

Editorial announcement

The Editorial Board of the Netherlands Journal of Plant Pathology wishes to announce two modifications in the Instructions to authors of future manuscripts.

First, English will be the mandatory language for all manuscripts that are to be submitted to our journal from now on.

Second, starting from 1 January 1987, the names of journals mentioned in the References will no longer be abbreviated. Therefore, authors should provide full journal names in the References of their manuscripts.