WELCOME TO Utterly FABULOUS

Thank you so much for your wonderful response to the first edition of this magazine. From your letters and emails it is clear that you are all agreed that the new magazine is ... Utterly FABULOUS.

Your messages were truly motivating and have spurred us to increase the number of pages from 16 to 24 and to increase the size of our print run to the highest circulation of any mag in the TG world. We are increasing our endeavours to get support from main stream business who should be taking the transgender market more seriously. With this support we will be able to continue to provide a free ALL inclusive magazine that aims to support and promote ALL events and ALL opportunities on the TG scene throughout the UK.

THANK YOU TO ALL OUR CONTRIBUTORS who have supplied such terrific help, pictures and reviews. Through this magazine you are helping our community to mature and grow.

LOOKING FORWARD we know of plans for a tranny trip to Las Vegas and another to Paris by the community's leading movers and shakers. The Transfandago event (page 6) was such a success that it will become a regular September event. Martine Rose is adding a new event to the Repartee calendar (page 10).

CHECKOUT OUR NEW WAYOUT PRODUCTS after reading our Alternative Miss London photo spread (page 19) - with thanks to Georgina - and then order the new 7th WayOut 'home' video to watch the event again and again. Also in the WayOut shop you will see a new range of sexy fantasy story books direct from California and illustrated by my friend Tee Je.

THE NEW WAYOUT RESTAURANT (page 22) is fast getting a great reputation for the value, quality and choice of food. Where else in the world can you find a discrete dining opportunity uniquely catering to TGs and friends just a stones throw from your favourite Saturday night clubs? .... Book now for your Christmas meal

WORKING HARD AT IMAGE WORKS, Pan and her team have not only created yet another great cover and photo features but have also done it at the same time as the last exhausting throws of moving into the new Image Works palace, and all with a smile. This girl's good under pressure - she can keep the job. Congratulations to Pan and her elves - your new premises is fantastic and your customers are going to be stunned and amazed.

A NEW INTERNET SERVICE compliments Jodie's reviews of our new WayOut Restaurant (page 22) and the Transfandago event (page 6). Check out a short video of the charity event FREE at the first ever tranny television station on the internet. Jodie and Sarah Staar's new website 'Trannylife' has a variety of video clips on a 'pay per view' basis including the entire journey of a transsexual girl who is currently undergoing the process of gender reassignment. Check out the FREE sample report on the Transfandago Charity event at www.trannylife.com.

TRANNY IDOL Steffan announces (page 16) a fresh new that she will be joined on the first Wednesday of the month by talented singer Miss Dee Channele and her friends. This evening is called "Muse" @ The House of Drag. On the last Saturday of each month WayOut Star Search becomes "Drag Academy" with £150 prize to be split as the audience sees fit to dancers, singers and mime artists. Steffan will be offering an 'Academy Membership' with invites to appear in WayOut shows. We believe "Muse" and "Drag Academy" will be a spring board to more live shows at The WayOut Club. Who knows we may even create a tranny singing group and a tranny dance troupe - "Tranny Idols".

THANK YOU WAYOUT TRANSFANDANGO TEAM, I am SO proud of the support that the WayOut girls gave to me, Steffan and Richard O'Brien. Sarah, Lena, Vanilla, Rossita were SO generous, professional, beautiful and talented as always. Enormous thanks also to my Lesley and Steffan's Kenny for all their help. You are all great friends and a joy to work with. My turn next year (Steffan's turn to cover the home base).

THIS YEAR HAS FLOWN BY, Before we blink it will be 2003 but looking back we have done SO much. What a special year we have had in 2002. May the New Year be as special for all of you. Bless you all, see you soon.

Utterly FABULOUS

Friday the 27th September 2002 was the date that myself and many of my gorgeous Boudettes were looking forward to. This was the date we were to pack up and leave London behind for a weekend of fun and glamour in Manchester at The Transfandango Weekend and we could not wait.

By Jodie Lynn

All of my team and clients were booked into The Palace Hotel where the ball was to take place the next evening. The hotel reception is impressive and slightly gothic which really suited the theme of the weekend to come. The hotel rooms were incredibly spacious and our bathroom was absolutely huge.

Saturday the 28th September started with a full English buffet which set us up nicely for the day. Then it was off to our room to prepare our contestant for The Drag Race at High Noon. Miss Nicola Smith, the most down to earth, un-drag like tranny that you could ever meet allowed us to perform a drag makeover on her with a special race day drag outfit by the very talented Miss Sarah Lloyd. After a very fraught delay involving hotel elevators a taxi outside whisked us off to the shopping centre.

"The nicest thing about the Transfandango weekend was socialising in a totally non-threatening environment with a mixed crowd. There were TV's, TS's, Drag Queens, guys, girls and celebrities!! The worst part of the weekend was going home!! The other thing I found hard was going to work the next day and not being able to tell anyone why I had such a great weekend!!" NICOLA SMITH

The gurls had to carry their eggs on a giant spoon and complete an assault course hosted by Richard O'Brien himself. Rossita, (one of the WayOut Girls) whisked around the course in no time at all and went on to win the fastest around the course. Sadly our Nicola was too busy trying to be a lady and did not clock up a very fast time, but she did go on to win The Best Outfit and The Most Money Raised for Charity. We managed to raise nearly £500 from generous hearted Boudettes in recent months and in fact we raised a third of the total money raised for the entire race!! Nicola walked away with £100 fetish wear voucher and £400 voucher for a holiday with First Choice and of course we were all beaming from ear to ear.

What a triumph for Nicola and The Boudoir!!

I will never forget this weekend as not only did we have yet another chance to glam up and show off, but we also bonded as a group of people who all have a shared passion and like to get together. Long Live The Boudettes and bring on the next Transfandango Ball!!" JAYNIE TRASH

So back at the hotel every single one of our eleven gurls was made up, styled and dressed and at the Champagne reception in the hotel bar, bang on time!! The three workers however just made it in time for the first course of the meal at the ball!!

Richard O'Brien's Transfandango EVENT REVIEW

cheques from various people for the Bone Marrow Unit Appeal. Richard seemed to be particularly touched by a £7,000 cheque presented to him by the students from Manchester University who he had been working with to raise money. It was moments like that which made you realise what a thoroughly nice man Richard O'Brien is. To see someone of his talent and fame, so overwhelmed was lovely.

"What can I say...every minute was amazing. Being a part of such a lovely group of people who are so easy to get on with at such a classy and well-organised affair was sheer bliss!! Book me in for next year!!" REBECCA DAVIDS

The cabaret began with The WayOut Girls who performed in very brightly coloured costumes, Copacabana, Lady Marmalade and a Rocky Horror Medley. Maxine Barry who won Stars in their Eyes as Shirley Bassey was truly brilliant. Richard Straker also performed a set of songs ranging from Mr Bojangles right through to a Lionel Richie number. The highlight of the cabaret has to be when Richard O'Brien performed "The Time Warp" on his guitar and the whole room got up and did the dance... Just brilliant!!

By this time the our tables were absolutely jumping!! We were all having so much fun. The evening's entertainment ended with an Abba tribute band that belted out all the old favourites filling the dance floor.

The Transfandango Ball has to have been the best event that I have attended in my three years of working in the tranny community. Not just the Ball, but the whole weekend. From Friday to Sunday, myself, my team and all of The Boudettes laughed and smiled and thoroughly enjoyed every minute.

At the end of this amazing evening, we were all left very drunk, very happy and very glad that we had not only enjoyed one of the best weekends ever, but that we had raised money for kids that really need it - the icing on the cake. I can't wait to do it all again next year...apart from the lift episode!!

"I've been depressed ever since the ball. I just want to do it again every weekend. How will we ever top that Miss Lynn?" MELANIE WEXFORD

I would personally like to thank ALL the gurls that came with us to the Transfandango weekend. They were: Amanda Cloud, Beth, Debbie TV, Jaynie Trash, Kathy Tights, Melanie Wexford, Melissa, Nicola Smith, Rebecca Davids and Suzanne and my wonderful and hard-working team - Miss Tracie Ross and Miss Nas.

Richard O'Brien's Transfandango

This event promised to be very special and it SUCCEEDED on two levels.

From the outset Richard O'Brien intended that this event not only help children who are suffering from cancer but also help transsexuals and those that love us to feel respect for ourselves. The event raised over £35,000 (the most successful single event the charity has enjoyed) and from the buzz that has gone around the country I know that those that attended know they were part of a ground breaking event.

The organising team have all agreed to repeat the event annually and the next one will be on the 27th Sept 2003 again midday at The Triangle followed by a Ball at the Palace Hotel Manchester.

The midday competition will be a "star search" style contest called High Camp @ High Noon. Eight individuals or groups will be chosen for the competition from audition video tapes or personal auditions at 'Churchills Manchester' or 'WayOut Club London' over the year preceding the event. All material must have the word 'high' in the title. The best act will perform at the ball and along with others will receive a great prize. It is never too soon to get your act together for the competition and your dress for the ball.

To contribute sponsorship or to offer prizes for the next event on Saturday 27th September 2003:-

THEATRE REVIEW

The new wave of musical theatre that has hit the West End recently has been attracting alternative younger people and hippie chic urban / media fashionistas. The wave kicked off with musicals such as Rent, closely followed by the Pet Shop Boys' Closer To Heaven and now Taboo.

By Angel Zsa-Tsar

Taboo is a product of New Romantic writer Mark Davies and Eighties fashion and music icon Boy George. The name was derived from a nightclub that was once presided over by performance artist Leigh Bowery.

This musical skilfully weaves the bulk of the movements movers and shakers: Marilyn, Phillip Salon, Steve Strange, Leigh Bowery and Princess Julia and Boy George himself - with fictional characters Billy and Kim.

Billy is a wannabe, bi-curious photographer who falls in love with Kim, an aspiring designer who create costumes. These fictional elements are beautifully woven in with the real ones in an entertaining and educational way. The first half of Taboo glorifies the struggles and the heights of entertainment success and the second half illustrates the downward path of fame and fortune to drugs, loss of dignity and AIDS. However, it doesn't just leave you there, it concludes in India where Boy George and friends go to Bangalore in search of spiritual fulfilment and the meaning of life.

Taboo scores high points for portrayal of the characters. Euan Morton is Boy George's spitting image and sounds exactly like him. Gary Amers and Paul Baker are also great as Marilyn and Phillip Salon in their youth. The part of Leigh Bowery is considered the most vibrant role and over the year has been played by Matthew Lucas, Boy George, Mark Little and currently Julian Clary.

All these characters are superbly directed, choreographed and wardrobe. This musical is capable of living forever.

The first half really takes off when beautiful Marilyn in Razor heels 'sashays' into the scene singing a rock version of 'Genocide Peroxide', a Top 20 hit from Boy George's 'Cheapness and Beauty' album. Although some 80's hits such as Visage's 'Fade To Grey', Culture Club's 'Do You Really Want To Hurt Me' and 'Karma Karmeleon' are fused into the play, most of the songs are new, fresh and wittily relevant displaying Boy George's song-writing skills.

The show benefits from being the first at 'The Venue', London's newest theatre, as one cannot help feel it was purpose built for Taboo.

Taboo is a "must see" musical with historical content to give us trannies a sense of our own history; with fashion tips and lipstick traces to linger over as well as juicy 80's lingo-banter to keep the nostalgia freaks happy. .... Go see it!

TRANSSEXUAL SUPERSTAR NATASHA

Natasha is a model, an exercise guru and a nightclub legend. She rides a motorbike and has a fabulously earthy and very sexy attitude to life.

She is one of the most successful post-op transsexuals I have ever known. Over the sixteen years we've been friends she has never failed to surprise me, shock me, or make me laugh.

She is no stranger to nudity which was best highlighted during the Alternative Miss London contest when she realised she had forgotten her second outfit, so she walked on starkers!

She turned up for our cover shoot in jogging bottoms, baggy jumper and no make-up and looked stunning.

One of the nicest things about Natasha is that she may be a beautiful, successful transsexual woman, but as she proved again at the shoot, she's just one of the 'gurls'. Only too happy to mix as an equal with TV's, drag queens and gay guys with none of the "look down your nose at everyone attitude" that many TS's have (giving the rest of us a bad name).

By Pandora De'Pledge

After the shoot, we sat down with a fine Cabernet and I asked her what her plans for Christmas were.

Q. Where will you be spending Christmas?

A. With my sister and two nephews
( plus a couple of firemen on a bed of holly! )

Q. What are you hoping Santa will put in your stockings?

A. A brand new bondage harness and a 900cc motorbike
( and of course world peace! ).

Q. What are your new-years resolutions?

A. As I am currently at drama school, how about winning a BAFTA! .

Q. What advise would you give to young TS's?

A. Keep your feet on the ground.
You don't have to prove you're a woman,
no matter what you look like, if you already ARE one, (and don't forget to take your hormones).
Oh yes most importantly ...
treat other people, (and animals),
how you want to be treated yourself

Utterly FABULOUS TRANCHESTER

developing before my very eyes. After 30 years as a journalist and author, many people, including celebrities know my birth name, even if most of them are 'Z' list! And despite society's growing acceptance of transgenderism, and the fact that I spend 60% or more of my life as a woman with no problems whatsoever, I still cannot bring myself to take the final step to 'out' publicly. I am feeling somewhat guilty about this at this moment - Let me tell you why.

Virtually every day, the words of Richard O'Brien's Rocky Horror Show would pound in my ears ... 'Don't dream it, BE it.'

The concept of living as a woman was such a wonderful thought, yet I had convinced myself it could never happen - if only because of my paranoia at the thought of anyone discovering my shameful secret.

That was in 1997. Now I look back on the five most wonderful years of my life and think 'Why, oh why did I take so long to turn four decades of shame and embarrassment into pride and joy?'

I'd need at least 50 pages to analyse that one - but primarily I had been conditioned by the prejudices of society. Prejudices which, until the late 60's, could have seen me locked up had I ventured out in my desired gender role.

I blame it all on Eddie Izzard actually. Had he been born 30 years earlier, the comedy genius who gave transvestism respectability might even have convinced the Neanderthals that TG girls and boys are perfectly normal. A bit special, indeed, privileged, in Eddie's own words.

I feel I owe a huge debt to celebrities like Richard O'Brien and Eddie, whose preparedness to come clean with the world could have ruined their careers. Instead, the success of 'Rocky' set Richard up for life, while Eddie remains hysterically funny in any language - be it English, French or Tranny-sylvanian.

I can't praise Richard enough for his efforts at the recent Transfandango Ball in Manchester, which raised £35,000 pounds for sick children. How wonderful it was to see so many TG girls glammed up and completely accepted in the totally straight environment of the Palace Hotel. (Richard, honey, it was a privilege to meet you in the flesh).

How times have changed, (though not quite as much as I would have liked). For while it is perfectly acceptable in the UK today to be gay or lesbian, or for drag queens to cross-dress for entertainment purposes, living in the opposite gender role or dressing 'for kicks' is still seen by many as perverted and bizarre.

On the law of averages, there must be dozens of famous tranny actors, sportsmen and politicians out there. Yet only Richard and Eddie have as yet had the courage to put their heads above the parapets. That's puts them a cut above all the other stars in my book - and indeed, makes me feel more than a little guilty.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? Transgendered, transvestite, transsexual, cross-dresser . . . what's in a name? Most of my TG friends classify themselves as transsexual - indeed I am veering that way myself - yet sadly I seem to find more intolerance among TS's than the rest of our community. One of my political-activist transsexual friends began a sentence the other day with the words: 'Now I've got nothing against trannies, but . . . !!!!!!!!'

In her mind, 'tranny' is a word which applies to transvestites and not transsexuals, who seemingly must be categorised as 'transpeople'. In my book, the word 'tranny' is merely an endearing abbreviation to cover the entire spectrum of transgender including those with gender dysphoria. We are ALL trannies, like it or not.

LAST LINE Apart from the Transfandango Ball - As you may have read, the earth has been moving for most of us in Manchester - literally ... My nearest and dearest was about to tuck into her lunch when the biggest of the earthquake tremors struck at around 12.40pm on October 21. The rumble under her feet - all 3.9 of it on the Richter scale - frightened her so much that she couldn't face her baked potato ...

'I'm not surprised, honey,' I told her. 'Everyone knows you can't have your quake and eat it.'

Utterly FABULOUS COMING EVENT

Rose's Grand Crinoline Ball at Kelham Hall, Newark, Nottinghamshire on Saturday, 4th October 2003 from mid-afternoon to midnight. Tickets: £30 to include a glass of sherry punch and a hot evening buffet.

By Repartee magazine

Kelham Hall is an impressive unashamedly 'Gothic' Victorian mansion superbly set in 42 acres of gardens and parkland adjacent to the River Trent. Martine Rose was inspired by the stately venue to hold a tranny event worthy of the architecture and history of this magnificent venue.

Martine's event will use The Peacock Room (with a private bar), Cedar Room, Music Hall (with dance floor), Drawing Room, and Lady Chapel (which will be used as a changing room) and will also have access to the gardens and parkland. The interiors are magnificent with high vaulted ceilings and double doors (to allow wide skirts).

Martine hopes everyone will wear Victorian era costume though she will not insist on strict historical accuracy. Costumes may be hired at around £30-£60 from theatrical costumiers or more cheaply from a fancy dress shop.

During the afternoon there will be deportment and period dancing lessons or you will be free to promenade around the grounds. After the buffet there will be an evening of dancing, entertainment and a parade with prizes for the best gowns.

The original building was destroyed by fire in 1857 and the owner, Mr. Manners-Sutton chose George Gilbert Scott, architect of the Albert Memorial and St Pancras Station to design the new Kelham Hall. It became a Theological Training College in 1903 and considerable alterations were made in the 1920s with the addition of a quadrangle including a huge byzantinesque style chapel. Newark & Sherwood District Council purchased the property in 1974 and the Hall is now used as its headquarters. The chapel is used as a conference centre and other parts of the building are used for social events and functions.

Accommodation is not available at the hall but there are plenty of hotels and guest-houses in the Newark area. Martine can give you information on some along with the further details of the event.

Full details and a ticket request form from: Martine Rose (WH), 208 Holmley Lane, Dronfield S18 3DB, UK or email for more information to: Martine@repartee.tv

... The day after the ball, the evil Baroness Ardon kept herself busy bitch-slapping her ugly daughters Conjunctivitus & Chlamydia because they hadn't managed to snag the Prince, (However the Baroness did meet a charming gynaecologist from Ramsgate who was cabbage intolerant!).

Cinderfella was keeping herself busy waxing her bikini line and bleaching her upper lip, when suddenly the Prince appeared, waving a pair of platform stilts wildly about his head.

He was about to try the shoes on Cinderfella's sisters when he realised their foot odour was worse than their halitosis, so he quickly moved on to Cinderfella, who of course they fitted perfectly!

The Prince immediately offered her two weeks abroad with 'Respect Holidays' and no-strings attached!

SISTERS of PERPETUAL Gossip

Yes, 10 long years of Wild Fruit was celebrated on 6th October. Seems like only yesterday when I used to do punters under the Brighton Pier. Then Paul Kemp asked me to host a new nite - Wild Fruit at Paradox. We have done 10 years and a re-fit later it's been renamed 'Creation'. We had a big re-opening party with Fat Boy Slim playing for us. I renamed myself Slim Girl Fat for the nite. The 10th Birthday Party was mobbed and we launched a special double CD reflecting the past ten years, (available in all good record stores). Darcy from the Archers ads turned up looking sensational, along with many other girls including Zade.

On Wednesday 6th

November I was at a charity fashion show bash in Manchester Town Hall. I have a friend, John Barry, who is a mean Austin Powers look-a-like. He was helping in the organisation of the Sharon Bowen Fashion Show. My job, along with half the cast of Coronation Street, from our Gail to ex-bar maid Denise Welch - was to help with the auction. As anyone who knows the Manchester tranny scene 'Napoleons' is the place on Wed/Saturday nites, so we slipped away to see Ann and Melvin at 'Naps'. My, what sexy tranny chasers I have had in 'Naps'. Ann is the complete host and I always have great nites with her there. Napoleons is a must when in Manchester. Come and join me ... 30th Nov for 'Love Muscle' @ The Fridge 1st Dec @ Wild Fruit (Red Party - For World AIDS day) at Pardon in Brighton.

Have Fun, Love Yvette XYX

HOUSE OF DRAG AGENCY NEWS

This year started a little slow but soon got up to speed with some of the biggest companies in the land contacting House of Drag to use its services including BBC, MTV, Sony Music, Saachi & Saachi, and Vogue to name but a few. It seems the media has gone Drag/Tranny crazy of late using Drag queens and tranries in major advertising campaigns all over the globe to add some colour to the straight way of life perhaps! Some companies who have used Transgendered models and artists this year include, Pop Stars the Rivals, Channel 4's Faking it, Archers Aqua, Ikea, Pot Noodle, Blockbuster Video, even the Green Cross Code has a Drag Fairy now. So come on girls it's obvious advertisers use us because they believe we can sell their products. They are looking for more than just the panto looking drag queen, although there have been a couple of ads selling kitchen roll and sweets that would have you believe we all look like truck drivers with beards - but bless them they are still learning!

So with so much work out there we need you - whatever age, race or gender. If you want to become a possible advertiser's dream model send me some recent pics and your vital statistics and who knows you could be the new face of Domestos!

WAYOUT GIRLS MEET THE OSBOURNES

Well one of them anyway, the lovely Miss Kelly Osbourne, daughter of the prince of darkness Ozzy Osbourne. The WayOut Girls were asked to perform earlier this year, on my birthday in August, at London's famous, G.A.Y. at the Astoria, Charing Cross Road, to an audience of over 3,000 screaming queens. MTV also filmed The WayOut Girls in rehearsal and performing in the show, so expect to see us all popping up in the second series of The Osbournes on MTV & later in the year on Channel 4.

The WayOut Girls are becoming an enigma. Everyone wants to use them for one project or another, they seem to be leading the way for Trannies and Drag Queens around the world to be more accepted.

Well done gurls yet again and keep up the good work.

MISS HOUSE OF DRAG DIVA BEAUTY CONTEST, MAY 2003

We thought it was about time, yes yet another beauty contest because you're worth it. House of Drag is looking for a new face to represent Drag Queens throughout the land. The date for the contest is set for 30th May 2003, there will be a £1000 worth of prizes (TBC). Watch this space for more information; you could be on your way to stardom as the contest is being filmed for TV. Go on gurls you know you can do it...

SISTERS of PERPETUAL Gossip

Gosh, would you believe it's nearly Christmas time again, it seems to come earlier every year. I find myself wondering what I should ask Santa Claus to surprise me with on Christmas morning. Knowing my luck he will probably be leaving a rather large pile of ashes, well I have been a tad naughty on occasions over the past 12 months, don't even try to persuade me to divulge anything saucy, for once my lips are firmly sealed.

So back to Old Saint Nick, shall I ask for diamonds, furs, an apartment in St Tropez or even the rights to a Texan oil field? No, I don't think so, hopefully my current beau is wrapping those as we speak.

Eureka! I know, I'll ask for time, yes lots and lots of time, with all that extra time I can go to the cinema, out for dinner, visit galleries and exhibitions, write my memoirs, go on more dates, have tons more sex and indulge in my new favourite pass time, the World Wide Web and my old favourite pass time - shopping. What an ingenious idea methinks!

Now did you spot the flawless join that has just happened? Shopping on the internet. I have been doing lots of this, there are such beautiful things out there. Therefore as a Christmas pressie to all you lovely readers I'm giving you a few of my fav addresses. Why not pass them to your nearest and dearest, with a gentle hint of what you would like as a present under the Christmas tree:

Utterly FABULOUS Powder Room

by Chris La Chris

This party season's must-have tranny accessory has to be the ultra sexy, sophisticated and glamorous Glamourette by maestros of camp cosmetics, BeneFit. It's essentially a compact ensemble, styled to look like a vampish hand mirror, and comprises a translucent powder and puff on one side and a blusher (or rouge, darling!) and puff on the reverse.

A co-ordinating lippy slips into the handle to complete the set, and it comes complete with three dainty mirrors, a black organza wrist bag and two additional velvety puffs!

Glamourette

It's the perfect accompaniment to that foxy black frock, and the sort of thing no self-respecting Hollywood diva or minx-about-town should leave home without!

The set is available in three lipstick/rouge combinations: Coy (mocha/apricot), Fickle (warm berry) and Divine (rich plum) and costs £32.50 - a small price to pay for those envious looks you'll get as you whip it out with a dramatic flourish in the Ladies Room! Available from Boots' Pure Beauty stores and exclusive purveyors of niche beauty products country-wide!
