

Editorial

Dr A.T. Peters

This issue of Dyes and Pigments is issued in appreciation of the outstanding contributions which Dr. A.T. Peters has made to dyestuff chemistry over a long and distinguished career. In particular, the issue acknowledges his editorship of Dyes and Pigments over many years during which the journal has become established as a leading publication in the field. The international flavour of Dyes and Pigments is reflected in this volume with contributions from nine different countries. The authors of these papers have commented on various aspects of their interactions with Arnold — his knowledge, his friendliness, the assistance so freely given and the sound advice proffered on request. His ability to make even the most nervous PhD candidate feel at ease during a viva voce examination and to simplify complex issues are further attributes.

Two of his former research students who now hold chairs pay their special tribute to A.T.P. on the following pages. Those of us working with colour, but who do not have this opportunity to write individually, simply say thank you for all your efforts to ensure that our subject prospers and send our very best wishes for a long and happy retirement.

John Hepworth
Department of Chemistry
University of Hull
Hull HU6 7RX, UK