

Members of the North Central Section of the AOCS heard Werner Haberkorn of Interstate Foods speak on the use of molecular sieve for refining edible tallow. Haberkorn substituted for Robert L. Husch, who was detained at Interstate's East Coast plant. Among those who attended the meeting were, from left, Ed Lowe and Ralph Berger, both of EMI Corp., Robert Veal, USDA, Peoria, Ill., and Stan Knobel, Dave Tandy and Jack Suriano, all of EMI Corp.

North Central Section members hear talk on the use of molecular sieve
for refining edible tallow

Among those who attended the North Central Section meeting at the Flying Carpet Restaurant were, from left, Karl Moulton and Sambasivarao Koritala, both of USDA, Peoria, Ill., and Bernie Szuhaj, Central Soya Co. Another North Central function, an all-day symposium, was held Jan. 23, in Northbrook, Ill.

Speaker Werner Haberkorn of Interstate Foods filled in for Robert L. Husch at the North Central Section meeting held recently. Husch later said that if any section members had additional questions to contact him at Interstate Foods Corp., 3800 S. Morgan, Chicago, Ill. 60609.

Among those who attended the North Central Section meeting at which Werner Haberkorn spoke on the use of molecular sieve for refining edible tallow were, from left, Wally Deutcher, Somes-Nick and Co., Dave Erickson, Vern Witte, and James Roorda, all of Swift and Co.