

Publisher's announcement

Elsevier is pleased to announce a number of improvements to the European Journal of Medicinal Chemistry, as part of its continued efforts to improve services for both authors and readers.

Maximum visibility: Readership of the Journal via ScienceDirect continues to grow at an impressive rate. During 2003, downloads of papers from the European Journal of Medicinal Chemistry have more than doubled. ScienceDirect has a subscription based user community exceeding nine million worldwide and over five million full text articles, all searchable, providing unparalleled readership and article dissemination.

Impact factor increase: Last year the European Journal of Medicinal Chemistry saw its impact factor rise by almost 60%! The 2002 impact factor increased to 1.705, from 1.077 in 2001, according to the ISI Journal Citation Reports®.

Exclusive author benefits: Authors also continue to benefit from free reproduction of colour figures in print where scientifically necessary, 25 free offprints, liberal copyright policies and a free alerting service via ContentsDirect. They also receive a 30% discount on any Elsevier book title (ordered directly from Elsevier, and excluding major reference works).

NEW in 2004!

Colourful e-products: Online colour is offered free of charge to all authors of the European Journal of Medicinal Chemistry, even if the author elects to publish the figures in black and white in print. For more information, see the Announcement on page 3 or consult the Guide for Authors at the back of this issue.

Electronic Submission: Coming soon in 2004. This will allow papers to be submitted online via the journal's website, providing even speedier publication of your work.

If you have any comments or suggestions regarding further improvements to the European Journal of Medicinal Chemistry please feel free to contact the Publisher.

We wish all our readers and authors a Happy New Year and success during 2004.
