ASSOCIATION FOR PATIENT-ORIENTED RESEARCH 1999 SCIENTIFIC MEETING

Atlantic City, NJ

April 30 through May 2, 1999

The Association for Patient-Oriented Research, APOR, has been formed to bring together all physicians and scientists who are dedicated to the observation and scientific study of human subjects for an understanding of their physiologic and pathophysiologic characteristics. Through scientific study of human subjects, it aims to improve understanding of disease and treatment. The Association seeks to expand clinically derived knowledge with ancillary use of laboratory sciences as a core discipline of medicine.

Plan to send an abstract. To download a submittal form, visit APOR's website: <<http://www.mc.vanderbilt.edu/gcrc/apor/>>

The deadline for receipt of abstract and registration is March 15, 1999.
