

Announcement

AS an expanded transnational activity of the Microwave Theory and Techniques Society, the Asia-Pacific Abstracts will include the titles and abstracts of selected high-level articles published in Chinese language journals, starting with the next publication of Asia-Pacific Abstracts. To meet this requirement, this journal appointed Prof. Shanjia Xu as sub-Associate Editor for Asia-Pacific Abstracts in charge of Chinese publications. He will report to the Asia-Pacific Abstracts Associate Editor, Prof. M. Koshiba, who combines input from Prof. Xu to compile the abstracts. On behalf of the MTT-S, I look forward to working with Professor Xu.

Tatsuo Itoh
Editor-in-Chief

Shanjia Xu (SM'91) graduated from the University of Science and Technology of China in 1965.

Since then, he has been with the same university as a Faculty Member, and Associate Chairman of the Department of Radio and Electronics since 1986. From 1983 to 1986, he was a Visiting Scholar at the Polytechnic Institute of New York. Also, he was an Academic Visitor at several universities in the United States, Canada, Japan, Germany, and Hong Kong. He has been teaching microwave engineering courses for more than twenty-five years for graduate and undergraduate students. He has been engaged in research in the fields of microwave and millimeter-wave theory and techniques. He received the Second and the Third Award for Science and Technology Advances from the Chinese Academy of Sciences. He has published over 90 papers in various academic journals and proceedings of international conferences.

Prof. Xu is a member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Infrared and Millimeter Waves, and is a standing member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of China Institute of Communications. He is Associate Chairman of the Millimeter and Submillimeter-Wave Speciality Committee of the Chinese MTT Society. His biography was listed in the Who's Who of the Asian Pacific Rim.

---