

WHY JOIN G-MTT?

Among the reasons for joining the IEEE Microwave Theory and Techniques Group are the following.

- 1) To receive the IEEE Transactions on MTT, a bimonthly periodical containing papers and correspondence items describing the results of new and original research and development in the microwave field.
- 2) To support other activities of the G-MTT, such as the annual symposium, which provides a unique opportunity to hear an excellent technical program and to make personal contacts with those working in microwaves.
- 3) To receive the newsletter which contains information on local chapter and IEEE activities, news of meetings of interest to the microwave profession, and of the activities of the G-MTT in general.
- 4) To obtain increased representation in the conducting of IEEE affairs.
