

Editorial

Her Majesty Queen Beatrix and His Royal Highness Prince Claus bestowed the title ROYAL on the Netherlands Society of Plant Pathology on 11 April 1991, the day that it celebrated its foundation one hundred years ago. The title was bestowed upon the Society because of the leading role it has played in plant pathology, in particular by publishing the Netherlands Journal of Plant Pathology. We should like to share this honour with our authors, who have contributed to the Journal's success by submitting their high-quality manuscripts to us for publication.

The Editors