued by the challenge from the young, vital and ambitious sports car manufacturer, known for uncompromised orientation to efficiency, high quality engineering and the constant quest for better performance. In the development work, the teams from the two companies discovered soon that they share the same respect for efficiency and essentiality. This facilitated the subsequent stages of engineering and feasibility study, and the merger of body and chassis required only minor adjustments from both sides.

2011 VOLKSWAGEN BULLI CONCEPT

The Volkswagen bus, like no other car, stands for the spirit of freedom. It debuted over 60 years ago in 1950 with a contagiously simple design. Its internal Volkswagen code name was T1 for Transporter 1. The Germans called it the Bulli, and to Americans it was the Microbus. It was driven on all continents. And the world's first van is still appreciated by a fan base which spans the globe. Now Volkswagen is reinterpreting the compact original form of this automotive legend and sending it into the future – in the form of a concept vehicle for a new generation Bulli! It is spacious like it was in 1950, it is as inspirational as ever, and it has clean styling like never before.

In this vehicle, Volkswagen is finishing what it started in 2001: ten years ago, the vision of a new Bulli led to an unforgettable concept vehicle known as the Microbus. But some visions need to mature before they yield something new. Now, the time is right for this vision. That is because the concept was sharpened, and the necessary, sustainable technologies are now at hand. More compact and affordable than the earlier concept vehicle, it is now being shown in Geneva. The new Bulli – powered by an electric motor and fitted with six seats and infotainment control via iPad.

This concept has the potential to establish a new, fifth brand of people carrier next to the Caddy, Touran, Sharan and its large counterpart – the Caravelle. The Bulli could even become an icon like the T1 Samba that still trades at extremely high prices today – one of those few vehicles that simply do not fade with time.

» 2011 Hamann Hawk Mercedes Benz SLS AMG

n engine bursting with power wrapped into an exciting car body design coloured in Everose Gold. The Southern German specialist for exclusive automobile refinement, HAMANN Motorsport, turns the wing door Mercedes SLS AMG into the HAMANN HAWK with new plumage and significantly sharper talons.

Already in its basis version, the SLS provides a significant engine output. But the HAMANN engine department puts some additional power reserves into the V8 engine. The core part of the power enhancement is the high-performance exhaust system made out of titanium. In combination with new manifolds, sports catalysts and a sports air filter, this system also renders the earthy and powerful sound of the 6.2 litre aggregate. The components are precisely adjusted with the help of a new engine characteristic map for motor electronics. With a top performance of 636 hp / 468 kW and a maximum torque of 680 Nm at 4,850 r.p.m, the HAMANN engine exactly meets the wishes of its sports ambitious clientele. The performance enhanced wing door automobile provides first class measures. In race start mode, the two-seater accelerates from 0 to 100 km/h in only 3.6 seconds and with a top speed of 320 km/h, the HAMANN HAWK also surpasses the basis model.

The superior driving performance is matched with a striking appearance and aerodynamics tested in the wind tunnel. The HAMANN HAWK front apron replaces the serial bumper and due to its shape it reduces the uplifting forces at the front axle. Larger air inlets in connection with a new LED lights unit give the two-seater an even more dynamic look. In addition, the enlarged air inlets provide better access for the engine's increased need for fresh air. Subsequently, the air is drawn out of new bonnet made of checkered flag carbon. Striking wing, 60mm on each front side and 70mm on each rear side, already render an impressive appearance even while the car has not started moving yet. Side skirts make the two-seater look additionally lower and more stretched and underline the rims. In order to perfectly balance out the downforce of the front-and rear axle, HAMANN gives the SLS a rear wing also made of checkered flag carbon. The new rear apron with the diffuser enhances the air flow under the bottom of the car and provides room for four enormous end pipes each measuring 90 mm in diameter.

» 2011 Koenigsegg Agera

Last year Koenigsegg presented a pre-production version of the upcoming Koenigsegg Agera. Since then the pre-production car and several test mules have continued the Agera development program. The Agera pre-production car has been driven by several influential motoring journals, resulting in raving reviews and awards, such as for example becoming the "Top Gear Hypercar of the Year."

All in all the production versions of the Agera are created to take the Koenigsegg experience to the next level both on the road and the track, still maintaining the largest luggage space in the industry in combination with the unique Koenigsegg door system and detachable/stow-able hardtop.

There are several differences between the pre-production car previously shown and the production versions. For example, the engine and gearbox configurations are different and some revolutionary interior, chassis and aerodynamic features adorn the production version of the Agera that has never been shown before.

Although sharing the same values and philosophies as previous Koenigsegg models, the Agera takes the Koenigsegg experience to a completely new level.

Similar to all previous Koenigsegg hypercars, the new Agera is the brainchild of Christian von Koenigsegg. The Agera has come to life in order to set new benchmarks for Hypercars when it comes to control, handling, speed, comfort, practicality and sheer driving enjoyment, while combining these features with clean, efficient and beautiful design.

The name Agera set the tone for the new project. Agera means "to take action" in Swedish. It is also short for the ancient Greek word Ageratos which means "ageless." These two are very suitable meanings, for the car building the future of Koenigsegg.

The Agera is designed with the minimalistic "less is more" philosophy in mind. This philosophy means that the shape of the car has to be purely functional with no added features except those purely needed to meet regulation, added safety, ergonomics, practicality and aerodynamics. We believe that if this philosophy is followed, the car will also be beautiful as it is purely purposeful. A good analogy is the evolution of a dolphin that has had to meet similar criteria in order to reach their present configuration through the evolution of nature.

The Agera is proportionate, compact and muscular. Its timeless, efficient and distinctive shape is truly a testament to time. The original shape and concept of the Koenigsegg CC, created 15 years ago, is still valid, fresh and highly competitive today.

The Agera manage to stay true to the original philosophy, shape and size of the original CC. At the same time, it looks, feels and performs like something belonging to the future.

SEMENQ&A

How can I increase the volume of my ejaculate? What factors determine how much comes out?

Upping the quantity of semen that is ejaculated seems to be a near-universal male concern – and there are a number of reasons underlying this. For many men, it is a matter of confidence; a large volume is associated with increased libido, fertility and sexual provess.

Yet, this desire stems from more than simple vanity. Increased volume translates into increased potency (the more sperm, the better the chance of impregnation) and increased pleasure (the larger the volume, the greater number of pleasurable muscle contractions).

So what are the factors that determine how much comes out? To begin with, there are those elements that play a role in all other matters of the body: heredity, age, diet, and overall health. While the first two are obviously out of your control, dietary adjustments can improve the volume of your ejaculate.

Amino acids such as L-arginine and L-lysine, zinc, and the Horny Goat Weed plant are all said to help up quantity, as is increasing your daily fluid intake.

An overall state of fitness is usually accompanied by good blood circulation, which can also help ejaculation. If you want a specific group of exercises that will target penis performance, start working out your PC muscle.

Frequency of sexual activity also contributes to volume – although only to a certain degree. If you abstain for a day or two, you'll certainly produce more sperm than you would ejaculating every few hours. Any longer than this one- to two-day time frame, however, and you won't see much of make a difference, as semen reservoirs will have stopped building a supply.

How can I improve the taste of my semen?

Many of our more chivalrous readers have sought to make oral sex a more palatable experience for their partners, and I wish that I could give them all some firm directions toward doing so. This is a subject that continues to be cluttered by myths and, these old wives' tales aside, there is simply no single recipe for preparing tastier ejaculate. The reason for this is that taste is, well, just that – a matter of taste! One woman's sugar will be another woman's poison. So rather than pointing you toward a particular menu, let's look at the alleged effects of certain foods on ejaculation.

Fruits like kiwi, watermelon, celery, and pineapple are all said to make semen taste lighter. Beer and coffee are believed to have something of an opposite effect, and could leave her with a bitter taste. Alkaline-based foods like meat and fish produce a buttery taste, while acidic fruits (cranberries, blueberries and plums) produce a pleasant, sugary flavor. Most liqueurs will do the same, while dairy products can make for a foul taste because of their high bacterial putrefaction levels.

What's in sperm? Will swallowing make my girlfriend gain weight?

There are many ingredients composing semen, and its makeup is the same from man to man. Here are a few of the constituent elements: vitamin C, calcium, chlorine, cholesterol, citric acid, creatine, fructose, lactic acid, magnesium, nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, sodium, vitamin B12, and zinc.

So what effect will all this have on her waistline? Well, not much of an effect at all. The caloric content of the average ejaculate is estimated to be approximately 5 to 25 calories – hardly the most fattening meal.

And for those of you who wrote in asking if semen is a good source of protein, its protein content is roughly equivalent to that found in the egg white of a large egg. So she's probably best off sticking with eggs.

How can I make my semen thicker?

Consistency of semen fluctuates; you've probably noticed the thickness of your ejaculate can vary from day to day. This is because the quality of the fluid is very susceptible to a number of factors. Diet, exercise and frequency of sex can all dictate how thick or watery your emissions are, as can the tightness of the clothes that you wear (tight clothing will increase body temperature and can, thus, impact sperm motility).

While there is a lack of supporting scientific evidence, a number of ingredients are said to help thicken semen. Because of their protein content, egg whites and gelatin are often recommended. Wheat germ, omega-3 oils, selenium, and zinc are all also believed to improve consistency.

SEX: SHOULD YOU WAIT?

ouples who have sex early in a relationship may not experience the same satisfaction as those who delay sexual gratification. Sex is only one part of a meaningful relationship, but more young couples these days are exploring their sexual compatibility before developing a deeper emotional bond with their partners – and this may decrease their satisfaction as a couple later.

Why Waiting to Have Sex May Be Better

According to a new study published in the Journal of Family Psychology, couples who have sex early in a relationship have less satisfaction later on – both emotionally and sexually.

By looking at data on over 2,000 married couples who took part in an online research project, they discovered that couples who had sex early in a relationship were less likely to be satisfied in their relationship and were more likely to have communication problems with their partner. They were also less likely to have a stable relationship than those who delayed sex until a deeper emotional bond was established. Even the quality of their sex lives was negatively affected by having sex early in the relationship.

Researchers found that the couples most likely to have high levels of sexual and relationship satisfaction were those who delayed sex until after marriage. The satisfaction level dropped by about half for couples who had sex prior to tying the knot. The designers of the study were careful to control for religious beliefs since this could play a big role in whether or not a couple has sex before marriage.

Why Do Couples Who Delay Sex Fare Better?

Researchers believe that having sex early in a relationship is detrimental because a couple hasn't had the opportunity to develop good communication skills, which are important for long-term stability and satisfaction in a relationship. Delaying sex gives a couple time to know each other on a deeper level and establish a level of trust before embarking on a sexual relationship.

The Bottom Line?

Having sex early in a relationship isn't a positive when it comes to long-term relationship satisfaction. Hopefully, young people will get the message that sex is better when it comes after a couple is committed. Sex before commitment could affect the long-term health of a relationship in a negative way.

CAPRICORN: DECEMBER 22-JAN 19

Loved ones may demand more attention from you now. You may need to divide your loyalties between your work responsibilities and your personal life more equally at this time. Your mate or family members may feel that your work has replaced your affection for them and believe you are emotionally indifferent to their needs. You need to devote more time to your domestic or intimate attachments while still maintaining your dedication to a good job performance. Past difficulties in your work or a close relationship may come to the surface and demand your attention. This is a good time to work on getting in touch with your inner feelings and to contemplate making changes to improve emotional connections with the people you care about.

AQUARIUS: JAN 20- FEB 18

Your self-confidence and ego can be shaken by someone who directly challenges your viewpoint or intentions. A minor confrontation can make you shy away from expressing your true feelings for fear of hurt and rejection. Individuals whom you depend upon for support and acceptance may have too much say in your life at this time. It is important not to let your identity and individuality suffer when another person attempts to push their will upon you. Maintain your composure and dignity when faced with a personal dilemma now.

PISCES: FEBRUARY 19-MARCH 20

This is a busy and active period in your domestic life. Errands to run, appointments to keep, and a hectic schedule can leave you little time for close, personal connections with your loved ones. If you have children, it is even more important that you stay attentive to their affairs at this time, as they may be feeling slightly left out. A mate or spouse could also require a bit more nurturing and support as well. However, a misunderstanding is likely if family members hold back or do not clearly communicate their needs to you.

ARIES: MARCH 21-APRIL 20

There may need to be adjustments and changes made in a love or marital relationship at this time. You may have to modify or alter some of your needs and your behavior to allow more individual and external independence in the relationship. It may be a struggle to make everything fair and equal in terms of sharing, companionship needs, and intimacy. You can be torn between loyalty to someone and an urge to discover new interests outside your committed partnership. Try to reach an understanding with your loved one, even if this requires some compromise on your part. Reestablishing rapport with your mate can be aided by honesty, friendliness toward one another, and fulfilling your promises or obligations.

TAURUS: APRIL 21-MAY 20

Inspiration, eccentricity, and imagination are the key issues for this time period. You are likely to feel the urge to do something completely out of character now. Let yourself be a little "crazy"; this is a good time to break out of your accustomed ways of acting and be more humorous or eccentric. The child in you is strong now, and this is the time to allow your childlike sense of awe, wonder, and sense of humor to come to the fore.

GEMINI: MAY 21-JUNE 21

Your career, social standing, or reputation is favored at this time, especially by making personal contact with superiors or by socializing and making friendly contacts at work. You may make a good friend or meet someone beautiful and charming through your work. Now is also a good time to enhance your public standing and to create good will with the public. Communication and negotiations regarding joint finances, shared assets and investments, and property or anything else you own in common with another person, are likely now. It is a good time to get such affairs in order. Discussions about death are also likely to arise, both over legalities (wills, inheritances, and so on), and the more emotional, personal aspects of it.

CANCER: JUNE 22-JULY 22

You feel impelled to take risks at this time. Your adventurous spirit might pose problems in a personal or professional partnership. You also need to analyze your views very carefully, in order to ensure that you are not limiting yourself to a narrow way of thinking. You may be overly judgmental or make assumptions about others because of your adherence to preconceived notions. A situation may arise where you overstep your bounds and poke fun at another person's beliefs just to put down their views. Problems can also occur if you "tell it like it is", without realizing that your truths may be quite different from what other people perceive as meaningful. Also, during this time, you have a tendency to avoid circumstances where you feel pressured by the demands of others. You may feel overly confident that everything will work out in your favor. You might have to put a lid on your over-optimistic attitude if it appears to create more problems than you anticipated.

LEO: JULY 23- AUGUST 23

Extra responsibilities may appear now regarding your family or domestic life. At this time you may find increased demands placed upon you with regard to nurturing, caretaking, or domestic concerns. You find it difficult to decline the needs of loved ones, leading you to feel overburdened with responsibilities. Balancing your own interests with loved ones is difficult to achieve at this time. Personal overindulgence in areas in which you nurture yourself, such as overeating, self-pampering or exaggerated possessiveness toward your loved ones will become annoying to others. Someone living at a distance, a relative or friend, may cause you concern and you may feel obligated to provide them with either personal, emotional, or financial assistance.

VIRGO: AUGUST 23-SEPTEMBER 23

You may not feel very social, but friends or social commitments pull you away from home. Alternately, you may want to go out and enjoy some time with your friends or do some light socializing, but you are needed more at home right now. There is an uneasy balance between your loyalty to your family versus your friends or other pleasurable interests. It is an either/or situation and probably something has to be sacrificed temporarily.

LIBRA: SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

Family members, children, or someone else in your domestic or professional environment may show coldness or lack of warmth and understanding in their dealings with you. Difficult decisions may be made regarding home or career. You may be aspiring toward a job promotion or perhaps you wish to delegate more authority within the home environment. Avoid making unnecessary changes or decisions in these areas as compromise is almost impossible at this time. You will meet with resistance to your protectiveness and nurturing as others react with indifference to your concern for them. Trying to care for another while managing your career and personal needs may cause minor health upsets now. Allow yourself an opportunity to improve your dietary habits and nutritional intake of healthy foods.

SCORPIO: OCTOBER 23- NOVEMBER 21

Inattentiveness, disinterest, or a sense that something is lacking in your romantic life or a current love affair may be indicated now. It is likely that interests, obligations, and involvements outside your relationship are fulfilling some of your needs now; therefore, difficult rifts and tension can occur between you and a lover or mate. There is a tendency to be indecisive or wavering in your commitment and reliability as far as love and romance is concerned now. This time period can coincide with a temporary break or separation from a loved one. It may be necessary to make a heartfelt effort to give more time, devotion, and appreciation to your relationships without sacrificing your own needs and desires in the process.

SAGITTARIUS: NOVEMBER 23 - DEC 21

You are comfortable and at ease in displaying your creativity and skills in career endeavors and one-on-one relationships. New and inspiring experiences bring you greater understanding and awareness of all that you can offer to the world. Other people can sense that your desires and ideas are based on fairness and equality, and they offer you opportunities to express yourself. Healing techniques that enhance the mind and the physical body are favorable. You enjoy pleasant and relaxing surroundings, and your relationships are cooperative and rewarding to you.

NHY YOU SHOULD NKING

o you feel that you drink more alcohol than you should? Do you find it difficult to get through the day without drinking alcohol? Do you binge drink almost every weekend? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then you probably have a problem with alcoholism. Are you ready to stop drinking? Do you feel bad about the money you spend on alcohol? Do you need the extra motivation to stop drinking? If so, read on for some excellent reasons to give up drinking alcohol.

Better Mental Health

Regularly drinking excessive amounts of alcohol can have a devastating impact on a person's mental health. It can also cause significant brain damage. If you quit drinking alcohol, your brain will begin to heal. Hence you'll find that your memory improves and you become more observant. Quitting drinking alcohol will also boost your self-confidence, enthusiasm, willpower and determination. After all, if you can quit drinking alcohol, you can do anything. If you want better brain function and improved aplomb, giving up alcohol is an excellent idea.

Improved Physical Health

Drinking too much alcohol doesn't just have an impact on your brain and mental health. It can also do a great deal of harm to your overall physical health. If you stop drinking alcohol, your health will improve in several ways. First of all, your liver will no longer have to process the alcohol. Hence your liver function will slowly improve, and you'll never have to suffer another hangover. When you stop drinking, your blood pressure and heart rate will also return to normal. What's more you will look and feel younger and more attractive. Your skin will glow, you'll lose weight, your eyes will shine and you'll have lots of energy for exercise and other physical activities.

More Money

How much cash to you currently spend on alcohol in the average week? Alcohol is steadily becoming more expensive with each year that passes. If you guit drinking, you are bound to save plenty of money. You can use the money you save to pay off some debt, or reward yourself for having the resolve to stop drinking. You will also feel better about yourself because you've stopped wasting money on something that does more harm than good.

Less Selfish

When a person is addicted to drinking alcohol or taking certain illicit drugs, they are not focused on the people around them. Instead, an addicted person focuses on their next fix. Hence if you are addicted to drinking alcohol, your family and friends probably aren't your main priority. If you successfully manage to stop drinking, you'll probably notice your focus shift back to what is most important in life. You'll have better relationships with friends and family members because you won't be drunk and unpleasant. They will also respect you for having the courage to turn your life around.

Your Real Self

When you manage to stop drinking alcohol, it changes the way you see yourself. When sober, you can see yourself as you really are. You'll stop looking taking them for granted.

People who drink a lot of alcohol often feel the need to hide their problem from other people. They worry that friends and family will judge them for drinking too much. Hence they tell lies and act deceitfully in order to disguise the problem. If you get sober and stay that way, you'll no longer have to lie to the people that love you most. Instead you'll be able to have honest conversations again, and look people in the eye when you talk to them.

Better Sex

When you have sex while inebriated, you can't enjoy it as much as you would if you were sober. Being drunk may eliminate your sexual inhibitions, but it also takes the edge off your libido. What's more, it's rather hard to focus on giving and receiving pleasure when you are drunk. Hence many alcoholics stop caring about sex altogether. If you get sober, you will be able to rediscover the joy of love, sex and intimacy.

More Sleep

Research indicates that a person who has been drinking alcohol does not sleep as well as he would if sober. Someone who goes to bed drunk is also more likely to wake up several times during the night. If you've been out drinking, don't be surprised if you wake up feeling less than fresh the next day. If you stop drinking and stay sober, you'll soon notice that you feel less tired and more energetic.

Extra Productivity

People who drink a lot of alcohol generally spend a lot of time in bars and clubs. If you stop drinking, you'll notice you've got plenty of extra time on your hands. You can use this extra time to be more
