

Publisher's Notice

Next year the European Journal of Plant Pathology will double its page-budget. As of January 1995, the journal will be published in a double column (A4) format of approximately 100 pages per issue.

Authors are requested to consult the Instructions to Authors, published in the last pages of this issue.

As of August 1994, the European Journal of Plant Pathology will change its policy with regard to the publication of mini reviews.

From then on, authors who wish to submit a mini review for publication should first contact the Editorial Office, since only mini reviews on selected topics will be considered for publication.