

IN MEMORIAM

Dr Wybren de Jong, Assistant Editor of the European Journal of Pharmacology from 1972–1988, died in Strasbourg on April 29, 2001, at the age of 61. He was Professor of Pharmacology at the Medical Faculty, University of Utrecht, and staff member of the Rudolf Magnus Institute, the seat of EJP's editorial office. From 1972, when he joined the editorial team, until 1988, when he left the Rudolf Magnus Institute to assume a position at the Research Centre of Merrill Dow in Strasbourg, he made a major contribution towards maintaining EJP's high quality. His work for the journal is gratefully remembered.
