Abstracts

Simple CAD Formulas of Edge Compensated Microstrip Lines

The proximity effects of microstrip lines near a substrate edge are estimated by using the rectangular boundary division method for effectively designing high-packing-density MMIC's. Simple CAD formulas of edge-compensated microstrip lines (ECM lines) are introduced which can be applied to circumvent the proximity effects on the characteristic impedance.

❑ Return to main document.