

EDITORIAL

The INTERPHEX '85 Conference was held April 1 through 3 in New York City. Responses from both attendees and speakers was very favorable. Lecture Sessions were generally very well attended and generated much lively discussion. The workshops were once again regarded by participants as most useful. As one attendee said, "I really appreciated the opportunity to discuss technical problems in depth with an acknowledged expert".

Some, but not all, of the papers in this issue of Drug Development and Industrial Pharmacy are based on presentations made at INTERPHEX '85.

It is understood that plans are already underway for INTERPHEX '86 April 15 through 17 1986.
