

Editorial

Many of you are wondering why the MTT-Transactions are being sent much later than their issue date. It is because the IEEE Publications Department has switched to electronic publishing as of January 1, 1993; a task which has proven to be more difficult than anticipated. Seventy-eight percent of the IEEE Transactions have switched and many were late.

You should have on hand the April issue, and the May issue will be sent in the third week of September. The IEEE Publication Department has hired additional personnel and is using free-lance editors to expedite the process. By the end of the year, we should be back on schedule with the December Special Issue on the International Microwave Symposium being mailed at the beginning of January 1994.

A special note will be published in the next MTT Newsletter to explain the publication problems we have encountered.
