PREFACE

This mission training plan (MTP) is designed for the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT) Infantry Reconnaissance Platoon. This MTP provides Active and Reserve Component commanders and staff with a descriptive, mission-oriented training program to train the reconnaissance platoon to perform its critical wartime missions. Although a unit's missions and deployment assignments have an affect on the leader's final set of training priorities, the tasks described herein are the primary ones the unit must be able to execute with proficiency. The unit is expected to train all tasks to standard. Standards for training may be made more difficult but may not be lowered.

The proponent for this publication is HQ, TRADOC. The preparing agency is the US Army Infantry School. CHAPTER 1

Unit Training

- 1-1. General. This mission training plan (MTP) is designed to provide the platoon leader and squad leaders with a tactical training and evaluation program for the platoon. It also provides guidance about how to train and the key missions on which to train. The specific details of the training program depend on many factors, including:
 - Unit's mission-essential tasks list (METL).
 - Training directives and guidance established by the chain of command.
 - Training priorities for the unit.
 - Training resources and areas available.
- 1-2. Supporting Material. The platoon training program fits into the spectrum of activities that also encompasses battalion-level, company-level, leader, and individual training programs. Each MTP contains the following:
 - Training information.
 - Training matrixes.
 - Mission outlines (company and below). Training plans (battalion level and higher).
 - · Sample training exercise examples.
 - Comprehensive detailed training and evaluation outlines (T&EOs).
 - Evaluation information.
 - Appendixes describing combined arms training strategy (CATS) (for battalion level and higher), sample operations order with threat statement, and other proponent specific information as appropriate.
- 1-3. Mission Training Plan Echelon Relationship. (See Figure 1-1.)

- 1-4. Contents. This MTP is organized into six chapters and four appendixes.
 - a. Chapter 1, Unit Training, provides the explanation and organization of this MTP.

- b. Chapter 2, Training Matrixes, presents the relationship between missions and tasks.
- c. Chapter 3, Mission Outlines, presents a graphic portrayal of the relationship between critical wartime missions and subtasks inherent to those operations.
- d. Chapter 4, Training Exercises, provides information on developing training exercises. It provides example situational training exercises (STXs) to be used by leaders in developing training exercises for their unit.
- e. Chapter 5, Training and Evaluation Outlines, provides the training criteria for tasks that the platoon must master to perform critical wartime operations. These training criteria orient on the levels of collective training executed by the platoon. Each T&EO can be applicable to one or more operations.
- f. Chapter 6, External Evaluation, provides instructions for the planning, preparation, and execution of an external evaluation.
- g. Appendix A, Description of Combined Arms Training Strategy.
- h. Appendix B, Exercise Operation Order.
- i. Appendix C, Enemy Analysis.
- j. Appendix D, Digital Supplement.
- 1-5. Missions and Tasks. Full spectrum operations include offensive operations, defensive operations, stability operations, and support operations. Each operation includes major tasks that the platoon must execute to accomplish that mission. Each of these tasks requires training.
 - a. Collective Tasks. Collective tasks are trained based on guidelines and procedures outlined in Field Manual (FM) 7-0 (25-100) and FM 7-1 (25-101) and in Chapters 4, 5, and 6 of the applicable MTP. Collective tasks may be trained separately or, like collective tasks and or supporting tasks, may be grouped together. Collective tasks can also be combined with collective tasks of other operational levels to form more complex training exercises. (Refer to Chapter 4 for examples of STXs.) Leaders select the applicable tasks using procedures outlined in FM 7-0 (25-100) and in Chapters 3 and 6 of this MTP.
 - b. Leader Tasks. Leader tasks are trained using soldier's manuals (SMs). Selected leader tasks should support the platoon's critical wartime operations. Leaders can be trained using the full range of training exercises established by the Army. (For example: map exercises (MAPEXs), tactical exercises without troops (TEWTs), and so forth).
- 1-6. Principles of Training. This MTP is based on the training principles outlined in FM 7-0 (25-100). The following paragraphs summarize these concepts.
 - a. Train as a Combined Arms and Service Team. Army doctrine places a premium on teamwork. When committed to battle, each unit must be prepared to execute combined arms and services operations without additional training or lengthy adjustment periods. Combined arms proficiency develops when teams train together. Leaders must regularly practice cross-attachments with the full wartime spectrum of combat, combat support (CS), and combat service support (CSS) units.
 - b. Train as You Fight. Conversely, units fight as they have been trained. Soldiers remember the last way they performed a task (right or wrong). To ensure success in combat, soldiers and units must perform to established standards that in turn must be rigidly enforced by leaders. Because it is impossible to predict the type of weather and terrain a unit will face when executing a combat mission, training should be conducted under varying conditions that are both realistic and progressively more challenging.

- c. Use Appropriate Doctrine. Soldiers have no time to learn nonstandard procedures. Their units, therefore, must train by performing tasks to the standards specified in MTPs, drills, SMs, regulations, and other training and doctrinal publications. This MTP conforms with doctrine published in source documents, which are FM 7-4 (3-21.94), FM 7-12 (3-21.21), and Army Training and Evaluation Program (ARTEP) 7-4-MTP.
- d. Use Performance-oriented Training. Soldiers sharpen their skills by performing hands-on training as often as possible that makes practice the key factor in training. Platoons and squads repeatedly practice the tasks and the missions to achieve proficiency.
- e. Train to Challenge. The best training is tough, realistic, and both intellectually and physically challenging. It motivates soldiers and inspires excellence by fostering initiative, enthusiasm, and eagerness to learn.
- f. Train to Sustain Proficiency. Soldiers sustain the skills they learn only by practicing them. When developing a training plan, always allow time to practice the tasks and the missions covered in earlier training. Use this MTP as a guide in developing a plan that allows the platoon to achieve and sustain collective and individual proficiency.
- g. Train Using Multi-echelon Techniques. This is the most efficient way to train and sustain a diverse range of mission-essential tasks while compensating for limited training resources and time. Training should involve soldiers, leaders, and subordinate elements at all levels of the unit simultaneously.
- h. Train to Maintain. Maintenance is a vital part of every training program. Keeping equipment ready for the fight is as important as training soldiers to be proficient in its use. Soldiers and leaders are responsible for maintaining all assigned equipment in a high state of readiness in preparation for training or combat employment.
- i. Make Commanders the Primary Trainers. Commanders are responsible for the training and performance of their soldiers and units. They are the primary training managers and trainers for their organizations.
- 1-7. Training Strategy. The training program developed and executed by the unit to train to standards in its critical wartime missions is a component of the Army's CATS. (See Appendix A for a description of CATS.) The following should be considered when developing a unit training strategy.
 - a. Descriptive Strategies. The unit training strategies central to CATS provide the leader with descriptive lists for training. These strategies reflect an optimal way to train to standard. However, all units in the Army probably do not have the same resources required to execute an optimal training strategy.
 - b. Role of the Platoon. The platoon and squad training strategy consists of three separate training strategies. When integrated with the training tasks found in the MTP, they form a comprehensive and focused training strategy that allows the battalion to train to standard. The elements of the platoon's training strategy are maneuver, gunnery, and soldiers.
 - (1) Maneuver strategy. The maneuver strategy provides a set of recommended training frequencies for key training events in a unit and depicts those resources that are required to support the training events.
 - (2) Gunnery strategy. The gunnery strategy is based on weapons systems in the unit, provides an annual training plan, and depicts resources required to support weapons training. Data for the gunnery strategy come from the STRAC manual or the appropriate field manual. As a subset of the gunnery strategy, a training strategy is developed for each individual and crew-served weapon in the Army inventory.

- (3) Soldier strategy. The soldier strategy provides an annual plan for training and maintaining skills at the individual level and lists the resources required to train the soldier.
- c. Training Gates. A vital element in the unit training strategy is the identification of critical training gates. Critical training gates are defined as training events that must be conducted to standard before advancing to a more complex or resource-intensive training event or task. Training events follow the crawl, walk, run training strategy. For instance, if the unit training strategy calls for conducting an FTX, and an STX has been identified as a critical training gate for the FTX, the training tasks in the STX must be trained to standard before conducting the FTX. Standards for all tasks must be clearly defined so that the trainer can assess the preparedness of the soldiers, or units, to move on to more complex training events. The provision for critical training gates recognizes that the unit's METL and the commander's assessment of his unit's training status will determine the selection and timing of the collective training exercises in a specific unit's training strategy.
- d. Standard Army Training System. The standard Army training system (SATS) provides automated tools for implementing the training management doctrine in FM 7-0 (25-100), Training the Force, and related manuals. SATS facilitates the development of METL, training strategies, training plans, and training schedules. SATS also provides commanders a medium through which to coordinate activities, project resources needed for an event, record the actual resources expended on an event, assess the execution of a collective task and METL, and assess operational readiness. CATS data can be consulted at different points in SATS to assist you in developing your training products.

Training Note: SATS database comprises a variety of MTPs and STPs. To access these publications, users need a copy of the SATS software and the CD-ROM containing the data files. To obtain information on the database and hardware requirements or to order the software and CD-ROM, contact the U.S. Army Training Support Center, ATTN: ATISD, Fort Eustis, Virginia 23605-5166. Information is also available by calling DSN 927-4166 or commercial (804) 878-4166.

- 1-8. Conducting Training. Effective training requires the personal time, energy, and guidance of commanders. Commanders must personally observe and assess training at all echelons. Their specific emphasis is on training one level down and evaluating two levels down. For example, battalion-level commanders train company commanders with their companies and evaluate platoon leaders with their platoons. Company commanders train platoon leaders with their platoons and evaluate section, squad, team, and crew leaders with their units. This MTP facilitates planning, preparation, and execution of unit training in a logical and efficient manner. The following discussion summarizes procedures and considerations for each step in the methodology.
 - a. Plan the Training. Planning links the unit METL and the execution of battle-focused training. It is a centralized process that aligns training priorities with wartime requirements at all levels within the unit. Although there are other training requirements, battle focus allows the leader to narrow his scope of planning to wartime mission-essential tasks. As in tactical operations, planning lays the foundation for successful execution of the platoon's training plan. The following discussion covers several aspects of the planning process.
 - (1) Planning for the platoon training program involves company, platoon, and squad leaders.
 - (a) The company commander is the primary trainer of all the platoons within the company. He is responsible for developing a comprehensive, long-term training strategy encompassing a variety of training events, such as FTXs and STXs. Based on the unit's METL, the commander makes an initial assessment of the entire company to identify systemic weaknesses. He then develops a training focus and specifies the individual and collective tasks he wants to train and evaluate.

- (b) The platoon leader focuses on leader training and on collective training. Platoons should be able to perform all collective tasks according to standards and guidelines provided in this MTP, FM 7-7J (3-21.71), and unit tactical standard operating procedures (TSOPs). To accomplish this, platoons can plan and execute limited STXs before taking part in company training; these exercises can increase the confidence level of platoons and squads and provide valuable operational experience. In addition, the platoon leader can use operation order (OPORD) drills to ensure his subordinate leaders have a basic understanding of the tasks they must execute.
- (2) In developing the platoon training plan, leaders at all levels should adhere to the principles outlined in FM 25-100 (7-0) and FM 25-101 (7-1). They should also use this MTP as a guide, employing the following development tools:
 - (a) The mission outlines in Chapter 3 provide examples of how unit leaders can develop individualized training programs that reflect their current METL. These plans are adjustable, allowing leaders to tailor STXs to their needs.
 - (b) Chapter 4 includes outlines for the sample exercises. Example STXs contain a scenario for an offensive mission and for a defensive mission.
 - (c) Chapter 5 contains T&EOs for collective tasks that support critical wartime operations.
 - (d) Chapter 6 provides guidance for planning and conducting evaluations of platoon training exercises.

Training Note: An important tool in the development of the platoon training plan is the SATS. Refer to the discussion in paragraph 1-6 for more information on this computer-based reference data.

- (3) There is never enough time to train all tasks. In developing training plans, leaders must prioritize the tasks that require training, focusing on their units' largest operational challenges and most difficult sustainment skills. Before training begins, the platoon leader should conduct a training meeting with the subordinate leaders to analyze training requirements and prioritize tasks. This kind of session can also help to identify weak areas that require the attention of trainers and leaders.
- (4) Once unit leaders have identified the tasks to be trained, they must integrate them into a training schedule. The platoon leader can use the procedure outlined in the following paragraphs:
 - (a) List the tasks according to priority and how often they need to be trained.
 - (b) Determine the amount of time required and decide how to use multi-echelon training.
 - (c) Determine the site for training.
 - (d) Determine who will be responsible for what. The leader of the element being trained must always be involved.
 - (e) Organize the platoon's needs into blocks of time and required training resources, such as ammunition, multiple-integrated laser engagement system (MILES) equipment, and suitable training areas.
- (5) The platoon leader may submit a list of the tasks and related training events he has selected to the company commander. The company commander in turn develops his own list, but he must review the platoon leader's recommendations. Once the company commander has approved the list of tasks and related training events, he includes them on the unit's training schedule. He must be sure to allocate sufficient preparation time to the platoons.

- (6) With his recommendations for training events, the platoon leader must also submit the list of resources he will need, providing the company headquarters with sufficient time for acquisition and coordination. The company must coordinate resource requirements with the battalion.
- b. Train and Certify Leaders. Training and certifying leaders is the most important step of conducting training and covers all trainers, evaluators, and leaders involved in unit training.
 - (1) The proficiency and preparedness of the evaluation team affects the quality of training and the proficiency that units gain at the training site. Before execution of training, unit leaders must certify all trainers and subordinate leaders to ensure their technical and tactical proficiency in relation to the unit they will be training and evaluating. This procedure can be accomplished using a series of leader professional development sessions followed by certification exercises, TEWTs, or examinations. These can take the form of written examinations and or sand table evaluations.

Training Note: Trainers should have held the position of the individuals they are selected to evaluate.

- (2) The leaders within the platoon must also undergo training before the platoon takes part in a collective training exercise. Battalion and company commanders must ensure that the platoon leader is able to perform the required leader tasks in support of the team's collective tasks. Consequently, the platoon leader is responsible for training his subordinate leaders on the individual tasks required to support the collective tasks.
- c. Reconnoiter the Site. After trainers and evaluators are certified, the unit leader and the evaluation team must make a site reconnaissance of the area where the exercise will be conducted. At this point, they can begin to develop graphic control measures for the exercise. The unit leader and evaluation team also conduct a terrain analysis to identify all key terrain and the following locations:
 - STX lanes.
 - Opposing force (OPFOR) positions.
 - Assembly areas.
 - · Leader training sites.
 - After-action review (AAR) sites.
 - Logistical support locations.
 - Command post (CP) locations.
 - Retraining areas.
- d. Issue the Plan. After planning and coordination are completed and the training event begins, the platoon leader receives the OPORD and begins planning. (Planning can be completed before the exercise using a separate planning exercise.) While he formulates his plan, the rest of the platoon conducts the various activities of the troop-leading process, including squad training in preparation for the exercise. The trainer and or company commander evaluates the platoon leader on his understanding of the OPORD, requiring him to give a confirmation brief on the order. This procedure ensures that the platoon leader is ready to issue the OPORD to his subordinate leaders. It will also test his ability to understand oral orders and build his confidence before approaching his subordinate leaders to issue the order.
- e. Rehearse. The value of this step should never be underestimated. Rehearsals are a critical part of every training exercise. Units must never bypass rehearsals to save time or resources. Trainers and company commander must plan for platoon rehearsals and ensure they are conducted as parts of the platoon's troop-leading procedures. A well-planned, efficiently run rehearsal can accomplish the following:

- Reinforces earlier training and increase proficiency in the critical tasks to be evaluated.
- Reveals weaknesses or problems in the plan.
- Synchronizes the actions of the platoon.
- Confirms coordination between the platoon and adjacent units.
- Improves each leader's understanding of the concept of the operation, the fire plan, anticipated contingencies, and possible actions and reactions for various situations that may arise during the operation.
- f. Execute. The platoon should initiate a training exercise only when it has a clear understanding of how to execute the mission. The trainer makes this determination at the conclusion of the rehearsals. At that point, he either allows the platoon to execute the task or continues with additional rehearsals, focusing on leader training. During the execution phase, the trainer conducts a detailed evaluation for use during the AAR, which is conducted immediately following the exercise. Evaluations are conducted based on the GO or NO-GO criteria described in Chapter 5 of this MTP. Trainers provide the participants with a rating for each task trained during the exercise.
- g. Conduct the After-Action Review. At the conclusion of the exercise, the platoon receives a complete AAR from the trainer. The AAR, which focuses on the training objectives and standards, is a professional discussion that requires the active participation of those being trained. This structured review process allows training participants to discover for themselves what happened, why it happened, and how the unit can improve its performance. Based on the platoon's performance, the trainer recommends to the next higher commander whether the team will require retraining to meet the standards.
- h. Conduct Retraining. Based on the evaluation results, the platoon must undergo retraining on each task for which it receives a NO-GO rating. Trainers and leaders develop a training program to meet these specific requirements. The team can then be reevaluated, either immediately at the exercise site or at a later date.

Training Note: Battle focus derives peacetime training requirements from wartime missions. It guides the planning, execution, and assessment of the platoon's training programs to ensure the unit trains as it is going to fight. Battle focus is critical throughout the entire training process. Unit leaders use it to allocate resources for training based on wartime operation requirements. Also, unit leaders can recognize that a unit cannot attain proficiency to standard on every task because of time or resource constraints. A successful training program is achievable, however, by narrowing the focus to a reduced number of vital tasks that are essential to mission accomplishment.

- 1-9. Force Protection (Safety). Risk assessment is the thought process of making operations safe without compromising the mission. Unit leaders must continuously perform a risk assessment of conditions under which training is conducted to prevent the unnecessary loss of soldiers and equipment. The degree of risk varies with the conditions at the time of training. For example, have the soldiers done the training before? Will the training be done for the first time at night? Are the soldiers fatigued? In reality, risk management is smart decision-making.
 - a. A well-trained unit is normally accident free; however, accidents can occur through no fault of the soldier or equipment operator. Most accidents result from inadequately trained, unsupervised, or complacent personnel.
 - b. Training must be tough, realistic, and safe. Unit leaders must consider the following points as they integrate risk assessment into their training:
 - Accept no unnecessary risks.
 - Make risk decisions at the proper level.
 - · Accept risks if mission benefits outweigh the costs.

- c. It is important to remember that the commander is the safety officer, but all soldiers and leaders are responsible for safe training. All leaders must--
 - Identify the risks using the factors of mission, enemy terrain and weather, troops and support available, and civil considerations (METT-TC).
 - Assess possible loss, cost, and probability.
 - Make decisions and develop controls to reduce risks.
 - Implement controls by integrating them into plans, orders, TSOPs, training performance standards, and rehearsals.
 - Supervise and enforce safety controls and standards at all times. (Leaders should make onthe-spot corrections when an unsafe act is observed.)
- d. Leaders use the safety checklist of the U.S. Army Safety Center, Fort Rucker, Alabama, in conjunction with local unit safety checklists, to enhance the overall safety practices of soldiers during training.
- 1-10. Environmental Protection. Environmental planning includes identifying environmental risks posed by an operation and considering ways to reduce those risks during long-, short-, and near-term planning. All leaders, trainers, and soldiers must comply with the environmental laws and regulations. The leader must identify the environmental risks associated with training individual and collective tasks. Trainers must work to reduce and avoid damage to training areas and environment caused by realistic training. Environmental risk management parallels safety risk management and is based on the same philosophy as safety risk management. The battalion staff may produce an environmental protection-level matrix similar to the example in Figure 1-2. This matrix ties directly into risk assessment. Environmental risk management consists of the following steps:
 - a. Identify Hazards. Identify the potential sources for environmental degradation during the analysis of the factors of METT-TC. This requires identification of environmental hazards. An environmental hazard is a condition with the potential for polluting air, soil, or water and or destroying cultural and or historical artifacts.
 - b. Assess Hazards. Analyze the potential severity of environmental degradation by using the environmental risk assessment matrixes in TC 5-400. The severity of environmental degradation is considered when determining the potential effect an operation may have on the environment. The risk effect value is defined as an indicator of the severity of environmental degradation. Quantify the risk to the environment resulting from the operation as extremely high, medium, or low, using the environmental assessment matrixes.
 - c. Make Environmental Risk Decisions. Make decisions and develop measures to reduce high-environmental risks.
 - d. Brief Chain of Command. Brief the chain of command (to include installation environmental office, if applicable) about proposed plans and pertinent high-risk environmental matrixes. Risk decisions are made at a level of command that corresponds to the degree of risk.
 - e. Implement Controls. Implement environmental protection measures by integrating them into plans, orders, TSOPs, training performance standards, and rehearsals.

f. Supervise. Supervise/enforce environmental protection standards.

^{1-11.} Evaluation. Evaluations can be internal or external. Internal evaluations are conducted at all levels, and they must be inherent in all training. External evaluations are formal and are usually conducted by the headquarters two levels above the unit. Chapter 6 describes how to set up an external evaluation.

a. Use of Training and Evaluation Outlines. In addition to their role as a training guide, the T&EOs in Chapter 5 provide the criteria for evaluating the unit. The task standard statement in each task outline describes how well the unit must perform the task steps and performance measures to receive a GO rating for the task.

- b. Simultaneous Training and Evaluation. The heart of the MTP concept is simultaneous training and evaluation. Every training exercise provides evaluation feedback; at the same time, every evaluation is a training session. For the program to work effectively, trainers must always evaluate training as it is being executed. A common deficiency is the failure to evaluate each task each time it is performed. Leaders should emphasize direct, on-the-spot evaluations. Correcting poor performance during individual or small group training is easy. Outside evaluators usually make this unfeasible for higher level exercises. Leaders should plan AARs at frequent and logical intervals during exercises. This technique allows the platoon leader to correct performance shortcomings while they are still fresh in everyone's mind.
- c. Nuclear, Biological, and Chemical Evaluations. Training plans should include evaluations of each task and exercise under nuclear, biological, and chemical (NBC) conditions. Consider conducting at least one iteration of each training event in mission-oriented protective posture (MOPP) gear.
- 1-12. Feedback. Recommendations for improvement of this MTP are requested. Feedback will help ensure that this MTP answers the training needs of units in the field. Send DA Form 2028 comments to the address reflected in the third paragraph of the preface.

CHAPTER 2

Training Matrixes

Note: The report generator that produces this MTP automatically lists all individual tasks in the infantry task database linked to collective tasks. This matrix will list individual tasks that are not necessarily related to the TOE that this MTP supports (for example, Bradley fighting vehicle individual tasks will be listed in this matrix regardless of the units' TOE). Users of this MTP should select only those individual tasks that are relevant to their specific METL, organization, and equipment.

- 2-1. General. The training Matrix assists the commander in planning the training of his unit's personnel.
- 2-2. Mission to Collective Tasks Matrix. This matrix (Figure 2-2), identifies the missions and their supporting collective tasks. The tasks are listed under the appropriate BOS, which are indicated by an X in the matrix. The BOS used in this matrix are defined in TRADOC Pam 11-9. A specific mission is trained by identifying collective tasks in the vertical column for the mission. Based on the proficiency of the unit, training is focused on operational weaknesses. The mission identification table listed below (Figure 2-1) provides mission identification for the unit.

CHAPTER 3

Mission Outlines

The following mission outlines are provided as examples only. The trainer should develop mission outlines for his unit based on the unit's wartime missions.

- 3-1. General. Mission outlines are graphic portrayals of the relationship between critical wartime missions (METL tasks) and the supporting tasks inherent in those missions. Each outline provides the trainer a diagram of the unit mission, example exercises, and the collective tasks that comprise them. Example mission outlines are shown for these missions:
 - Reconnaissance and security.
 - Retrograde.
 - Stability.
- 3-2. Relationship of Mission Outlines to Training Matrixes. The matrixes in Chapter 2 of this MTP provide the critical collective tasks for platoon missions. These tasks can be combined to form many different STXs and training plans to provide well-rounded training for the unit.
- 3-3. Mission Outline Preparation. Prepare mission outlines for all platoon wartime missions using the same general format. List each supporting task in a general flow pattern through the planning, preparation, and execution of a mission. The task list and relationships can then be used to construct training exercises to support training for those missions. Follow the steps in Table 3-1 to construct mission outlines.

Step	Action
1	Select a critical mission for which to construct an outline.
2 3	Review the mission outline format.
3	Determine the heading of the mission outline.
	 Verify the unit name.
	 Verify the critical mission.
	 Verify the title and number of supported exercise (if any).
4	Write the heading.
	For example:
	RECONNAISSANCE PLATOON MISSION OUTLINE CONDUCT RECONNAISSANCE & SECURITY MISSIONS
	3ECOKITT IMI3310143
	FTX Deliberate Attack 7-1-E0001
5	Line the STXs as column headings.
	For example: STX Occupy Assembly Area 7-3-E0001
6	List for each STX the collective tasks and drills inherent in each.
7	Verify that the tasks listed in each mission outline agrees with the T&EO sequence listed in each STX that has been developed. (See chapter 4 for a discussion on developing an STX.)

Table 3-1. Example of a mission outline format.

- 3-4. Mission Outline Examples. The example mission outlines that follow indicate the relationship between a battalion level FTX and the supporting platoon STXs. They also indicate the relationship between the platoon STXs and their supporting T&EOs and drills.

CHAPTER 4

Training Exercises

- 4-1. General. This chapter provides guidance to leaders and or trainers on planning, preparing, executing, and evaluating training exercises. The field training exercise (FTX), situational training exercise (STX) and training support package (TSP) numbers and graphics presented in this chapter are examples only. Each leader and or trainer should develop training exercises to train their unit. The information in this chapter supplements field manual (FM) 25-4, FM 7-1 (25-101), and training circular (TC) 25 series. While developing training events, the leader should review the combined arms training strategy (CATS) for his unit along with this chapter. The CATS provides additional detailed information on audience and on time and support requirements.
 - a. Safety is a major factor and or issue when it comes to training. Soldiers must be constantly alert for and avoid situations that may result in injury or death. For example, they can--
 - Lock cargo hatches.
 - · Avoid grabbing the hot barrel of a machine gun.
 - Know their own location and their buddies' locations during live-fire exercises.
 - Confirm, double-check and reconfirm all mortar firing data.
 - b. Training exercises are used to train and practice the performance of collective tasks. This mission training plan (MTP) describes how to develop the two types of exercises: field training exercise (FTX) and situational training exercise (STX). An example battalion FTX and platoon STXs are included to assist the leader in developing training exercises for the platoon. Training exercises are numbered in accordance with TRADOC Pam 350-70-1. The following FTX and STX exercise are examples only. (Table 4-1 is an example of how to number training exercises.)

Exercise Number	Title
FTX 7-1-E0001	Conduct Combat Operations
STX 7-3-E0001	Support Battalion Attack by Performing Area Reconnaissance
STX 7 -3- E0002	Conduct Security Operations in a Stability Environment

Table 4-1. Example of how to number exercises.

- 4-2. Field Training Exercise. An FTX is a high-cost, high-overhead exercise conducted under simulated combat conditions in the field. The FTX supports training at battalion, company, and platoon levels. FTXs fully integrate the total force in a realistic combat environment. An FTX involves combat arms, combat support (CS), and CSS units and encompass such training as battle drills, crew drills, and STXs to reinforce soldier and collective training integration. They are used to train the leaders, subordinate elements, and slice elements--
 - To move and maneuver units realistically.
 - To employ organic weapons systems effectively.
 - To build teamwork and cohesion.
 - To plan and coordinate supporting fires.
 - To plan and coordinate logistical activities to support tactical operations.

4-3. Situational Training Exercise. The STXs are short, scenario-driven, mission-oriented tactical exercises that train a single collective task (T&EO) or a group of related battle drills and collective tasks (T&EOs). The STXs provide the leader with a method to train using doctrinally approved tactics and techniques. Unlike a battle drill, an STX does not establish the method of execution. The STXs may be modified based on the factors of METT-TC. The STXs provide for standardization without stereotyping training. Although mission-oriented (based on higher headquarters OPORD), an STX does not train all tasks required for an operation. The STXs require leader tasks (such as planning, controlling, and reporting) that tie the supporting collective tasks together. Each STX focuses on a specific mission (IAW higher headquarters OPORD), but does not stand alone (under all conditions) as the only STX required for operation proficiency. To accomplish proficiency, several STXs within the same operation can be trained. This is a continuous process that must be repeated for each operation.

4-4. Planning Exercises. (See FM 25-4.)

- a. Conduct Analysis.
 - (1) Determine the need for training exercises and identify the types to be used. The need for an exercise is based upon the following:
 - (a) Higher headquarters' analysis of subordinate unit proficiency.
 - (b) Higher headquarters' issuance of the missions, goals, objectives, and guidance.
 - (c) Commanders' evaluations of unit and soldier proficiency.
 - (d) METL. (Company is the lowest level to prepare a METL.)
 - (2) Consider the principles of training established in FM 7-1 (25-101).
 - (3) Establish the training requirements and the priorities for unit training programs.
 - (4) Determine the training objectives, which are based on the leader, individual, and collective (unit) skills/tasks that need initial or sustainment training.
 - (a) Exercise objectives should be specific, relevant, realistically obtainable, measurable, and supportive of exercise goals.
 - (b) Exercise objectives should be organized into functional areas to highlight activities that need improvement.
 - (c) Properly stated objectives provide evaluators with a solid basis for conducting their evaluation and after-action reviews (AARs).

Note: When the exercise objectives are established, the type of exercise to be conducted can be selected.

- b. Select the Type of Exercise.
 - (1) Determine the type of exercises to be conducted by comparing the objectives with the kind of training that each exercise provides.
 - (2) Identify the proper exercise, within resource constraints, that can best meet the objectives.

c. Considerations.

(1) Flexibility.

- (a) Plan for alternate types of exercises in case weather or other constraints prohibit the originally scheduled exercise.
- (b) Exercises should allow subordinate commanders the freedom to innovate within the framework of doctrine, tactics, techniques, and operating procedures.
- (c) Exercises should not follow rigid timetables that inhibit training and learning. Instead, they should establish schedules that provide sufficient time to correct mistakes and ensure learning and AARs at all levels.

(2) Resources.

- (a) Facilities and land. Planners must consider the environment for the exercise and the impact of weather. If inadequate land or facilities will seriously degrade training, planners may have to alter the exercises.
- (b) Support. Planners must ensure that the exercises can be conducted within the resource levels and that the training received justifies the resources expended. Communications and transportation for participants and evaluators must be adequate. Units should use only the transportation, communications, and equipment authorized by their table of organization and equipment (TOE) or modified table of organization and equipment (MTOE).
- (c) Time. For each exercise, subordinate elements must be allocated time to conduct troop-leading procedures as well as develop tactical situations that lead to logical and sound tactical employment of player units. Time must be allocated for conducting complete logistical support of tactical operations. Time must be allocated so that a thorough AAR can be conducted.
- (d) Participants. Planners must consider whether or not units or groups of individuals to be trained are of the proper size or strength to benefit from the type of exercise selected.
- (e) Pre-exercise plans. Planning begins immediately after the decision has been made to conduct an exercise. The planning steps listed below are used to prepare for an exercise. Specific exercises may omit some steps. These steps are generally sequential; however, some may be performed at the same time.
 - 1) Prepare an exercise directive that--
 - Specifies what type of exercise is to be conducted and states its specific training objectives.
 - Indicates the time frame for the exercise, its physical location, and the duration of its execution phase. (The location, time, and duration must be consistent with the type of exercise selected and the training objectives.)
 - Identifies the type and quantity of special equipment required.
 - Provides additional information such as environmental constraints.
 - 2) Assign responsibilities for planning.
 - 3) Conduct research.

ARTEP 7-4-MTP

- 5) Prepare a supporting plan schedule.
- 6) Prepare an outline plan.
- 7) Conduct a reconnaissance.
- 8) Complete the exercise support plans.
- 9) Prepare the scenario.
- 10) Prepare and issue the operation plan (OPLAN) or OPORD.
- 11) Publish the memorandum of instruction (MOI).
- 12) Prepare the terrain.
- 13) Conduct a rehearsal.
- d. Develop the Exercise.

Note: Formats for the FTX and STX are addressed in this chapter. However, platoons normally conduct STXs to prepare for company STXs or battalion FTXs.

- (1) Exercise format. Formats for FTXs and STXs are generally the same.
 - (a) Table 4-2 lists the components of the FTX format and their purposes in the order they would appear.

Heading	Identify the proponent, type, title of exercise, and number.
Objective	Describe "who" and "what" the exercise is designed to train.
Interface	Provide a list of the next higher echelon FTXs and the supporting elements or units STXs.
Training Enhancers	Provide specific information for using the FTX for training and provide a sample scenario for training.
General Situation	Provide general information concerning the unit and its training environment.
Special Situation	Provide specific information from higher headquarters or the unit's commander.
Support Requirements	Provide a listing of those items that are required to conduct the exercise. If it is a battalion or higher echelon MTP, the support requirements would be a statement that says the support requirements are the consolidated requirements of the battalion headquarters and all its subordinate units.
T&EO Sequence	Provide a listing of T&EO task titles and page numbers in the chronological sequence in which they are executed in the course of the exercise.

Table 4-2. Field training exercise format.

(b) Table 4-3 lists the components of the STX format and their purposes in the order they would appear.

Heading	Identify the proponent, type, title of exercise, and number.
Objective	Describe "who" and "what" the exercise is designed to train.
Interface	Provide a list of titles and identify the applicable supporting STXs (company for battalion MTP and platoon for company MTP) and supporting subordinate unit's drills (platoon for company MTP and squad for platoon MTP). Include habitually attached, supported, and supporting unit's STXs, if available, which may be trained in conjunction with this STX.
Training	Provide leader training information and training tips. Provide specific information for using the STX for training and provide a sample scenario for training.
General Situation	Provide general information concerning the unit and its training environment.
Special Situation	Provide sample fragmentary order (FRAGO) from unit commander. Provide specific information required for the exercise from higher headquarters not given in the FRAGO
Support Requirements	Provide a listing of those items required to conduct the exercise.
T&EO Sequence	Provide a listing of T&EO task titles and page numbers in the chronological sequence in which they are executed in the course of the exercise.

(2) The following FTX and STX exercises are examples only.

INFANTRY BATTALION FTX

7-1-E0001

Conduct Combat Operations

1. Objective. Within the context of this MTP the primary objective of this FTX is to train and or evaluate the Infantry company in the conduct of combat operations. This FTX trains and or evaluates the company commander and subordinate leaders in planning, preparing, executing, and assessing combat operations. This FTX is designed as a free-play, force-on-force exercise that provides a flexible training vehicle for training critical METL tasks. (FTX and STX numbers, and titles are examples ONLY)

Note: The specific sequence of events will vary with the actions of the opposing force (OPFOR) and battalion commander's training objectives. The company commander will modify the sequence of events through his selection of primary and supporting events to meet his specific training objectives.

Interface.

- a. This FTX supports the higher headquarters FTX 07-1-E0001, Conduct Combat Operations.
- b. This FTX is supported by (STX numbers and titles are examples ONLY):
 - (1) STX 07-3-E0001, Conduct an Attack.
 - (2) STX 07-3-E0002, Conduct a Defense.
 - (3) STX 07-3-E0003, Conduct a Reconnaissance.
 - (4) STX 07-3-E0007, Conduct a Movement to Contact.
 - (5) STX 07-3-E0008, Conduct Security Operations in a Stability Environment.
 - (6) STX 07-3-E0017, Conduct Overwatch and or Support by Fire.
- 3. Training Enhancers. In preparing the company to conduct an FTX, the commander and subordinate leaders must first assess soldier, leader, and unit proficiency in accomplishing METL tasks. This assessment will provide the basis to identify areas on which to concentrate future training. Since this is a high-cost exercise, extensive planning and preparation are required to ensure the exercise training objectives are met. Use the same personnel for OPFOR controllers and OPFOR in both the practice exercises and for the actual FTX. The commander and subordinate leaders can develop and conduct the needed training to attain proficiency in designated areas before the FTX.
 - a. General tips for training.
 - (1) Conduct AARs, throughout the exercise, which focus on strengths, weaknesses, and safety.
 - (2) Include normal attachments and DS elements (field artillery, engineers).
 - (3) Ensure the OPFOR is trained in enemy tactics and doctrine.
 - (4) Include OPFOR personnel in AARs.
 - (5) Use trained personnel to act as enemy prisoners of war (EPW).

- (6) Integrate nuclear, biological, and chemical (NBC) and electronic warfare (EW).
- (7) Ensure that personnel are familiar with the tactical standing operating procedures (TSOP) that relate to the exercise.
- (8) Review soldier familiarity with the training environment.
- b. Pre-exercise activities as follows:
 - (1) MAPEXs combined with sand table exercises that match the terrain to be used during the FTX.
 - (2) TEWT and or terrain walk.
 - (3) Communications exercise.
 - (4) Applicable STX.
- c. Exercise instructions.
 - (1) Perform this exercise at full speed after performing building-block training (individual training and drills) to reach the "run" level of execution.
 - (2) Execute to standard the tasks that support this FTX.
 - (3) Ensure the size of the OPFOR element facing the unit is supportable and doctrinally correct.
 - (4) MILES should be used when feasible.
 - (5) Ensure that the conditions set for the exercise are realistic.
 - (6) Except for MILES or appropriate simulation devices, use only TOE equipment or authorized replacements.
 - (7) Use controllers and or evaluators that are thoroughly knowledgeable in the specific tasks to be evaluated.
 - (8) Start the exercise when the evaluated unit receives the warning order. End the exercise after the evaluated unit has conducted consolidation and reorganization.
 - (9) Conduct this exercise under all environmental conditions; during periods of daylight and limited visibility; and under the threat of NBC attacks, air and ground force attacks, indirect fire attacks, and EW attacks.
- d. Scenario. Your BN (1-25 IN [M]) is conducting combat operations in the Beta Republic as part of a larger force of the 1st Bde. The Beta republic has a well-trained combat force that consists of ground forces. The enemy possesses biological and chemical weapons and may have nuclear capability. Hostilities have been on going for six months. For the most part, the civilian population is in favor of military actions by the US and its allies.

e. Table 4-4 is an example table that lists the sequence, event, and associated time for the exercise.

Sequence	Event	Estimated Time
1	Administrative Preparations	Pre FTX
2	Receive Warning Order	1 hr
3	Plan Operations	4 hr
4	Prepare OPLAN	1 hr
5	Develop Road Movement Order	40 min
6	Develop Occupation, Internal Support, and Defense Plans	1 hr 15 min
7	Intermediate AAR	1 hr
8	Conduct Tactical Movement	2 hrs
9	Conduct a Movement to Contact	6 hrs
10	Intermediate AAR	1 hr
11	Conduct an Attack	6 hrs
12	Conduct Consolidation	30 min
13	Conduct Reorganization	1 hr
14	Intermediate AAR	1 hr
15	Conduct a Defense	24 hrs
16	Final AAR	3 hrs

Total Time: 53 hrs 25 min

NOTES:

- 1. Additional time is required if large portions of the exercise are conducted at night, under limited visibility, or under MOPP conditions.
- 2. Events will be trained to standards, not time limitations. The time required to train an event varies based on METT-TC factors and the proficiency of the unit personnel.

Table 4-4. Example sequence, events, and associated time.

- 4. General Situation. 1st Bde continues to conduct combat operations against organized terrorist forces loyal to insurgent leader Bashayev in the Beta Republic. At D+ 17, 1st Bde began its attack with two battalions abreast to seize the APOD located vicinity of Olympia Village in the Beta Republic.
- 5. Special Situation. Your BN (1-25 IN [M]) has received an OPORD that directs it to conduct combat operations to locate a bypassed enemy company and, on order, destroy it. The BN is given a "be prepared" mission to defend. The CO issues an OPORD. (See Appendix B.)
- 6. Support Requirements. The support requirements for the FTX are the consolidated requirements for the battalion headquarters and all its subordinate elements. Support requirements include the following:
 - a. One hundred percent of TOE equipment readiness code (ERC) A items.
 - b. Required trainers or evaluators. When conducting a company-level internal training exercise, the commander, executive officer (XO), platoon leaders, and squad leaders are the trainers and or evaluators. However, additional personnel may be needed from the battalion. Each evaluator should be supported by an evaluation plan that guides his actions during the exercise and supports the battalion commander's overall evaluation plan. Evaluators must position themselves so they can monitor all unit activities, actions, and communications.

- c. Vehicles and communications support for evaluators and OPFOR.
- d. Designated medical evacuation vehicles with communications and medical personnel support.
- e. Classes of supply I through V, VIII, and IX in sufficient quantities to support the FTX (friendly, evaluator, and OPFOR).
- f. Company-size forces should oppose maneuver battalions. Platoon-sized forces should oppose maneuver companies. A reinforced squad can support special events such as ambushes. The OPFOR should be equipped with vehicles that realistically simulate enemy mobility capabilities. Ideally, the OPFOR will be equipped with modification kits that suggest the appearance and silhouette of enemy combat equipment.
- g. A training area large enough to support battalion maneuver is required.
- 7. Training and Evaluation Outlines. The T&EOs used in evaluating the training exercise are listed in the sequence they will occur during the exercise. Table 4-5 is an example list of T&EOs. Evaluators assess planning, preparation, and execution of tasks using the standards published in Chapter 5 of this MTP.

 - (9) Conduct this exercise under all environmental conditions; during periods of daylight and limited visibility; and under the threat of NBC attacks, air and ground force attacks, indirect fire attacks, and EW attacks.
- d. Sample scenario.
 - (1) Summary of the enemy situation.
 - (a) Background. The United States has a treaty agreement with the Alpha Republic that declares the US intent to support any newly elected democratic government with both economic and military aid. In a recent election, the citizens of Alpha turned out the leadership of the Alpha Patriotic Front (APF) by electing a new Prime Minister and cabinet pledging democratic reform within the country. The election, monitored by international observers, was very close with the winner managing only 53 percent of the popular vote. As a result, disgruntled supporters of the losing party have taken to the streets in various cities throughout the country. Some elements of the APF have refused to accept the election results and have threatened violence if a new election is not held within one month. Other factions within the country are politically, ethnically, and religiously allied with neighboring Beta Republic whose totalitarian regime had been strongly influencing the APF during the past decade. The government of Beta worked in vain to prevent the election of the democratic government now in power—a government it deemed to be more aligned with western democratic nations and far less favorable to Beta interests.
 - (b) The Alpha and Beta Republics have been belligerents for almost 200 years, actually going to war about 85 years ago. While the two countries have many citizens who share a common religion and ethnic background, the governments of the two emerging nations have chosen different economic and social paths. The current border between the two countries, set by international agreement and arbitration after the last war in 1915, has continued to be a source of conflict and disagreement for more than 85 years. The Mongrel Republic, the country bordering the Alpha Republic on the north, has generally remained neutral during past disagreements between Alpha and Beta, but they have made no secret of their desire to possess a critical natural resource available only in northeast Alpha.

- (c) Belligerent Forces:
 - Alpha: Alpha Army; paramilitary forces; and religious, political, and other factions.
 - Beta: Beta Army and paramilitary and terrorist forces.
- (d) Composition: The Alpha Army is at 50 percent strength. The Beta Army is at 80 percent strength. The paramilitary forces from both countries operate without a clearly defined order of battle but can be expected to fight in squad to platoon-size groups. Paramilitary forces are not well armed and normally operate dismounted but occasionally employ modified civilian vehicles armed with small arms.
- (e) Recent Activities: Paramilitary forces from Alpha threatened that a defeat of the APF in the recent election might trigger wide-scale violence and the use of a biological agent to poison the water supply throughout the country.
- (2) Concept. The battalion will conduct any or all of the following tasks, on order (O/O), to establish and maintain stability in the area of operations (AO).
 - (a) Conduct intelligence-gathering activities.
 - (b) Establish a reserve force to respond to sites of civil disturbance.
 - (c) Man observation posts (OPs).
 - (d) Man checkpoints and or roadblocks.
 - (e) Conduct patrols.
 - (f) Provide escorts for military and or civilian movements as required.
 - (g) Secure selected sites (for example, voting sites, refugee camps, schools, churches).
 - (h) Enforce curfews.
 - (i) Stabilize areas that have escalating tension.
 - (j) Open and secure routes as required.

CHAPTER 5

Training and Evaluation Outlines

- 5-1. Introduction. This chapter contains the training and evaluation outlines for the unit. T&EOs are the foundation of the MTP and the collective training of the units. T&EOs are training objectives (task, conditions, and standards) for the collective tasks that support critical wartime operations. The unit must master designated collective tasks to perform its critical wartime operations. T&EOs may be trained separately, in a CPX, in an FTX, or in live-fire exercises. For collective live-fire standards, the trainer needs to refer to the applicable gunnery manual for the appropriate course of fire. Those standards and courses of fire need to be integrated into the training exercise.
- 5-2. Structure. The T&EOs in this chapter are listed in Figure 5-1. The Mission-to-Collective Task Matrix in Chapter 2 lists the T&EOs required to train the critical wartime missions according to their specific BOS.
- 5-3. Format. The T&EOs are prepared for every collective task that supports critical wartime operation accomplishment. Each T&EO contains the following items:
 - a. Element. This identifies the unit or unit elements that performs the task.
 - b. Task. This is a description of the action to be performed by the unit, and provides the task number.
- c. References. These are in parenthesis following the task number. The reference that contains the most information (primary reference) about the task is listed first and underlined. If there is only one reference do not underline the reference.
- d. Iteration. Used to identify how many times the task is performed and evaluated during training. The "M" identifies when the task is performed in MOPP4.
- e. Commander/Leader Assessment. This assessment is used by the unit leadership to assess the proficiency of the unit in performing the task to standard. Assessments are subjective in nature and use all available evaluation data and submit leader input to develop an assessment of the organization's overall capability to accomplish the task. Use the following ratings:
- (1) T--Trained. The unit is trained and has demonstrated its proficiency in accomplishing the task to wartime standards.
- (2) P--Needs practice. The unit needs to practice the task. Performance has demonstrated that the unit does not achieve standard without some difficulty or has failed to perform some task steps to standard.
 - (3) U--Untrained. The unit can not demonstrate an ability to achieve wartime proficiency.
 - f. Condition. A statement of the situation or environment in which the unit is to do the collective task.
 - g. Task Standard.
- (1) The task standard states the performance criteria that a unit must achieve to successfully execute the task. This overall standard should be the focus of training and understood by every soldier.
- (2) The trainer or evaluator determines the unit's training status using performance observation measurements (where applicable) and his judgment. The unit must be evaluated in the context of the

ARTEP 7-4-MTP

METT-T conditions. These conditions should be as similar as possible for all evaluated elements. This will establish a common base line for unit performance.

- h. Task Steps and Performance Measures. This is a listing of actions that is required to complete the task. These actions are stated in terms of observable performance for evaluating training proficiency. The task steps are arranged sequentially along with supporting individual tasks and their reference. Leader tasks within each T&EO are indicated by an asterisk (*). Under each task step are listed the performance measures that must be accomplished to correctly perform the task step. If the unit fails to correctly perform one of these task steps to standard, it has failed to achieve the overall task standard.
- i. GO/NO-GO Column. This column is provided for annotating the platoon's performance of the task steps. Evaluate each performance measure for a task step and place an "X" in the appropriate column. A major portion of the performance measures must be marked a "GO" for the task step to be successfully performed.
- j. Task Performance/Evaluation Summary Block. This block provides the trainer a means of recording the total number of task steps and performance measures evaluated and those evaluated as "GO". It also provides the evaluator a means to rate the units demonstrated performance as a "GO" or "NO-GO". It also provides the leader with a historical record for five training iterations.
- k. Supporting Individual Tasks. This is a listing of all supporting individual tasks required to correctly perform the task. Listed are the reference, task numbers, and task title.
- I. Supporting Collective Tasks. This is a clearly defined, discrete, and measurable activity, action, or event (for example, task) which requires organized or unit performance and leads to accomplishment of a mission.
- m. Opposing Force Standards. These standards specify overall OPFOR performance for each collective task. These standards ensure that OPFOR soldiers accomplish meaningful training and force the training unit to perform its task to standard or "lose" to the OPFOR. The OPFOR standards specify what must be accomplished—not how it must be accomplished. The OPFOR must always attain its task standards, using tactics consistent with the type of enemy they are portraying.
- 5-4. Use. The T&EOs can be used to train or evaluate a single task. Several T&EOs can be used to train or evaluate a group of tasks such as a CPX or an FTX.

COMMANDER/LEADER ASSESSMENT: T P U (Circle)

CONDITIONS: The platoon is conducting operations as part of a higher headquarters (HQ) and has received an operation order (OPORD) or a fragmentary order (FRAGO) to conduct a route reconnaissance to obtain detailed information about the route and all adjacent terrain. The start point (SP), release point (RP), platoon boundaries, phase lines (PLs), lines of departure (LDs), and a limit of advance (LOA) or reconnaissance objective are specified. All necessary personnel and equipment are available. The platoon has communications with higher, adjacent, and subordinate elements. The platoon has been provided guidance on the rules of engagement (ROE) and rules of interaction (ROI). Coalition forces and noncombatants may be present in the operational environment. Some iterations of this task should be conducted during limited visibility conditions. Some iterations of this task should be performed in MOPP4.

TASK STANDARDS: The platoon conducts the route reconnaissance in accordance with (IAW) the tactical standing operating procedures (TSOP), the order, and or the commander's guidance. All specified information is collected and reported to higher HQ as required. The platoon completes the reconnaissance without being detected. The platoon complies with the ROE and ROI.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
* 1. The platoon leader gains and or maintains situational understanding (SU) using information that is gathered from force XXI battle command brigade and below (FBCB2) (if applicable), frequency modulated (FM) communications, maps, intelligence summaries, situation reports (SITREPs), and or other available information sources.
* 2. The platoon leader receives an OPORD or a FRAGO and issues a warning order (WARNO) to the platoon using FBCB2, FM, or other tactical means.
* 3. The platoon leader determines the requirements for the reconnaissance. a. Verifies requirements with the company commander and battalion staff as necessary, using FBCB2, FM, or other tactical means.
 * 4. The platoon leader plans using troop-leading procedures. a. Conducts a digital and or conventional map reconnaissance. (1) Identifies tentative rally points, contact points, checkpoints, and PL as required. (2) Identifies tentative support by fire and assault positions, if applicable. (3) Identifies likely enemy avenues of approach. (4) Marks tentative dismount points on digital and conventional maps as appropriate.
 (5) Designates boundaries, an LD, and an LOA. (6) Places contact points at the intersections of phase lines and boundaries and any other places he wants physical contact and coordination between his reconnaissance sections.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
 b. Organizes the platoon as necessary to accomplish the mission and or compensate for combat losses. c. Coordinates with the units patrolling in the adjacent areas using FBCB2, FM, or other tactical means. d. Coordinates indirect fires to support the platoon's scheme of maneuver. e. Selects a mounted or dismounted reconnaissance based on factors of mission, enemy, terrain and weather, troops and support available, time available, civil considerations (METT-TC). f. Addresses actions on chance contact with the enemy.
* 5. The platoon leader issues orders and instructions including ROE and ROI.
6. The platoon rehearses.
* 7. The platoon leader issues FRAGOs, as necessary, to address changes to the plan identified during the rehearsal.
The platoon enters way points into position navigation (POSNAV) equipment to aid navigation.
9. The platoon moves tactically to the LD. a. Uses different covered and concealed routes. b. Maintains security during movement. c. Deploys sections abreast across the LD.
 10. The platoon moves along the route. a. Uses the formation specified in the order or as specified by platoon leader. b. Uses the appropriate technique of movement, adjusting the technique as required by factors of METT-TC. (1) Traveling overwatch when enemy contact is possible. (2) Bounding overwatch, ensuring all elements bound within teams, when enemy contact is expected.
 11. The platoon conducts the reconnaissance. a. Determines trafficability of the route. (1) Identifies the available space in which a force can maneuver without being forced to bunch up due to obstacles (reported in meters). The size of trees and the density of forests are reported due to the effect on vehicle movement. b. Reconnoiters terrain that dominates the route. c. Reconnoiters all lateral routes. d. Identifies aspects of adjacent terrain from both the friendly and enemy points of view. e. Reconnoiters all built-up areas along the route. (1) Locates a bypass around built-up areas, obstacles, restrictions, and contaminated areas.
f. Inspects and classifies all bridges on the route, within their capability. g. Reconnoiters all defiles along the route. h. Locates minefields and other obstacles along the route i. Locates fords or crossing sites near all bridges on the route. (1) Landing zones and pickup zones. (2) Locations along the route that provide good cover and concealment. (3) Observation and fields of fire along the route and adjacent terrain. o. Reconnoiters intersecting routes beyond direct fire range. p. Determines road width of constrictions (bridges, tunnels, and so forth) with width and lengths of the traveled ways in meters.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
(1) Underpass limitations with limiting heights and widths in meters.
(2) Bridge bypasses classified as easy, difficult, or impossible.
(3) Civil or military road numbers or other designations.
(4) Locations of fords, ferries, and tunnels, including limiting information.
12. The reconnaissance and security elements conduct withdrawal and disseminate information.
Secure enemy prisoners of war as required.
b. Evacuate casualties.
c. Return to the objective rally point or to a rally point.
d. Consolidate and reorganize as necessary.
e. Consolidate gathered information.
 f. Report information of immediate effect to higher HQ using FBCB2, FM, or other tactical means.
 Provide gathered information to designated recorders.
g. Disseminate gathered information to all platoon members through the squad leaders at the ORP, or moves to another position at least one terrain feature away to disseminate information.
leature away to disseminate information.
13. The platoon moves tactically to designated debriefing site.
a. Processes captured documents and or equipment as required.
*14. The platoon leader submits the route reconnaissance overlay using FBCB2, or other tactical means.
a. Includes required information.
(1) Two grid references.
(2) Magnetic north arrow.
(3) Route drawn to scale.
(4) Title block.
(5) Route classification formula.
b. Includes additional information as directed.
(1) All restrictions to the traffic flow, to include bypass capability and classification for all restrictive passages.

The platoon conducts necessary coordination, confirms command relationship with the linkup element, moves tactically to the linkup site, and establishes communications with the linkup element short of the linkup site. The platoon complies with the ROE and ROI.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
Note : It is possible for a digital force and an analog force to conduct operations together, such as a linkup. Because of the differences in data transfer and or communications equipment, liaison must take place early and continuously.
* 1. Note: In this method, the trail element advances PAST the lead element to the next overwatch position. This method is usually more rapid than successive bounds. (a) Repeat sequence of bounding past each other until the platoon and or squad halts, the movement technique is changed, or the platoon and or squad transitions to maneuver by conducting actions on contact. (2) Employs successive bounds. Note: The trail element moves to an overwatch position that is approximately ABREAST of the lead element. This method is easier to control and more secure than alternate bounding, but it is slower. ARTEP 7-4-MTP

ELEMENT: RECON PLATOON

TASK: Conduct Tactical Movement in a Built-up Area (Antiarmor/Infantry/Reconnaissance Platoon/Squad) (07-3-1279)

(FM 90-10(HTF)) (FM 90-10-1)

ITERATION: 1 2 3 4 5 M (Circle)

COMMANDER/LEADER ASSESSMENT: T P U (Circle)

CONDITIONS: The platoon is conducting operations as part of a higher headquarters and has received an operation order (OPORD) or a fragmentary order (FRAGO) to conduct a mission in a built-up area at the location and time specified. All necessary personnel and equipment are available. The platoon has communications with higher, adjacent, and subordinate elements. The platoon has been provided guidance on the rules of engagement (ROE) and rules of interaction (ROI). Coalition forces and noncombatants may be present in the operational environment. Some iterations of this task should be conducted during limited visibility conditions. Some iterations of this task should be performed in MOPP4.

TASK STANDARDS: The platoon conducts tactical movement on in a built-up area in accordance with (IAW) the tactical standing operating procedures (TSOP), the order, the commander's guidance, and or the platoon leaders direction. The platoon moves on the specified route using the appropriate formation and technique and arrives at the specified destination. The platoon complies with the ROE and ROI.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
* 1. The platoon leader gains and or maintains situational understanding using (SU) information that is gathered from force XXI battle command brigade and below (FBCB2) (if applicable), frequency modulated (FM) communications, maps, intelligence summaries, situation reports (SITREPs), and or other available information sources.
 * 2. The platoon leader receives an OPORD or a FRAGO and issues a warning order (WARNO) to the platoon using FBCB2, FM, or other tactical means.
* 3. The platoon leader plans using troop-leading procedures. a. Conducts a digital and or conventional map reconnaissance. (1) Considers routes for dismounted elements that: (a) Provides cover and concealment from ground and air observation and fires. (b) Avoids sky lining. (c) Avoids moving directly forward from firing positions. (d) Avoids open areas and potential kill zones. (e) Avoids obvious avenues of approach. (f) Does not mask friendly suppressive fires. (g) Allows infiltration as a maneuver to place small teams into position. (2) Considers routes for mounted elements that. (a) Provides cover and concealment from ground and air observation and fires. (b) Avoids sky lining. (c) Avoids moving directly forward from firing positions. (d) Avoids open areas and potential kill zones. (e) Avoids obvious avenues of approach (AA). (f) Does not mask friendly suppressive fires. b. Plans and coordinates indirect fire support and or close air support, if available. c. Identifies direct fire responsibilities.

TASK STEPS AND PERFORMANCE MEASURES	GO	NO-GO
 d. Organizes the platoon as necessary to accomplish the mission and or compensate for combat losses.
* 4. The platoon leader addresses actions on chance contact with the enemy.
* 5. The platoon leader disseminates digital reports (if applicable), overlays, and other pertinent information to each squad to keep them abreast of the situation.
* 6. The platoon leader issues orders and instructions to include ROE and ROI.
7. The platoon conducts a rehearsal.
* 8. The platoon leader issues FRAGOs, as necessary, to address changes to the plan identified during the rehearsal.
The platoon enters way points into position navigation (POSNAV) equipment to aid navigation.
 The platoon moves only after defenders' fires have been suppressed or obscured, if applicable.
 The platoon moves at night or during other periods of reduced visibility using night vision devices (NVDs).
The platoon moves using concealment of smoke provided by supporting vehicles or assets.
*13. The platoon leader prepares DISMOUNTED elements for tactical movement in a built-up area. a. Reduces the overall load of dismounted elements, if possible, due to the extreme physical requirements of the urban battlefield. b. Designates the movement element and the overwatch element. c. Designates the movement technique to be used based on mission, enemy, terrain and weather, troops and support available, time available, civil considerations (METT-TC). (1) Uses traveling when enemy contact is not likely. (2) Uses traveling overwatch when enemy contact is likely. (3) Uses bounding overwatch when enemy contact is expected. Note: Normally, movement in a built-up area will be conducted dismounted or with dismounted elements in the lead.
 14. The platoon moves DISMOUNTED in a built-up area. a. Moves on rooftops not covered by enemy direct fires. b. Moves on covered and concealed routes, whenever possible. c. Moves along underground passages, through or behind buildings, along walls, and over rooftops. d. Moves in the streets, alleys, and other danger areas only when required by the situation. (1) Elements move in single file along the side of the street, staying close to the buildings without "hugging" walls. (2) Elements move quickly and members remain dispersed. (3) Each soldier is assigned an area to observe so there is 360-degree security. Note: When moving with two squads or teams abreast, have each squad or team overwatch the buildings across the street, observing the stories above the opposite moving element. (4) Elements use smoke, rubble, and debris for cover and concealment. f. Rotates elements, during movement, as necessary.

g. Moves as two elements: Note: Normally this includes a movement element and an overwatch element. When necessary, these elements or parts of them exchange roles. If moving in small elements, there may not be designated overwatch elements. (1) Moves forward; reconnoiters danger areas; and closes with the enemy. (The movement element [one or two squads/teams, if terrain is open as in a wide street].) (2) Moves behind the lead element and secures the flanks and rear. (The overwatch element [the rest of the platoon/squad and supporting weapons].) Note: Elements moving by themselves or infiltrating may not have support elements. h. Crosses urban danger areas using cover, concealment, speed, and overwatch. Note: An element normally crosses as a dispersed group at the same time, but METT-TC conditions may cause the element leader to decide to cross in buddy teams or individually. i. Maintains security. COMMANDER/LEADER ASSESSMENT: T P U (Circle)

CONDITIONS: The platoon is conducting operations as part of a higher headquarters (HQ) and has received an operation order (OPORD) and or fragmentary order (FRAGO) to conduct a mission at the location and time specified. The platoon is presently occupying an assembly area. All necessary personnel and equipment are available. The platoon has communications with higher, adjacent, and subordinate elements. The platoon has been provided guidance on the rules of engagement (ROE) and rules of interaction (ROI). Coalition forces and noncombatants may be present in the operational environment. CHAPTER 6

External Evaluation

- 6-1. General. An external evaluation is conducted to evaluate the unit's ability to perform its missions. This chapter is a guide for preparing an external evaluation. Using units may modify this evaluation, based on the factors of mission, enemy, terrain and weather, troops and support available, time available, and civil considerations (METT-TC) or other considerations as deemed appropriate by the commander or leader. Selected training and evaluation outlines (T&EOs) in Chapter 5 are used for evaluation that involves the total unit and employs a realistic opposing force (OPFOR) and the use of multiple integrated laser engagement system (MILES). At the end of the evaluation, the unit and evaluating commander or leader can identify the strengths and weaknesses of the evaluated unit. These strengths and weaknesses are the basis for future training and resource allocations.
- 6-2. Prepare the Evaluation. The evaluating unit commander must standardize evaluation procedures to accurately measure the unit's capabilities.
 - a. Prepare the Evaluation Instrument. The example evaluation scenario in Table 6-1 contains the tasks necessary to develop the scenario and execute the evaluation. Selective tailoring is required, because it is not possible to evaluate every task. The following procedures are suggested for developing the evaluation.

Group the selected missions and tasks in parts for continuous operations, Table 6-1, Sample Evaluation Scenario. Parts can be interrupted at logical points to assess MILES casualties and conduct in-process AARs.

b. Forecast and Requisition Resources. Forcast and requisition adequate training ammunition, equipment and supplies. Table 6-2 is a consolidated list of support requirements for this evaluation. It is based on experiences with the scenario in Table 6-1. The evaluating headquarters prepares its own consolidated support requirements.

This is an example only and is not intended to reflect all or any of the MILES equipment required by a unit to conduct an exercise.

Table 6-2. Example of consolidated support requirements.

- c. Select and Prepare the Field Evaluation Site. Required size, type of terrain, OPFOR requirements, and administrative requirements form the basis for site selection. For this evaluation an area of _____ meters X ____ meters was selected. The OPFOR is positioned according to enemy doctrine. The site must provide space for the administrative area required to support the evaluation.
- d. Plan for Indirect Fire Simulation. Because it greatly influences the outcome of battles, reaction to indirect fire is an important consideration of the evaluation. Indirect fire simulation requires considerable planning to achieve realism.
 - (1) The fire marker control system outlined in TC 25-6 is a recommended method of simulating indirect fire. Due to the amount of required resources, this method may be difficult to support.

- (2) The commander may use the evaluation control headquarters method or the simulation without OPFOR method to evaluate the unit's ability to react to indirect fire. If the evaluation control headquarters method is used, the OPFOR will initiate a call for fire to the evaluation control headquarters that will simulate the tactical fire direction center (FDC). The control headquarters would then relay the delivery data to the observers and or controllers who would mark the impact of the round with artillery simulators and assess appropriate casualties. If an OPFOR is not used, the observer and or controller may ignite artillery simulators and observe the unit's reactions. FM 7-0 (25-100) and FM 7-1 (25-101) provide assessment and computation tables which may be used to determine casualties. Indirect fire simulation must be realistic and limited to what the unit could reasonably expect under combat conditions.
- 6-3. Select and Train Observers and or Controllers. Evaluators must be highly qualified to enhance the training experience for the evaluated unit by providing valid, credible observations. The evaluator should be equal or senior in rank to the leader being evaluated. Ideally, the evaluator should have held the position himself, as it lends credibility to his role.
 - a. Selected observers and or controllers should as a minimum--
 - (1) Be familiar with the evaluated organization's mission essential task list (METL).
 - (2) Be tactically and technically proficient in the tasks evaluated.
 - (3) Know the evaluation standards.
 - (4) Follow the tactical and field standing operating procedures (TSOPs) for the organization being evaluated.
 - (5) Apply relevant information about the evaluated unit, such as wartime missions, personnel turbulence, leader fill, and equipment status.
 - (6) Be trained and rehearsed.
 - (7) Know the terrain. (Conduct a reconnaissance when possible.)
 - (8) Know the OPFOR training objective.
 - b. Observer and or controller standardize administration of the evaluation by understanding the following functional areas:
 - (1) Evaluation design. Each part is designed to evaluate specific missions or tasks within the overall scenario. Observer and or controller must thoroughly understand the evaluation and correctly implement it.
 - (2) MILES. Each observer and or controller, regardless of position, must have full knowledge of the unit's weapons and vehicles and must also thoroughly understand the MILES system being used. The unit commander is responsible for ensuring that all MILES equipment is functional before each part of the scenario.
 - (3) Evaluation control system. This system ensures that the evaluation is administered in a consistent and standardized manner and that correct data is collected for the final evaluation. It includes the following elements:
 - (a) Rules of engagement (ROE).

- (b) Observer and or controller duties and responsibilities.
- (c) Communication systems.
- (d) Evaluation data collection plan.
- c. A recorder or recorders should be designated by the evaluation control headquarters to receive "kill" information or results and time data from the observers and or controllers.
- 6-4. Documentation. The evaluating headquarters develops the data recording instruments for the observers and or controllers.
 - a. The unit data sheet, in Figure 6-3, documents demographic information that may reflect on a unit's performance. The environmental data sheet, in Figure 6-4, documents weather information in order to compare missions under differing environmental conditions. The personnel and equipment loss report, in Figure 6-5, documents information that may affect the unit's degree of success during engagements with the OPFOR.

b. The senior observer and or controller has the overall responsibility for preparation of the external evaluation. This evaluation is based on his findings as well as input from subordinate observers and or controllers. Subordinate observers and or controllers use the task evaluation criteria (T&EO from Chapter 5 and Task Summary Sheets) to determine overall proficiency in their particular areas. The senior observer and or controller compiles the external evaluation results as prescribed by the evaluating commander. Deviations from the task standard assessed by the subordinate observers and or controllers may be addressed by the senior observer and or controller in the comments portion of the UPW.

^{6-5.} Select and Train the Opposing Force. The selection and training of the OPFOR is crucial to the success of a standardized evaluation. The OPFOR provides one of the control measures that influence the conditions under which the evaluation is administered. The unit should face an opponent that realistically resembles the enemy in strength, weapons, and skill.

- a. Selection. Any qualified Skill Level 1 or 2 soldier can serve as OPFOR. Ideally, they should be a small cohesive unit under the control of their leader or commander.
- b. Training. The OPFOR must understand the following six major areas of training:
 - (1) Installation and operation of the MILES devices.
 - (2) ROE.
 - (3) Enemy small unit tactics.
 - (4) Selected training scenarios.
 - (5) OPFOR weapons and equipment, if available.
 - (6) Safety procedures.
- c. Opposing Force Strength.
 - (1) Offense. Using MILES, the unit should outnumber the OPFOR three to one if an attack is to be successful. If the OPFOR is stronger than this ratio, only the most exceptional unit will be successful. They must be armed with weapons capable of defeating any of the unit's assets. As a general rule, the OPFOR should be strong enough to offer the unit a realistic challenge, but one that the unit can defeat when proper tactics are employed.
 - (2) Defense. The OPFOR, at a minimum, should have a three-to-one ratio of superiority because anything less will not have sufficient weapons and ammunition to conduct a successful attack. It must be more than merely a series of targets to be destroyed. The OPFOR should be allowed to plan their own attack for each mission and not be forced into a "canned" attack that all units will quickly defeat. Once the OPFOR establishes its plan, it must use the same plan for all other like units for that event in order to maintain the objectivity and standardization of the evaluation.
- 6-6. Conduct the Evaluation. Evaluations are divided into three distinct areas. Each area requires a different degree of preparation and coordination.
 - a. Pre-evaluation.
 - (1) The senior observer and or controller and all other observers and or controllers must reconnoiter the evaluation area to know the unit's boundaries, disposition of the OPFOR, and the most likely avenues of approach throughout the field evaluation site's area of operation.
 - (2) The unit must prepare an OPORD and FRAGO to control the exercise. An order is prepared for each mission in the evaluation scenario.
 - (3) Unit preparatory activities include installation and troubleshooting of MILES equipment, loading vehicles, conducting inspections, and performing other logistics and administrative actions as required.
 - (4) The OPFOR is placed in position and briefed while the unit is conducting its preparatory activities.
 - (5) In this evaluation scenario, the unit is issued a movement order to move to an assembly area. When the assembly area has been occupied, the OPORD is issued. The observers and or controllers should make an equipment-functions check after the unit occupies the assembly area and after the unit leaders have issued their instructions.

b. Evaluation.

- (1) The evaluation team controls the evaluation in two ways. First, it uses measures established in both the movement order and in paragraphs 3 and 5 in the OPORD or FRAGO. Second, the team controls the evaluation through the team commander (simulated by the senior observer and or controller for this evaluation) on the team net. The team does not control in the traditional sense; instead, it accompanies the unit as observers. Only the senior observer and or controller has direct verbal contact with the unit commander. All other observers and or controllers do not speak to, aid, advise, point out positions, or in any way influence the unit's performance except for a possible or actual safety issue or emergency. Observers and or controllers are neutral throughout the evaluation.
- (2) Once the senior observer and or controller issues the OPORD and movement order, the unit commander executes the events and actions prescribed in the first part of the evaluation scenario within the estimated time. From this point on, all successive parts begin with a FRAGO.
- (3) The senior observer and or controller terminates a part when the unit has completed all the events and actions in a particular area or has suffered so many casualties or so much damage that the part cannot be completed. The observer and or controller must record the reasons for the termination in the margin of the Task Summary Sheet and report his action to the evaluation control headquarters. In the sample evaluation scenario, the completion of each event or action is followed by "conducting sustainment operations." During this period, the senior observer and or controller will direct the unit to remain in position while "replacements" (personnel and equipment designated as killed or destroyed), are sent forward to reconstitute the unit. At this time, observer and or controller must perform the following actions:
 - (a) Inspect all MILES equipment, record "kill" codes, and reset equipment. Any damaged or inoperative MILES equipment is replaced.
 - (b) Resolve all casualty data to determine the time, place, number, and cause of casualties. This information is reported to the recorder in the evaluation control headquarters.
 - (c) Debrief the unit to resolve questions. Afterwards, the senior observer and or controller directs the unit to continue its mission after it receives a FRAGO or OPORD for the next part.
- (4) These guidelines should be followed by the observers and or controllers.
 - (a) Report major "kills" (vehicles, groups).
 - (b) Report major weapons fired. Together with reporting major kills, this is the best method for determining direct fire effectiveness. Both significant firings and hits are reported to the evaluation control headquarters.
 - (c) Enforce ROE.
 - (d) Spot and record any action that might have an effect on later performance or mission outcome.
 - (e) Record travel routes and unit's location.
 - (f) Inform OPFOR controllers of the unit's location, direction, and intent. This is necessary to enable OPFOR action to be controlled in accordance with the desired sequence of events.
 - (g) Enforce safety.
 - (h) Terminate mission at the appropriate time.

- c. Post-evaluation. After the evaluation is terminated, the unit moves to an assembly area and performs the following actions:
 - (1) The unit observer and or controller debriefs subordinate observers and or controllers and compiles all data (evaluator packets) for the evaluation.
 - (2) The unit observer and or controller must complete the task summary sheets.
 - (3) The unit observer and or controller must turn in all completed observer and or controller packets (with the observer and or controller scoring system) to control headquarters for recording and analysis.
 - (4) The unit observer and or controller must conduct an AAR of the unit's performance.
 - (5) Each element observer and or controller should conduct an AAR of his element's performance.

6-7. Conduct the After-Action Review.

- a. General. At the completion of each evaluation part, the AAR leader provides feedback to the unit in order to increase and reinforce learning.
- b. Feedback. Because all members of the unit participate in an AAR, each member becomes a source of feedback. This provides a richer "data base" for key points. The AAR leader will draw information from each member. This information becomes an important part of the discussion and is the basis for discussing alternate courses of action.
- c. Prepare the After-action Review. Preparing the AAR involves five steps:
 - (1) Review training orders and objectives. Training objectives are the focus of the discussion of the exercise results. The FRAGOs and OPORDs included in the exercise design implement these objectives. The observer and or controller should be familiar with the objectives, FRAGOs and OPORDs so that he can note orders given by leaders of the evaluated unit and its subordinate elements that either implement these objectives or deviate from them.
 - (2) Observe the exercise. This observation is an active process. The emphasis is on noting those actions that make the difference between the unit's success or failure. The observer and or controller does not need to remain close to the unit leader; more can be seen from high ground near the lead element's location or along the unit's route of march. Because unit orders identify important activities and checkpoints, the observer and or controller must be present when the commander issues the order. The observer and or controller should position himself where he can best observe anticipated critical events. Examples of critical events may include:
 - (a) Conducting a road march.
 - (b) Crossing a radiologically contaminated area.
 - (c) Performing unit supply operations.
 - (d) Responding to an NBC attack.
 - (3) Select the site and assemble the participants. After the exercise, select a site for the AAR. If possible, hold the AAR where the majority of action occurred, where most of the critical events took place (normally where the OPFOR was positioned), or where the terrain can be observed.

(The OPFOR or unit objective is normally suitable for assembling the players and conducting the AAR.)

- (4) Debrief observers and or controllers. While the units are moving to the selected site, observers and or controllers should be debriefed. The senior observer and or controller must have a complete understanding of what happened in the exercise. The fourth step in AAR preparation is to obtain a detailed description of the exercise events in the order in which they occurred.
- (5) Review the events. After the senior observer and or controller has a sound understanding of what happened during the exercise, he reviews the events which are ranked in terms of their relevance to the training objectives and their contributions to the exercise outcome. He selects as many events as can be covered in detail during the time allowed for the AAR and places them in chronological order.
- d. Conduct the After-action Review. Conducting the AAR requires five steps:
 - (1) Organize the participants. When the observer and or controller and AAR leader assembles the participants, he groups them according to their organization in the exercise. Each subordinate element's observer and or controller is located with the element for which he is responsible.
 - (2) State the training objectives. The AAR leader makes a brief statement of the training objectives for the exercise. These are described as specifically as possible. He states any additional teaching points that he intends to cover during the AAR. These should be limited to three or four key points in order to keep the AAR focused and prevent it from becoming excessively long.
 - (3) Lead the discussion. The AAR leader guides the discussion of the events in their order of occurrence. Diagrams help players visualize the exercise development. The AAR leader starts by sketching the main terrain features and as the AAR proceeds, he directs the participants to draw routes of advance, objectives, and locations of engagements. Each event is discussed in detail to make teaching points about the unit's performance during the event. In an effective AAR, the AAR leader should:
 - (a) Avoid giving a critique or lecture.
 - (b) Guide the discussion by asking leading questions.
 - (c) Suggest the players describe what occurred in their own terms.
 - (d) Suggest the players discuss not only what happened but how it happened and how it could be done better.
 - (e) Focus the discussion to ensure that important tactical lessons are made explicit.
 - (f) Relate events to subsequent results.
 - (g) Avoid detailed examination of events not directly related to major training objectives.
 - (h) Encourage the participants to use diagrams to illustrate teaching points and to show routes, phase lines, and objectives.
 - (i) Prohibit players form offering self-serving excuses for inappropriate tactical actions.

- (4) Review. Review the sequence of the events associated with the hazards of the risk assessment made before the exercise.
 - (a) Were effective controls put in place to avoid accidents?
 - (b) Was training realism reduced through artificial control measures?
 - (c) Were all participants aware of hazards down to the lowest level?
 - (d) Did any hazard present itself that was not identified, and what was done to overcome it?
 - (e) Discuss each incident of fratricide or near fratricide and how it can be avoided in the future.
- (5) Summarize key points. The AAR leader briefly summarizes teaching points in terms of training objectives covered in the AAR. After the summary, he can have a private conversation with the unit commander regarding his strengths and weaknesses, and what he can do to improve his performance and that of his unit. A good AAR leader:
 - (a) Maintains order and discipline.
 - (b) Reviews the training objectives.
 - (c) Addresses important events as they occurred and how the unit could have done them better. During the discussion, the leader avoids a detailed examination of events not directly related to the training objective.
 - (d) Traces the chain of events so all participants understand the results of mistakes. One mistake is often the partial cause of another.
 - (e) Clearly relates tactical events to teaching points.
 - (f) Involves participants in the discussion.
 - (g) Clearly and concisely gives summary and new training objectives.
 - (h) Reinforces points by using sketches, diagrams, or terrain models in the AAR.
- e. References. Reference materials (FMs and training circulars [TCs]) for conducting an AAR should be reviewed.

APPENDIX A - COMBINED ARMS STRATEGY

Development of the combined arms training strategy (CATS) is the responsibility of the proponent, not individual units. CATS should be available to the using unit through the standard Army training system (SATS).

- A-1. CATS is the Army's over arching strategy for the current and future training of the force. It describes how the Army will train the total force to standard in the institution, unit, and through self-development. It also identifies, quantifies, and justifies the training resources required to execute the training.
- A-2. CATS provides a mix of collective and individual tasks that are recommended to be trained to standard by units. CATS also provides a range of events that furnishes a menu from which units may choose as they decide how to train those tasks. Along with presenting the tasks, the CATS data contains information on recommended prerequisite tasks for a specific task and the required frequency to perform the tasks to attain proficiency. You may access this data as a guideline while working on various standard Army training system (SATS) modules.
- A-3. During the process of developing their mission essential task list (METL) and essential collective task list (ECTL) training strategies, commanders and leaders should refer to CATS information if it is available for their unit type. As a reference, CATS can save time and effort in researching appropriate event types and types of target audience units to participate in these event types.

Note: CATS data does not include all the tasks for each of the available echelons and unit types.

- A-4. The CATS and related plans, developed by the proponent, provide the means to
 - a. Establish training requirements.
 - b. Determine who (units and or individuals), when, where (site), and how (methods and or media) collective and individual critical tasks will be trained.
 - c. Identify required resources for training.

1. SITUATION

- a. Enemy forces.
- (1) General Situation: Friendly forces are deployed in the Alpha Republic and are opposed by enemy forces from the BETA Republic. Enemy forces in the 1-25 IN area of interest (AI) consists of an Infantry company that is acting as the security force for the BETA Republic Terrorist Regiment. The enemy company is consolidated between grid GLXXXX and grid GLXXXX.
- (2) Composition/Strength: The company opposing us is expected to be near 75 percent strength. The company consists of three platoons, each with at least one tank, reinforcing. Each platoon has two to three BTR 80s and three rifle squads of five to six men each. The company also has a squad from the battalion weapons platoon equipped with one BTR-80 and one RPG-29. The platoon at GRIDXXXXXXX, the company main effort, may be reinforced with two upgraded (additional armor and optics) T-72 tanks.
- (3) Disposition: Our battalion is opposed by a reinforced company from the 1XX Battalion, BETA Republic. The Company in our sector is preparing platoon battle positions from vicinity GLXXXX Northeast to GLXXXX. The task of each platoon is to disrupt US mechanized forces with a purpose of forcing them to commit their main attack early and slowing their movement east. They want to continue to attrite US forces, while allowing time for the main BETA RGT to prepare their defensive preparations.
 - (4) Capabilities:
- (a) Intelligence. Expect the enemy to employ the Bn Reconnaissance forward to the line of contact to provide early warning of attacks. Expect the company that we are attacking to employ OPs that will identify our approach, and then reposition to subsequent locations. It is unlikely we will see any brigade reconnaissance in sector.
- (b) Maneuver Reinforcements. The enemy is capable of reinforcing one platoon with another, but this is not likely given the terrain dispersion between platoons. The company weapons platoon will be the company reserve, and can reinforce any battle position within 30 minutes.
 - (c) Fire Support. The mortars will support the company opposing us.
- (d) Air Defense. The company in our zone may have 1-2 SA-18s man-packed ADA systems forward in their strongpoints.

- (e) M/CM/S. The company in our zone will deploy hastily constructed obstacles to slow our advance and canalize our forces into kill zones. He will tie his defense into existing obstacles, to include structures whenever possible.
- (f) Command and Control. The enemy is equipped with commercial cell phones and Motorola SP-21 UHF/VHF radios. This will probably result in effective overall command and control by the commander. The platoons will most likely have wire for FM and cell phone communications and should be able to establish effective C2 internally.
- (5) Most Probable Course of Action. The enemy's most probable course of action will be to attempt to establish a defense in our sector in order to disrupt our forces to allow the BETA Republic regimental assets time to prepare defensive positions. Enemy combat outposts have been established forward of the enemy's main defensive belt in order to provide the enemy reconnaissance company with early warning and indirect fire against our BN. In our battalion sector, the enemy will defend from battle positions located along the major mobility corridors (XX, YY, and ZZ). The enemy employs increased observation posts, mounted and dismounted patrols along both mounted and dismounted avenues of approach throughout the zone. The enemy occupies primary battle positions with squad-sized elements. This procedure allows for the company commander to employ a larger, company (-) sized element as a mobile reserve vicinity GRID GLXXXX. Upon determining the direction of the enemy's main attack, the commander deploys his reserve in an attempt to mass on one certain avenue of approach, delaying the attacking force. The purpose of indirect fires is to disrupt mounted forces, then to suppress dismounted infantry/engineers.
- b. Friendly Forces. BDE Concept and Intent: We will attack with both two battalions. One battalion, the decisive operation, destroys BETA Republic regimental assets. One battalion, the shaping operation will destroy enemy forces in the battle zone in order to facilitate the brigades main attack. The 123d Support Battalion will conduct sustaining operations. At end state, BETA Republic Regimental-sized enemy elements are defeated; our brigade is postured to defend against counterattacks, and prepared to continue offensive operations to the Northeast. My intent is to rapidly penetrate the enemy's battle zone, and to prevent the BETA Republic RGT, in the disruption zone, from withdrawing.
 - (1) Left Unit's Mission: No units on the left.
 - (2) Rear Unit's Mission: TF 3-66 AR, to our rear, will attack along Axis _____ to secure OBJ
 - c. Attachments and Detachments. See task organization.

2. MISSION

1-25 IN conducts a movement to contact NLT____ in AO Pankey to destroy an enemy company in order to facilitate the brigades' decisive operation to attack into the enemy's disruption zone.

3. EXECUTION

Commander's Intent:

- Clear enemy elements from our AO.
- Control Hilltop 432 and Hilltop 648 as they provide excellent observation and fields of fire in our AO.
- The C2 between the Reconnaissance Platoon and lead infantry companies must facilitate immediate responses to enemy contact.
- a. Concept of Operation. The decisive point for this operation is the destruction of PLT sized units in the disruption zone. The enemy is currently dispersed, so the exact location and timing of his massing of forces will be determined by our reconnaissance platoon. The main effort, B Co, will destroy enemy PLT sized elements in order to facilitate the brigades' main attack. A Co isolates enemy forces in blocking positions throughout the zone in order to allow B Co to mass on the enemy. C Co will follow and support B Co. The battalion AT company will overwatch company movements and fix enemy forces in order to facilitate the main efforts destruction of the enemy. The reconnaissance platoon identifies enemy BP's and enemy reserve forces to facilitate destruction of the enemy by B Co. The purpose of battalion indirect fires is to fix enemy forces once identified my maneuver element.
- c. At end state: Enemy is destroyed in zone, key terrain seized, and forces postured to continue to support brigades attack to the East.

- (1) Maneuver:
 - A Co will isolate enemy in blocking positions throughout the zone in order to allow B Co to mass on the enemy.
 - B Co will destroy enemy PLT sized elements in order to facilitate the brigades' main attack.
 - C Co will follow and support B Co.
 - The battalion AT company will overwatch company movements.
 - The reconnaissance platoon will identify and report enemy BPs and reserve forces to facilitate destruction of the enemy by B Co.
- (2) Fires:

TASK: Disrupt reconnaissance element's ability to put observation on our units and interdict their operations in the AO.

PURPOSE: To enable the reconnaissance platoon to conduct zone reconnaissance and allow the infantry companies to destroy enemy forces in our AO.

METHOD: Artillery and CPHD destroy stationary reconnaissance vehicles as acquired and suppresses AT systems, direct fire systems, and ADA assets. Use smoke to screen and illumination to find the enemy as needed. FA suppresses all CFZ violations. IEW acquires enemy CMD and fire support nets and jams as IEW acquires and jams enemy fire support nets as TF 1-14 begin its FPOL/attack.

EFFECTS: Enemy reconnaissance destroyed (____ BMPs/___ BRDMs) forward of LD_____ allowing TF freedom of maneuver in AO

APPENDIX C ENEMY ANALYSIS

- C-1. General. It is the leader's responsibility to know his enemy. Knowing your enemy means conducting a brief analysis of the enemy, weather, and terrain to gain situational understanding (SU) of the enemy's most probable courses of action (COAs), his strengths, and his weaknesses. The end result of this analysis will be a sketch or graphic of the enemy's probable COAs, a brief statement of enemy capabilities, and a determination of the company commander's intelligence requirements. This sketch or graphic and statement provides a valuable tool for the platoon/squad leader and his subordinates in the planning and execution of their mission.
- C-2. Intelligence products. The majority of the analysis of the enemy is conducted and provided to the platoon/squad leader by the company commander. Through the intelligence battlefield operating system (BOS), he has access to an extensive array of collection systems, data, and current information. During the military decision-making process and the development of the battalion and company orders, this information has been analyzed and refined. The information is normally provided in paragraph 1a of the OPLAN/OPORD, graphics accompanying the order, the intelligence annex, and or periodic or situational updates provided in a graphic or written form. It is important to understand, however, that this information looks at the enemy from a broader perspective. It may not be precisely tailored to the level of detail desired or focus on the enemy attacking in the company's AO or defending in their portion of the objective. This information is, however, the basis for battalion order and the assignment of subordinate unit missions and tasks. It is the start point for the company commander's analysis.
- C-3. Platoon/Squad Intelligence Analysis. It is the leader's responsibility to refine the information provided by higher headquarters and consider it in the context of his unit's mission. He adapts the information and situation templates (SITEMPs) or threat models and intelligence preparation of the battlefield (IPB) products. With them he develops the tools and aids necessary for his own mission planning. The focus of his analysis should be to determine four critical factors:
 - HOW WILL HE FIGHT? How will the enemy attempt to execute his mission against us, OR how will the enemy attempt to prevent us from accomplishing our mission?
 - WHAT CAN HE DO TO ME? What are his strengths? How can we avoid or counter them?
 - WHAT CAN I DO TO HIM? What are his weaknesses or vulnerabilities? How can we exploit them? What can we maneuver against or shoot at? What actions or targets provide the highest pay-off?
 - WHAT IS (ARE) MY PRIORITY INTELLIGENCE REQUIREMENTS (PIR)? What do we need to know to successfully accomplish our mission with minimum expenditure or loss of resources?

This is a dynamic process. Every discovery, report, or new piece of information has the potential to create additional questions. The leader, however, has a limited amount of time for his analysis, planning, and preparation. He should conduct his initial analysis with the resources and information available. As new or additional information is developed and his SU is refined, he may alter the details of his OPLAN/OPORD.

C-4. How Will He Fight? The first step of the analysis should examine how the enemy would prefer to execute his mission. The enemy-armed force being faced may have well-developed doctrine. They train their soldiers and leaders to employ these tactics and techniques. A less sophisticated enemy force may have demonstrated a preference for organizational styles, specific tactics, or operating techniques. These tactics and techniques may have been documented in use against other armed forces or during previous engagements. Like the US Army, most forces train to conduct operations in a standard manner. These expected organizations, preferences, or actions provide the tools for doctrinal analysis. Realities of the battlefield must be added to the doctrinal analysis. These realities may include knowledge or assumptions about the enemy's current location, actual force composition, and strengths. Combining these factors provide an understanding of how he may fight in this engagement or situation.

- a. Armies organize, equip, and train to fight. Established armed forces tend to have defined force structures and adopt standard methods of conducting combat operations. Irregular forces also adopt organizational principles and methods, both train to execute them. A "doctrinal analysis" can be conducted with a basic understanding of the normal organization and tactics of an opposing force.
- (1) For many established armed forces, the doctrine and tactics are meticulously documented. Doctrinal templates are or can be developed to provide a visual representation, to scale, of various tactical operations. Critical times, frontages, depths, objectives, deployment lines, and probable array of forces can be determined. For example, knowing that a motorized rifle regiment from a specific threat will conduct an attack; a full doctrinal template could be developed. This template or template set shows how the threat intends to fight.
- (2) The organizations, formations, or methods of irregular forces are also predictable. Total numbers of equipment, exact organization, and tactical proficiency may depend on availability and recruitment. Most military or paramilitary organizations adopt patterns. For example, the actual number of "technical vehicles" in a company may vary based on the number of trucks or sport utility vehicles and heavy machine guns or antitank launchers available. Intelligence sources, however, may have confirmed that a company-sized unit generally has ten vehicles. Their preferred formation for movement is a file or staggered file with the chief or commander in the second vehicle and the deputy/second in command in the trail vehicle. Irregular forces generally adopt methods for other operations as well. Ambushes, kidnappings, bank robberies, and security for "safe houses" all take on details that are similar. These predictable techniques and tactics provide a "doctrinal template" for their actions.
- (3) These doctrinal templates must be overlaid on the AO and adjusted for terrain and weather. This adjustment can be made using IPB products or map inspection and templates can be modified to account for actual conditions or constraints imposed by the terrain and weather conditions. For example, steep slopes, dense vegetation, stream beds, or marshes will alter standard formations and movement rates. Urban terrain imposes unique conditions. Salt flats dry from the sun may provide wide avenues for attack, while seasonal rains may limit attack frontages to a two-lane causeway. Weather conditions also have an impact on visibility, target tracking, and command and control. Dust or darkness has a major impact on forces with only a limited distribution of early generation night vision or infrared systems. Forces with a broad distribution of night vision and thermal systems may operate in darkness and limited visibility, much as they do in daylight. Once adjusted, these modified doctrinal templates assist in predicting how and where the enemy will deploy, formations he will assume, positioning of critical assets, command elements, rates of movement, and so forth.
- (4) Given no other information, this modified doctrinal template can provide fair assessment of how the enemy force can be expected to conduct an operation. The examination of other information, however, can further refine the modified doctrinal templates.
- b. Information on the composition, strength, capabilities, and disposition of the enemy may be available to the company/team commander. Analysis of each of these factors can refine the leader's SU and his template.
- (1) A review of the composition of forces provides details of what the enemy can bring against the company. Composition may confirm the organization of enemy units and reveal the resources and units available to reinforce or support his operations. It may also reveal limitations of the force that can become vulnerabilities. For example, knowing that an attacking force has limited engineer breaching assets can make engineer efforts of greater value. The leader should consider forces by BOS and add to or remove elements from the modified doctrinal template as the result of his analysis.
- (2) A review of the known strengths of enemy forces provides details of "how many" the enemy can muster against the platoon/squad. Strengths may confirm the details concerning the probable number of combat systems such as tanks, APC/ICVs, antitank launchers, artillery tubes, and infantry soldiers available to the enemy force. Percentages may need to be converted to actual numbers given the composition and known data on organizational figures. Significant shortages in tank/antitank systems, low-density engineer or air defense systems, and or infantry soldiers may prove a to be exploitable vulnerabilities. The modified doctrinal template should be updated to reflect expected system densities.

- (3) Review of enemy capabilities provides insight in to what the enemy can do within the timeframe of the platoon/squad's mission. For example, he may be capable of supporting his attack with chemical weapons, air strikes, or electronic warfare. While these capabilities are significant strengths, with appropriate precautions their effects can be mitigated. The enemy may have only limited offensive or reinforcement capability for a specific time. This time period could present both a window for prioritized preparation of the defense or an exploitable vulnerability to spoiling attacks. Few capabilities can be graphically depicted, but all should be considered.
- (4) Enemy dispositions provide known locations of the enemy or enemy obstacles. While some units beyond your influence may only assist in confirming or adjusting your modified doctrinal template, others may become targets for reconnaissance, fires or maneuver. In offensive planning, known dispositions may assist you in adjusting the accuracy of the template, determine probable locations for unlocated units, reserves, or counterattack forces. Dispositions may also identify vulnerabilities.
- c. Using the resources provided in the intelligence portion of the OPLAN/OPORD and additional analysis, the leader can create his situation templates (SITEMPs). It is important to consider that the enemy commander may have branches and sequels to his plan. He may have more than one plan. He may also employ deception. With these items considered, the commander now has graphic tools to support the development of his plan and for use in developing the SU of his subordinates.
- C-5. What Can He Do To Me? The platoon/squad leader can use his SITEMP and known enemy capabilities to determine enemy strengths that he must avoid or counter. For example, speed may be essential in his attack. Knowing or templating disposition of enemy antitank systems can assist in development of suppression targets, smoke and obscurant plans, and or a probable line of deployment. In the defense, an extensive breaching and mine clearing capability may be frustrated by multiple small obstacles instead of one or two large mine fields. The leader's plan can avoid or negate enemy strengths.
- C-6. What Can I Do To Him? Understanding and graphically depicting enemy weakness and vulnerabilities can improve the platoon/squad's execution of actions against them. The platoon/squad leader may have already designated high pay-off targets (HPTs). The platoon/squad leader should emphasize and supplement this list. Combat power can be focused to shoot or maneuver against enemy vulnerabilities, rapidly degrading the enemy's capabilities. Probable locations of HPTs and vulnerabilities should be added to the SITEMP.
- C-7. What Is (Are) My PIR? Development of the SITEMP provides an opportunity for the platoon/squad leader to determine what he knows about the enemy and what he needs to know. He should review the company commander's PIR and any intelligence collection tasks assigned to his platoon/squad. His intelligence needs may be focused to specific locations, events, or times. The needs should be formulated into questions and forwarded as PIR to the company commander.

APPENDIX D DIGITAL SUPPLEMENT

- D-1. General. This appendix is designed as a tool to introduce the Army battle command system (ABCS) with special emphasis on two systems: force XXI battle command brigade and below (FBCB2) and land warrior (LW) and their capabilities at the company/platoon/platform level. This is only a tool and is not intended to replace applicable field manuals, technical manuals, or any other how-to publication. Mission, enemy, terrain and weather, troops and support available, time available, and civil considerations (METT-TC) will drive the use of digital systems on the battlefield. This appendix is not intended to teach soldiers how to operate digital systems but rather how the systems, when used correctly, are a command and control combat multiplier and how they interacts with other digital systems.
 - a. Digitization is the ongoing effort to integrate the Army's diversified battlefield operating systems into an information exchange network, while also enhancing the mission capabilities necessary in a multi-dimensional battlespace. The 21st century battlespace is characterized by the effective use of information technology to mass the effects of dispersed firepower, rather than relying exclusively on the physical massing of weapons and forces that was the primary method employed in the past. Digitization provides rapid sharing of enemy and friendly information among all forces within the battlespace, and it will enhance combat power by making combat forces more effective and survivable.
 - b. Digitization does not markedly change the way the unit plans and executes operations from a tactical perspective. However, digitized equipment, employed by highly trained and proficient soldiers, enhances the unit's capabilities to conduct operations with greater lethality, survivability, and better command and control. The digitized unit has enhanced capability to maneuver against the enemy and employ direct and indirect fire weapons systems. Digitization increases friendly and enemy situational data, reduces the risk of fratricide, and increases the accuracy of fires. In addition, digitization streamlines the battlefield planning process for the leader and allows an increased tempo of combat actions.
- D-2. Army Battle Command System. The ABCS provides for the interface of brigades and battalions with divisions and corps. The ABCS is comprised of the maneuver control system (MCS), all source analysis system (ASAS), forward area air defense command and control, intelligence (FAAD C2I), advanced field artillery tactical data system (AFATDS), combat service support control system (CSSCS), and FBCB2. The ABCS depends on FBCB2 to receive current Blue force (friendly) and or Red force (enemy) situational data and status information. All these systems have the capability to communicate with each other to provide the commander timely and accurate information enabling him to exercise command and control (C2) and make appropriate decisions.
- D-3. Tactical Internet. The tactical internet (TI) systems are designed to provide real time, shared situational data. It consists of tactical radios linked with routers using commercial protocols that allow digital systems to inter-operate in a dynamic battlefield environment. The TI provides the reliable, seamless communications connectivity to deliver situational and command and control (C2) data to digital systems.
 - a. The TI is comprised of two echelons, Warfighter Information Network -Terrestrial (WIN-T) (or upper TI) and the lower TI. Company and below operate on the lower TI. The WIN-T passes situational data and C2 between the CPs at battalion level and higher.
 - b. The lower TI provides digital communications capability for brigade and below. It is comprised of three primary components: The EPLRS provides data only communication (for example, platform position information, network coordination, and data communication) capability. The SINCGARS provides data only and voice/data communications capability. The INC provides routing and interface capability.

- c. Currently, with the capability of frequency hopping, digital jamming rarely occurs. If the enemy has the capability to jam a barrage of frequencies (the full spectrum), then the digital equipment does not operate.
- D-4. Force XXI Battle Command, Brigade and Below. The FBCB2 is a digital, battle command information system that provides on-the-move, real-time command and control information to tactical combat arms, combat support and combat service support soldiers and leaders. The FBCB2 provides Blue force and Red force situational data down to the platform level. Blue force and Red force data include: the user's location, the location of other friendly forces, observed enemy locations, and all known battlefield obstacles.
 - a. The FBCB2 consists of:
 - Software for embedded tactical operations centers (TOCs).
 - Hardware and software for non-embedded air and ground platforms.
 - ABCS Interfaces/Integration.
 - Supporting communication systems (single-channel, ground-air radio system [SINCGARS], and enhanced position location reporting system [EPLRS]).
 - b. The FBCB2 receives data across the tactical internet (TI) by way of the internet controller (INC). The INC is a tactical router built into the SINCGARS radio system. The EPLRS data radio and SINCGARS data or voice radio transmit and receive digital information between vehicles. Each FBCB2 derives its own location by way of the precision lightweight global positioning system (GPS) receiver (PLGR). By using these interfaces, FBCB2 automatically updates and broadcasts its current location to all other FBCB2 and Embedded Battle Command (EBC) platforms. The EBC is a separate software package that enables FBCB2 platforms to share Blue and or Red situational data and C2 with battalion and brigade TOCs.
- D-5. Land Warrior. The land warrior system (LWS) is a modular, integrated fighting system for the individual infantryman. The LWS includes everything the dismounted soldier wears and carries integrated into a close combat fighting system, which enhances his situational awareness, lethality, survivability, mobility, and sustainability. The LW is intended for use by all five types of infantry--Ranger, Airborne, Air Assault, Light, and Mechanized. The LW integrates the infantry warfighter into the Army's digitized battlefield network.
 - a. The LWS is composed of five integrated subsystems:
 - Weapon subsystem.
 - Integrated helmet assembly subsystem.
 - Computer/radio subsystem (CRS).
 - Software subsystem.
 - Protective clothing and individual equipment subsystem.
 - b. The LW provides on-the-move, real-time command and control information to infantrymen and their leaders. As with FBCB2, the LWS provides Blue force and Red force situational data.
 - c. The LW makes use of the GPS, which automatically updates and broadcasts its current location to other LWs in the area.
- D-6. Common Operational Picture. The common operational picture (COP) is a collection of data referenced to a geographical location and displayed on the screen of digital systems. The primary pieces of the COP are Blue force, Red force, terrain, obstacle data, and civilian activities of military concern. What the user actually sees depends on how he sets up his system. The COP is established through settings and filters. The COP settings tell the system how often to update the network with the platform's position. They also dictate how long both Blue and Red icons stay visible. The filters dialog box allows users to set which icons (unit type and echelon), overlays, labels, and geo-referenced graphics are displayed as part of the overall COP. Filter settings are a tool used to reduce screen clutter and simplify C2.

- D-7. Role Based Functionality. Different levels of leadership place different demands on FBCB2 and LW. Both systems are designed to provide functionality based upon their configurations, such as when configured for each of the following:
 - Soldier/platform/wingman.
 - Squad/platoon leadership.
 - Company leadership.
 - Battalion/brigade leadership/staff.
- D-8. Digital Battle Command. The principles of command and control do not change with digitization. Leaders still plan, direct and control the operations of their unit. Digital systems enhance the leader's ability to make timely and accurate battlefield decisions by providing a timely picture of the situation. One key benefit of FBCB2 and LW is the COP. It allows the user to see the relationship of terrain, friendly forces, and enemy forces (if they are acquired and reported). Fighting on a digital battlefield requires mental agility that is acquired through realistic digital training.
 - a. Both FBCB2 and LW provide C2 tools that assist leaders in the decision making process. The C2 data is defined as all data other than situational data. There are several categories of C2 digital messages:
 - Alerts and Warnings (NBC reports, warnings of contaminated areas).
 - Joint Support Information (interfaces with other branches of service).
 - Combat Reporting (Commander's SITREP).
 - Mission Planning Information (OPORDs, FRAGOs).
 - b. The FBCB2 and LW pass messages using the Joint Variable Message Format (JVMF). The JVMF is a DOD standardized message format. It prescribes uniform message formats for all branches of the armed services.
- D-9. Voice Versus Digital. Commanders should not rely on digital communications alone. Digitization does not eliminate the requirement for maps and voice communications. The decision to use voice versus digital depends on the situation and unit TSOP. Some message traffic should be sent digitally followed with an voice alert directing recipients to check their message queues.
 - a. Voice radios remain the primary means of communication after crossing the line of departure (LD) because they are more responsive, multiple stations can monitor the net and parties convey emotion during the transmission, which is a critical tool in assessing and understanding the battlefield situation. Light discipline in night operations may dictate the use of voice communications. For example, dismounted infantrymen may go to blackout operations and send SPOT reports by way of voice means to the Company CP, which is stationary and postured to use the digital LW display while maintaining light discipline. The CP could generate and manage SPOT reports based on the voice radio SPOT reports and updates.
 - b. Voice radio is recommended as the primary means of communication for:
 - Initial contact or SPOT reports.
 - Coordinating operations when in contact or moving.
 - CFF on targets of opportunity; particularly moving targets.
 - Subsequent adjustment of fires on planned and unplanned targets.
 - Urgent MEDEVAC requests.

- Enemy Air.
- D-10. Digital Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures (TTP). Digital tactics, techniques, and procedures (TTP) provides battlespace management, message management, and standardized pre-combat checks (PCCs).
 - a. Graphics and Overlays. Digital systems assist in C2 through the creation and transmission of digital graphics. Digital graphics provide excellent graphical control measures applied in battlespace management. Simplicity is the rule for effective digital graphics. Simplicity reduces file size, screen clutter, transmission time and the volume of digital traffic.
 - b. Digital Messaging. Message handling procedures should be directed by using the unit's TSOP's. Standard message management procedures reduce confusion and extra work. Message management includes:
 - Message/overlay naming conventions.
 - Filing procedures.
 - Message precedence.
 - Message use.
 - (1) There is a relationship between the long form and the short/combat form messages. When selected from the long form creation dialog box, the following messages default to the short/combat message input screen:
 - Medical evacuation (MEDEVAC).
 - Call for fire (CFF).
 - · Check fire.
 - End of mission and surveillance.
 - On call fire command.
 - Subsequent adjust.
 - Nuclear, biological, and chemical (NBC) 1.
 - SPOT report.
 - Situation reports.
 - (2) The long form message affords the user more detail when known or required. Role-based functionality provides different message creation capabilities based on the users' role or echelon (all roles can receive/read incoming messages). Users can preview messages in textual format while in the process of creating or editing the long form message.
 - c. Pre-Combat Checks. The PCCs are a critical part of a unit's combat readiness. The PCCs should be standardized and part of a unit TSOP. Some suggested PCC's for a digital unit are:
 - Message folders established.
 - Message address groups established.
 - Message transmission settings for all message types set (default settings should not be deleted).
 - Correct Blue and Red filter settings.
 - Correct "Own Settings".
 - Correct GPS, SINCGARS and or EPLRS fills and settings.
 - MEDEVAC call signs and frequency set in "Platform Setting Dialog Box".
 - Perform a communications check by verifying your server. (Users should also send a message with a Machine Acknowledgement required to to verify the Net is working properly.)
 - Clear all queues and logs.

Section II. DEFINITIONS

Combined Arms Training Strategy

The Army's overarching strategy for the current and future training of the force. Its basis is a series of branch proponent unit and institutional strategies describing training events, frequencies, and resources that are required to train to standard. These strategies describe how the Army trains the total force to standard in the institutions and units and through self-development. CATS also documents the quantity and justification for all training resources required to execute the training. See "Training strategy."

live-fire exercise

An exercise designed to allow a unit/team to engage targets with its organic weapons and support.

situational training exercise

A short scenario driven mission-oriented tactical exercise that provides a vehicle to train a group of closely related collective tasks and drills together. Situational training exercises provide preconstructed, bite-sized, short-term exercises that are central to sustainment training for tactical mission proficiency.
