

The Journal of Nutritional Biochemistry (JNB) is an international journal devoted to advancements in nutrition science. Its major focus is on investigations about nutrients that overlap with the areas of biochemistry molecular biology, neurochemistry, toxicology, and pharmacology. For details concerning the preparation of manuscripts see Information for Authors, which is published in each issue of the journal.

The Journal of Nutritional Biochemistry is published monthly by Elsevier Inc., 360 Park Avenue South, New York, NY 10010-1710.

Subscription Rates (2006): Institutional price: US$1,176.00; Personal price: US$254.00; Prices include postage and are subject to change without notice.
