BLENDING DESIGN, ARCHITECTURE AND ART

This New Smyrna Beach Home With Stunning Architecture Is A Showcase For Contemporary Design And The Owners' Eclectic Artwork Collection

A UNIQUE COLLABORATION between designer Rob Turner, Phil Kean Design Group, architect Will Miller and the homeowners, this striking 4,300-square-foot New Smyrna Beach, Fla., home conveys a contemporary and casual feel with an open floor plan and lush garden views. "From my initial meetings with the owners, I realized the desire and the need to provide for very free and almost whimsical use of color and shapes, and the potential for their personal artistic objects to give a 'poetic depth' to the home," Miller says. To maintain a harmonizing order in the house, the architect designed it with a unifying theme of materials and neutrals. "I encouraged Rob to be very deliberate and free with the use of color and shapes when creating his playful interiors," he says.

The free-floating chandelier from Tech Lighting suspends above the stairway where Chicken Breast, a bird sculpture by Copper Tristscheller, is perched. A wooden wheel from the island of Java adds organic interest on a platform at the top of the stairs.

WHEN A NEW YORK-BASED DESIGNER, Frank de Biasi, was hired to create a brand new seaside home in Palm Beach, Fla., that looked like it had always been there, he studied the history of the island's architecture. Homeowners Bob and Mia Matthews, who met de Biasi in Palm Beach, asked him to design a warm and inviting, Mizner-inspired family home. "Mia, Bob and I were inspired to design an adventurous home using these styles in vibrant colors such as turquoise, green, blue and white with pops of pink." The clients' main directive — the new 15,000-square-foot home is to look like it's been around since the "Glory Days" of the 1920s.

A columned pergola shapes a shaded space for friends and family to enjoy the whirlpool. McKinnon & Harris furnishings style intimate outdoor seating areas for conversation, while Dedon's draped sunbed and chaise lounges offer relaxation poolside.

Massive Haiku ceiling fans keep the tropical breezes flowing on the patio, where outdoor fire features provide glowing places for guests to gather on a chilly evening. Kartell barstools pull up poolside, while on the upper level, outdoor furnishings by Manutti shape social groupings near the open-air kitchen and bar.

INTERIOR DESIGNER JENNY PROVOST'S introduction to her client — a businessman, who moved here from South Africa and became a major success — was a "short" conversation that lasted for a few hours. Provost soon realized that her client was not only a risk taker in business, but also in design. The result of that meeting is this 7,000-square-foot Cape Coral, Fla., home the designer describes as "imaginative modern." The hospitality begins with the exterior. Guests feel welcome even before reaching the pivoting glass front door, as the house itself seems to beckon family and friends to enter. Inside, the main living area instantly captivates with the expansive views of the outdoors that reach out to the Caloosahatchee River emptying into the Gulf of Mexico and the horizon beyond.

ABOVE: Echoing the glass-paneled garage doors, front entrance and windows, polished travertine slabs lead the way to the entry in perfect complement to the home's modern architectural design. A motorized metal gate slides across the entryway for privacy.

BUILT ON TRUST, THE TEAM WHO DESIGNS your most personal spaces knows what you like, what you used to like, and has the eye and skills to sometimes lead you to someplace new. However, for the owners of an 8,000-square-foot, Plantation-style getaway on Islamorada in the Florida Keys, changing styles wasn't the plan. Having worked with the owners on several projects, including their first Plantation-style home in the Keys that sits only 50 feet from this newer version, interior designer Mark Manardo went to work right away with his design colleagues Janet Nolte and Robert Cloutier. "The owners simply loved everything about the first house, and as grown children with their families returned for holidays, they needed another house ... pretty much like the first," Manardo says. While the initial idea had been a family annex of sorts added to the larger primary residence architecturally designed by Michael Miller, in the end, this slightly smaller, newer home designed by architect Roger Janssen was more suited to the owners' current lifestyle. "The new home's layout actually provides more open living space," Manardo says. Thus, with a selection of interior furnishings that are "grandchildren-friendly," the families merge the good times back and forth between the two houses.

ABOVE LEFT: The family room's hand-carved sofa table from Alfonso Marina was hand-patinaed in Mexico; its bench is from Theodore Alexander. Upholstered in Romo's blue linen, Englishman's cocktail ottoman joins burlap-clad stools from Noir. A casual attitude prevails with ivory hued, slipcovered sofas and the barefoot style of Wicker Works' chairs cushioned in bold geometrics from Jim Thompson.

ABOVE AND RIGHT: If the views from the verandas are not close enough, tropical green Adirondack chairs provide the perfect beachfront spot to relax, sip an afternoon cocktail, and watch the waves roll in and back out again. "WHO WOULDN'T LOVE LOUNGING IN a balinese bed," asks interior designer Jennifer Garrigues of the peaceful poolside setting in the lush tropical gardens of one couple's home in North Palm Beach, Fla. This spacious 5,000-square-foot vacation home belonging to Jill and Alan Rappaport is conveniently located near the Atlantic Ocean and close to Palm Beach. When it comes to decorating, Garrigues and her longtime clients and good friends are on the same page. "We both love interesting textiles, vivid color, the exotic ... anything unusual from places like India, Cambodia, Vietnam or Bali," the designer says. To the Rappaports, it made perfect sense to approach the redesign of the 1970s house with Southeast Asia in mind. And in keeping with the design aesthetic, Garrigues teamed with architect Rustem Kupa, builder Randy Webb and landscape architect Elliott Templeton to create a harmonic balance that blurs the boundaries between inside and out.

THOUGH IT WAS ONE OF THE LAST UNITS to be acquired, this luxurious 27th-floor penthouse in a prestigious building in Palm Beach County, Fla., is by far one of the most spectacular condominiums Bryan Willoughby has ever built. "It's hard to imagine it was just a raw space when we came on board in 2015," says Willoughby, who first introduced the owners to interior designer Lorraine Rogers-Bolton. She was very excited to become an integral part of the design team. "We're not just about furnishings and fixtures," she says. "But also about selecting materials for the entire condo." With water surrounding the 6,400-square-foot penthouse on three sides — the Atlantic Ocean to the East, the Intracoastal to the West and the Palm Beach inlet to the South — the home's dazzling backdrop was true blue. "The water views gave us lots of focal points," says the designer, whose furniture arrangements were conceived so that every room would take advantage of the stunning coastal vistas.

INTERIOR DESIGNER ROBERT BROWN'S CHIC MIAMI BEACH condominium on Lincoln Road is all about detail. He has placed colorful art on the walls, designed rooms built around an atrium and maintained smooth, polished terrazzo flooring. "My parents were English and I grew up in major houses with large gardens," Brown says. "Now I have a stylish home with no hassle. I have no view except for my atrium and the sky ... and I love it!"

Brown wanted his 2,300-square-foot, third-floor apartment to offer a sense of place. And what a place it is located in the $65 million mixed-use project ingeniously imagined by developer Robert Wennett and the world-renowned architectural firm of Herzog & de Meuron.

VILLA NIRVANA

Shattering traditional design, the building itself is a work of art with exaggerated ceiling heights, panoramic city vistas and no exterior walls. Retail shops and restaurants shape the ground level, while upper-level luxury loft residences are built around interior courtyards with no views to the outside of the building, other than upward. Brown's eclectic living room showcases his love affair with contemporary art, sculpture and vintage furnishings. Styled for both large and more intimate gatherings, the dining room is another showcase for the designer's contemporary art paired with a 1970s Italian brass table and dreamy white Milo Baughman chairs clad in Mongolian goatskin. "I like a mix and match of 1970s pieces together with contemporary art," he says. "Their sophisticated, creative and beautiful execution gives a perfect balance in my home I named 'Villa Nirvana.'"

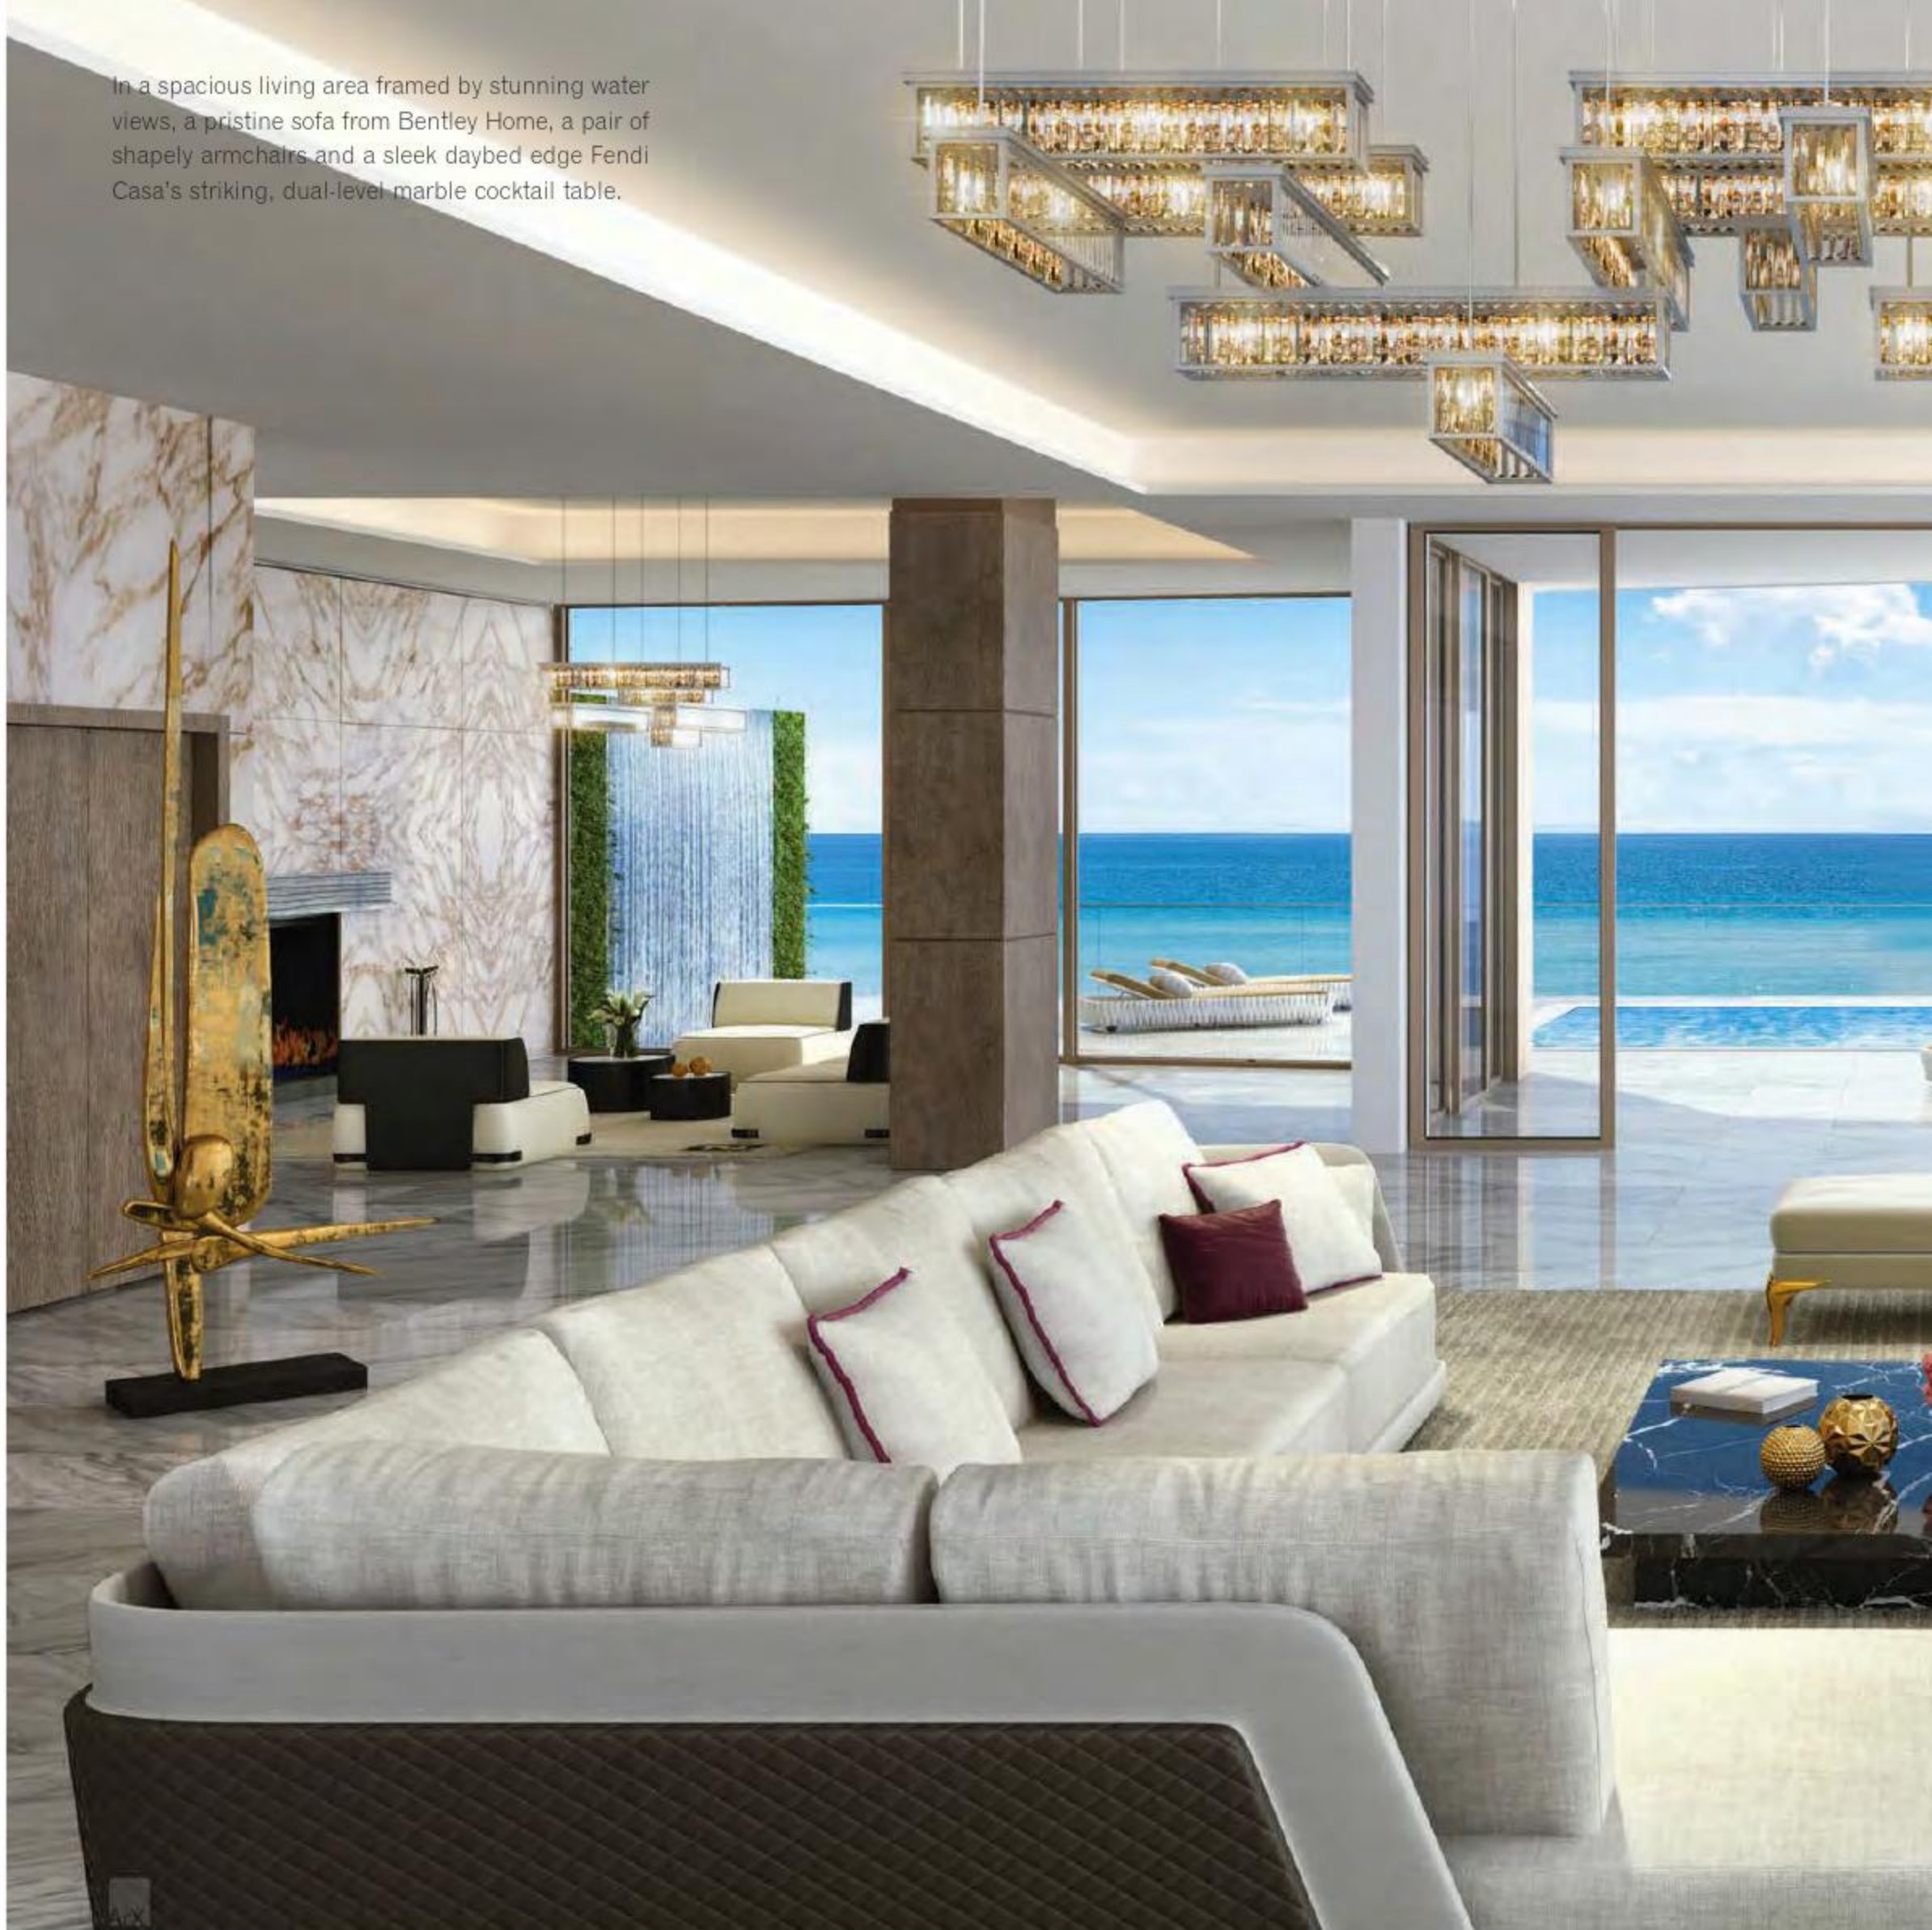

ABOVE: RIGHT: "All of the rooms in my condominium radiate from the atrium garden which is filled with palm trees, tropical plantings and a fountain," interior designer Robert Brown says. "Each room has a different perspective of the garden."

RIGHT: A 1970s Dunbar rosewood and chrome desk from CastellArts and a Raak desk lamp repeat the vintage theme in an office area, while a large shell from Christa's South Seashells, a custom wall-mounted surfboard, and artist Russell Crotty's tiny ink-drawn surfers add a touch of coastal chic.

THE ESTATES AT ACQUALINA IN SUNNY ISLES BEACH, FLA., a 50-story luxury beachfront condominium tower with plans to open in 2020, will offer 245 lavish dwellings including two single-family ground-floor residences. Casa D'Oro, one of these exquisite homes, boasts an 11,605-square-foot, two-story gated residence with a lush landscaped garden and direct access to a private beach. Created with elegant yet relaxed indoor and outdoor spaces by interior designer Isabel Tragash of STA Architectural Group in Miami, this unique "home within a condo" concept is richly imbued with amenities such as a private elevator, onyx walls and marble flooring, a pool with cabana, a summer kitchen and a garage spacious enough for six vehicles.

The opulent master bedroom is a tranquil retreat with scenic floor-to-ceiling doors and windows that flow effortlessly from the bedroom out to the patio, pool and ocean. Marble flooring throughout only adds to this striking retreat fashioned in neutral tones with shimmery metal accents and natural stone finishes.

SPLENDOR BY THE SEA

Known for her meticulous attention to detail, Tragash creates a private oasis connecting interiors to the ocean in an effortless open plan that flows like the sea. From the moment of entry through a private foyer, a spacious great room comes into view with two living areas styled with Fendi Casa furnishings. Elegant white sofas, velvety armchairs and a "Contour" daybed designed by Paul Mathieu for Luxury Living enhance entertaining along with an intimate conversation area near the fireplace. Breathtaking water views can be enjoyed from almost every room in the home including the master bedroom, where grand architectural elements such as panoramic windows and tall columns join with glossy marble flooring to blur the line between inside and out.

LEFT: Outdoors, the spectacular private pool lends the perfect balance between luxury and a relaxed South Florida lifestyle. The indoors flows seamlessly out to the patio, where stylish chaise lounges and swing chairs from Fendi Casa's Luxury Living line are situated poolside by a landscaped garden and the Atlantic Ocean mere steps away.

BRITISH COLONIAL IN THE TROPICS

The Design Of This Award-Winning Naples Home In Aqualane Shores Is Inspired By A Love Of 19th-Century British Colonial West Indies Style

INCORPORATING THE STYLE OF THEIR HISTORIC 1880s Ohio home in Cincinnati's historic district into their new home on the sparkling Gulf Coast of Florida was important to homeowners Marnette and Paul Perry. Just steps from the beach and strolling distance to the Old Naples shopping district, their 5,400-square-foot residence was inspired by the historic home they left behind, and their desire for a tropical aesthetic. The couple spent a great deal of time with architects Randall Stofft and John Cooney, as well as builder Scott Weidle, to develop the essential concepts of this British West Indies Colonial-style home. The Perrys also worked closely with interior designer Molly Grup, making every decision together, a process that included choosing which antiques to bring with them to Naples. "The team paid such attention to the details that I live with and enjoy every day," Marnette says.

ABOVE: Outdoors, the custom-designed pool by landscape architect Koby Kirwin is surrounded by chaise lounges, with armchairs and ottomans cushioned in a blue Sunbrella fabric. Wicker accent tables are perfect for holding a beverage.

CHARLES CLAYTON CONSTRUCTION

CHOOSING A YEAR-ROUND RESIDENCE in one of Florida's most breathtaking locations means the sky is the limit. Seduced by Lake Maitland's intoxicating sunset views in Winter Park, the owners comfortably settled into this dynamic, 15,600-square-foot home complete with private guest quarters, a full-scale cabana and tennis court, sauna and a deliciously decadent swimming pool — well almost. It didn't quite start off that way with this home that was half built and in need of a lot of care. Knowing the level of attention that was needed, the couple purchased the house and commissioned builder Charles Clayton. While the original structure of the home had the typical regional Mediterranean look, Clayton took the shell and transformed it into a Neoclassic Georgian-style home. "It's a blend of New England flair with Americana appeal," he says. The home shows nothing less than architectural integrity with its crisp and clean facade of whitewash brick that erupts with elegance.

JULIE KEATEN-REED

JULIE KEATEN-REED BLENDS TRADITIONAL Eastern minimalism with contemporary Western aesthetic. Her work begins with sumi ink, an ancient Japanese medium of soot and water. But her unique style emerges when she breaks from the strict tenets of brush-and-ink drawing and incorporates expressive pops of color.

Julie grew up in Wyoming and draws inspiration from her childhood trail rides across the Continental Divide. After graduate school, she and her husband taught English in Japan for five years. Julie again immersed herself in the landscape on cross-country bike trips.

She spent 35 years absorbing scenery before deciding to paint. When Julie returned to the United States in 1999, she unwrapped brushes and ink she had purchased in Japan and launched a career. She delights in the evolution of her work, experimenting with canvases and textures. Rather than forcing a conclusion in her paintings, she prefers to deliver a framework for the imagination.

Each light painting is handcrafted using various glass shapes mounted at precise angles on a metal surface. A special integrated light source strikes the glass shapes to produce a combination of highly saturated colors.

MK Dane's designs can be customized to any shape, practically any size, and in any color combination and can be configured to produce in excess of 5000 lumens. They are cost effective for the residential and hospitality markets.

URSULA SCHWARTZ FINE ART

ORIGINALLY FROM SOUTH AFRICA, Ursula Schwartz's talents derive from a dynamic pursuit of harmony with the forces of nature. The diversity of her art highlights an underlying tone of organic alchemy and renders a balanced application of design, color and intrigue.

"Distortion, exaggeration, and spontaneity are techniques I employ to illustrate parallel conditions in people. I communicate my work in a visceral form, piercing through objective veils of life by stirring emotion and response."

Ursula's African roots enable her to cross the boundaries of genres to create a captivating fusion of abstract expressionism and the ethereal. Working mainly in oils and often adding mixed media to enhance her personal abstract language, her art is rich with texture and an adventurous color palette with expressive linear techniques.

Her work is currently featured in private and corporate collections throughout Europe, Australia, South Africa and the U.S.

MARTHA JO MAHONEY

"PAINTED ARRANGEMENTS ARE METAPHORS FOR things in nature, both physical and spiritual. Elements and relationships come into being, evolve and phase out or transform, just as in life. Like my painting, the process is fluid and organic, focusing on the evocative and poetic rather than the descriptive. Beginning with a feeling about or recollection of an experience, ongoing preoccupations and at times raw emotions, I begin with automatic drawing - a series of gestural, linear movements that come from my interior - then move to shapes, movement and color to create a sense of harmony. Non-objective painting intrigues me. This form of expression offers an unparalleled means of conveying emotion and mood."

Mahoney lives and works in Orlando/Winter Park, Florida. Her works have been placed into many significant national and international collections. She is currently represented by: Be On Park, Winter Park, FL, Beonpark.com; Bennett Galleries Nashville, TN, Bennettgalleriesnashville.com, and Gallery One Twenty, New Smyrna Beach, FL, Galleryonetwenty.com.

THE IMPACT OF ART ON INTERIOR DESIGN

ART BRINGS LIFE INTO INTERIORS. It adds another dimension and vibrations of colors and structures to homes, yachts and hospitality projects. Contemporary art is becoming recognized as one of the most essential components of modern interior design. Stefano Sanna, pioneer of "Metacycling Art", lives and works in Sardinia (Italy), the paradise island in the Mediterranean Sea. Stefano and his SaSa Art team are working closely with international architects and interior designers on collaborations creating unique living and hospitality environments.

The US SaSa Art team is based in Ft. Lauderdale and the gallery representation is managed by William Braemer, Miami.

RWB CONSTRUCTION

Robert W. Burrage, Founder and CEO of RWB Construction Management, Inc.

Q - "Concierge Construction" is an interesting concept you've developed...what does that mean for RWB Construction?

A - We are concept-to-completion, then beyond, with full maintenance services. Whether we are working with a private custom to suit client, or one of our developers on 30-40M spec homes we are intimately involved in the entire process. We love what we do and want to make every part of the process enjoyable for our clients while offering the highest quality construction and services.

Q - What has been your biggest challenge in the construction industry, and how did you conquer it?

A - We are constantly "adapting the tactic to the terrain". The market is amazing right now which drives demand, whether it be subcontractors, and/or materials. Open communication about what impact this has on scheduling and pricing is a must. Having great subcontractors is so important in this industry; this is a vital part of that communication. At RWB we build a TEAM, we put the right people in the right places, and work together towards a common goal.

Q - What is your favorite part of the construction process?

A - Turning over our finished projects. What we do, as a team, is amazing!

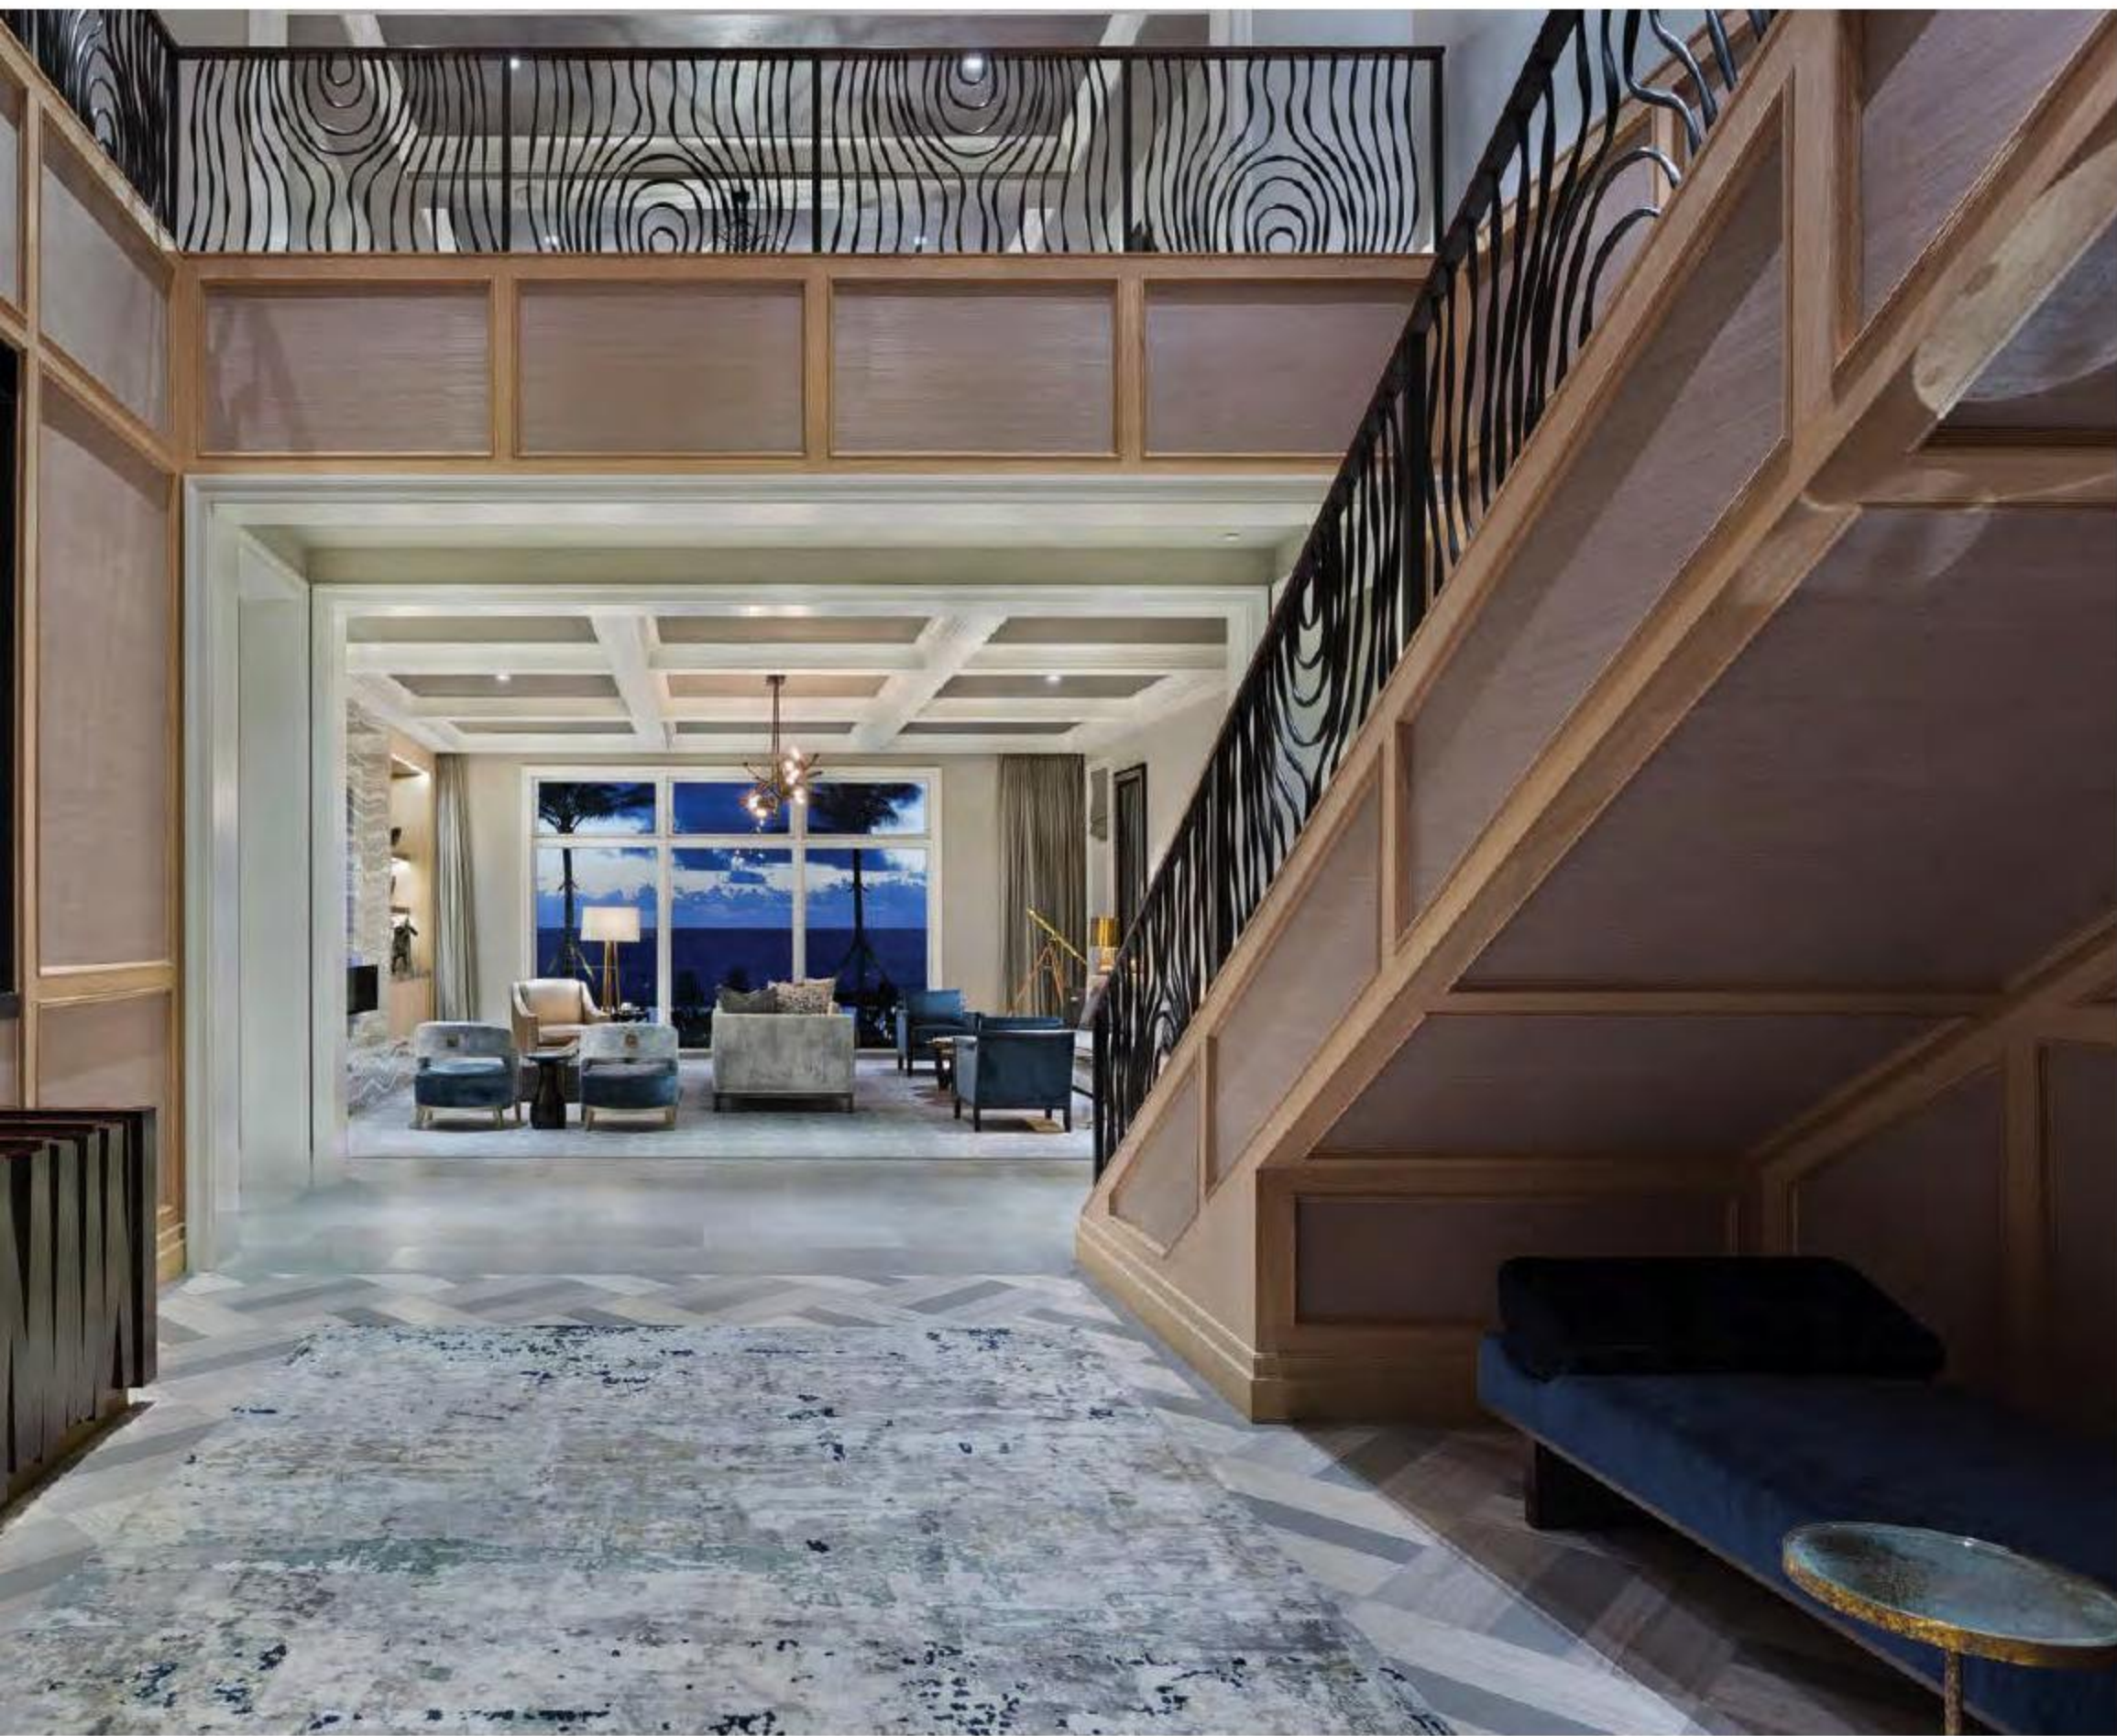

Q - How do you collaborate with your client?

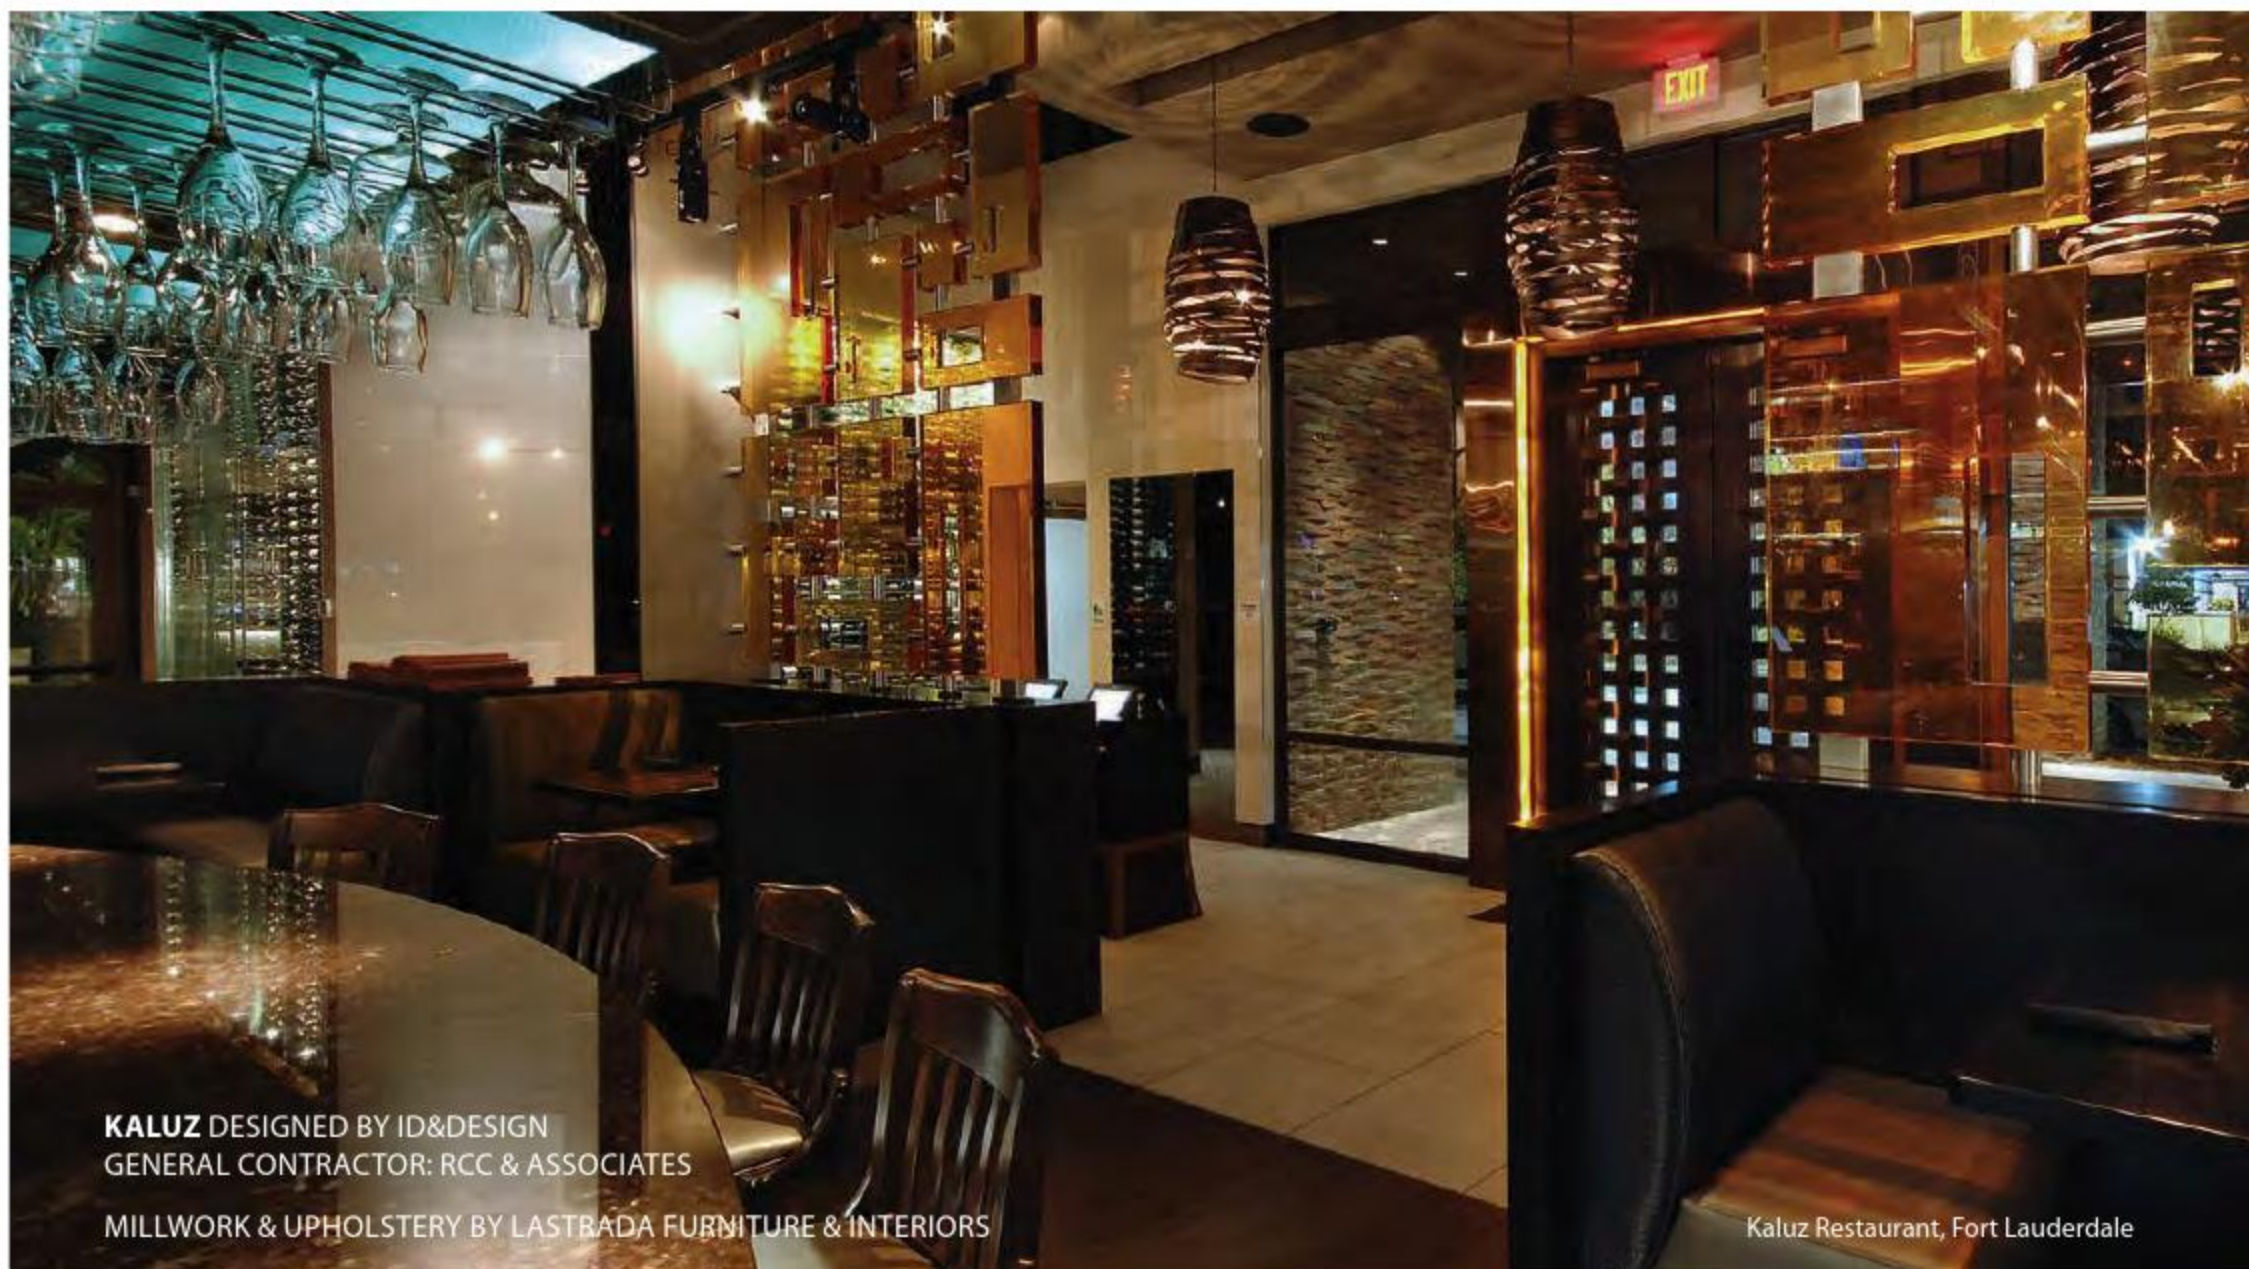

A - This is where we are unique. On almost all of our projects we are brought in at conception, and in some instances, we coordinate finding the appropriate oceanfront land. We work diligently to build a team of professionals that best suits the client. We have incredible working relationships with some of the finest Architects, Engineers, and Design firms. We walk together while building the team, developing the plans, then bringing the project to life.

 Our goal is to eliminate the brain damage. This process should not be a tug of war, it should be mutually rewarding to all parties, and enjoyable. Again, it must be a team: Owner, Contractor, Architect, Engineers, Subcontractors, even the Laborers, we are ALL working towards the same goal!

RUGS BY ZHALEH

"At Rugs by Zhaleh, we conceive of rugs as fine works of art. They should be as stunning to behold as the art on your walls, and just as integral to your home's design. We think of our showroom as an art gallery that exhibits and offers you the works of skilled and imaginative artisans from all over the world. Our master weavers creatively combine their technique and vision with today's most exciting and relevant trends in color and design to create fine hand-woven rugs with edgy, contemporary designs and textures." Zhaleh Emami, Owner of Rugs by Zhaleh

Persian-born Zhaleh ("Julie") Emami is one of the few women in the very male-dominated rug industry and has spent the better part of her life in this field, learning from the masters.

LEGNO BASTONE

LEGNO BASTONE WAS FOUNDED IN THE LATE 1800'S, by the same family that runs the company to this very day. Over the years, we have optimized and expanded our production process, but we have never abandoned the age-old European traditions of craftsmanship when it comes to our floors. Every single floor is handcrafted and custom designed; regardless of whether it is a well-appointed home, a castle or a modern minimalist urban apartment, irrespective of whether the address is in Europe or coast to coast in the USA.

We proudly admit that quality means everything to us. There are no greater projects than when we are paralleled by those who feel the same way. This is a reason why Legno Bastone works closely with International designers, architects and builders. Like us, they know that the unusually wide and long planks in a Legno Bastone Floor provide for a unique style in the spaces that they design. That is why they are referred to as "Custom Designed Furniture for Your Floor."

The wood behind Legno Bastone Wideplank Flooring: Legno Bastone gets raw wood from the best forests in Europe, which have been nurtured for generations for the benefit of society and the environment. The trees we select are generally over 150 years old and have been meticulously cared for throughout their existence. We make precise uncompromising demands regarding grains, knots and structure. We accept only the best logs, which we use with the greatest respect possible. Any other approach would be an injustice-both to the trees and to all the forest workers who have taken care of them for centuries.

The new season arrives with signature looks, emerging trends, dynamic enthusiasm and great promise.

Optimism is all a buzz at High Point as brand new showrooms open, manufacturers roll out the red carpet, and exhilarating metallic hues, warm colors and cool styles define the boundaries of this season's design trends. Each October and again in April, stunning patterns and eye-catching shapes and swirls create visual interest in styling themes on exhibit at High Point. The spirit of this year's market is alive and thriving as global design manufacturers gather to reveal the latest trends. For more information, call 800/874-6492.

ELIMINATE MOSQUITOES & NO-SEE-UMS BY INSTALLING AN AUTOMATIC MISTING SYSTEM

WITH HURRICANE SEASON BEHIND US, THIS IS THE PERFECT time of year to enjoy your backyard. Whether you live in South Florida full time, or just for the season, you want to relax outdoors without having to worry about mosquitoes. But it doesn't have to be that way.

With its cutting-edge technology, SWAT Mosquito Systems is your only choice for a mosquito misting system. Our misters are discreetly installed around the perimeter of your yard, producing a mist of botanical insecticide for about 45 seconds twice a day.

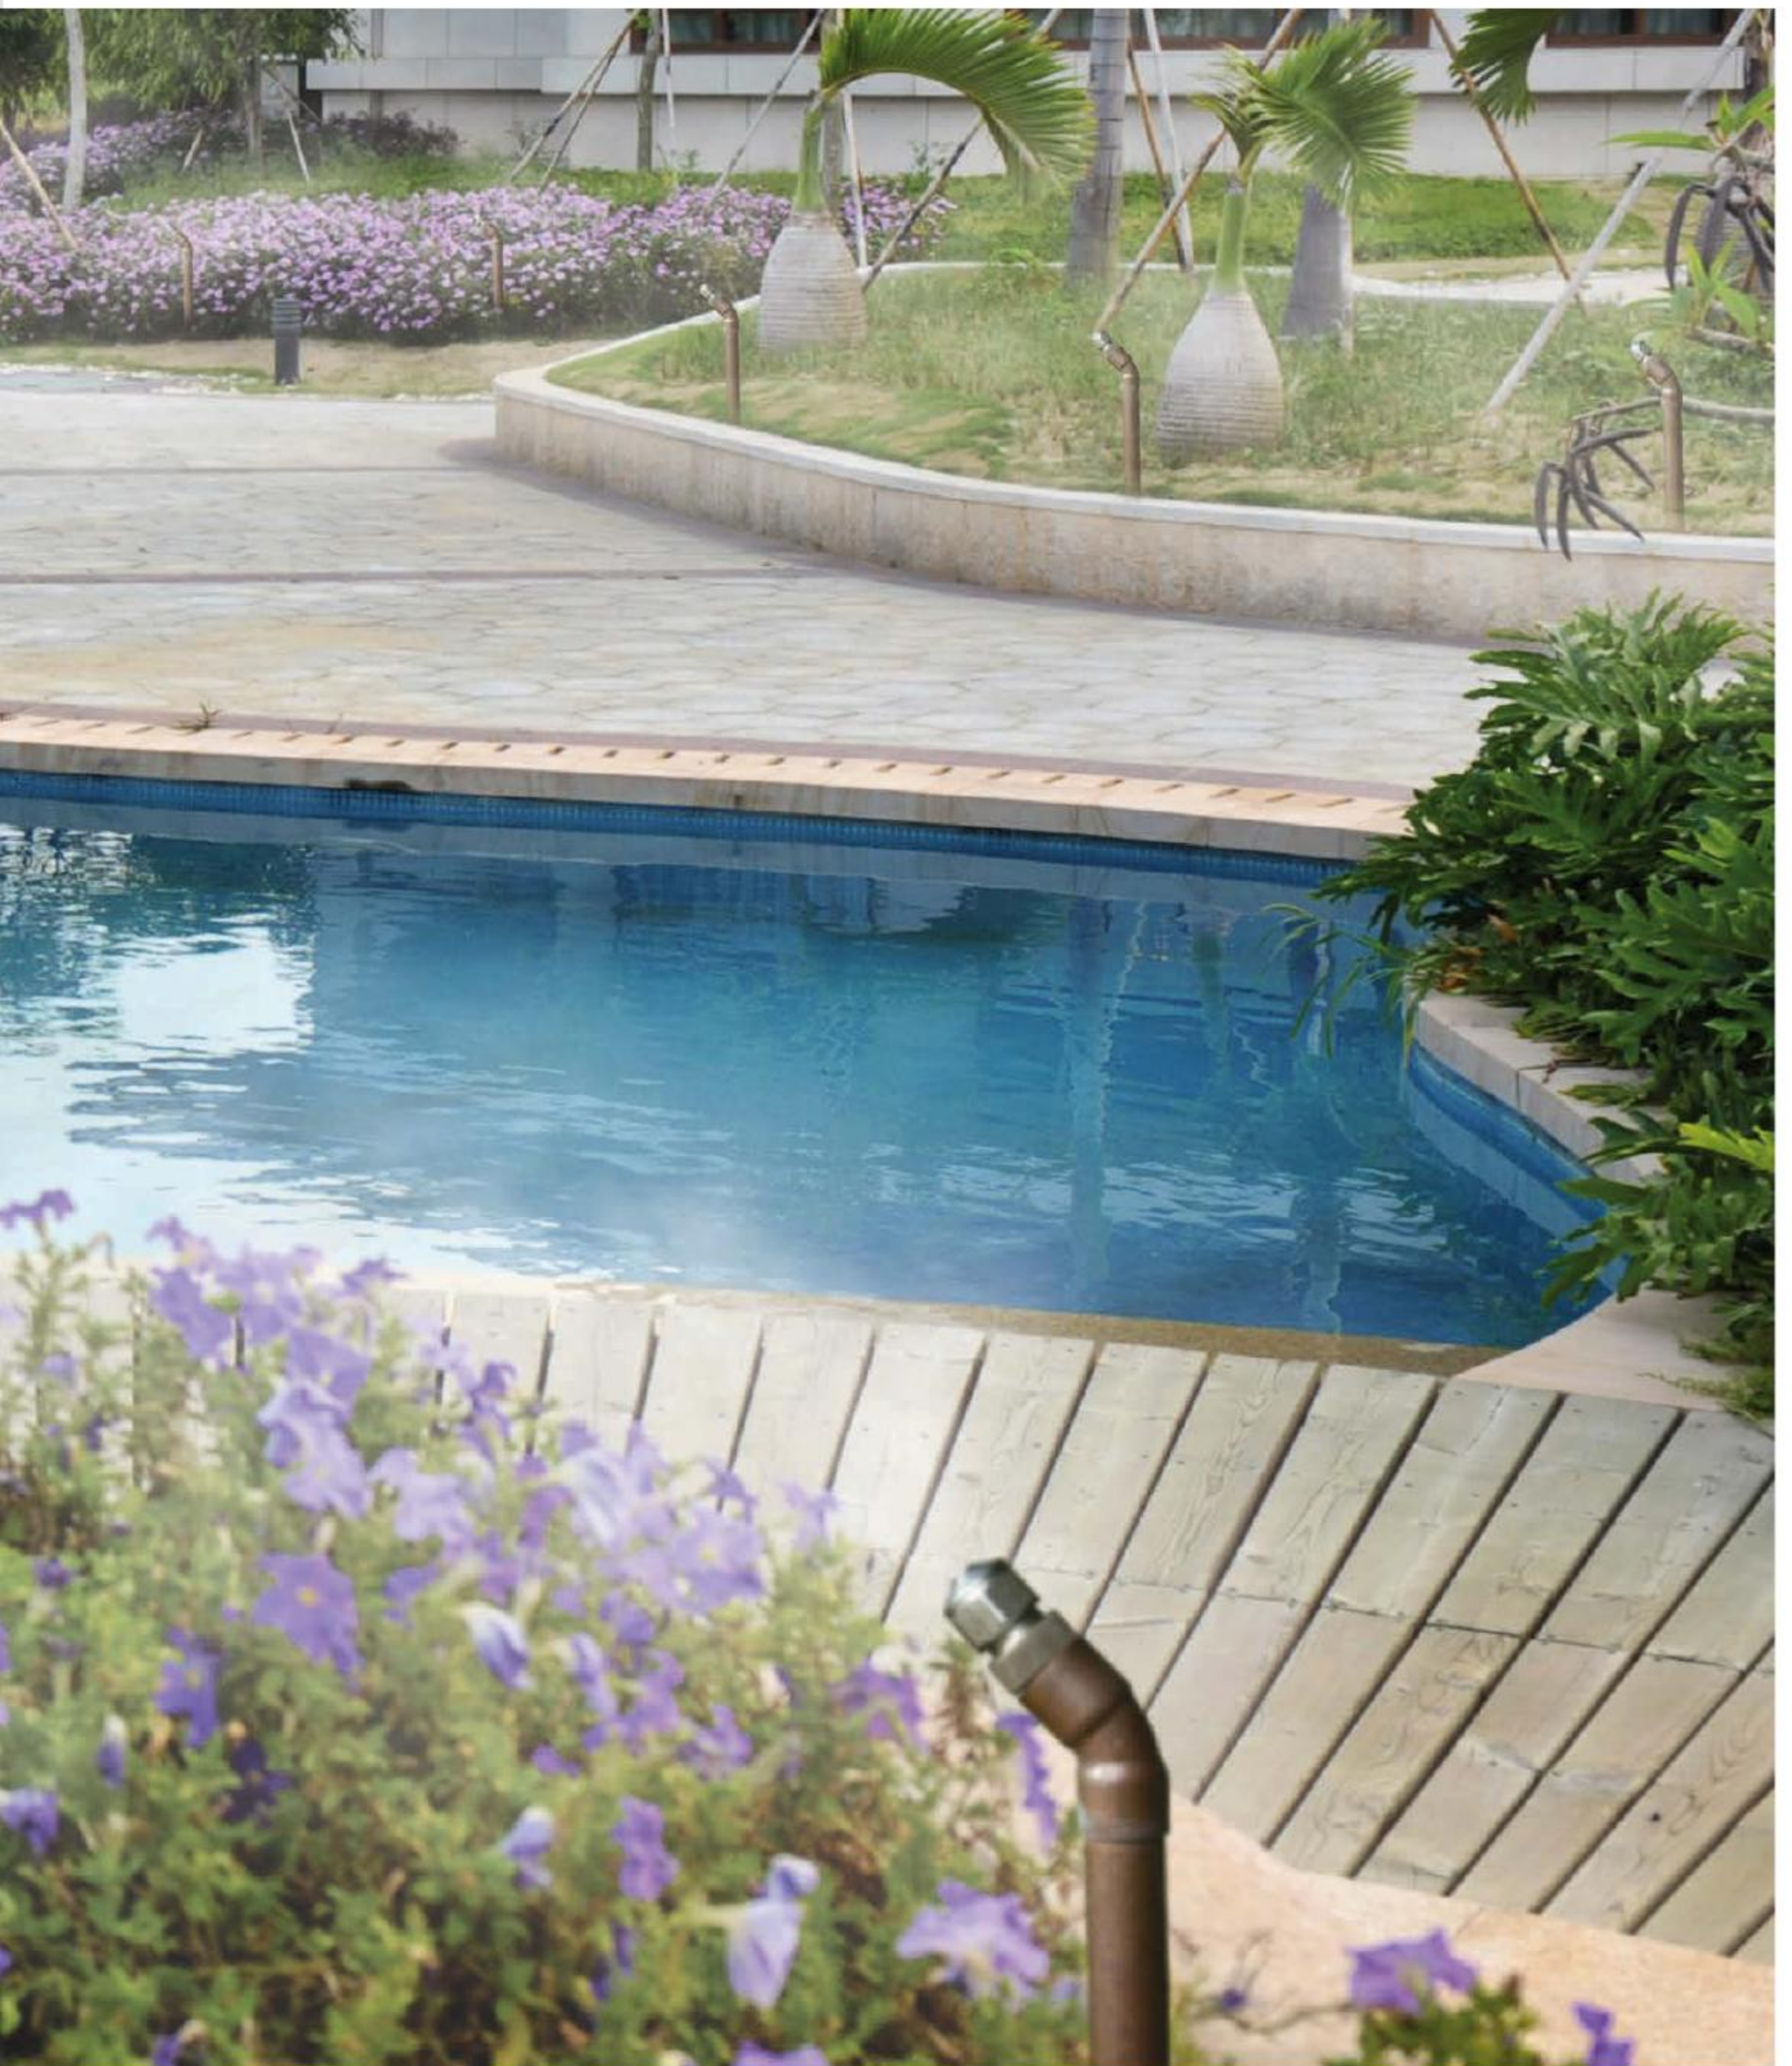

Rid your yard of mosquitoes, no-see-ums, flies, spiders, gnats, fleas, ticks, wasps, and other outdoor insects. You can even use your smartphone to control and monitor the system, giving you the power to program the mosquito-killing mist around the time the insects are the most active.

Protect your property and family from mosquitoes today. Call SWAT Mosquito Systems at 866-900-SWAT (7928) today.

America's finest designers chronicle the creation of glamorous, comfortable spaces from the fundamentals to the finishing touches.

The clean lines of a pair of mid-century armchairs and the custom ottomans balance the vivid geometric rug and throw pillows. Photo by George Ross Photographs.

INTERIOR DESIGN MASTER CLASS

Inside these pages: Interior Design Master Class collects the expertise and knowledge of some of the best interior designers working today. Poised to become the essential book on design, this tome features treasured essays by celebrated design legends and up-and-coming newbies. Edited by Carl Dellatore and illustrated with 300 exquisitely vivid photographs, it is clear to see that each design is different and every detail counts — from the artisans and artists, to the choice of furnishings, fabrics and colors.

Grouped by theme, each contribution is paired with images of the designer's work. Unique in the quality of its contributors, Interior Design Master Class reveals the bold synergy created as rooms are transformed by skillfully layering furnishings and objects from a myriad of eras. www.rizzoliusa.com
