THE 1986 INDEX TO IEEE PUBLICATIONS

The 1986 Combined Index is all you need to access all of the publications of the IEEE, the world's leading source of information in electrical/electronics/computer science and engineering. In its easy-to-use format, our annual combined Index quickly provides you with references to all IEEE-published papers, articles, and other communications, which in 1986 totaled over 137,000 pages. Information is accessible both by subject and author.

There is simply no substitute for the aware professional requiring detailed information.

ACCESS OVER 50,000 PERIODICAL PAGES

The 1986 Index to IEEE Publications allows you to get access to highly cited, high-impact journals covering over 30 fields of specialization such as biomedicine . . . geoscience . . . nuclear and plasma science . . . pattern analysis . . . oceanic engineering . . . cybernetics. . . In 1986 alone, published materials totaled over 53,000 pages!

ACCESS OVER 80,000 NONPERIODICAL PAGES

The index also cites all published papers presented at over 130 major IEEE-sponsored conferences held worldwide during the year. In addition, the index also includes all new IEEE and ANSI/IEEE Standards, IEEE PRESS books and various other IEEE non-periodicals. In 1986, IEEE's book publishing program accounted for over 84,000 technical pages.

LISTS OVER 21,000 TECHNICAL ITEMS—CONTAINS OVER 130,000 ENTRIES

In each volume, you'll also find useful descriptions/scopes on IEEE periodicals, conference records and digests, special issues and sections, IEEE Standards and PRESS books . . . information you need to fully identify and/or order a complete publication from IEEE. Our annual Index is the only index that covers the totality of IEEE technical publishing—the world's largest source of information in electrotechnology.
