■ Dear reader,

As you are aware, European Journal of Nutrition is available online in Springer-Link and offers free access to the table of contents and abstracts.

Access to the fulltext articles is given to subscribers only. The complete content is fully indexed and searchable.

And there is more. The journal is published now online first which means you can access peer-reviewed Online First articles well before print publication. These Online First Articles are searchable and citable through the use of the DOI (Document Object Identifier) which identifies each online publication and which is allocated to each document published online.
