

DEDICATION

LLEWELLYN M. K. BOELTER 1898–1966

THE YEAR 1968 marks the 70th anniversary of L. M. K. Boelter's birth. This issue of the International Journal of Heat and Mass Transfer is dedicated to his memory.

Professor Boelter contributed greatly to the sciences of heat transfer and mass transfer in both research and education. The contributions to this issue come from his former associates. Two of these, Dean Myron Tribus of Dartmouth College and Professor Ralph Seban of the University of California, undertook the editing of this issue of the Journal.
