FOREWORD

This third edition of the Order of Battle of the German Army gives much more detailed data than the previous revision of February 1944 on types of German units, histories of large units, specific identified units, and military personalities. In order to present this amount of detail in a single volume it was necessary to omit the descriptive material on the High Command, the basic administrative structure of the German Army, other military and auxiliary organizations, and the system under which the German forces go into action. All such information, as well as that on German military organization, weapons, tactics, supply system, fortifications, and uniforms, will be found in the revised Handbook on German Military Forces (TM-E 30-451). Material on the German Replacement Army, whose units have now assumed operational as well as administrative significance, is presented in great detail in the revised edition of The German Replacement Army (Ersatzheer), February 1945.

In general, the present volume endeavors to give as complete as possible an analysis of the German order of battle in all its aspects, including its historical development and the geographical and other affiliations of units. It is thought that in this way it will not only be a valuable reference guide during the period of active military operations but will also serve a useful purpose in connection with the complex process of demobilizing the German Army and demilitarizing Germany as well as for future efforts to reconstruct the development of the German Army during the present war.

Section I gives details on the nomenclature, numbering system, functions, composition, and affiliations of several hundred types of German units, ranging from army groups down to independent platoons. Section II gives the unit histories in tabular chronological form, with much more detail than the previous edition and with emphasis on the origin, character, and affiliations of each division. In Section III the tables of identified units have been brought up to date and expanded by the addition of chemical warfare, local defense, and construction engineer units, all of which have become more significant during the past year. The data on military personalities in Section IV now include past commands and appointments, decorations, and other remarks and embrace colonels as well as the generals. A separate glossary of abbreviations is given in Section V, while Section VI is an index of all German terms and designations used throughout the book.

Section I. TYPES OF UNITS

1. Introduction

This section consists of a list of all the principal types of units in the German ground forces, with particulars of their German designations, their numbering, and the method of their allocation and employment. The small units are arranged according to the arms and services (Waffengattungen) and subdivided into divisional units (those found as integral parts of divisions) and non-divisional units (those assigned to higher headquarters and those in the GHQ pool). GHQ units also include static units controlled by administrative headquarters in Germany and occupied countries.

2. Classification, Nomenclature, and Numbering

a. Classification of Units. Each German Waffengattung has a distinguishing color which appears on the piping of the shoulder straps. In the course of the war, however, a number of types of units have been reclassified under different arms and have retained their original color, so that today the color does not always coincide with the arm. For example, the cavalry as a separate arm has been abolished and its units absorbed by the infantry, but all cavalry units have retained golden yellow as their distinguishing color.

Air Force ground units are listed separately. They include anti-aircraft units, parachute units, and Air Force field units (ground combat troops).

Units of the Field Army are mainly comprised in the following three categories:

- Combat Troops (Fechtende Truppen).
- Service Troops (Versorgungstruppen).
- Security Troops (Sicherungstruppen).

~~RESTRICTED~~

UNCLASSIFIED

Units which do not fit into any of these three categories are listed in this section as Miscellaneous Troops and Units (Weitere Truppen und Dienststellen). In addition units may be found organized for specific missions. Those identified are listed in this section under special units (Sondereinheiten). The combat and service troops are divided into the various arms (Waffengattungen), whereas the security troops consist principally of infantry.

It should be noted that with the exception of the various types of infantry regiments all units listed as divisional units may also be found as GHQ troops. They are not included here under the latter heading. Each arm includes demonstration units (Lehreinheiten) and equipment parks (e.g., Infanteriepark, Artilleriepark), which are however, not listed in the book, since their nomenclature is automatic.

b. Unit Nomenclature. Military German contains a great number of standard prefixes and abbreviations which help to identify the unit in conjunction with which they are used. The most common of them are as follows:

(1) Prefixes indicating the type of division. Such prefixes are considered honorary and do not indicate the arm or service to which the unit belongs. They are as follows:

(a) Panzer.—Prefix of all components of a Panzer division, and of most other units belonging to the Panzer arm.

(b) Gebirgs.—Prefix of all components of a mountain division, except the antitank battalion (Panzerjägerabteilung).

(c) Sturm.—Used as an honorary name for a division or to designate special assault function.

(2) Prefixes Indicating the Branch of Service.—Units whose function would normally classify them under a branch of service other than that to which they actually belong carry prefixes which clarify their status. They are:

(a) Infanterie.—Used in regimental supporting units (howitzer, engineer, signal, cyclist, antitank, mounted units) and in antiaircraft companies in infantry divisions.

(b) Grenadier.—The word Grenadier is an honorary name, bestowed upon the infantry soldier by Hitler in 1942. It is the automatic nomenclature for infantry companies, battalions, and regiments, but may also be found used erroneously for regimental supporting units.

(c) Füsilier.—The word Füsilier is an honorary name bestowed upon certain infantry units. It must not be confused however with the Divisions-Füsilierbataillon and Divisions-Füsilierkompanie which are the reconnaissance units in infantry divisions.

(d) Panzergrenadier.—The automatic nomenclature for armored infantry units and for engineer and reconnaissance units in Panzer Grenadier regiments.

(e) Pionier.—Used mainly for signal units in engineer battalions.

(f) Gebirgsjäger.—The automatic nomenclature for mountain infantry units.

(g) Jäger.—The automatic nomenclature for light infantry units.

(3) Prefixes Indicating the Commanding Headquarters.—Organic units in higher headquarters are usually prefixed to show their affiliation to such headquarters. The prefixes are:

(a) Heeres.—This term, although very often indicating that a unit belongs organically to an army group (Heeresgruppe), is also frequently used to indicate that it belongs to the GHQ troops (Heerestruppen) to differentiate it from similar organic units.

(b) Armee.—Prefix of organic units belonging to an army.

(c) Korps.—Prefix of organic units belonging to a corps.

(d) Divisions.—Prefix of some units which are normally attached to division headquarters.

(e) Ober.—Prefix of some higher headquarters, usually brigade staffs. Indicates the control of a lower unit of the same name.

~~TOP SECRET~~

(4) Prefixes Indicating the Unit's Location and Employment.—Units in the Home Army can be distinguished from similar units in the field by the following prefixes:

(a) Heimat.—Prefix of some units in the Home Army.

(b) Feld.—Prefix of some field units to distinguish them from similar units in the Home Army.

(5) Prefixes Indicating the Type of Unit—Some units are prefixed according to their manner of employment. They are as follows:

(a) Festungs.—Prefix of static units without organic motor transportation, used primarily on the defense of fixed fortifications.

(b) Eisenbahn.—Prefix of railway units.

(c) Ausbildungs.—Prefix of training units.

(d) Ergänzungs.—Prefix for a special type of replacement unit.

(e) Ersatz.—Prefix of replacement units.

(f) Lehr.—Prefix of demonstration units. These were originally designed only as demonstration units for training purposes, but some have also been used in the field.

(g) Reserve.—Prefix of reserve (training and defense) units.

(h) Sperr.—Prefix of units formed during the autumn of 1944 with the specific purpose of blocking the Allied advance into the Reich. Most of them have been reorganized into Volksgrenadier units.

(i) Stamm.—Prefix normally used to indicate the cadre or parent status of a unit.

(j) Versuchs.—Prefix of experimental units.

(k) Volks.—Prefix of units formed late in 1944 after the total mobilization. Does not necessarily indicate a weakness in the type of personnel or equipment.

(6) Abbreviations Indicating the Type of Transportation.—The various types of transportation are normally indicated by abbreviations in parentheses behind the names of the units and weapons. They are as follows:

(a) mot—motorisiert (motorized).—Transported fully on motor vehicles.

(b) mot Z—motorisiert mit Zugkraftwagen (motor drawn).—Equipment pulled by prime movers or tractors.

(c) mot S—motorisiert, selbstfahrend (motorized, self-propelled).—Abbreviation formerly used for many self propelled units. Now found only used by anti-aircraft units. All others carry the abbreviation "Sf."

(d) Sf—selbstfahrend (self-propelled).—Used by all self-propelled units except anti-aircraft units.

(e) Sfl—Selbstfahrlafette (self-propelled carriage chassis).—Formerly also used by some self-propelled units. Now abolished.

(f) tmot—teilmotorisiert (partly motorized).—Only a part of the unit is motorized, the rest usually horse-drawn.

(g) tbew—teilibeweglich (partly mobile).—Semi-static.

(h) besp—bespannt (horse-drawn).

(i) gp—gepanzert (armored).—Carried by Panzer Grenadier units which are equipped with armored troop-carriers (Schützenpanzerwagen).

(j) ungp—ungepanzert (not armored).—Carried by Panzer Grenadier units which are not equipped with armored troop-carriers but only motor vehicles.

(7) Other Abbreviations.

(a) s.—schwere (heavy).—Often refers to the type of guns in the unit.

(b) le.—leichte (light).—Often refers to the type of guns in the unit.

(c) n.A.—neuer Art (new type).—Indicates units having tables of organization created in 1944 or 1945.

(d) VD—Volksgrenadier-Division.—Type of infantry division (see page 16).

(e) verst—verstärkt (reinforced).

UNCLASSIFIED

(f) bodenst.—bodenständig (static).

(g) z.b.V.—zu besonderer Verwendung (for special employment).

c. Numbering system.

(1) Purpose. The overall system for the numbering of German small units was originally designed to provide various blocks of numbers for all categories of units in the German Army, so arranged that the number of any unit would indicate, within certain limits of security, the status of the unit, i.e., whether it was organic in divisions, corps, armies, or army groups, or whether it was GHQ, and in some cases its affiliation.

During the course of the war, however, the addition, reformation, and disbanding of units necessitated an increasing deviation from the original numbering system. Organic divisional units are normally assigned to their divisions by definite patterns, based upon the divisional series of each particular wave of divisions. Organic corps and army units also carry numbers in a particular hundred series. GHQ units, however, do not normally indicate their relationship to the units to which they are attached.

(2) Organic divisional units.

(a) Infantry Regiments.—Infantry regiments are numbered in definite patterns, based upon the divisional series of each individual wave (Welle) of divisions. Generally speaking, infantry regiments up to 500 are not found in divisions in successive order, but many above 500 are found in blocks of three. The waves of divisions and the number series from which their infantry regiments were numbered are listed below.

(b) Artillery Regiments.—Artillery Regiments were, at various stages of the war, assigned to divisions by three main patterns:

1. Carrying the divisional number.—Artillery Regiments carrying the divisional number are found in the series 1-36, 121-153, 199-416, and 554-557.

2. Carrying the divisional number plus 100.—Artillery regiments carrying the divisional number plus 100 are found in the series 138-198.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. Carrying the divisional number plus 1,000.—Artillery regiments carrying the divisional number plus 1,000 are found in the series 1541-1719. Artillery regiments which do not fall into these main three patterns, carry various numbers between 1 and 1,000.

(c) Other Divisional Units. (Reconnaissance, antitank, engineer, and signal battalions, and divisional service units).—Numbers of the divisional components and the divisional rear services conform generally to the number of the divisional artillery regiment. There are two main exceptions:

1. The second (assault-gun) company of the divisional antitank battalions, which may be encountered as both assault-gun battalion (Sturmgeschützabteilung) and antitank company (Panzerjägerkompanie) (see page 33), normally carries its own number, which is usually 1,000 more than that of the divisional artillery regiment.

2. Divisional assault and reconnaissance battalions (Füsilierbataillone) generally carry the same number as the division.

(3) Organic corps units.—Units organically assigned to corps are normally numbered in the 400 series. The last two digits correspond to the number of the corps; thus Feldgendarmetruppe 442 belonged organically to the XLII Corps and Brückenkolonne 404 to the IV Corps.

(4) Organic army units.—These are normally numbered in the 500 series. There is apparently no relationship between the number of the unit and the number of the army headquarters to which it belongs.

(5) GHQ units.

(a) At Army Group.—Originally, GHQ units which had a special numbering series for their arm (Infantry, Artillery, Panzer, and Chemical Warfare units) received open numbers within their own series. Other GHQ units were numbered in the 600 series, in order not to interfere with lower (organic) numbers. The constantly increasing need for additional numbers made it necessary, however, to use other series also, and at present these GHQ units, although mostly numbered between 600 and 900, may also be found with other numbers.

~~RESTRICTED~~

(b) Under High Command (OKH) Control.—GHQ units of special importance and function (like armored trains) often remain under the direct control of the Army High Command. They are usually numbered in the 1-100 or 100 series.

(c) Under Wehrkreis Control.—These units will normally carry their (Roman) Wehrkreis number, or an Arabic number, usually based on their Wehrkreis of origin.

3. Divisions and Higher Headquarters

a. Staff Organization (Divisionen und höhere Kommando-behörden).

(1) General staff.

(a) Introduction.

The headquarters of all German divisions, corps, armies, and army groups consist of command staffs (Kommando-behörden) which are organized in a uniform manner. Corps and higher staffs are known as higher command staffs (höhere Kommandobehörden). They are headed by a chief of staff, whereas in divisions the first general staff officer in charge of operations (Ia) is also the head of the staff.

The sections of these staffs are numbered with Roman numerals and letters. As in the US Army, the numbers represent the sections as well as the men in charge of them.

(b) Sections and positions:

Ia is chief of operations, and at division also the head of the staff. His section is called the operations section (taktischer Führungsstab). Several liaison and specialist officers assist him in his job. Their designation is preceded by Ia as in: Ia/Art, Ia/Mess, etc.

Ib is chief supply officer. At division and army group he is known as Ib; at corps as Quartiermeister, abbreviated Qu, and at army as Oberquartiermeister, abbreviated OQu.

~~RESTRICTED~~

UNCLASSIFIED

Ic is the chief intelligence officer. His section is known as section for enemy activities and counterintelligence (Feindnachrichten und Abwehr). Except for espionage cases, he has no channels of his own. He is subordinated to Ia.

Id is the chief training officer at army and army group and does not exist at corps and divisions. He is subordinated to Ia.

The positions described above were originally all General Staff Corps positions. With the exception of Ic at division and Id they are, as a rule, filled by General Staff Corps officers (Generalstabsoffiziere). Army used to have a fifth General Staff Corps officer as second supply officer (Quartiermeister 2, Qu 2). Now any officer can hold this position.

Ila is the chief personnel officer (1. Adjutant). His section deals with all officer personnel matters.

Ilb is the second personnel officer (2. Adjutant). His section handles personnel matters of all enlisted personnel and requests for replacements. As second Adjutant he is subordinated to Ila although the functions of the two officers are entirely different from each other.

III is the chief judge of the unit (Divisions-, Korps-, etc. Richter). He is in charge of the legal section of the staff.

Iva is the chief administrative officer (Intendant).

IVb is the chief medical officer of the unit (Divisions-, Korps-, etc. Arzt).

IVc is the chief veterinary officer of the unit (Divisions-, Korps-, etc. Veterinär).

V is the motor transport officer of the staff (Kf. Offz.)

Iva, IVb, IVc, and V are also the commanding officers of the troops of their service and specialist assistants (Fachbearbeiter) to Ib for supply, quarters, and transportation.

VI is the National-Socialist guidance officer (National-sozialistischer Führungsoffizier). He heads the guidance and indoctrination section of the staff. He has his own channels, and as political watch dog, his position is independent.

(c) Operational grouping of staffs.

1. General.—For the organization of work staffs are divided into three groups: the tactical group (Führungsabteilung), the supply group (Quartiermeisterabteilung), and the personnel group (Adjutantur). The first group represents the forward and operations echelon. Most attached officers of various arms (Waffenoffiziere) belong to it. The second and third groups represent the rear echelon.
2. Tactical group (Führungsabteilung).—The tactical group comprises Ia and Ic. VI, who also belongs to this group, has offices also with the supply group.
3. Supply group (Quartiermeisterabteilung).—The supply group includes Ib, IVa, IVb, IVc, and V.
4. Personnel group (Adjutantur).—The Adjutantur consists of IIa, IIb, III, IVd, and the various sections necessary for the functioning of the staff headquarters section, motor pool, etc.

(2) Special staff.

(a) Introduction.

In addition to the various general staff sections listed above, divisional and higher command staffs have a special staff composed of permanently and temporarily attached officers of various arms (Waffenoffiziere) and often also several officers of field grade (Stabsoffiziere) as advisers and commanders of the GHQ troops of their arms. Their number, type, and designation vary with each echelon of command. The fact that some types have not been identified at all levels does not preclude their existence.

(b) Army Group (Heeresgruppe) Special Staff:

Stabsoffizier der Artillerie—Stoart b.d.H.Gr. (artillery officer).

General der Pioniere bei der Heeresgruppe—Gen.d.Pi.b.d.H.Gr. (General of engineers).—Immediately under the

Commanding General of the army group, he is the adviser on all engineering and construction problems and also the commander of all engineer and construction troops including OT and RAD personnel attached to this army group.

Heeresgruppennachrichtenführer—H.Gr.Nachr.Fü. (Army group signal commander).—Directly under the chief of staff, he is the adviser on the employment, equipment, and training of signal troops. As commander of the army group signal regiment he is responsible only to his commanding general.

Höherer Kommandeur der Nachschubtruppen—Höh.Kdr.d. Nachsch.Tr. (senior commander of supply troops).—Subordinated to Ib.

Höherer Kommandeur der Feldgendarmarie bei der Heeresgruppe—Höh. Kdr. d. Feldgend. b. d. H. Gr. (senior army group MP officer).—He is directly under the chief of staff. He is the commander of all army group MP units but superior to corps and divisional MPs in technical matters only (Fachvorgesetzter).

(c) Army (Armee) Special Staff:

Höherer Artilleriekommandeur—Harko (senior artillery commander).—Formerly an attached specialist officer, he is now usually a member of the staff. He recommends the suballotment of GHQ artillery to lower units. Harko staffs have been identified in the 300 series.

Kommandeur der Nebeltruppen—Kdr.d.Nebeltr.—(commander of projector troops).—Formerly attached to some armies. Position has been abolished since July 1944.

Armeeepionierführer—A.PiFü. (army engineer commander).—His function corresponds to that of the General of engineers at army group.

Armeenachrichtenführer—A.Nachr.Fü (army signal commander).—His function corresponds to that of the army group signal commander.

Kommandeur der Armeenachschubtruppen—Kdr.d.A.Nachschubr. (commander of army supply troops.)—Subordinated to Ib.

Kommandeur der Feldgendarmarie beim Armeeoberkommando — Kdr.d.Feldgend.b.AOK (Army MP officer).—His function corresponds to that of the senior MP officer at army group.

Stabsoffizier für Panzerbekämpfung — Stopak (antitank officer).

Stabsoffizier für Gasabwehr (officer for gas protection).—Subordinated to Ia.

*Armeewirtschaftsführer (special economics and supply officer of the army).

*Stabsoffizier für Marschüberwachung (supervisor of march discipline).

*Stabsoffizier der Feldgendarmarie (staff officer for military police matters).

*Stabsoffizier für Reit- und Fahrwesen (supervisor of horse transports).

(d) Corps Special Staff:

Artilleriekommandeur — Arko (artillery commander).—Member of the staff. When GHQ artillery units are attached to a division, the Arko commands them and the divisional artillery as well; the Artillerieführer (Arfü) who is the commander of the divisional artillery regiment, though superseded in this case by the Arko, retains his disciplinary powers.

Stabsoffizier der Pioniere—Stopi (officer for the engineers).—Controls GHQ engineer units and also the bridging columns in divisional engineer battalions.

Korpsnachrichtenführer—K.Nachr.Fu. (corps signal commander).—Commands the corps signal battalion and advises on the coordination of all signal troops under his corps.

* The positions are not generally provided for in the German Army. They may be created whenever necessary by the commanding general of an army and filled by officers within the army.

UNCLASSIFIED

Gasabwehroffizier—Gabo (gas protection officer).

Stabsoffizier für Panzerbekämpfung (antitank officer).

(e) Division:

Gasabwehroffizier — Gabo (gas protection officer). — Also known as Gasschutzoffizier. Specialist for chemical warfare. Subordinated to the Ia.

Kommandeur der Divisionsnachschiebtruppen — Kdr.d.Div. Nachsch.Tr. (commander of divisional supply).—Subordinated to Ib.

Most advisory staff functions are performed by the commanding officers of divisional units.

b. Organization of units.

(1) Army Groups (Heeresgruppenkommandos).—These are the highest command frameworks below the Army High Command itself and are formed for particular campaigns to control two to four armies in a single theater of operations or in an important and more or less self-contained sector of such a theater. Each army group has a GHQ signal regiment (Heeresnachrichtenregiment) attached to it and includes numerous staffs and special units to deal with the many administrative and operational matters within its territory, including the rear area. At present there are eleven army groups in the German Army.

(2) Armies (Armeeoberkommandos).—These are more permanent command frameworks than army groups and are not formed for a specific campaign only, although several have been disbanded since the war began. They control one or more corps (usually between two and seven). Each army has an organic signal regiment (Armeenachrichtenregiment) and certain administrative units permanently assigned to it. There are at present fifteen ordinary armies, six Panzer armies (one of which is SS), and a parachute army (which belongs to the German Air Force).

(3) Corps (Generalkommandos).—These are permanent staffs in control of two to seven divisions. Each corps has an organic signal battalion and various services. GHQ artillery as well as other units are temporarily allotted for specific missions. All corps of the Army are numbered in the same series from I to XCI. A corps of any type may be converted into another type and retain its number. Corps are sometimes expanded into armies. The following types exist:

~~RESTRICTED~~

(a) Infantry corps (Armeekorps) to control a group of divisions in which infantry divisions predominate.

(b) Panzer corps (Panzerarmeeekorps) to control a group of divisions in which Panzer divisions usually predominate. This type of corps usually includes organically Heavy Tank and AT Bns.

(c) Mountain corps (Gebirgsarmeeekorps) to control a group of divisions in mountainous or other difficult terrain.

(d) Corps command (Höheres Kommando z. b. V). An administrative headquarters of corps status in occupied territory. Continued existence doubtful.

(e) Reserve corps (Reservearmeeekorps) to control a group of reserve divisions in occupied territory. Continued existence doubtful.

(f) Parachute corps (Fallschirmarmeeekorps). Belongs to the Air Force but may control Army divisions as well as parachute units.

(4) Divisions (Divisionen).—They are the largest units of the German Army having a prescribed organization. With the exception of Panzer and mountain divisions and Air Force field divisions they are numbered in the same series from 1 to 719. The following types exist:

(a) Infantry division (Infanteriedivision).—Originally, there existed two types of infantry divisions in the German Army. Shortage and deterioration of manpower, however, brought about changes which are reflected in the types described below.

~~SECRET~~
UNCLASSIFIED

1. Former organization.—3 regt.—The former German infantry division consisted of three infantry regiments of three battalions each, an artillery regiment, a reconnaissance battalion, an antitank battalion, an engineer battalion, a signal battalion, and services. This type of division will no longer be encountered.
2. Former organization.—2 regt.—A few infantry divisions still have two infantry regiments of three battalions each, an artillery regiment, a Füsilier company, an engineer battalion, an antitank company, an antiaircraft company (Fla-Kompanie), a signal battalion, and services.
3. Type 1944 division.—This type of infantry division consists of three infantry regiments of two battalions each, an artillery regiment, a Füsilier battalion, an antitank battalion, an engineer battalion, a signal battalion, and services. Its T/O strength is approximately 12,000 officers and men. The majority of German infantry divisions are of this type. There are indications that this type is being superseded by the Inf Div 45 which is believed to have about 10% weaker components and a total strength of about 11,000.
4. Volks grenadier division.—Recently, more and more infantry divisions of this type have been identified. It consists of three regiments of two battalions each, an artillery regiment, a Füsilier company or battalion, an engineer battalion, an antitank battalion, a signal battalion, and a Versorgungsregiment. Its T/O strength is about 10,000 officers and men.

(b) Luftwaffenfelddivision (Air Force Field Division). Absorbed by the army late in 1943. Originally consisted of two infantry regiments, an artillery regiment, an engineer battalion, an antitank battalion, an antiaircraft battalion, a signal company, and a reconnaissance company. Some have been reorganized along the lines of the 1944-type infantry division.

(c) Mountain division (Gebirgsdivision).—Consists of two mountain infantry regiments, one mountain artillery regiment, one mountain reconnaissance battalion, one anti-tank battalion, one mountain engineer battalion, one mountain signal battalion, and services including pack equipment and transport.

(d) Light division (Jägerdivision).—Similar in organization and mode of employment to the mountain division, except that some of the components have more motorization permitting better employment in flat terrain.

(e) Panzer Grenadier division (Panzergrenadierdivision).—Consists of two motorized infantry regiments of two battalions each, a motorized artillery regiment, a Panzer reconnaissance battalion, an engineer battalion, an anti-tank battalion, an antiaircraft battalion, a signal battalion, a tank battalion which is usually replaced by an assault gun battalion, and services.

(f) Panzer division (Panzerdivision).—Consists of a tank regiment, two Panzer Grenadier regiments, a Panzer artillery regiment, a Panzer reconnaissance battalion, an antitank battalion which may be redesignated assault gun battalion, a Panzer engineer battalion, a Panzer signal battalion, an antiaircraft battalion, and services.

(g) Security division (Sicherungsdivision).—Designed for mopping up duties in the rear areas. May consist of two Sicherungs regiments or a number of independent Sicherungs battalions, a signal company, and an engineer company.

(h) Coast defense division (Küstenverteidigungsdivision).—Consists of a division staff controlling fortress battalions and coast artillery units in a coastal sector.

(i) Assault division (Sturmdivision).—Honorary name given to two divisions only.

~~SECRET~~
UNCLASSIFIED

(j) Frontier guard division (Grenzwachdivision).—A division staff controlling certain frontier guard units.

(k) Special administrative division staff (Divisionskommando z.b.V.).—A division staff controlling Landeschützen battalions and other Army GHQ troops stationed in a Wehrkreis. Special division staffs are also used in occupied territory for the purpose of performing odd tasks like collecting stragglers or training civilians.

(l) Reserve division (Reservedivision).—Controls reserve units which were sent from their Wehrkreis to occupied territory to receive training and perform occupational and defensive duties. Of the original 26 reserve divisions, only six are still in existence. Some reserve divisions which have lost their training functions still retain the name.

(m) Field training division (Feldausbildungsdivision). Controls field training regiments. Formerly found mostly in the East.

(n) Sperrdivision.—Temporary title for divisions formed hastily for the purpose of preventing breakthroughs. Subsequently they became Volksgrenadier divisions.

(o) Artillery division (Artilleriedivision).—Name used for artillery concentrations under the control of an Arko.

(p) Flak division (Flakdivision).—This type does not operate as a tactical unit and therefore has no other components than Flak units and services. Two types exist:

1. Flakdivision, verlegefähig (limited mobility); has 10,000 men.
2. Flakdivision, motorisiert (motorized); has 19,000 men. Flak divisions belong to the Air Force.

(q) Parachute division (Fallschirmdivision).—Composed of three parachute infantry regiments, a parachute artillery regiment, a parachute signal battalion, a parachute antiaircraft battalion, a parachute heavy mortar battalion, a parachute antitank battalion, a parachute engineer battalion, and services.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
UNCLASSIFIED

(5) Brigades (Brigaden).—Although independent brigades are self-contained units consisting of components of various arms necessary for their missions, they belong more or less to a specific arm and usually fall into the numerical series of the next lower units of their particular type.

(6) Groups (Gruppen).—These are staffs formed to control any number of units usually on a temporary basis. Their level and the terminology used in their staffs are those of the next higher echelon to the full status of which they are sometimes upgraded. Panzergruppe West, for instance, became the 5th Panzer Army in August 1944.

To some extent, army groups (Heeresgruppen), described above, fall into this category.

Types of Gruppen are as follows:

Armeegruppe (Armee).

Panzergruppe (Panzerarmee).

Korpsgruppe (Armeekorps).

Divisionsgruppe (Division).

Regimentsgruppe (Regiment).

4. Battle Groups (Kampfgruppen)

Battle groups are irregular units of a temporary nature. They vary from less than company to division strength and rarely remain independent for longer than a month. As a rule they are known by the name of their commander, e.g. "Kampfgruppe Schnabel," and often they retain their battle group designation after their incorporation into a larger unit. Formerly they were created primarily for special missions. Now they are usually the result of emergency measures and owe their existence more to chance than to planning.

There has been a tendency to keep good fighting troops and well-equipped troops like Panzer and SS units separate from the lower grade personnel. The Germans avoid, however, as much as possible the formation of armored battle groups and prefer to keep them under the control of their divisions in the realization that battle groups without the organization and support of larger units cannot compare in fighting strength with regular units.

a. Battle groups larger than battalion size. These originate from remnants of larger units, from consolidation of smaller battle groups, from regular divisional replacement units, or from convalescent and other low category personnel.

b. Battle groups of battalion size. These are mostly formed from badly mauled divisions and lost personnel. Transfer battalions which did not reach their divisions, security units, and school personnel have also been committed to action as battle groups. Battalion-size and smaller battle groups seldom retain their independence longer than two or three weeks and their armament is usually restricted to infantry and antitank weapons. They represent the majority of all battle groups identified.

c. Battle groups of company size. These have been found to be companies cut off from their controlling units, companies other than infantry like engineers, AT, or AA fighting on with small arms after losing their specialist equipment, or groups of stragglers organized into fighting units by individual officers. A few, however, were formed intentionally for special assault missions.

5. Combat troops (Fechtende Truppen)

a. Headquarters troops (Kommandobehörden). By definition a Kommandobehörde is a command from division level on up which exercises control over troops. As such, Kommandobehörden belong to the combat troops. They are discussed in paragraph 3 above.

UNCLASSIFIED

b. Infantry (Infanterie). Under an order issued in April 1943 this arm does not include the infantry units in Panzer and Panzer Grenadier divisions, which are now classified as Panzer troops. However, it does include reconnaissance and other former cavalry units, some of which have been designated to carry on the tradition of the former cavalry arm. Those Air Force ground combat units which have been taken over by the infantry arm are discussed in section 10 (page 93).

The distinguishing color of the infantry is white, except for light and mountain infantry units, which wear light green, and traditional cavalry units, which wear golden yellow.

Divisional Units

(1) Infanterieregiment—Inf.Rgt. (infantry regiment).—Basic designation for infantry regiments. Changed to Grenadierregiment in 1942 by special order of Hitler, to honor the infantry arm.

The same applies to the infantry battalion (Infanterie-bataillon) now called Grenadierbataillon and to the infantry company (Schützenkompanie) now called Grenadierkompanie.

(2) Grenadierregiment — Gren.Rgt. (regular infantry regiment).—Usually three, sometimes two to an infantry division. Consists of two infantry battalions, an infantry howitzer company, and an antitank company.

(3) Grenadierbataillon—Gren.Btl. (regular infantry battalion).—Usually two, sometimes three, to an infantry regiment. Consists of three infantry companies and one machine gun or heavy weapons company.

(4) Grenadierkompanie — Gren.Kp. (regular infantry company).—Three to a Grenadierbataillon. Two types exist:

(a) Found in the Volksgrenadier division.—Consists of two sub-machine gun platoons (Maschinenpistolenzüge) and one rifle platoon. Maschinenpistolenzüge may now be called Sturmgewehrzüge.

UNCLASSIFIED

(b) Found in the division "Type 1944".—Consists of three rifle platoons and one heavy machine gun section, which may be replaced by an 81 mm mortar section.

(5) Füsilierregiment — Füs.Rgt. — A special honorary name for certain infantry regiments which carry on the tradition of Füsilierregimenter of the old Imperial Army. Not different in organization from Grenadierregimenter. Nos. 22, 26, 27, 34, 68, 132, 202, 230, 271, and 334 have been identified.

(6) Füsilierbataillon — Füs.Btl. (infantry or reconnaissance battalion).—Two types exist:

(a) Battalions in Füsilierregimenter.

(b) Divisional Füsilier battalions (see Divisions-Füsilierbataillon, page 24).

(7) Feldausbildungsregiment — Feld-Ausb.Rgt. (field training regiment).—Infantry regiment in a field training division (Feldausbildungsdivision).

(8) Feldausbildungsbataillon — Feld-Ausb.Btl. (field training battalion).—Infantry battalion in a field training regiment.

(9) Jägerregiment — Jäg.Rgt. (light infantry regiment).—Infantry regiment in a light division. Usually two to a division.

Distinguishing color: light green.

(10) Jägerbataillon — Jäg.Btl. (light infantry or raiding battalion).—Three types exist:

(a) Light infantry battalions in Jägerregimenter.

(b) Raiding battalions, which were formed during 1941-42 as Jagdkommandos (raiding detachments) for special raiding or mopping-up purposes in Russia, and which were also intended for anti-parachutist work. Later renamed Jägerbataillone. About twenty have been identified in the 1—100, 100, and 200 series.

(c) Honorary designation of certain infantry battalions because of their tradition.

Distinguishing color light green.

UNCLASSIFIED

(11) Gebirgsjägerregiment — Geb.Jäg.Rgt. (mountain infantry regiment).—Two to a mountain division (Gebirgsdivision). Composed of three mountain infantry battalions of five companies each and an antitank company (Panzerjägerkompanie) as the sixteenth company.

(12) Gebirgsjägerbataillon — Geb.Jäg.Btl. (mountain infantry battalion).—Three to a mountain infantry regiment. Composed of three mountain infantry companies (Gebirgsjägerkompanien), a machine gun company (Maschinengewehrkompanie), and a heavy weapons company (schwere Kompanie). This battalion is especially designed for mountain warfare and equipped to operate independently.

(13) Sturmregiment, Sturmbataillon (assault regiment, assault battalion).—Honorary name for the regiments of the 78th division (Sturmdivision) and their components. For Sturmregiment Pz.A.O.K. see page 35. For Sturmbataillon A.O.K. see page 28.

(14) Infanteriegeschützkompanie — Inf.Gesch.Kp. (infantry howitzer company).—Found in all types of infantry regiments (except in mountain and light divisions). Although actually the ninth company in two-battalion regiments, this type of unit is still referred to as the 13th company. In Volksgrenadier divisions it includes two platoons of 120 mm mortars and only one platoon of infantry howitzers.

(15) Infanterie-Panzerjägerkompanie — Inf.Pz.Jäg.Kp. (infantry antitank company).—Found in infantry regiments of "Type 1944", light, and mountain divisions. Although actually the tenth company in two-battalion regiments, it is still referred to as the 14th company. It is the 16th company in light and mountain infantry regiments.

(16) Panzerzerstörerkompanie—Pz.Zerst.Kp. (tank destruction company).—Found in infantry regiments of Volksgrenadier division. Normally equipped with bazookas (called Ofenrohr or Raketenpanzerbüchse), but may also have other infantry antitank weapons (such as Panzerfaust and Panzerschreck). Although actually the tenth company in two-battalion regiments, it is still referred to as the 14th company. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 400 series.

(17) Maschinengewehrkompanie — M.G.Kp. (machine-gun-company).—Found in infantry battalions in mountain, light, and Panzer Grenadier divisions. Has heavy machine guns and 81 mm mortars. In infantry and Panzer divisions it has been replaced by a heavy weapons company (schwere Kompanie) which includes infantry howitzers or 120 mm mortars.

(18) Schwere Kompanie—s.Kp. (Heavy weapons company).—Found in all types of infantry battalions. Consists of one heavy machine gun platoon and varying combinations of infantry howitzers and 81 mm and 120 mm mortars.

(19) Aufklärungsabteilung—Aufkl.Abt. (reconnaissance battalion).—Found in light and mountain divisions. May still be identified as Radfahrabteilung (cyclist battalion), its former designation. Consists of two or three cyclist companies and one heavy weapons company. A motorcycle company may sometimes replace one of the cyclist companies. (Note: The reconnaissance unit of an infantry division is now called Divisions-Füsilierbataillon or Divisions-Füsilierkompanie.)

Distinguishing color: golden yellow.

Distinguishing color: golden yellow.

(21) Divisions-Füsilierbataillon—Div.Füs.Btl. (divisional support and reconnaissance battalion).—Performs both reconnaissance and infantry support functions in infantry divisions. Organization identical with that of infantry battalions except that it has more mobility (bicycles). Also referred to as Füsilierbataillon or as Divisionsbataillon.

UNCLASSIFIED

Some divisions have only a Divisions-Füsilierkompanie.

Certain divisional reconnaissance battalions have been chosen to maintain the tradition of the cavalry arm and are called Divisions-Füsilierbataillon (A.A.) Personnel of these battalions wear golden yellow piping.

(22) Divisions-Füsilierkompanie — Div.Füs.Kp. (divisional support and reconnaissance company).—Some Volksgrenadier and two-regiment infantry divisions may have Füsilier companies instead of battalions. They have a higher allotment of personnel and weapons than normal infantry companies, and are equipped with bicycles.

(23) Reiterschwadron—Reit.Schwdr. (mounted troop).—May be found in reconnaissance battalions of light or mountain divisions instead of one cyclist company and possibly also in Divisions-Füsilierbataillone (A.A.) (see page above)

Distinguishing color: golden yellow.

(24) Schwere Schwadron—s.Schwdr. (heavy weapons troop).—Found in reconnaissance battalions of light and mountain divisions and possibly also in Divisions-Füsilierbataillone (A.A.)

Distinguishing color: golden yellow.

(25) Kradschützenkompanie—Krad-Schütz.Kp. (motorcycle company).—May still be found in reconnaissance battalions of some light and mountain divisions.

Distinguishing color: grass green.

(26) Schnelle Abteilung—Schn.Abt. (mobile battalion).—Found as part of a mobile brigade (Schnelle Brigade). Normally composed of a mounted troop, two cyclist companies, and one heavy weapons company. May also contain organic antitank units, which however belong to the Panzer troops.

The former divisional mobile battalions (Schnelle Abteilungen), which combined the divisional antitank and reconnaissance units, have been disbanded as a type. Antitank work is now done by the reconstituted Panzerjägerabteilung and reconnaissance by the newly formed Divisions-Füsilierbataillon.

UNCLASSIFIED

(27) Feldersatzbataillon — Feld.Ers.Btl. (field replacement battalion).—A field reserve for divisional units. Consists of three to five companies containing replacement elements for the various arms, and usually a divisional combat school (Divisions-Kampfschule). The Feldersatzbataillon in the "Type 44" and Volksgrenadier divisions has a supply company (Versorgungskompanie). The field replacement battalion may be organic in all types of divisions. Its personnel may be drawn from other divisional units or may consist of fresh reserves from the Zone of the Interior.

A Feldersatzbataillon or Feldersatzregiment may also be found at army, where its primary function consists in the retraining of combats from service and administrative units of divisions and corps for combat service.

(28) Infanterie-Fliegerabwehrkompanie — Inf.Fla-Kp. (infantry anti-aircraft machine-gun company).—One organic company in all types of infantry divisions. Subordinated, for administrative purposes, to the divisional anti-tank battalion but receives all tactical directives from division. Has light anti-aircraft guns (20 mm in "Type 44", 37 mm in Volksgrenadier, varied in light and mountain divisions) in addition to machine guns. Used for both anti-tank and anti-aircraft defense.

(29) Divisions-Sturmkompanie — Div.Sturm-Kp. (divisional assault company).—Special assault company at the disposal of divisions. Often formed from elements of the field replacement battalion (Feldersatzbataillon).

A regiment may use the term Sturmkompanie to designate one of its companies which it uses especially for assault purposes.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Festungsbrigade—Fest.Brig. (fortress brigade).—Independent static infantry brigade. Nos. 939, 963, 964, and 1017 have been identified.

(2) Festungsregiment—Fest.Rgt. (fortress regiment).—Regimental staff controlling fortress battalions. Several identified in the 1-100 and 900 series.

UNCLASSIFIED

(3) Festungsbataillon—Fest.Btl. (fortress battalion).—Static infantry battalion employed in the defense of fixed fortifications. Consists largely of Landeschützen personnel. Numbered in the main infantry regimental series. Identified in the 600, 900, 1000, and 1400 series. Often attached for tactical purposes to divisions operating in the same combat area. Those formed in 1944 received the name Festungsinfanteriebataillon.

(4) Festungsstammabteilung—(permanent fortress battalion).—Formed as cadre personnel attached to corps manning fortifications in coastal sectors, and now found in the West Wall defenses. Older personnel and personnel of poor physical fitness. When the controlling corps moves from the sector, it is attached to any new corps occupying that area. Carries the Roman numeral of the corps to which it is attached; also identified with Arabic numbers in the 300 series.

These units may occur as Festungsstammregimenter (permanent fortress regiments) or as Festungsstammkompanien (permanent fortress companies) depending on the size of the sector to which they are assigned.

(5) Gebirgsjägerbrigade—Geb.Jäg.Brig. (mountain infantry brigade).—Independent, probably a mixed brigade. No. 139 has been identified.

(6) Grenadierbrigade—Gren.Brig. (infantry brigade).—Independent brigade. Nos. 92, 388, 761, 1132, 1133, 1134, and 1135 have been identified.

(7) Kavalleriebrigade—Kav.Brig. (cavalry brigade).—Independent brigade created in April 1944. Nos. 3 and 4 have been identified.

Two or three cavalry brigades are also found organically in the 1st Cossack Cavalry Division (Kosackendivision).

(8) Maschinengewehr-Skibrigade—M.G.Ski-Brig. (machine-gun ski brigade).—None has been identified, but a T/O for machine-gun ski brigade "Finland" is known to exist.

(9) Schnelle Brigade—Schn.Brig. (mobile brigade).—

UNCLASSIFIED

Independent brigade staff controlling several mobile battalions (Schnelle Abteilungen). Nos. 20 and 30 were encountered during the Normandy campaign but have since been disbanded. Others have not since been identified but may exist.

(10) Reiterregiment — Reit.Rgt. (mounted regiment).—None of the original cavalry regiments have been recently identified. A table of organization for cavalry regiments exists, however, and new ones have recently been identified on the eastern front.

(11) Grenadierbataillon z.b.V.—Gren.Btl.z.b.V. (special duty infantry battalion).—An independent infantry battalion for special employment (zu besonderer Verwendung). Often used as nomenclature for penal units. Identified in the 100, 500, and 800 series.

(12) Skibataillon—Ski.Btl. (ski infantry battalion).—This is the light infantry battalion (Jägerbataillon) reorganized for winter service. Some of its machine guns are fixed on boat sleds (Akjas). Identified in Russia, northern Italy, Finland, and Norway.

(13) Hochgebirgsbataillon—Hochgeb.Btl. (Alpine infantry battalion).—Organized similarly to a mountain infantry battalion (Gebirgsjägerbataillon). The personnel is especially trained for warfare in high terrain. Nos. 1, 3, 4, and 5 have been identified.

(14) Sturmataillon A.O.K.—Sturm-Btl. A.O.K. (army assault battalion).—A special assault battalion with heavy firepower at the disposal of armies. Composed of personnel from various units and arms within the army.

(15) Maschinengewehrbataillon—M.G.Btl. (machine gun battalion).—Independent machine gun battalion. Consists of three companies equipped with heavy machine guns and bazookas and a heavy weapons company. Probably redesignated fortress machine-gun battalion (Festungs-Maschinengewehrbataillon). Identified in the 1-100 series.

(16) Festungs-Maschinengewehrbataillon — Fest. M. G. Btl. (fortress machine-gun battalion).—Static machine-gun battalions composed largely of Landesschützen personnel. Organization similar to a Maschinengewehrbataillon, except for the lack of mobility. Identified in the 1-100 series.

(17) Überschweres Maschinengewehrbataillon — überschw. or s.s.M.G.Btl. (super-heavy machine-gun battalion).—Organization probably similar to that of the Maschinengewehrbataillon. Equipped with 20 mm and 37 mm antiaircraft guns and bazookas. Identified in the 800 series.

(18) Fliegerabwehrbataillon—Fla-Btl. (antiaircraft machine-gun battalion).—Has light antiaircraft guns (20 mm and 37 mm) in addition to machine guns. Used for both antitank and antiaircraft defense. Two types exist:

(a) Consists of three companies, which may operate independently although the battalion is the tactical unit. Identified in the 600 and 900 series.

(b) Battalion staff controlling five or six companies. These companies were used independently as tactical units and carried the numbers of their battalions (e.g., 6.Kp./Fla. Btl. 66), which ran from 22 to 66. It is believed that this type has been abolished.

Fla units (except those organic in Panzer divisions) belong to the infantry, although German orders have at times referred to them as a separate arm. They wear white infantry piping with the addition of the Gothic letters "Fl" on shoulder straps.

Some may have been reformed and redesignated super-heavy machine-gun battalion (Überschweres Maschinengewehrbataillon).

(19) Panzerzerstörerataillon—Pz.Zerst.Btl. (tank destruction battalion).—Equipped with bazookas and other infantry antitank weapons. Identified in the 400 series.

(20) Schweres Granatwerferbataillon — s.Gr.W.Btl. (heavy mortar battalion).—Consists of three companies. Each company has twelve heavy mortars (120 mm).

c. Panzer troops (Panzertruppen). The arm Panzertruppen, created in April 1943, included all elements of the former Schnelle Truppen (mobile Troops) with the exception of their horse and cyclist units, which were transferred to the infantry.

Tank destruction detachments (Panzervernichtungstrupps) are usually not part of the Panzer troops since any German Army combat unit may form its own tank destruction detachment. These are usually the size of one or two squads, and are normally equipped mainly with small infantry antitank weapons (mines, Panzerfaust, Panzer-schreck).

The distinguishing color of the Panzer troops is pink. Personnel of divisional antitank battalions and GHQ antitank units wear in addition a Gothic "P" on the shoulder straps. Personnel of regimental antitank units belong to the arm of their regiment and wear its color. Motorized infantry regiments in Panzer Grenadier divisions have retained their original color, white.

Divisional Units

(1) Panzerregiment—Pz.Rgt. (tank regiment).—One to a Panzer division; usually consists of two tank battalions of three or four companies each. Assault gun companies may sometimes replace one or more tank companies.

(2) Panzerabteilung—Pz.Abt. (tank battalion).—Two to a Panzer regiment in a Panzer division; one to a Panzer Grenadier division. Usually followed by the name or Roman numeral of the type of its tanks (Panther or Pz.Kpfw.IV or Pz.Kpfw.V). Tank battalions with "Tiger" tanks (Pz.Kpfw.VI) are normally found only in GHQ units. Tank battalions in Panzer Grenadier divisions may be replaced by assault gun battalions (Sturmgeschützabteilungen).

(3) Panzerkompanie—Pz.Kp. (tank company).—Three or four to a tank battalion. May sometimes be replaced by assault gun batteries (Sturmgeschütz Batterien).

(4) Panzergrenadierregiment — Pz.Gren.Rgt. (Panzer Grenadier regiment).—Two to a Panzer division. Normally composed of only two battalions and two regimental support companies: the infantry howitzer company and the engineer company.

UNCLASSIFIED

The term Panzergrenadierregiment is also used as an honorary title for the motorized infantry regiments in the 15th Panzer Grenadier division. These are composed of three battalions and the regimental companies.

The headquarters company of Panzer Grenadier regiments (gp.) (those containing the Panzergrenadierbataillon/gepanzert which is equipped with armored troop-carriers) and Panzer regiments may include a platoon of flamethrowing tanks (Flammzug).

(5) Panzergrenadierbataillon — Pz.Gren.Btl. (Panzer Grenadier battalion).—Two per Panzer Grenadier regiment in a Panzer division. One Panzer Grenadier battalion in a Panzer division is usually equipped with armored troop-carriers (Schützenpanzerwagen); this battalion is normally designated Panzergrenadierbataillon (gp.), but may also be found as Schützenpanzerwagenbataillon.

Distinguishing color: grass green.

(6) Panzergrenadierkompanie — Pz.Gren.Kp. (armored infantry company).—Three to a Panzer Grenadier battalion. Consists of three Panzer Grenadier platoons and one machine-gun or heavy platoon (schwerer Zug).

(7) Schwere Panzer-Grenadierkompanie — Schw.Pz.Gren.Kp. (Panzer Grenadier heavy weapons company).—One to a Panzer Grenadier battalion. Equipped with 120 mm mortars, and either 75 mm infantry howitzers or 20 mm anti-aircraft guns.

(8) Panzergrenadier-Pionierkompanie — Pz.Gren.Pi.Kp. (engineer company in a Panzer Grenadier regiment).—Normally found as the 10th company. Also found as Pionierkompanie (mot), (gp.), or (t.gp.).

(9) Schwere Geschützkompagnie—s.Gesch.Kp. (heavy infantry howitzer company).—Usually organic in the Panzer Grenadier regiment and Grenadier regiment (mot). Normally found as the 9th company of the former and the 13th company of the latter. Has six heavy infantry howitzers self-propelled, and 12 20 mm anti-aircraft guns.

UNCLASSIFIED

(10) Grenadierregiment (mot).—Gren.Rgt.(mot) (motorized infantry regiment).—Normally two to a Panzer Grenadier division. Consists of three motorized infantry battalions, a heavy infantry howitzer company (schwere Geschützkompanie), and a 75 mm antitank company (Panzerjägerkompanie). Some of them have been redesignated Panzer Grenadier regiments, but have kept their three-battalion organization.

Distinguishing color: white (?).

(11) Grenadierbataillon (mot).—Gren.Btl.(mot) (motorized infantry battalion).—Three per motorized infantry regiment. Consists of three motorized infantry companies and a motorized heavy weapons company (schwere Kompanie). Some of them have been redesignated Panzer Grenadier battalions.

Distinguishing color: white.

(12) Grenadierkompanie (mot).—Gren.Kp.(mot) (motorized infantry company).—Normally three to a motorized infantry battalion. Usually consists of three motorized rifle platoons and one machine-gun platoon.

Distinguishing color: white.

(13) Panzeraufklärungsabteilung.—Pz.Aufkl.Abt. (Panzer reconnaissance battalion).—Found in Panzer and Panzer Grenadier divisions. Consists of various combinations of scout car, armored car, motorcycle, and armored troop carrier companies, plus a heavy weapons company.

Distinguishing color: pink, with a Latin "A" on the shoulder straps.

(14) Panzeraufklärungskompanie (Krad) — Pz.Aufkl.Kp.(Krad) (motorcycle company).—Formerly found in Panzer reconnaissance battalions (Panzeraufklärungsabteilungen) but has now been largely replaced by armored half-track units with heavier firepower.

(15) Panzeraufklärungskompanie (Volkswagen) — Pz.Aufkl.Kp. (Volksw.) (scout car company).—May be found in Panzer reconnaissance battalions, replacing motorcycle companies (Kradschützenkompanien).

UNCLASSIFIED

(16) Schwere Panzeraufklärungskompanie — schw.Pz. Aufkl.Kp. (Panzer reconnaissance heavy weapons company).—One to an armored reconnaissance battalion. Contains one light infantry howitzer platoon, one 81mm mortar platoon and one engineer platoon.

(17) Panzerspähkompanie — Pz.Sp.Kp. (armored car company).—May be found in all Panzer reconnaissance battalions.

(18) Schützenpanzerwagenkompanie — SPW.Kp. (armored troop carrier company).—May be found in motorized infantry and Panzer Grenadier regiments as well as in Panzer reconnaissance battalions, replacing any company except the heavy weapons company. Also called Panzer-grenadierkompanie (gp.).

(19) Panzerjägerabteilung—Pz.Jäg.Abt. (antitank battalion).—Organic in all types of divisions.

Two types exist:

(a) In all types of infantry divisions: Consists of one motor-drawn (75mm or 88mm) antitank-gun company, one self-propelled (75mm) antitank-gun company (formerly called Sturmgeschützabteilung), and one antiaircraft machinegun company (Fla-Kompanie), (20 or 37mm).

(b) In Panzer and Panzer Grenadier Divisions: Normally consists of one motor-drawn and two self-propelled (75mm) antitank gun companies. In Panzer Grenadier divisions, the antitank battalion is usually replaced by an assault gun battalion (Sturmgeschützabteilung). Identified in the GHQ pool in the 400, 500, 600, 700, and 900 series.

(20) Panzerjägerkompanie—Pz.Jäg.Kp. (antitank company).—Three types exist:

(a) Self-propelled (75mm) antitank-gun company.—Found in the antitank battalion of Panzer and Panzer Grenadier divisions.

(b) Motor-drawn (75 mm) antitank company. Found in the antitank battalions of the "Type 44" division, Panzer divisions and Panzer Grenadier division.

~~RESTRICTED~~
UNCLASSIFIED

(c) Self-propelled 75 or 88 mm assault gun company. Because of heavy firepower, this company was formerly called assault-gun battalion (Sturmgeschützabteilung) and carried its own number (number of antitank battalion plus 1000) within the divisional antitank battalion.

(d) Motor-drawn (88mm) antitank company (schwere Panzerjägerkompanie). Found in the antitank battalions of Volksgrenadier division.

(21) Feldersatzbataillon (Panzerdivision) — Feld.Ers. Btl. (Pz.Div.) (field replacement battalion).—A field reserve for divisional units. Consists of three to five companies containing replacement elements for the various arms and usually a divisional combat school (Divisions-Kampfschule). May be organic in all types of divisions. Its personnel may be drawn from other divisional units or may consist of fresh reserves from the rear area.

A Feldersatzbataillon or Feldersatzregiment may also be found at army, where its primary function consists of the retraining of combats from service and administrative units of divisions and corps for combat service.

(22) Begleitkompanie Panzerdivision — Bgl.Kp.Pz.Div. (Panzer division escort company).—Collective name of various machine-gun heavy weapons, and antiaircraft platoons assigned to the headquarters of Panzer Divisions.

An escort battery (Sturmgeschütz-Begleitbatterie), similar to the Panzer division escort company, may also be found organically in assault gun battalions (Sturmgeschütz-Abteilungen). These may be found equipped with Mark II tanks.

Used for both antitank and antiaircraft defense.

(23) Panzersicherungskompanie — Pz.Sich.Kp. (tank security company).—Found operating with security regiments (Sicherungsregimenter) in anti-partisan work. No. 35 has been identified.

(24) Panzerwerkstattkompanie — Pz.Werkst.Kp. (tank workshop company).—One to a tank regiment. Also forms part of the tank repair battalion (Panzerinstandsetzungsabteilung).

(25) Versorgungskompanie — Vers.Kp. (supply company).—One in each armored reconnaissance battalion (Panzeraufklärungs-Abteilung), one in each tank battalion (Panzerrabteilung), and one in each Panzer Grenadier battalion.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Panzerbrigade—Pz.Brig. (Panzer brigade).—Independent brigade. Organization varies, but normally includes tank and armored infantry battalions and one armored engineer company. Numbers 21 and 101 through 113 have been identified. Most Panzer brigades have been absorbed as replacements for Panzer divisions.

(2) Sturmregiment Pz.A.O.K. — Sturm-Rgt.Pz.A.O.K. (Panzer army assault regiment).—A special assault regiment with heavy firepower at the disposal of Panzer armies. Composed of personnel from various units and arms within the Panzer army. The name Sturmregiment is also used as an honorary title for outstanding regiments (such as those of the 78th Infantry division).

(3) Panzerabteilung Flammenwerfer — (tank flame-thrower battalion).—Independent flame-thrower tank battalions in the 100 series may be found employed under Panzer corps in the spearhead of the attack.

(4) Festungs-Pak-Bataillon — Fest.Pak.Btl. (fortress antitank-gun battalion).—Similar to ordinary antitank battalions except that they have very limited transport facilities. Identified in the 500 series.

(5) Festungs-Pak-Kompanie — Fest.Pak-Kp. (fortress antitank-gun company).—Independent static antitank-gun companies attached for administrative purposes to fortress antitank-gun commands (Festungs-Pak-Verbände) and for tactical purposes to field units manning their sector. Equipped with 76.2 (Russian) and 88 mm antitank guns. Numbered in the 1-100 series followed by the Roman numeral of the antitank-gun command to which they are attached. Numbers 8/X, 9/X, 10/X, 11/X, 22/X, and 23/X have been identified.

(6) Eisenbahnpanzerzug—Eisb.Pz.Zug (armored train).—Several types exist:

(a) Eisenbahnpanzerzug BP 42. Normally consists of two armored infantry, two armored artillery, and two armored anti-aircraft cars, and one armored steam engine (in the middle of the train).

(b) Eisenbahnpanzerzug s. or le.Sp. Composite armored train, made up of motor-drawn heavy or light armored reconnaissance cars (Schienen-Panzerspähwagen) and tank transport cars (Panzerträgerwagen). Identified in the 1-100 series.

Various types and combinations of armored trains and armored anti-aircraft trains (Eisenbahn-Flakzüge) may be found. Armored trains for temporary tactical purposes are called Streckenschutzzüge.

Distinguishing color: pink with a Gothic "E" on the shoulder straps.

(7) Panzerinstandsetzungsabteilung—Pz.Inst.Abt. (tank repair battalion).—Probably composed of three workshop companies (Panzerwerkstattkompanien).

(8) Panzer-Bergekompanie (tank salvage company).—Hauls crippled tanks from the battlefield to repair workshops or to railheads for shipment to factories in the Zone of the Interior.

d. Artillery (Artillerie). In the Germany Army much of the field artillery and all the Army coast artillery and railway artillery belongs to the GHQ pool. In peacetime the coast artillery is the responsibility of the Navy but in wartime the Army has also formed coast artillery units principally for the protection of coasts in occupied areas. Coast artillery, naval or army, is normally assigned to the sector command in which it operates.

UNCLASSIFIED

Units are allotted from the GHQ pool to army groups or armies according to operational needs. They may then be sub-allotted to corps or divisions, in which case they are usually placed under the control of special artillery commanders and staffs. Divisional artillery is frequently reinforced not only by GHQ artillery but also by army antiaircraft artillery (Heeresflakartillerie) and projector units (Werferereinheiten). With the exception of artillery commanders and staffs and artillery observation units, all types of artillery carry numbers allotted from a single series. For commanders see pages 12 and 13.

The distinguishing color of the artillery is bright red. Some specialized units are distinguished, in addition, by Gothic letters on the shoulder straps.

(1) Artillery Units.

Divisional Units

(a) Artillerieregiment.—Art. Rgt. (artillery regiment).—One to a division. It varies in composition according to the type of the division. Several types exist:

1. In infantry divisions, "Type 1944".—Consists of four battalions (I, II, and III equipped with 105 mm gun-howitzers and IV with 150 mm howitzers).
2. In Volksgrenadier divisions.—Consists of four battalions (I equipped with 75 mm antitank guns, II and III with 105 mm gun-howitzers, and IV with 150 mm howitzers).
3. In Panzer and Panzer Grenadier divisions. Consists of three battalions (I normally equipped with two batteries of 105 mm gun-howitzers and one battery of 150 mm howitzers all SP, II equipped with 105 mm gun-howitzers, and III with 150 mm howitzers). Panzer and Panzer Grenadier divisions also have a separate Army antiaircraft artillery battalion (Heeresflakartillerieabteilung) as an organic divisional component.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. In light and mountain divisions.—Consists of four battalions (I and II equipped with 75 mm mountain howitzers and III with 105 mm gun-howitzers; the organization of IV may vary, but it is normally equipped with 150 mm howitzers).

(b) Schwere Artillerieabteilung—s.Art.Abt. (medium artillery battalion).—Normally one per artillery regiment in all types of divisions. Equipped with 150 mm howitzers. Also found in the GHQ pool. 105 mm guns may sometimes replace some of the 150 mm howitzers.

(c) Leichte Artillerieabteilung—le.Art.Abt.— (light artillery battalion).—Normally one or two per artillery regiment in all divisions, except in infantry divisions "Type 1944," where there are three. Equipped with 105 mm gun-howitzers. Also found in the GHQ pool.

(d) Feldkanonenabteilung — Feld.Kan.Abt. (field-gun battalion).—One per artillery regiment in a Volksgrenadier division. Equipped with 75 mm antitank guns.

(e) Gebirgsgeschützabteilung — Geb.Gesch.Abt. (mountain howitzer battalion).—Often replaces a light battalion in an artillery regiment of a light or mountain division. Normally equipped with 75 mm mountain howitzers, sometimes with 105 mm mountain howitzers.

(f) Heeresflakartillerieabteilung — H.Flak.Art.Abt. (Army antiaircraft artillery battalion).—One to a Panzer division. Consists of two 88 mm gun batteries and one 20 mm gun battery. Those assigned to Panzer divisions are numbered in the 200 and 300 series; those in the GHQ pool are numbered in the same series as Air Force antiaircraft units (1-1000, 11,000, 12,000 and 13,000).

(g) Sturmgeschützabteilung — Stu.Gesch.Abt. (assault-gun battalion).—Sometimes replaces the antitank battalion in Panzer Grenadier divisions. Those in company strength, but designated as battalions organic in infantry, light, and mountain divisions were renamed Panzerjägerkompanie (see page 33). Most of those in the GHQ pool were renamed Sturmgeschützbrigade (see below). There are, however, still a few GHQ assault gun battalions in the GHQ pool. Numbers 1365 and 1396 identified.

Non-Divisional Units

(a) Artilleriebrigade—Art.Brig. (artillery brigade).—Also found as Heeresartilleriebrigade. Independent artillery brigade. Consists of a varying number of artillery batteries. All or most artillery brigades have been renamed Volksartillerie-Korps.

(b) Sturmgeschützbrigade — Stu.Gesch.Brig. (assault gun brigade).—GHQ assault-gun battalions were renamed assault-gun brigades. Their strength and fire power, which was markedly larger than those of ordinary battalions may have warranted this differentiation in nomenclature from organic assault gun battalions which were actually only of battalion strength, but the redesignation may also have been made to raise morale. The guns of assault gun brigades are also referred to as Sturmartillerie. Identified in the 100-900 series.

(c) Volksartilleriekorps—Volks-Art. Korps (Volks artillery corps).—Independent GHQ unit, formerly called artillery brigade (Artilleriebrigade) Probably composed of six battalions, which may be equipped with 75 mm antitank guns, 105 mm howitzers and 150 mm and 170 mm howitzers. Nos. 388, 401-410, 766, and 1095 have been identified.

(d) Festungs-Artillerieregiment — Fest.Art.Rgt. (fortress artillery regiment).—Controls several fortress artillery battalions. Nos. 5 and 200 have been identified.

(e) Festungs-Artillerieabteilung—Fest.Art.Abt. (fortress artillery battalion).—Static artillery battalions organized in the summer of 1944. Equipped with German and captured guns. Identified in the 1-100, 1000, 1100, 1300 and 1500 series.

(f) Heeresküstenartillerieregiment — H.Küst.Art.Rgt. (Army coast artillery regiment).—Normally controls two or three Army coast artillery battalions and possibly any number of independent batteries. Identified in the regular artillery series (1-1900).

(g) Heeresküstenartillerieabteilung — H.Küst.Art.Abt. (Army coast artillery battalion).—Composition varies. May be organized as regular battalion with three batteries or as battalion staff to control a larger number of independent batteries. Identified in the main artillery series (1-1900).

(h) Eisenbahnartillerieabteilung — Eisb.Art.Abt. (railway artillery battalion).—Composition varies. Identified in the main artillery series.

(i) Marineartillerieabteilung — Mar.Art.Abt. (naval coast battalion).—Composition varies. Belongs to the German Navy (Kriegsmarine) but may come under the Army coast command in which it is located. Numbered concurrently with Army artillery units. Identified in the 200, 500, and 600 series.

(j) Artillerie-Pak-Abteilung — Art.Pak.Abt. (artillery antitank gun battalion).—Equipped with 75 mm or 88 mm antitank guns. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 1000 series.

(k) Artillerieregiment—Art.Rgt. (artillery regiment).—Staff controlling a varying number of all types of independent artillery battalions and/or batteries. Independent batteries may also be controlled by GHQ artillery battalion staffs (Artillerieabteilungen).

(l) Batterien (artillery batteries).—Light, medium, heavy and super-heavy artillery batteries, which may be horse-drawn, motorized, tractor-drawn, self-propelled, railway, or static, may be found in the GHQ pool operating independently or under GHQ battalion or regimental staffs. They are all numbered in the main artillery series (1-1900). The following types of independent artillery batteries have been identified:

1. Batterie (battery).

~~TOP SECRET~~
UNCLASSIFIED

2. Eisenbahnbatterie (railway artillery battery). Also found as Batterie (E).
3. Heeresküstenbatterie (Army coast artillery battery).
4. Stellungsbatterie (Küste) (static coast artillery battery).
5. Kanonenbatterie (gun battery).
6. Mörserbatterie (super-heavy howitzer battery).

(m) Turm-Haubitzen-Zug (mobile field howitzer platoon).—Independent field howitzer or artillery mortar platoon used in the defense of fortified strongpoints. May move on rails leading into the fortifications.

(2) Mapping and Surveying Units (Karten- und Vermessungseinheiten).

Mapping and surveying units belong to the artillery, although German orders have at times referred to them as a separate arm. Most of them wear Gothic letters, which indicate their type of unit, on the shoulder straps.

Divisional Units

There are no divisional observation units.

Non-Divisional Units

(a) Beobachtungsabteilung—Beob.Abt. (artillery observation battalion).—Normally allotted to corps, but often attached to divisional artillery regiments. Contains a sound-ranging battery (Schallmessbatterie), light-ranging battery, (Lichtmessbatterie), and meteorological platoon (Wetterzug). Identified in the 1-100 and 500 series.

Distinguishing letter: Gothic "B".

(b) Lichtmessbatterie (light-ranging battery).—Normally one to an observation battalion. Precedes the name and number of its battalion, separated by a diagonal line (e.g. Schallm.Bttr./Beob.Abt. 554).

(c) Schallmessbatterie (sound-ranging battery).—Normally one to an observation battalion. Precedes the name and number of its battalion, separated by a diagonal line (e.g. Schallm.Bttr./Beob.Abt. 554).

(d) Armee- or Korpskartenstelle (army or corps map reproduction center).—Previously known as Armee- or Korpskartenlager. Identified in the 400 and 500 series.

(e) Druck- und Vermessungsabteilung (printing and survey battalion).—Probably similar to a Vermessungs- und Kartenabteilung. No. 608 has been identified.

(f) Karten-Druckereiabteilung (map printing battalion).—Identified in the 500 series.

(g) Vermessungs- und Kartenabteilung (survey and mapping battalion).—In GHQ pool, but may be allocated to army groups or armies. Obtains topographical information and prints maps and photographs which are used for operational purposes. Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

Distinguishing letter: Gothic "V".

(h) Astronomischer Messzug (astronomical survey platoon).—Identified in the 700 series.

(i) Ballonbatterie (observation balloon battery).—Identified in the 100 series.

(j) Magnet-Messbatterie (magnet survey battery).—No. 653 has been identified.

(k) Velozitätsmesszug—Vo-Messzug (velocity measurement platoon).—Identified in the 1-100, 100, and 500 series.

(l) Wetterpeilzug (meteorological platoon).—Make air analysis for artillery units but do not engage in weather forecasting. Identified in the 500 series.

e. Chemical warfare units (Nebeltruppen). All chemical warfare units belong to the GHQ pool. Originally employed only as smoke projector troops they have functioned recently more and more as artillery for the launching of high-explosive projectiles. Most units are also trained and equipped to perform contamination and decontamination tasks which formerly were the responsibility of the Entgiftungs- and Strassenentgiftungsabteilungen. Projector units (Werfereinheiten) frequently may be found attached to divisional artillery regiments.

Every German unit of company or battery strength has two small groups of men trained in defensive chemical warfare and personnel decontamination. These normally consist of one noncommissioned officer and three enlisted men, called the gas detection detachment (Gasspürtrupp), and of one noncommissioned officer and six enlisted men, called the personnel decontamination detachment (Truppenentgiftungstrupp). These detachments are not chemical warfare troops but belong to the arm of their unit.

Personnel decontamination is handled by the Truppenentgiftungsabteilung which belongs to the medical troops.

The distinguishing color of chemical warfare troops is wine red.

Divisional Units

There are no divisional units in this arm.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Werferbrigade—Werf.Brig. (projector brigade).—Independent brigade created early in 1944. Consists of two projector regiments. Identified in the 1-100 series. Volkswerferbrigade 18 has also been identified.

(2) Werferregiment—Werf.Rgt. (projector regiment).—Formerly called Nebelwerferregiment. Normally composed of three 150 mm battalions, or two 150 mm battalions and one 210 mm battalion. Identified in the 1-100, 200 and 400 series.

(3) Werferabteilung—Werf.Abt. (projector battalion).—Formerly known as Nebelwerferabteilung. Normally composed of three projector batteries. Component of all types of projector regiments (Werferregimenter). Also found independently in the GHQ pool. Several independent battalions may be controlled by a special regimental staff (Werferregiment z.b.V.). Identified in the 1-100 and 100 series.

(4) Werferbatterie—Werf. Battr. (projector battery).—Normally three to a projector battalion. Equipped with six 150 mm projectors. Found independently in the GHQ pool in the 200 series.

(5) Schweres Werferregiment—s.Werf.Rgt. (heavy projector regiment).—Normally consists of two heavy projector battalions (schwere Werferabteilungen) and one 150-mm projector battalion (Werferabteilung). Identified in the 1-100 series.

(6) Schwere Werferabteilung—s.Werf.Abt. (heavy projector battalion).—Composed of three heavy projector batteries (schwere Werferbatterien). Normally two, sometimes three to a heavy projector regiment (schweres Werferregiment).

(7) Schwere Werferbatterie—s.Werf.Battr. (heavy projector battery).—Three to a heavy projector battalion (schwere Werferabteilung). Equipped with 210, 300 or 280/320 mm projectors. Also identified in the GHQ pool in the 100 and 200 series.

(8) Versorgungsbatterie—Vers.Battr. (supply battery).—Found in the standard and heavy projector battalions.

(9) Stellungswerferbrigade — Stell.Werf.Brig. (static projector brigade).—None has been identified, but a T/O is known to exist.

(10) Stellungswerferregiment — Stell.Werf.Rgt. (static projector regiment).—Number 101 has been identified.

(11) Stellungswerferabteilung — Stell.Werf.Abt. (static projector battalion).—Numbers 102 and 103 have been identified.

(12) Werferregiment z.b.V.—Werf.Rgt.z.b.V. (projector regimental staff for special employment).—Regimental staff controlling independent projector battalions.

(13) Volkswerferregiment—Volks-Werf.Rgt. (Volks projector regiment).—New designation for some projector regiments. Number 54 has been identified.

RESTRICTED

(14) Gebirgswerferabteilung—Geb. Werf. Abt. (mountain projector battalion).—Normally composed of three mountain projector batteries (Gebirgswerferbatterien) equipped with 100 mm mountain projectors. Number 10 has been identified.

(15) Gasmaskentrupp (gas mask supply detachment).—For the supply and fitting of gas masks.

f. Engineers (Pioniere). This arm includes the regular combat engineers as well as fortress engineers (Festungspioniere), construction engineers (Baupioniere), and local engineers (Landespioniere). On the other hand, the engineer arm does not include the railway engineers (Eisenbahn-pioniere), and the Railway Operating Troops (Eisenbahnbetriebs-truppen), and these are therefore treated separately here. (See pages 53 and 54.)

It should be noted that the personnel of engineer platoons in organic divisional units (other than the organic engineer battalion) belong to the arm of the unit which they are serving, and not to the engineer arm, although they are trained to perform minor engineer tasks.

Engineer units often form small detachments within their unit for special tasks (such as flame-thrower detachments) (Flammenwerfertruppen) and mine-detection detachments (Minensuchtruppen).

The distinguishing color of the engineers is black. Fortress and construction engineers are further distinguished by Gothic letters on their shoulder straps.

Divisional Units

(1) Pionierbataillon—Pi. Btl. (engineer battalion).—One to a division. The following types of divisional engineer battalions exist:

(a) The "Type 44" division has three engineer companies (Pionierkompanien).

(b) The Volks grenadier division has two engineer companies (Pionierkompanien).

RESTRICTED

(c) The Panzer division has three armored engineer companies (Panzerpionierkompanien) and an armored bridging column (Panzerbrückenkolonne).

(d) The mountain division has three mountain engineer companies (Gebirgspionierkompanien) provided with special trestle-building equipment for mountainous terrain. Engineer battalions carry the divisional auxiliary number. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 100 and 600 series.

(2) Pionierkompanie—Pi.Kp. (engineer company).—Two or three to an engineer battalion. Mobility varies according to type of division. In the GHQ pool, and in some divisional armored engineer battalions (Panzerpionierbataillone), engineer companies which employ cable controlled demolition charge carriers have the designation Panzer-Pionierkompanie Goliath.

(3) Brückenkolonne (Brüko)—Br.Kol. (bridge column)—One or two to an armored engineer battalion, (Panzerpionierbataillon). Different types are distinguished by various capital letters, i.e., "B", "G", "J", "K", and "T", each of which represents the type of bridge building equipment used.

In addition there are two series of independent bridge columns in the GHQ pool. One carries numbers in the 400-500 series and consists of units of two columns (e.g. 1/403, 2/403) which operate independently. The other numbered in the 600, 800, and 900 series, consists of single columns. All are fully motorized.

Bridging columns from the GHQ pool are frequently allotted to the divisional engineer battalion (Pionierbataillon) of infantry divisions.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Combat engineers (Pioniere).

(a) Pionierbrigade—Pi.Brig. (engineer brigade).—No. 51 has been identified.

(b) Pionierregiment—Pi.Rgt. (engineer regiment).—Staff controlling independent engineer battalions, bridge columns, and sometimes construction units of GHQ pool. Identified in the 1-100, 100, 400, 500, 600, 700, and 900 series.

(c) Pionierbataillon z.b.V.—Pi.Btl.z.b.V. (engineer battalion for special employment).—Staff controlling independent engineer units. Identified in the 300, 600, and 700 series.

Pioneerbataillon z.b.V. 600, called "Taifun", is an engineer unit which handles a special type of explosive gas which is used in the demolition of fortifications.

(d) Pionier-Sturmregiment — Pi.Sturm-Rgt. (engineer assault regiment).—No. 1 has been identified.

(e) Pionier-Sturmataillon—Pi.Sturm-Btl. (engineer assault battalion).—Nos. 20, 35, and 38 have been identified.

(f) Pionier-Sturmkompanie — Pi.Sturm-Kp. (engineer assault company).—No. 1 has been identified.

(g) Feldwasserstrassenräumabteilung — (waterway clearing battalion).—Engaged in clearing and maintaining waterways which are essential for military transport.

(h) Pionierparkbataillon — Pi.Pk.Btl. (engineer equipment park battalion).—Composed of personnel assigned to an engineer equipment park. Identified in the 500 series.

(i) Pionier-Parkkompanie—Pi.Pk.Kp. (engineer equipment park company).—Composed of personnel assigned to an engineer equipment park (Pionierpark). Identified in the 500 series.

(j) Stellungs-Baupionierbataillon — Stell.Bau-Pi.Btl. (fortification construction engineer battalion).—Used for low-grade engineer construction work. May be composed of convicts who have volunteered for front-line duty.

(k) Schwachstellen-Erfassungstrupp—(special engineer detachment).—Composed of technicians, whose job it is to test fortifications for weak points (Schwachstellen).

(l) Sprengkommando — (demolition detachment).—Responsible for the demolition of military and industrial establishments preceding a retreat.

(m) Landungspionier-Einheiten—(amphibious engineer units).—The following types of amphibious engineer units have been identified:

1. Landungspionierregiment—Ldgs.Pi.Rgt. (amphibious engineer regiment).—Formerly called Pionierlandungsregiment. Identified in the 700 series.
2. Landungspionierbataillon — Ldgs.Pi.Btl. (amphibious engineer battalion).—Formerly called Pionierlandungsbataillon. Composed of engineer personnel especially trained for assault landings. Identified in the 1-100 and 700 series.
3. Landungspionierkompanie — Ldgs.Pi.Kp. (amphibious engineer company).—Formerly called Pionierlandungskompanie. Found in amphibious engineer battalions (Landungspionierbataillone) and as independent companies. Identified in the 1-100 and 700 series.
4. Landungssturmboot-Pionierkompanie — Ldgs. Sturmboot-Pi.Kp. and Pioniersturmbootkompanie — Pi.Sturmboot-Kp. (engineer assault-boat companies).—Formerly called Sturmbootkompanie and Sturmbootkommando. Found in amphibious engineer battalions (Landungspionierbataillone).
5. Pionier-Werft-Kompanie — Pi.Werft-Kp. (engineer drydock company).—Found in amphibious engineer battalions (Landungspionierbataillone).

(n) Other specialized engineer companies.—Independent companies engaged in various types of work. Their function is usually defined by their title.

1. Minensuchkompanie—(mine detection company).—Independent company No. 3 identified.
2. Pionier Horch und Minierkompanie—(special engineer mine-detection and mine-laying company).—Nos. 3 and 13 have been identified.
3. Pionier-Minenkompanie — (special engineer company).—Probably employed in blasting work and the building of underground shelters. Nos. 821 and 822 have been identified.

4. Pionier-Schanzkompanie — (special engineer company).—Probably employed in fortification work. No. 311 has been identified.

(2) Fortress engineers (Festungspioniere). — Peacetime units wear the Gothic letters "Fp", while units formed on or after mobilization wear the Gothic letter "F" on the shoulderstraps.

(a) Festungspionierregiment—Fest.Pi.Rgt. (fortress engineer regiment).—Nos. 14, 21, and 29 have been identified.

(b) Festungspionierstab—Fest.Pi.Stab. (fortress engineer staff).—Regimental staff in the field, normally controlling two sector groups (Festungspionierabschnittsgruppen). Numbered in the 1-50 and 200 series.

(c) Festungspionierstab z.b.V.—Fest.Pi.Stab z.b.V. (fortress engineer staff for special employment).—Regimental staff controlling special units such as fortress wire laying platoons (Festungskabelbauzüge).

(d) Festungspionierabschnittsgruppe—Fest.Pi.Abschn. Gr. (fortress engineer sector group).—Battalion staff in charge of engineer units in a fortified sector. Carries the number of the controlling staff (Festungspionierstab) preceded by the number I or II.

(e) Einweisungsabteilung—Einw.Abt. (fortress construction and guide staff).—Sometimes referred to as Einweisungsstab. A battalion staff controlling HJ, OT, and other construction personnel in the building of fortifications, laying mine fields, and directing front line troops through them. They are controlled by a fortress engineer sector group (Festungspionierabschnittsgruppe). Identified in the 1000 and 1100 series.

(f) Festungspionierparkkompanie—Fest.Pi.Pk.Kp. (fortress engineer park company).

(3) Construction Engineers (Baupioniere).—Formerly a separate arm of inferior status known as Bautruppen; re-classified as engineers under an order issued in October 1943. Most of the units were then renamed as indicated below.

Personnel wear black as their distinguishing color. Previous color light brown may still be encountered.

(a) Pionierregimentsstab z.b.V. — Pi.Rgt.Stab z.b.V. (construction engineer regimental staff for special employment).—Formerly called Kommandeur der Bautruppen. Equivalent in status to a regimental commander. It should be noted that construction engineers are often employed under combat, fortress, or railway engineer staffs, and often operate in conjunction with units of the Reich Labor Service (Reichsarbeitsdienst), of the OT (Organisation Todt) and of the Air Force Construction Troops. Identified in the 1-100 and 100 series.

(b) Baupionierbataillon — Bau-Pi.Btl. (engineer construction battalion).—Formerly known as Baubataillon and Strassenbaubataillon. Personnel engaged in general construction work in both the forward and rear areas; may also be used as security troops. Identified in the 1-1000 series.

(c) Festungspionierbataillon — Fest.Pi.Btl. (fortress engineer construction battalion).—Formerly called Festungsbaubataillon. Engaged in building permanent and temporary field fortifications. Controlled by a Festungspionierabschnittsgruppe (fortress engineer sector group). Identified in the 1-1000 series.

(d) Landesbaupionierbataillon — Ld.Bau-Pi.Btl. (local construction battalion).—Formerly known as Landesbaubataillon. Originally formed to build air-raid shelters but now used for general construction work and for guard duty. Some have recently been converted to positional construction engineer battalions (Stellungsbaupionierbataillone), (see page 47). Identified in the 1-100 series.

(e) Marinebaubataillon — Mar.Bau-Btl. (naval construction battalion).—Identified in the 1-1000 series.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

(f) Pionierbrückenbataillon—Pi.Br.Btl. (engineer bridge construction battalion).—Formerly called Brückenbau-bataillon. Identified in the 1-1000 series.

(g) Radfahrbaubataillon—Radf.Bau-Btl. (cyclist construction battalion).—Identified in the 1-1000 series.

(h) Strassenbaubataillon—Str.Bau-Btl. (road construction battalion).—Now called Bau-Pionierbataillon. (See above).

(i) Schneeräumregiment—(snow removal regiment).—Construction groups specializing in snow removal. Identified in the 500 series.

(j) Schneeräubataillon—(snow removal battalion).—Construction troops specializing in snow removal. Identified in the 600 series.

(k) Kriegsgefangenenbau- und Arbeitsbataillon—Kgf. Bau-u. Arb.Btl. (prisoner of war construction and labor battalion).—Engaged in rear areas as well as in theater of operations. German cadre personnel act as guards. Identified in the 1-100 and 100 series.

(l) Kriegsgefangenenarbeitskommando — Kgf.Arb.Kdo. (prisoner of war labor detachment).—May be engaged in rear areas, and in the theater of operations. German cadre personnel act as guards. Identified between 200 and 5200.

(m) Kriegsgefangenendachdeckerbataillon — Kgf.Dach-decker Btl. (prisoner of war roof-builder battalion).—Probably formed to assist in the rebuilding of heavily bombed cities. No XI has been identified.

(n) Kriegsgefangenenglaserbataillon — Kgf.Glaser Btl. (prisoner of war glazier battalion).—Probably formed to assist in the rebuilding of heavily bombed cities. Nos. X and XVI have been identified.

(o) Gesteinsbohrkompanie — (rock-drilling company; also called quarry company).—Independent construction company operating either with an engineering construction battalion (Baupionierbataillon) or under the direct control of a fortress engineer sector group (Festungspionierschnittsgruppe). Identified in the 1-100 and 200 series.

(4) Local Engineers (Landespioniere).—Although originally classified as security troops (Sicherungsgruppen), it is possible that those local engineer units which were sent to the front were reclassified as combat troops (Fechtende Truppen).

The personnel of the Landespioniere are low category engineer personnel just as the Landeschützen are low category infantry.

(a) Landespionierregiment — Ld.Pi.Rgt. (local engineer regiment).—Formerly called Stromsicherungsregiment (river security regiment). Provides protection for the waterways in one Wehrkreis, i.e., Landespionierregiment VI protects that sector of the Rhine which flows through Wehrkreis VI. The headquarters of local engineer regiments are normally stationed at important river crossings. Landespionierregimenter carry the Roman numerals of the Wehrkreis in which they operate.—Nos. VI and XII have been identified.

(b) Landespionierbataillon — Ld.Pi.Btl. (local engineer battalion).—Formerly called Stromsicherungsbataillon (river security battalion). Provides protection for rivers in one Wehrkreis. Excluding Wehrkreis VI and XII, the regional engineer battalions are numbered 510 plus the corps area number where they are located (e.g. Ld.Pi.Btl. 513 at Küstrin, Wkr. III). Wehrkreise have Landespionier units of regiment or battalion size depending upon the numbers of rivers each particular Wehrkreis has to control.

Some local engineer units have been sent to the front, and have been replaced by SS river protection detachments (SS-Wasserschutzkommandos). Identified in the 500 series.

(c) Landespionierkompanie—Ld.Pi.Kp. (local engineer company).—Independent company operating under battalion or regimental control. Identified in the 500 series with numbers left vacant by the battalion series.

g. Railway engineers (Eisenbahnpioniere). These units constitute a separate arm, although they wear the same color as the regular engineers, and German documents are confusing as to the proper name of the arm. They are also known as Eisenbahntruppen.

The distinguishing color of the railway engineers is black with the Gothic letter "E" on the shoulder strap.

Divisional Units

There are no divisional units in this arm.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Eisenbahnpionierbrigade — Eisb.Pi.Brig. (railway engineer brigade).—Nos. 1, 2, and 3 have been identified.

(2) Eisenbahnpionierregiment — Eisb.Pi.Rgt. (railway engineer regiment).—Consists of two battalions of four companies each. The companies operate independently and frequently make use of prisoner of war labor. Their main work is the maintenance and repair of track and the building of bridges. Identified in the 1-100 series.

(3) Eisenbahnpionierbataillon — Eisb.Pi.Btl. (railway engineer battalion).—Identified in the 1-100 series.

(4) Eisenbahnpionierstab z.b.V. — Eisb.Pi.Stab. z.b.V. (railway engineer staff for special employment).—Identified in the 1-100 series.

(5) Eisenbahnbaubataillon — Eisb.Bau-Btl. (railway construction battalion).—Identified in the 1-1000 series.

(6) Eisenbahnpionierbaukompanien — Eisb.Pi.Bau-Kpn. (railway construction companies).—Specialist companies engaged in various types of railway construction work. Their function is usually defined by their title. The following types have been identified in the 1-100 and 100 series:

(a) Eisenbahnfernsprechkompanie (railway telephone company).

(b) Eisenbahnfunkkompanie (railway radio company).

(c) Eisenbahnpfilerbaukompanie (railway pillar building company).

(d) Eisenbahnwasserstationskompanie (railway water-point company).

(e) Seilbahnkommandotrupp (cableway detachment).

(f) Eisenbahnunterwasserschneidetrupp (underwater welding section).

(g) Eisenbahnstellwerkskompanie (railway signal box company).

It should be noted that the above are specialist units, in contrast to the railway construction units (Eisenbahnbaueinheiten).

h. Railway Operating Troops (Eisenbahnbetriebstruppen). The arm Eisenbahnbetriebstruppen, created in November 1943, includes all railway operating units; these were formerly called Feldeisenbahnbetriebstruppen and were part of the railway engineers.

They are responsible for the operation of military traffic, for providing engineers, guards, and antiaircraft protection for military trains, and for supervising repair of bomb damage to railroads.

The distinguishing color of the railway operating troops is black with the Gothic letters "EB" on the shoulder straps.

The following types have been identified in the 1-500 series:

(1) Feldeisenbahnkommando (field railway command).

(2) Feldeisenbahnbetriebsabteilung (field railway operating unit).

(3) Feldeisenbahnmaschinenabteilung (field railway machinery battalion).

(4) Feldeisenbahnwerkstattabteilung (field railway workshop battalion).

(5) Eisenbahnbetriebskompanie (railway operating company).

- (6) Feldbahnabteilung (field railway battalion).
- (7) Feldbahnkompanie (field railway company).
- (8) Feldeisenbahnnachschublager (field railway supply depot).

i. Technical Troops (Technische Truppen). The technical troops constitute a separate arm of the service. They include highly specialized technicians such as operators of various types of machines, special mine-detector personnel, public utilities experts, divers, welders and assault boat pilots.

The distinguishing color of the technical troops is black with the Gothic letter "T" accompanied by the number of the unit, on the shoulder straps.

Divisional Units

There are no divisional units in this arm.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Technisches Bataillon—Techn.Btl. (technical battalion).—Normally attached to higher field headquarters. Consists of highly specialized personnel, who perform the various technical tasks in their unit areas (salvage work, clearing wrecks in harbors, repair of gas and water works, etc.). Identified in the 1-100 and 100 series.

Technische Abteilungen (numbered with Roman numerals) which specialized in the repair and reconstruction of damaged buildings and the manufacture of special machine tools have, for the most part, been converted to Technische Bataillone.

(2) Technische Hochbaukompanie — Techn.Kp.(Hb) (technical construction company).—Specializes in construction work on high structures. Identified in the 1-100 and 100 series.

j. Signal troops (Nachrichtentruppen). It should be noted that the personnel of signal platoons and sections organic in regiments and battalions of other arms belong to the arm of the units in which they serve, although they are trained to perform minor signal tasks. The propaganda troops, which formerly belonged to the signal troops, are now a separate arm. (See page 58).

The distinguishing color of the signal troops is lemon yellow.

Divisional Units

(1) Nachrichtenabteilung — Nachr.Abt. (signal battalion).—One to a division. Normally contains a telephone company (Fernsprechkompanie), a radio company (Funkkompanie), and a signal supply column (Nachrichtenkolonne) or a supply platoon (Versorgungszug).

(2) Nachrichtenkompanie — Nachr.Kp. (signal company).—Independent company. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 1-100, 300, 500, and 700 series.

(3) Fernsprechkompanie — Fsp.Kp. (telephone company).—One to a signal battalion. May also be found as Divisionsfersprechkompanie at division headquarters.

(4) Funkkompanie—Funk.Kp. (radio company).—One to a signal battalion. May also be found as Divisionsfunkkompanie at division headquarters.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Feldnachrichtenkommandantur — Feld-Nachr.Kdtr. (field signal command).—One to an army. A static signal headquarters responsible for the permanent signal installations in the territory occupied by an army. If they are found in the zone of the interior they are to be classified in the category of miscellaneous troops.

(2) Festungsnachrichtenkommandantur — Fest.Nachr.Kdtr. (fortress signal command).—Carries the same number as the fortress engineer staff (Festungsspionierstab) to which it is attached. The official classification places them in miscellaneous troops rather than in combat troops.

(3) Wehrmachtnachrichtenkommandantur — Wehrm.Nachr. Kdtr. (armed forces signal command).—An inter-service signal headquarters which supervises operations of permanent signal installations. Identified in the 300 series.

If they are found in the Zone of the Interior they are to be classified in the category of miscellaneous troops.

(4) Führungsnachrichtenregiment — F ü. N a c h r. R g t. (armed forces signal regiment).—Under direct control of the Armed Forces high command. Provides and maintains signal communications between Hitler's headquarters and army group and army headquarters, as well as among the three branches of the Armed Forces. Numbers 40, 601, 602, and 603 have been identified.

(5) Heeres-Nachrichtenregiment — Heeres-Nachr.Rgt. (army group or GHQ signal regiment).—One to an army group. Identified in the 1-100 and 600 series.

(6) Armee-Nachrichtenregiment — Armee-Nachr.Rgt. (army signal regiment).—One to an army. Identified in the 500 series.

(7) Korpsnachrichtenabteilung — Korps-Nachr.Abt. (corps signal battalion).—One to a corps. Identified in the 1-100 and 400 series.

(8) Nachrichtenregimentsstab z.b.V. — Nachr.Rgt.Stab z.b.V. (signal regimental staff for special employment).—Regimental staff controlling independent battalions and other units. Numbers 598 and 604 have been identified.

(9) Nachrichtenabteilungsstab z.b.V. — Nachr.Abt.Stab z.b.V. (signal battalion staff for special employment) and Nachrichtenführer z.b.V. (signal commander for special employment).—Battalion staffs controlling independent signal companies in the field. Identified in the 600 and 700 series.

(10) Eisenbahnnachrichtenregiment — Eisb.Nachr.Rgt. (railway signal regiment).—Number 517 has been identified.

(11) Eisenbahnnachrichtenabteilung — Eisb.Nachr.Abt. (railway signal battalion).

(12) Feldkabelbauabteilung (field wire laying battalion).

(13) Feldschaltabteilung (field switchboard battalion).

—Probably controls wire-networks in the field. Numbers 1, 2, and 3 identified.

(14) Nachrichtenhelferinnenabteilung (women's auxiliary signal battalion).—Engaged in auxiliary signal work such as radio, telephone, and telegraph operation. When used in the field the letter "E" (Einsatz) follows the name of the unit.

(15) Nachrichtenkompanien (independent signal companies).—Specialist companies engaged in various types of signal work. Their function is usually defined by their title. The following types have been identified in the 600 series:

(a) Fernsprechbaukompanie (telephone construction company).

(b) Fernsprechbetriebskompanie (telephone operating company (also in the 1-100 series.)

(c) Fernschreibkompanie (telegraph company).

(d) Funküberwachungskompanie (radio supervision company).

(e) Horchkompanie (interception company).

(f) Nachrichtenauswertekompanie (signal evaluation company).—For evaluating radio intercepts.

(g) Nachrichtenfernaufklärungskompanie (long-range signal reconnaissance company).

(h) Nachrichtennahaufklärungskompanie (short-range signal reconnaissance company).—Radio interception company.

(i) Feldfernkabelkompanie (cable-laying company).

k. Propaganda troops (Propagandatruppen). Under an order issued in January 1943, propaganda troops, formerly belonging to the signal troops, were made into a separate arm. They consist mainly of news-reporters, photographers, film cameramen, and radio commentators. Their main function is front line reporting, but they also conduct propaganda addressed to the enemy as well as to the German troops.

The distinguishing color of the Propaganda troops is light grey.

REDACTED

Divisional Units

There are no divisional units in this arm.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Propagandaabteilung (propaganda battalion).—Several have been identified, normally named after an occupied country or area in which they function (e.g. Frankreich, Südost, Ostland, Ukraine, etc.).

(2) Propagandakompanie (propaganda company). — About twenty have been identified in the 500, 600, and 900 series. One normally attached to each army, from which small teams are sub-allotted to corps and divisions.

6. SERVICE TROOPS (VERSORGUNGSTRUPPEN)

a. Supply troops (Nachschubtruppen). The supply and motor maintenance units of the German Army, originally combined under transport troops (Fahrtruppen), were later divided into two separate arms. The motor maintenance units were grouped under the motor maintenance troops (Kraftfahrparktruppen) (see page 64), while the transport and supply units were classified as supply troops (Nachschubtruppen).

Railway operating troops (Eisenbahnbetriebstruppen) are an independent arm, although they work in conjunction with the supply troops (see page 54).

The distinguishing color of the supply troops is light blue.

Divisional Units

(1) Versorgungsregiment — Vers.Rgt. (supply regiment).—Regimental staff, controlling all the services in a Volksgrenadier division. Contains a motor transport supply company (Kraftfahrkompanie), a supply platoon (Nachschubzug), an ordnance company (Feldzeugkompanie), an administrative company (Verwaltungskompanie), a medical company (Sanitätskompanie), a motorized ambulance platoon (Krankenkraftwagenzug), a veterinary company (Ve-terinärkompanie), two horse-drawn supply companies (Fahrschwadronen), and a field post office (Feldpostamt).

The centralization of all types of service units under one administrative staff was begun early in 1944, when service companies (Versorgungskompanien) were set up for each battalion of Panzer and Panzer Grenadier regiments and for the Panzer reconnaissance battalions. Late in 1944, service platoons (Versorgungszüge) were set up for infantry battalions in Volksgrenadier divisions. This was done as part of General GUDERIAN's policy of giving divisions a very flexible organization (freie Gliederung), in order to facilitate a more even distribution of all types of supplies with much less personnel, and to free company commanders from any duty other than fighting.

(2) Versorgungskompanie—Vers.Kp. (supply company).—One in each battalion of the Panzer and Panzer Grenadier regiments and one in the Panzer reconnaissance battalion.

(3) Kommandeur der Divisionsnachschrubtruppen—Kodina (commander of the division rear services).—Formerly known as Divisionsnachschrubführer—(Dinafü) commands the divisional service troops. Normally carries the divisional auxiliary number.

(4) Nachschrubkompanie — Nachschr.Kp. (supply company).—Found in the rear services of all divisions. Also identified in the 500, 600 and 700 series.

(5) Krafftfahrabteilung—Kf.Abt. (motor transport battalion).—May be found in some divisions; carries the division auxiliary number.

(6) Krafftfahrkompanie—Kf.Kp. (motor transport company).—Found in the motor transport battalion (Krafftfahrabteilung) and also as an independent company in the GHQ pool.

(7) Fahrschwadron—Fahrschw. (horse-drawn supply company).—Formerly called Fahrkolonne. Usually two in the supply regiment (Versorgungsregiment) of a Volksgren-adier division. Also found in the divisional services of other types of divisions.

(8) Leichte Kolonne—le.Kol. (light column).—One to most types of infantry regiments. Consists of 39 wagons and of seven trucks carrying all types of supplies except rations; serves as a supply reserve for the subordinate battalions.

(9) Trosse (trains). — Battalion and company supply units. Consist of combat train (Gefechtstross), ration train (Verpflegungstross) of which there are two to a battalion, and baggage train (Gepäcktrass). The company baggage train and the second battalion ration train are usually motorized. The latter consists of one truck which hauls supplies from the division distribution point.

(10) Instandsetzungskompanie—Inst.Kp. (repair company).—Several units of this type may be found in a division, in which case they carry the auxiliary number of the division preceded by an Arabic number (e.g. Inst.Kp.2/130). Repairs equipment and weapons except motor vehicles. Also identified in the GHQ pool in the 600 series.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Kraftwagentransportregiment—Kw.Trsp.Rgt. (motor transport regiment).—Used primarily for moving non-motorized units, but may also be used for the transportation of supplies. About twenty have been identified in the 300, 500, 600, and 900 series.

(2) Kraftwagentransportabteilung—Kw.Trsp.Abt. (motor transport battalion).—Independent battalion similar in function to the above units. About twenty have been identified in the 500, 600, 700, and 900 series.

(3) Kraftwagentransportkompanie—Kw.Trsp.Kp. (motor transport company).—Found in the motor transport battalion (Kraftwagentransportabteilung) and also independently in the 1000 and 1100 series.

(4) Nachschubkolonnenabteilung — Nachsch.Kol.Abt.

(supply column battalion).—Horse-drawn or motorized; allotted to armies according to estimated needs. Identified in the 500, 600, 700, and 900 series; also 463 for Army of Norway. (Their component columns are distinguished by an Arabic number preceding that of the battalion.)

(5) Nachschubkolonnenabteilung z.b.V. — Nachsch.Kol. Abt.z.b.V. (supply column battalion for special employment).

(6) Nachschubbataillon — Nachsch.Btl. (supply battalion).—Two types exist: 1-100 and 100 series (non-motorized); and 500 and 600 series (fully motorized). Units have also been identified in the 800 series. If prisoners of war are found in this unit, the battalion number is followed by a (K) for Kriegsgefangene.

(7) Nachschubstab z.b.V. (supply staff for special employment).—Independent staff, probably of battalion status. Its function is often defined by its title, such as Verladestab (loading staff), Entladestab (unloading staff), and Umschlagstab (reloading staff). Identified in the 100, 200, 300, 400, 600, and 900 series. Some regimental supply staffs for special employment (Nachschubregimentsstab z.b.V.) have also been identified.

(8) Festungsnachschubstab (fortress supply staff).—Identified in the 1-100 series.

(9) Gebirgsträgerbataillon—Geb.Tr.Btl. (mountain supply-bearer battalion).—Used for the movement of supplies and ammunition in mountainous terrain where ordinary supply columns cannot be employed. No. 56 has been identified.

(10) Pferdetransportbataillon — Pf.Trsp.Btl. (horse transportation battalion).—Identified in the 600 series.

(11) Nachschubkompanien und Kolonnen (independent supply companies and columns).—Specialist companies performing various duties. Their function is usually defined by their title. The following types have been identified in the 500, 600, 700, and 900 series:

(a) Kraftfahrtsammelkompanie (motor transport collecting company).

~~RESTRICTED~~

(b) Mannschaftstransportkompanie (personnel transport company).—No. 715 identified.

(c) Nachschubkompanie z.b.V. (supply company for special employment).

(d) Nachschubkompanie für Betriebstoff (fuel supply company).

(e) Munitionsverwaltungskompanie (ammunition administration company).—Also identified in the 800 series.

(f) Betriebstoffverwaltungskompanie (fuel and lubricant administration company).

(g) Destillationskompanie (water distilling company).

(h) Kraftwagentransportkolonne (motor transport column).

(i) Grosse Kraftwagenkolonne (large motor transport column).—Capacity 60 tons. Also identified in the 1100, 1200, and 1500 series.

(j) Kleine Kraftwagenkolonne (small motor transport column).—Capacity 30 tons.

(k) Kombinierte Kolonne (combined column).—Probably consists of both horse-drawn and motor transportation.

(l) Fahrkolonne (horse-drawn column).

(m) Tragtierkolonne (pack train).

(n) Grosse Betriebstoffkolonne (large fuel and lubricant column).—Capacity 50 cubic meters (11,000 gallons).

(o) Kleine Betriebstoffkolonne (small fuel and lubricant column).—Capacity 25 cubic meters (5,500 gallons).

(p) Kesselwagenkolonne für Betriebstoff (tank truck column for fuel and lubricants).

(q) Filterkolonne (water filter column).

(r) Wasserkolonne (water supply column).

(s) Thermoskolonne (thermos container ration column).

(t) Tankholzkommando (fuel wood detachment).

(u) Transportkolonne (transport column).

(v) Kraftwagenwirtschaftstransportkolonne z.b.V. (local supply, motor transport column).—No. 603 identified.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

b. Motor maintenance troops (Kraftfahrparktruppen).

The supply and motor maintenance units of the German Army, originally combined under transport troops (Fahrtruppen), were divided into two separate arms in October 1942. The transport and supply units are now classified as supply troops (Nachschubtruppen) (see sub-paragraph a, above), while the motor maintenance units are grouped under the motor maintenance troops (Kraftfahrparktruppen). It should be noted that the motor maintenance personnel in organic divisional units (except those belonging to the Panzer arm) belongs to the motor maintenance troops rather than to the arm of the unit to which they are attached.

Divisional Units

(1) Werkstattkompanie (workshop company). — Normally one to a division. Panzergrenadier divisions may have two or three.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungsregiment — Kfz.Inst. Rgt. (motor maintenance and repair regiment).—Probably constitutes the field equivalent of the Kraftfahrbezirk of the Home Army. Controls usually three or more Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungspärke (motor maintenance and repair parks), formerly called Heereskraftfahrparke. Identified in the 1-100 and 500 series.

(2) Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungsabteilung — Kfz.Inst. Abt. (motor maintenance and repair battalion).—Identified in the 500 series.

(3) Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungskompanie — Kfz.Inst. Kp. (motor maintenance and repair company). — Independent company. Identified in the 100 series.

(4) Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungspark (motor maintenance and repair park).—Formerly called Heeres- or Armee-kraftfahrpark. Motor maintenance park in occupied territories and with field armies. Approximately of battalion strength, it consists of three sections: section "I" (Instandsetzung) which is the repair section; section "E" (Ersatzteil) which is the spare parts section; and section "N" (Nachschub) which is the supply section. Identified in the 500, 600, 700, 800, and 900 series.

(5) Kraftfahrzeug-Ersatzteilkompanie (motor maintenance spare parts company).—No. 66 identified.

(6) Feldwerkstattkompanie (field workshop company).—Attached in full or in part to an army equipment park (Armeegerätпарк). Repairs salvageable equipment forwarded from equipment salvage depots (Gerätesammelstellen).

(7) Kraftfahrzeugabschleppzug (motor vehicle recovery platoon).—Identified in the 700 series.

(8) Reifenstaffel (tire supply section).—Found in the motor maintenance and repair regiment (Kraftfahrzeuginstandsetzungsregiment). Identified in the 500 series.

(9) Reifeninstandsetzungsstaffel (tire repair detachment).

(10) Reifenlager (tire depot).—Identified in the 100 and 500 series. OKW Reifenlager have been identified in the lower numbers of the 1-100 series.

(11) Zentralersatzteillager (central spare parts depot).—Identified in the 1-700 series.

(12) Kraftfahrpark Eisenbahn—Kf.Pk.(Eisb.) (motor transport park on rails).

c. Medical troops (Sanitätstruppen).—The distinguishing color for medical troops is dark blue.

Divisional Units

(1) Sanitätskompanie—San.Kp. (medical company).—Normally one, sometimes two to a division.

(2) Krankenkraftwagenzug—Krkw.Zg. (motorized ambulance platoon).—Normally one, sometimes two to a division. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

A motorized ambulance company (Krankenkraftwagenkompanie) may also be found.

(3) Feldlazarett — Feldlaz. (field hospital). — Formerly organic to division. Now believed to be organic at corps and army, but may still be found in some divisions. Identified in the GHQ pool in the 1-100, 500, 600, 700, and 900 series.

(4) Feldhalblazarett (small field hospital).—Often motorized. May take the place of field hospital (Feldlazarett) in some divisions.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Sanitätsabteilung—San.Abt. (medical battalion).—Identified in the GHQ pool in the 500, 600, and 700 series. (Numbers usually end in 2.)

(2) Krankentransportabteilung — Kr.Trsp.Abt. (ambulance transport battalion).—One attached to a medical battalion or station hospital. Provides for the transportation of wounded to rear areas. Identified in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

(3) Krankentransportkompanie — Kr.Trsp.Kp. (ambulance transport company).

(5) Kriegslazarett (station hospital, communications zone).—Independent hospital in the army rear area.

(6) Leichtkrankenkriegslazarett (station hospital for minor cases).—Not separate hospitals but detachments of hospital staffs. Located in army rear area.

(7) Entseuchungszug (disinfecting train).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

(8) Lazarettzug (hospital train).—Identified in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

(9) Leichtkrankenzeug (hospital train for minor cases).

(10) Sanitätsmaterial-Ausgabestelle (medical equipment and medicine issuing office).—No. 33 identified.

(11) Truppenentgiftungskompanie. — Tr.Entg.Kp. (personnel decontamination company).—These are medical units not to be confused with chemical warfare decontamination units. They are also used as cleansing and delousing companies for personnel and establishments. Identified in the 600 series.

(12) Truppenverbandplatz (first aid station).—Established by medical battalion. Identified in the 500 series.

d. Veterinary troops (Veterinärtruppen). Veterinary companies and horse hospitals may train a small group of their men in decontamination of horses and their equipment. These groups are called horse decontamination detachments (Pferdeentgiftungstruppen).

The distinguishing color of veterinary troops is carmine.

Divisional Units

(1) Veterinärkompanie—Vet.Kp. (veterinary company).—Normally one to an infantry, light, and mountain division. Has collecting, hospital, and fodder platoon.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Heeres- or Armeepferdelazarett (army group or army veterinary hospital).—Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

(2) Pferdetransportkolonne (mot.) (motorized horse transport column).—Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

(3) Bewegliche Veterinäruntersuchungsstelle—Bwgl.Vet. Unters.St. (mobile veterinary laboratory).

e. Military police (Ordnungstruppen). Military police duties are divided between the Feldgendarmarie (military police), whose main task is the maintenance of traffic discipline, and Wachtruppen (guard troops), who are primarily concerned with the guarding of parks, dumps, etc., in the field. The latter also take charge of prisoners of war and escort them to the rear areas. Patrol duties and the maintenance of military discipline are carried out both by armed forces patrols (Wehrmachtstreifen) see page 82, and by military police (Feldgendarmarie). Additional powers for seizing stragglers and sending them directly to training areas or to the front have been given to a new type of military police, the Feldjäger, (see page 86).

The distinguishing color of the military police is orange. They carry no number, but on the lower left arm they wear a brown band with the word "Feldgendarmarie" inscribed in silver.

Divisional Units

(1) Feldgendarmarietrupp—Feldgend.Tr. (military police detachment).—One to a division. Carries the divisional auxiliary number. Now usually found with division headquarters. Those in the GHQ pool which are allocated to the military administration of an occupied country frequently carry the number of the headquarters to which they are attached. Identified in the 1-1100 series.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Feldgendarmarieabteilung—Feldgend.Abt. (military police battalion).—One allotted to each army. Identified in the 500 and 600 series and also recently 1116.

(2) Wachregiment — Wach-Rgt. (guard regiment).—Staff controlling guard units in a large city. Most of them have been converted into security regiments (Sicherungsregimenter). They carry the name of the city in which they are located.

(3) Wachbataillon—Wach-Btl. (guard battalion).—Independent guard battalions assigned to army groups or armies. Identified in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

There is also a Wachbataillon Grossdeutschland stationed in Berlin. It is not a part of the Grossdeutschland division. Wachbataillon Hermann Göring is Göring's personal body guard.

SECRET

(4) Wachkompanie—Wach-Kp. (guard company).—No. 517 has been identified.

(5) Radfahrwachbataillon—Radf. Wach-Btl. (cyclist guard battalion).—Identified in the 1-100 series.

NOTE.—For Heimatschwabataillon see page 79.

(6) Feldgendarmenkompanie—Feldgend.Kp. (military police company).—Independent company.

(7) Verkehrsregelungsbataillon (traffic control battalion).—A battalion or a company may be allotted for as long as necessary to an army on the move. Seven units of this type have been identified in the series 751-760.

f. Ordnance troops (Feldzeugtruppen). The ordnance units supervise the manufacture, transport, and storage of weapons and equipment, and instruct NCOs of various arms in the rudiments of ordnance work for lower echelons.

The distinguishing color of the ordnance troops is orange, with the Latin letters "Fz" on the shoulder straps.

Divisional Units

(1) Feldzeugkompanie—Fz.Kp. (ordnance company).—Found in the services of the infantry division "Type 1944" and the Volksgrenadier division. It is composed of an armorer platoon (Waffenmeisterzug), an ammunition administration platoon (Munitionsverwaltungszug), and a work platoon (Arbeitszug). Also identified in the GHQ pool in the 1-100 series.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Feldzeugbataillon—Fz.Btl. (ordnance battalion).—Identified in the 1-100 series.

(2) Feldzeugstab—Fz.Stab (Ordnance staff).—Of battalion status. Responsible for the storage and issue of weapons and equipment to fortress engineer units (Festungspioniereinheiten). For tactical purposes assigned to a Festungspionierabschnittsgruppe (fortress engineer sector group.) Identified in the 1-100 series.

(3) Feldzeugparkbataillon—Fz.Pk.Btl. (ordnance equipment park battalion).—Contains the personnel of an ordnance equipment park (Feldzeugpark).

(4) Feldzeugkraftwagenkolonne—Fz.Kw.Kol. (ordnance motor transport column).

g. Administrative troops (Verwaltungstruppen). There is no distinguishing color for administrative units. Officers in the special troop service (Truppensonderdienst), who formerly were Armed Forces officials (Beamte), occupy most of the administrative positions connected with army administration (Heeresverwaltung) which includes army finance and the procurement and distribution of rations and clothing. They wear uniforms with light blue piping while the distinguishing color of other administrative personnel varies.

Divisional Units

(1) Bäckereikompanie—Bäck.Kp. (bakery company).—One to each division. Also in the GHQ pool. Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

(2) Schlächtereizug (butcher platoon).—One to each division. Butcher companies (Schlächtereikompanien) may also be found in divisions and have been identified in the GHQ pool in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

(3) Verwaltungskompanie — Verw.Kp. (administration company). — Formerly called Divisions-Verpflegungsamt. Supervises the requisition and supply of rations for troop units. Erects ration supply distributing points (Verpflegungsausgabestellen) which are refilled daily by the bakery and slaughter units and from which troop units obtain their rations.

(4) Gerätesammelstelle (equipment salvage depot).—Found in division. Collects salvageable equipment and forwards it to field workshops (see Werkstattkompanie, below).

(5) Divisions-Gerätelager (divisional equipment depot). —Found organically in some divisions.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Verpflegungsamt (rations office).—One to an army, and possibly army group. Establishes and administrates Verpflegungslager (ration stores) from which subordinate units may draw. Identified in the 500, 600, and 700 series.

(2) Grossbäckereikompanie (large bakery company).—Normally allotted to army. Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

(3) Schlächtereiabteilung (butcher battalion).—Normally allotted to army group. Identified in the 500 and 600 series.

(4) Heereskühlstelle (army group refrigeration unit).

(5) Heeresunterkunftsverwaltung (army group billeting staff).

(6) Heeres- or Armeebekleidungsamt (army group or army clothing office).—Identified in the 500 series.

(7) Fleischverarbeitungskompanie (meat processing company).

(8) Verpflegungserfassungsstab (ration requisitioning staff).

(9) Heeresverpflegungsstelle (army ration supply depot).—Identified in the 600 and 800 series.

h. Field post units (Feldposteinheiten). Personnel of field post units wear lemon yellow piping and have the latin letters "FP" on their shoulder straps.

Divisional Units

(1) Feldpostamt (Field post office).—One to each division. Also found organic in higher echelons. Each field post office uses a code number (Kenn-Nummer) selected at random in the 1-1000 series in addition to its own number. Thus K 943 might be the code number for Field Post Office 571 (army). Therefore extreme care must be exercised in the identification of field post offices. Identified also in the GHQ pool in the 700 series.

[REDACTED]

(2) Armeebriefstelle (army central post office).—Attached to the headquarters of an army, this office distributes mail to and controls field post offices (Feldpostämter) within an army.

7. SECURITY TROOPS (SICHERUNGSTRUPPEN)

a. Area security units. The following types of military administrative commands and staffs are to be found in countries formerly or still occupied by Germany.

(1) Oberfeldkommandantur—OFK (administrative area headquarters of divisional status).—When it is located in the theater of operations (as in Holland), it comes under the jurisdiction of the commander of an Army or Army Group Rear Area. Outside the theater of operations it comes under the military commander (Wehrmachtbefehlshaber) in charge of the military administration of the occupied country. Usually controls several Feldkommandanturen. Identified in the 1-500 series.

(2) Hauptverbindungsstab—H.V.S. (chief liaison staff).—A special type of area command formerly found in Vichy territory. It did not have its own troops as did the Oberfeldkommandantur, but exerted its control through French prefects who carried out the orders of the military commander with French personnel. Each Hauptverbindungsstab controlled several Verbindungsstäbe (Liaison staffs). In September 1944 the Hauptverbindungsstäbe together with Oberfeldkommandanturen and Feldkommandanturen in southern France were converted into combat commands (Kampfkommandanturen) and placed under the jurisdiction of the 19th army.

(3) Wehrmachtkommandantur — Wehrm.Kdtr. (Armed Forces area headquarters).—Provincial administrative headquarters found in Denmark, Holland and Norway as well as in Germany. It controls not only the local administrative headquarters (Ortskommandanturen) but also garrison headquarters (Standortkommandanturen), which are either Army (Heeres-Standortkommandanturen), Navy (Marine-Standortkommandanturen) or Air Force garrison headquarters (Fliegerhorstkommandanturen). Sometimes Feldkommandanturen, Kreiskommandanturen and Ortskommandanturen are collectively designated as Wehrmachtkommandanturen if they have Army, Navy and Air Force personnel and responsibilities.

Wehrmachtkommandanturen carry no numbers but are named after the towns where their headquarters are located.

(4) Feldkommandantur—FK (administrative area headquarters of regimental status).—In charge of the military and domestic administration of a smaller area than the Oberfeldkommandantur and controls several district headquarters (Kreiskommandanturen). The Feldkommandantur has at its disposal local defense battalions, security battalions, military police (Feldgendarmarie), secret field police (Geheime Feldpolizei) and security police (Sicherheitspolizei) detachments. Identified in the 500 to 1000 series.

(5) Militärkommandantur—M.K. (military area command). Identified only in Italy. Numbered in the 1000 series.

(6) Kreiskommandantur — K.K. (district administrative headquarters of battalion status).—Controls rural districts in occupied countries. Identified in the 500-1000 series.

(7) Stadtkommandantur — S.K. (administrative city headquarters).—They are not numbered but are named after the cities they administer.

(8) Ortskommandantur — O.K. (local administrative headquarters of company status).—Sometimes called Platzkommandantur, abbreviated P.K. Its responsibility is to billet and feed troops and prisoners of war in transit. Identified in the series from 200 to 1000.

b. Local security units (Landesschützeneinheiten).

(1) Organization and employment.—These units are normally composed of infantrymen drawn from the Landwehr and Landsturm category (over 35 years of age) or younger service men temporarily or permanently classified as unfit for combat. They may be found in the German Army, Navy, Air Force and police.

Within the Zone of Interior the security and local defense units are normally employed for guard duty, for the protection of railway and river communications, and for guarding prisoner of war camps, supply depots, and parks.

In occupied countries they provide the main support for the military administration.

In the communications zone they usually secure the lines of communication and most local defense battalions and regiments appear converted into security battalions and regiments. Behind the Eastern front security battalions were largely employed in mopping up conquered territory in the wake of the German advance, but since early 1943 they have been identified in the front lines.

In the combat zone many local defense battalions have been converted into security battalions and frequently incorporated into newly formed infantry divisions.

The tactical unit is normally the battalion, controlled by a regimental staff or special administrative division staff (Div.Kdo.z.b.V.). In the East, however, the security battalions became organic parts of security divisions (Sicherungsdivisionen). Recently some local defense battalions have been converted into field replacement battalions (Feldersatzbataillone) or infantry battalions (Grenadierbataillone) of combat units.

The distinguishing color of security and local defense units is white. The personnel of local defense units wear a Latin "L" on their shoulder straps.

(2) Numbering system.—Security regiments and local defense regiments have different origins and different tables of organization and equipment. Some are numbered in the main infantry series, others are not. The following table is a key to their numbering system:

~~REDACTED~~

1. Series 1-10 took their numbers from guard regiments (Wachregimenter) converted into security regiments.
2. Series 11-189 normally indicates the corps area (Wehrkreis) from which the regiments originate. In two-digit numbers the first digit, and in the case of three-digit numbers the first two digits, give the corps area of origin. Assignments to other corps areas or security divisions, movements, and other changes have caused the affiliation of these security and local defense regiments with other corps areas without change in their numbering.
3. Series 190-200, formed early in 1944, used the gap in the numbering system caused by the fact that there is no nineteenth corps area (Wehrkreis).
4. Between 201 and 1010: These security regiments were mostly formed from remnants of infantry regiments and numbered in the main infantry series.

(b) The numbering of local defense, security and transport security battalions went through several stages just before and after the outbreak of the war:

On 1 April 1940 a block of 50 numbers beginning with the number 201, was allotted to the local defense battalions of each corps area according to the following scheme:

Wehrkreis	Series	Wehrkreis	Series
I.....	201-250	IX.....	601-650
II.....	251-300	X.....	651-700
III.....	301-350	XI.....	701-750
IV.....	351-400	XII.....	751-800
V.....	401-450	XIII.....	801-850
VI.....	451-500	XVII.....	851-900
VII.....	501-550	XVIII.....	901-950

Some local defense battalions were taken out of their corps area and permanently assigned to another corps area. After the French campaign other local defense battalions, assigned to German military administrative headquarters in France, Belgium, Holland, and other occupied countries, had their affiliation changed from one corps area to another without any corresponding change in their numbers.

In August 1943 some of the local defense battalions were converted into infantry battalions and their numbers transferred to the main infantry series.

A conversion of a local defense battalion into a security battalion, transport security battalion or fortress battalion normally does not change its number.

After the general mobilization in September and October 1944 new local defense battalions and security battalions, all numbered between 1000-1901, were activated by the various corps areas without any definite numbering system.

(3) Types of local security units:

(a) Landesschützenregiment — L.S.R. (Local defense regiment). Regimental staff controlling a varying number of local defense battalions. Local defense regiments for special areas (Landesschützenregimenter für besondere Gebiete or Landesschützenregimenter z.b.V.) are organized and equipped to combat partisans or other subversive elements in especially endangered areas. Within Germany the local defense regiments are controlled by special administrative division staffs (Div.Kdo z.b.V.) or directly by the respective corps area headquarters (Wehrkreiskommando). Outside Germany they are normally controlled by administrative area headquarters (Feldkommandanturen).

(b) Landesschützenbataillon — L.S.B. (Local defense battalion). The basic local defense unit of the German Army. They may be found in divisions for special employment (Div.z.b.V.), security divisions (Sicherungsdivisionen), frontier guard divisions (Grenzwachdivisionen), under rear area commanders, or administrative headquarters. They are used for guarding railways, installations, war factories, depots, etc. Recently, however, many local defense battalions have become integral parts of infantry divisions. Some local defense battalions are designated Landeschützenbataillone z.b.V. (local defense battalions for special employment), and others have the name Landeschützenbataillon Ost (local defense battalion East); others have the designation (B) for Bahnschutz (protection of railways).

Some local defense battalions are lettered instead of numbered, such as the local defense battalions A-H originating in Wehrkreis VI.

(c) Sicherungsbrigade (security brigade).—Independent brigade. Formerly controlled security units guarding the lines of communication in the East. No. 74 was recently identified in the forward area in the West.

(d) Sicherungsregiment — Sich.Rgt. (security regiment). Local defense regiments (Landeschützenregimenter), transferred to the field, have usually been converted into security regiments and used for line of communication duties. Their personnel often includes a number of Osttruppen.

On the eastern front most security regiments became parts of security divisions. After Stalingrad they were used for combat purposes and now most of them are out of action or disbanded. Some still exist as staffs.

In the West the local defense regimental staffs were reorganized as regular security regiments having three to four security battalions, and a 13th and 14th company. Identified in the series 1-1010.

- (e) Sicherungs bataillon — Sich.Btl. (security battalion). Rear area troops securing the lines of communication. Identified in the 1-1900 series.

The security battalions normally wear a Latin "S" on their shoulder straps. It is probable that the converted local defense battalions now also wear the "S" normal to security units in view of their reorganization.

- (f) Transportsicherungsregiment — Trsp.Sich.Rgt. (transport security regiment). Formerly called Transportbegleitregiment. Regimental staff controlling several transport security battalions. Subordinate to transport headquarters (Transportkommandanturen, Wehrmachttransportleitungen). Their function is to escort and protect rail convoys. They carry the name of the city in which they operate; identified in Berlin, Breslau, Düsseldorf, Hamburg, Königsberg, Posen, Krakau, and Wien. Transport security regiment Wien has the designation Transportsicherungsregiment z.b.V. and has its own organic battalions.

- (g) Transportsicherungs bataillon — Trsp.Sich.Btl. (transport security battalion). Between 40 and 50 local defense battalions were converted to transport escort battalions (Transportbegleitbataillone) in 1942. Their designation was changed to transport security battalions (Transportsicherungs bataillone) in March 1943. They escort trains and protect military equipment and rations transports by railway or on rivers from attack. The transport security battalions are split up into transport security detachments (Transportsicherungskommandos).

- (h) Grenzwach bataillon — Grz.W.Btl. (frontier guard battalion). Guards a subsector (Grenzwachtunterabschnitt) of a frontier e.g. in Wehrkreis XVIII.

~~RESTRICTION~~

Subordinated to the sector command (Grenzschutzabschnittskommando) with which it is connected by the frontier guard signal company (Grenzschnitznachrichtenkompanie). These units are reinforced by the frontier guard service (Verstärkter Grenzaufsichtsdienst or VGAD).

The frontier guard companies have Arabic numbers followed by the number of the corps area. The frontier guard battalions are usually lettered.

(i) Heimattwachbataillon (home guard battalion). Normally is another designation for Landesschnitzbataillon (local defense battalion), but also applied to bridge guard battalions (Brückenwachbataillone) and railway station guard battalions (Bahnhofs-wachabteilungen). Identified in the 1-100 series.

(j) Standortbataillon (garrison battalion). Functions as a security and supply battalion. Sometimes designated Standortzbataillon z.b.V. (garrison battalion for special employment) and used for supply purposes. Its headquarters company (Stabskompanie) is called Verfügungskompanie (special employment company).

(k) Verfügungsbataillon (special employment battalion). Static garrison battalion at the disposal of a local commander for special tasks such as maintenance. These and the garrison battalions are not numbered but named after the garrison where they are stationed.

c. Native security units (Landeseigene Sicherungsverbände). Units formed by the native population for the maintenance of order and security within a specified area. Formed principally in the Baltic States, White Russia, and the Ukraine in 1943. Mostly disbanded.

d. Prisoner of war administration units.

(1) In the theater of operations.—The following units handle prisoners of war from the time of their capture to the time of their delivery to the zone of the interior:

(a) Heeres — or Armeegefangenensammelstelle (army group or army prisoner of war enclosure).

(b) Kommandeur der Kriegsgefangenen (prisoner of war command staff).

(c) Kriegsgefangenenbezirkskommandant (district commander of prisoners of war).

(d) Kriegsgefangenenfrontstammlager (Frontstalag) (forward area prisoner of war camp).

(e) Kriegsgefangenenenddurchgangslager (Dulag) (prisoner of war transit camp).

(2) In the Zone of the Interior.—Prisoner of war camps located in a Wehrkreis normally carry the Roman numeral of the Wehrkreis followed by a letter of the alphabet (e.g. Stalag XXI A). Others are numbered serially.

(a) Kriegsgefangenenoffizierslager (Oflag) (camp for officer prisoners of war). Numbered by Wehrkreise and in the 1-100 series.

(b) Kriegsgefangenestammlager (Stalag) (camp for enlisted prisoners of war). Numbered by Wehrkreise and in the 300 series.

e. Secret field police (Geheime Feldpolizei). Designed to combat any subversive activities within the Armed Forces. Groups (Gruppen) are assigned to Army or Air Force higher headquarters. They work in close cooperation with, and include members of the SS-Sicherheitsdienst and the Geheime Staatspolizei (Gestapo). Normally one Gruppe to an army and one or more attached to the military administration of each occupied country. There is no indication that they are associated with the military police (Feldgendarmarie). Identified in the 1-100, 100, 500, 600, and 700 series.

letters in yellow on their epaulettes. Sometimes the personnel wear civilian clothing or the uniform of another arm.)

8. MISCELLANEOUS TROOPS AND UNITS (Weitere Truppen und Dienststellen).

Certain units cannot be classified as combat, service, or security troops. They have special assignments and although belonging to the Field Army, are often subordinated to territorial commanders inside and outside Germany. Four main categories may be distinguished: transportation offices (Transportdienststellen), welfare and patrol units (Betreuungseinheiten und Streifendienste), front collecting and forwarding units (Frontsammel- und Frontleitstellen), and signal units (Nachrichtentruppen).

a. Transportation offices.

(1) Transportkommandantur (Transportation staff).—Regional liaison office of the Armed Forces with the German State Railway (Deutsche Reichsbahn). This office handles priorities on freight and the allocation of railroad cars.

(2) Bahnhofskommandantur I and II (railway station headquarters I and II).—I is a station headquarters at an important station; II is at a smaller station and may be found referred to as both Bahnhofsoffizier or Bahnhofskommandant.

b. Welfare and patrol units. Since 1 March 1944 these units have been Armed Forces and not Army formations. This endowed the patrol units with authority but changed little in their composition. At the time of the change the old T/O's were out by 10%. The Army was to furnish 70% of the personnel and equipment. Those units whose title carried the prefix Heeres are believed to have changed it to Wehrmacht. Many, however, had no prefix and will be given with their old designation.

~~RESTRICTED~~

(1) Welfare units (Betreuungseinheiten).

(a) Wehrmachtbetreuungsabteilung (Armed Forces Welfare battalion).—Numbers 1 and 6 have been identified.

(b) Wehrmachtbetreuungskompanie (E) (Armed Forces delousing company).—Formerly called Entlausungskompanie.

(c) Betreuungshelferinnenabteilung (Women's auxiliary welfare battalion).

(d) Eisenbahnküchenwagenabteilung (railway kitchen car battalion).—Numbers 1, 2, and 3 have been identified.

(e) Eisenbahnverpflegungszug (railway ration supply train).

(f) Bekleidungsinstandsetzungseisenbahnzug (mobile tailor shop on rails).

(2) Patrol units (Streifendienste).

(a) Kommandeur des Streifendienstes (Armed Forces patrol command staff).—Supervises Armed Forces patrols (Wehrmachtstreifen) in a Wehrkreis or in an army rear area. These patrols are formed from picked officers and noncommissioned officers of all branches of the Armed Forces. Their authority exceeds that of ordinary military police (see page 67).

(b) Streifenabteilung (Armed Forces patrol battalion).

(c) Streifenkompanie (Armed Forces patrol company).

(d) Kommandeur für Urlaubüberwachung (furlough supervision command staff).

(e) Urlaubersammelkompanie (assembly company for soldiers on furlough).—Collects soldiers on furlough who are urgently needed at the front.

(f) Zugwachkompanie z.b.V. (railway guard company for special employment).—Identified in the 500 series.

c. Front collecting and forwarding units (Frontsammel- und Frontleitstellen).

(1) Frontleitstelle (front directing office).—Handles the movement of troops to and from the front. Nos. 19, 29, 49, 50, and 59 have been identified in Italy.

(2) Frontleitnebenstelle (auxiliary front directing office).—Identified in the 100 series.

(3) Weiterleitungsstelle (forwarding office).—Redirects supplies from the home front.

d. Signal Units (Nachrichteneinheiten). In August 1944, some signal units, previously classified as combat troops were reclassified as miscellaneous. They include all signal equipment parks and depots (Nachrichten-Parke und Nachrichtengerätlager), all signal units which are attached to territorial commands (Wehrmacht- und Militärbefehlshaber) or which are employed permanently in the Zone of the Interior (Heimatkriegsgebiet), all fortress signal units (Festungsnachrichteneinheiten), and all armed forces and field signal command staffs (Wehrmacht- und Feld-Nachrichtenkommandanturen).

For detailed description of signal units, see page 55.

9. SPECIAL UNITS

a. Intelligence and sabotage units.

(1) Brandenburg Division.—This is no longer a special unit but a Panzer Grenadier division. See Brandenburg division 800. Its intelligence and sabotage functions have been taken over by the SS (see page 99).

(2) Küstenjäger-Abteilung (Coastal raiding battalion).—Also referred to as Brandenburg-Küstanjägerabteilung 800. The connection with the Brandenburg division is, however, purely historical. This unit was formed to land supplies on German-held islands in the Mediterranean and the Adriatic and to harass personnel on enemy-held islands by surprise assault landings. Last identified in spring 1944.

(3) Frontaufklärungskommando (counterintelligence detachment).—Composed of small raiding sections (Frontauf- klärungsstruppen) which may operate independently. Identified in the 100 series. Formerly called Abwehrkommandos.

b. Eastern units (Osttruppen). During the advance into the Caucasus in the summer of 1942, partly for propaganda purposes and partly in order to provide a nucleus of German-trained native troops for the eventual setting up of separate régimes for the various nationalities of the Soviet Union, the Germans brought pressure to bear on all non-Russian Red Army prisoners of war to join the German Army. The men enlisted in this manner were carefully segregated according to language and formed into infantry battalions which were numbered in the series 781-843. All the battalions of each nationality were grouped for training and administrative purposes in a Legion (Armenische Legion, Aserbaidshanische Legion, Georgische Legion, Legion der Wolgatataren, Turkestanische Legion, Nordkaukasische Legion.) In 1943 shortage of manpower caused the Germans to increase the number of battalions to about two hundred, numbered between 401 and 900; these included a number of Ostbataillone formed from Russian and Ukrainian PW who had previously been employed as labor troops.

It was decided to use the Osttruppen for combat duty and the bulk of them were transferred to the west, where any who might be willing to fight were less likely to be deterred by fear of reprisals. Early in 1944 most of the Ostbataillone were embodied in regular German regiments as third or fourth battalions. In July and August large numbers of Soviet PW escaped to the Allied lines and many were shot in the attempt. Most of the remaining battalions have been broken up and the personnel assigned to labor units.

c. Penal units (Strafeinheiten).

(1) Feldsonderbataillon (Special field battalion).—There is only one Feldsonderbataillon. It is a penal unit for soldiers who because of serious or repeated misconduct have been declared "wehrunwürdig" (unworthy of serving as soldiers). They remain in this unit for no longer than six months performing dangerous jobs like clearing mine fields, normally without the benefit of weapons.

(2) Bewährungsbataillon (Rehabilitation battalion).—This is a penal unit for soldiers whose court martial sentence (of usually not less than six months) has been suspended to give them an opportunity to redeem themselves at the front. In order to belong to this type of unit the men must still be "wehrwürdig" (worthy of serving as a soldier). Numbers 500 and 540 have been identified during 1944, both of them in the East. (Division 999 seems to fulfill this function in the West.)

(3) Feldstrafgefangenabteilung (Field penal battalion).—For convicts serving more than three months (shorter sentences are served in Strafvollzugszüge) and especially for soldiers who during the suspension of their sentence did not redeem themselves in rehabilitation battalions. Civilians under a suspended sentence who misbehave during their probation period may also find their way into this type of unit. While it resembles the Feldsonderbataillon in many respects, it is more severe and on equal level with the Armed Forces prisons (Wehrmacht-Gefängnis).

(4) Feldstraflager (Field penal camp).—Like the Feldstrafgefangenenabteilung and the Feldsonderbataillon part of the Fechtende Truppen (combat troops). Soldiers, who, while serving a penal sentence, appear incorrigible, are sent to this unit.

d. Unique units.

(1) Führerbegleitbrigade (Führer's Escort Brigade).—This unit grew out of the Führerbegleitbataillon (Führer's escort battalion) between July and November 1944. Grenadierbataillon 928 z.b.V. (an upgraded Landeschützenbataillon)

lon) and Grenadierbataillon 929 helped form this brigade which is under command of Colonel REMER. It consists of three Panzer Grenadier battalions, a Flak battalion, a Panzer regiment (containing one assault gun battalion), an artillery battalion, a reconnaissance company, a field replacement battalion, and services. The entire brigade (except for a few antiaircraft batteries) was committed to action in the Ardennes in December 1944 where it suffered heavy losses.

(2) Führergrenadierbrigade (Führer's Infantry Brigade).—This unit is said to have been formed in the winter of 1943/44 at which time a Führergrenadierbataillon was known. It consists of two Panzer Grenadier battalions (one motorized, and one on armored carriers), a tank battalion equipped with Mark V's, an assault gun battalion, and possibly a Flak battalion. This brigade, which is tactically independent, took part in the Ardennes offensive in December 1944.

(3) Führernachrichtenabteilung (Führer's Signal Battalion).—This is a motorized signal battalion at the disposal of HITLER. It was probably created in June 1944. Present location unknown.

(4) Führerluftnachrichtenabteilung (Führer's Air Signal Battalion).—Part of this unit is said to be stationed at Berchtesgaden.

(5) Versuchsbataillon (experimental battalion).—A unit in an experimental stage, normally renamed before joining the Field Army.

(6) Feldjägereinheiten (Special field police units).—Created in June 1944 as a super-military police organization whose main functions are to collect stragglers, to apprehend deserters, to form battle groups, to send men to maneuver areas (Truppenübungsplätze), and to perform any other functions necessary for the maintenance of order. It is noteworthy that Feldjäger have disciplinary powers far exceeding their rank.

~~RESTRICTED~~

Feldjäger may be distinguished by a red armband (Ringkragen) marked OKW-Feldjäger and by a special pass.

(a) Feldjägerregiment — Feld-Jäg.Rgt. (special field police regiment).—Consists of five battalions of about 30 officers and 90 enlisted men each. The battalions are further subdivided into patrols (Streifen). Three regiments are believed to exist. Numbers 1 and 3 have been identified.

(b) Feldjägerkommando — Feldjäg.Kdo. (special field police command staff).—Controls Feldjäger units. The commander of the staff has the disciplinary powers of an army commander and is responsible directly to the Chief of the Armed Forces High Command (Chef OKW).

A Feldjägerkommando z.b.V. has been identified.

10. AIR FORCE GROUND UNITS

a. Antiaircraft artillery units (Flakeinheiten).

(1) Introduction.—The great bulk of antiaircraft artillery units found cooperating with the Army ground forces belongs to the Air Force and is known as Flak, in contrast to Army antiaircraft artillery (Heeresflak) (see page 38) and antiaircraft machine-gun battalions (Fla-Bataillone) (see page 29). It should always be remembered that all Flak weapons can be used for both antiaircraft and anti-tank purposes; Flak units are therefore commonly used against ground targets such as tanks, pillboxes, and personnel.

(2) Categories.—Flak units may be divided according to their mobility into three categories:

(o) ortsfest (static)

(v) verlegefähig (with prime movers)

(mot) motorisiert (motorized).

The static units of this type should not be confused with the static units in the zone of the interior which are controlled by static regimental staffs (Flakgruppen) and static battalion staffs (Flakuntergruppen).

(3) Cooperation with ground forces.—Air Force antiaircraft units operating with Army ground forces are subordinated operationally to the army units to which they are attached, but administratively (for replacement, etc.) to a parent Air Force ground unit.

The tactical unit is the battalion and not the regiment. In action, whether regimental or independent, battalions operate rarely under a regimental staff carrying the same number. All antiaircraft artillery found cooperating with Army ground forces is fully motorized. It is equipped for cross-country operation when used with the spearhead of an attack.

Allotment of units varies according to operational needs, but an army corps normally has a Flak regiment, an army division a Flak battalion attached to it during operations.

(4) Numbering system.—All Flak units are numbered in the following series: 1-99, 100-999, 1000-1200; 10,000 and above. The series may be grouped as follows:

1-69: Flak Regiments.

71-99: Light Flak battalions and regimental staffs.

100-1,000: All types of Flak units.

1,000-13,400: Flak battalions except 1,015 which is a regiment.

The first two groups were formed before mobilization. The third group was formed on or shortly after mobilization. The fourth group represents recent formations.

(4) Types of units.

Divisional Units

(a) Flakregiment — Flak-Rgt. (antiaircraft artillery regiment).—Normally three to a Flak division in addition to one searchlight regiment. Composed of one balloon barrage battalion (Ballonsperrabteilung), one light Flak battalion, and two heavy Flak battalions.

(b) Flakabteilung — Flak-Abt. (antiaircraft artillery battalion).—Normally two heavy and one light battalion to a Flak regiment. Also found independently in the GHQ pool. The following types exist:

~~Flakregiment~~

1. Schwere Flakabteilung—schw.Flak-Abt. (heavy anti-aircraft artillery battalion).—Normally consists of three to four heavy batteries.
2. Gemischte Flakabteilung — gem.Flak-Abt. (mixed anti-aircraft artillery battalion).—Normally consists of three heavy and two light batteries.
3. Leichte Flakabteilung—le.Flak-Abt. (light anti-aircraft artillery battalion).—Normally consists of four light batteries.

(c) Flakbatterie—Flak-Bttr. (heavy anti-aircraft artillery battery).—Normally four to a Flak battalion (Flakabteilung). The following types exist:

1. Schwere Flakbatterie—schw.Flak-Bttr. (heavy anti-aircraft artillery battery).—Normally has four to six heavy anti-aircraft guns (usually 88mm, sometimes 150mm) and two or three light anti-aircraft guns.
2. Leichte Flakbatterie—le.Flak-Bttr. (light anti-aircraft artillery battery).—Normally has nine light anti-aircraft guns (usually 20mm, sometimes 37mm) and three Flakvierlinge (four-barreled light anti-aircraft guns).

(d) Flakscheinwerferregiment—Flak-Scheinw.Rgt. (Flak searchlight regiment).—Normally one to a Flak division. Composed of four searchlight battalions (Flakscheinwerferabteilungen).

(e) Flakscheinwerferabteilung—Flak-Scheinw.Abt. (Flak searchlight battalion).—Normally three to a Flakscheinwerferregiment. Consists of four batteries each of which usually has nine 150 cm searchlights (some may have been replaced by 200 cm searchlights). Independent searchlight battalions may be found in the GHQ pool.

(f) Ballonsperrabteilung—Ball.Sp.Abt. (balloon barrage battalion).—Normally one to a Flak regiment.

~~SECRET~~

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Flakbrigade—Flak-Brig. (antiaircraft artillery brigade).—Independent brigade, attached to army units. No. 22 has been identified.

(2) Flak-Sturmregiment — Flak-St.Rgt. (Flak assault regiment).—A staff controlling Flak battalions mainly in the 10,000, 11,000, 12,000 and 13,000 series. These battalions, basically not different from other Flak battalions, are organized into battle detachments (Flakkampftrupps) and used as assault and antitank troops. Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4 have been identified.

(3) Eisenbahnflakregiment — Eisb.Flak-Rgt. (railway antiaircraft artillery regiment).

(4) Flakeisenbahntransportabteilung — Flak-Eisb.Trsp. Abt. (antiaircraft railway transport battalion).—Possibly train set aside for the transport of Flak units.

(5) Turmflakabteilung—Turmflak-Abt. (Tower antiaircraft battalion).—Static antiaircraft battalions firing from special towers for the protection of cities and vital installations.

b. Parachute units (Fallschirmeinheiten). The following are the principal types of parachute units:

Divisional Units

(1) Fallschirmjägerregiment (Parachute regiment).—Usually three to a parachute division (Fallschirmdivision). Normally composed of three parachute battalions, a thirteenth (light gun or 120 mm mortar) company, and a fourteenth (antitank company). Numbers 1-21 identified.

(2) Fallschirmjägerbataillon (parachute battalion).—Normally three to a parachute regiment (Fallschirmjägerregiment). Composed of three light and one heavy companies.

(3) Fallschirmjägerkompanie (parachute company).—Usually three to a parachute battalion (Fallschirmjägerbataillon). Has 20 light machine guns and three 81 mm mortars.

REMARKS

(4) Schwere Fallschirmjägerkompanie (heavy parachute company).—Usually one to a parachute battalion. Has eight heavy machine guns, two light machine guns, four 81 mm mortars and two 75 mm light (parachute) guns.

(5) Fallschirmgranatwerferkompanie (parachute mortar company).—Normally found as the thirteenth company in a parachute regiment. Has nine light machine guns and twelve 120 mm mortars.

(6) Fallschirmpanzerserstörerkompanie (parachute anti-tank company).—Found as the fourteenth company of a parachute regiment. Has three 75 mm antitank guns and 54 bazookas.

(7) Fallschirmaufklärungskompanie (parachute reconnaissance company).—Normally one to a division.

(8) Fallschirmmaschinengewehrbataillon (parachute machine gun battalion).—Consists of four companies. Not identified since late 1943 and its personnel may have been absorbed by other parachute units.

(9) Fallschirmartillerieregiment (parachute artillery regiment).—Found as divisional artillery in a parachute division. Normally composed of three battalions.

(10) Fallschirmartillerieabteilung (parachute artillery battalion).—Normally three to a parachute artillery regiment. Equipped principally with 105 mm guns or gun howitzers but may have light recoilless guns and standard field artillery pieces. Parachute corps artillery battalions (Fallschirmkorpsartillerieabteilungen) may exist; one has been identified.

(11) Fallschirmpionierbataillon (parachute engineer battalion).—Normally one to a parachute division. Composed of three parachute engineer companies (Fallschirmpionierkompanien).

(12) Fallschirmpionierkompanie (parachute engineer company).—Normally three to a parachute engineer battalion.

RESTRICTED

(13) Fallschirmnachrichtenabteilung (parachute signal battalion).—Normally one to a parachute division. Composed of a telephone company, a radio company, and a light signals column. Parachute corps signal battalions (Fallschirmkorpsnachrichtenabteilungen) are believed to exist; one has been identified. They differ, however, in composition from the divisional signal battalion by including a telephone platoon and a telephone construction company.

(14) Fallschirmpanzerjägerabteilung (parachute anti-tank battalion).—Normally one to a parachute division. Composed of three parachute antitank companies.

(15) Fallschirmpanzerjägerkompanie (parachute anti-tank company).—Normally three to a parachute antitank battalion. Equipped with 75 mm antitank guns.

(16) Fallschirmflakregiment (parachute antiaircraft artillery regiment).—Identified in the Hermann Göring Fallschirm-Panzer-Division. May also exist in the GHQ pool.

(17) Fallschirmflakabteilung (parachute antiaircraft artillery battalion).—Found in parachute divisions. Consists of two to three heavy companies (88 mm AA/AT guns) and one or two light companies (20 mm or 37 mm AA/AT guns).

(18) Fallschirmkraftfahrkompanie (parachute motor transport company).—Found as an organic supply unit in some parachute divisions. Numbers 51 and 52 have been identified.

(19) Fallschirmsanitätsabteilung (parachute medical battalion).—Normally one to a parachute division. Composed of two medical companies, a field hospital, and a light medical column.

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Fallschirmsturmgeschützbrigade (parachute assault-gun brigade).—Numbers 1, 11 and 12 have been identified.

(2) Fallschirmsturmgeschützabteilung — Fallsch.Stu.-

~~XXXXXXXXXX~~

Gesch.Abt. (Parachute assault gun battalion).—Component of a parachute assault gun brigade (Fallschirmsturmgeschützbrigade).

(3) Fallschirmgranatwerferbataillon (parachute mortar battalion).—Reported to consist of three mortar companies each equipped with 12 to 14-120 mm mortars. May also be found as an organic unit of a parachute division, in which case it consists of three thirteenth (mortar) companies of parachute regiments organized into a battalion.

c. Air Force ground combat units. The following are the types of units in the Air Force field divisions (Luftwaffenfelddivisionen). Their organization and purpose is similar to that of the corresponding Army units described in the previous paragraphs of this section. The Air Force field divisions (Luftwaffenfelddivisionen) have all been either disbanded or taken over by the infantry arm of the Army.

Divisional Units

- (1) Luftwaffenjägerregiment (Air Force light infantry field regiment).
- (2) Artillerieregiment (artillery regiment).
- (3) Flakabteilung (antiaircraft artillery battalion).
- (4) Füsilierbataillon (Füsilier battalion).
- (5) Panzerjägerabteilung (antitank battalion).
- (6) Pionierbataillon (engineer battalion).
- (7) Nachrichtenabteilung (signal battalion).
- (8) Nachschub (divisional rear services).

Non-Divisional Units

(1) Luftwaffe-Festungsbataillon (Air Force fortress battalion).—Units formed in the middle of 1944 for the defense of the West Wall where some of them were identified. In September 1944, they were taken over by the Army. New ones were formed under the supervision and with the aid of infantry replacement regimental staffs. They retained, however, their old designation and numbering system. Identified in the 1-100 series.

~~RESTRICTED~~

(2) Luftwaffe-Jägerbataillon z.b.V. — Lw.Jäg.Btl.z.b.V. (Air Force infantry battalion for special employment).—A rehabilitation unit for Air Force personnel sentenced to 8-24 months in prison whose sentence was suspended and for soldiers who have completed a prison term but wish to regain their honor before the enemy. Numbers 3, 4, 7, 8, and 9 have been identified. Some of these battalions have been absorbed by parachute divisions.

Luftwaffe-Feldbataillon z.b.V. 100 has also been identified.

(3) Luftwaffe-Bewährungsbataillon (Air Force rehabilitation battalion).—Also referred to as Luftwaffebewährungsbataillon z.b.V. Since members of the unit are said to be all ex-convicts of Luftflotte 4, it is likely that this is a penal battalion for flying personnel of the German Air Force.

(4) Luftwaffenlandesschützeinheiten (Air Force local defense units).—Similar in character to Army local defense units (see page 73). Specialize in guarding airfields. Distinguished from the corresponding Army units in that they carry an Arabic serial number followed by the Roman numeral of the parent air corps area (Luftgau).

11. SS UNITS

a. Higher headquarters.

(1) High Command of the Waffen-SS.—The high command of the Waffen-SS is the Field Command post of the Reichsführer SS (Feldkommandostelle RF-SS).

(2) Armies.—An SS Panzer Army was formed in autumn 1944. It may control other than Waffen-SS units in addition to its two SS Panzer Corps.

(3) Corps.—Thirteen SS Panzer, mountain, and infantry corps have been identified. They may control Waffen-SS units only, or a combination of Waffen-SS and Army units, or even Army units alone. SS corps have component supply and service units. In addition, they may have units of the type normally found in Army GHQ pools.

(4) Divisions.

(a) Types of divisions.—Thirty-one SS Divisions have been identified. One or two more may be in the process of formation. The types of divisions conform in general with those of the Army. Long believed to enjoy special privileges in their strength and equipment, this may now apply only to a few crack divisions. The Waffen-SS contains at least two cavalry divisions. Divisions containing a high percentage of racial Germans (Volksdeutsche) and Germanic volunteers (Germanische Freiwillige, i.e. Scandinavians, Dutch, Flemings, Walloons, and French) carry the designation "Freiwilligen-" as part of their name. Divisions containing a preponderance of non-Germans, especially members of the Slavic and Balkan peoples, carry the designation "Waffen-" as part of their name. SS divisions are numbered consecutively, in the order in which they were formed or activated. Most divisions have also names. One division is identified by its name only.

1. SS-Infanteriedivision (SS infantry division).—Organization identical with that of infantry division "Type 1944", except that it has an antiaircraft artillery battalion (SS-Flakabteilung) and a victualling battalion (SS-Wirtschaftsbataillon) organically assigned to it.
 2. SS-Gebirgsdivision (SS mountain division).—Differs from the Army mountain division in that it has an organic tank company (SS-Panzerkompanie) or assault-gun company (SS-Sturmgeschützkompanie), as well as an antiaircraft artillery battalion and a victualling battalion (SS-Wirtschaftsbataillon). Its infantry regiments are normally stronger than Army mountain infantry regiments.
 3. SS-Panzergranadierdivision (SS Panzer Grenadier division).—Organization identical with that of regular Panzer Grenadier divisions except that its Panzer Grenadier regiments consist of 15 companies (as compared to 14 in regular Panzer Grenadier regiments) through the addition of a regimental anti-aircraft machine-gun company (SS-Flakkompanie). These divisions also have an anti-aircraft artillery battalion and a victualling battalion (SS-Wirtschaftsbataillon).

4. SS-Panzerdivision (SS-Panzer division).—Its Panzer Grenadier regiments have 15 companies (as compared to Panzer Grenadier regiments in regular Army Panzer divisions which have only 10), its tank regiment is stronger than that in an Army Panzer division, its engineer battalion has 2 bridging columns (only one in Army divisions), and it has an anti-aircraft battalion as well as a victualling battalion (SS-Wirtschaftsbataillon) and a projector battalion (SS-Werferabteilung) as organic components.
 5. SS-Kavalleriedivision (SS Cavalry Division).—Consists normally of 2 brigades. Each brigade has 2 regiments of 2 battalions. The division has a weak artillery regiment and the usual supporting units.
- (b) Numbering of divisional units.
1. SS Panzer Grenadier regiments (SS-Panzergrenadierregimenter), SS mountain infantry regiments (SS-Gebirgsjägerregimenter), regular SS infantry regiments (SS-Grenadierregimenter) and SS cavalry regiments (SS-Kavallerieregimenter) are all numbered in one consecutive series. They have been identified in the series 1-80. Many have names in addition to their numbers.
 2. Panzer and artillery regiments carry the same number as their division. They are often mentioned without their numbers, but with their division's name or as a regiment of their division (i.e., Art. Rgt. "Hohenstaufen", or Art.Rgt.SS-Pz.Div. "Hohenstaufen").
- [REDACTED]

3. Divisional battalions carry the same number as their division. One SS Panzer battalion (SS-Panzerabteilung) has a name in addition to its number.
4. Auxiliary units of SS divisions normally carry the number of their division but may also be identified as a unit of their division, similar to Panzer and artillery regiments.

(5) Brigades—SS brigades have appeared at various times. Some of these were temporary units, containing two battalions of infantry or Panzer Grenadiers and including an artillery battalion. None of these low strength units are, at present, identified. SS brigades containing two regiments of infantry or Panzer Grenadiers and an artillery regiment constituted a regular series of brigades. Seven such units have been identified, numbered in the order of their formation from 1 to 7. All these have been upgraded to divisional status, except the "Nederland" brigade, which carries the number four. At present, two other brigades are known to exist. One has been identified with a number of the series mentioned above and belonging formerly to one of the upgraded units. The other brigade has been identified by its name only.

Artillery regiments and other auxiliary units of the original brigades numbered from one to seven carry the number of their brigade plus fifty.

b. Non-Divisional units.

(1) All SS corps have certain service and security units. These include a signal battalion, a medical battalion, an MP company, a victualling battalion, and a security company. Some SS corps have, in addition, other units designed for the immediate use of the corps itself, rather than for detachment to divisions.

(2) Some SS corps have units of the various types normally found in Army GHQ pools. The variety of types and the number of such units differs from one SS corps to another.

~~RESTRICTED~~

The numbering system of all these corps units changed in 1944. They carried the number of their corps plus 100 in the summer of 1944, whereas the same units now carry the number of their corps plus 500.

(3) In addition to corps units of the type normally found in Army GHQ pools such units are believed to exist without any connection to SS corps. The units bearing the number 500 are believed to be of this type.

The numbering system of the non-divisional units may cause some confusion since other types of SS units have been identified with numbers of the 500 series. These include several SS-Jägerbataillone and a Panzergrenadierbataillon 506, which is attached to the 6th SS division.

c. Divisional units. Divisional units of the Waffen-SS correspond normally to those of the Army. Noteworthy are the following exceptions:

(1) SS-Panzergrenadierregiment—SS-PGR (SS Panzer Grenadier regiment).—Has 15 companies and is a component part not only of SS Panzer divisions but also of SS Panzer Grenadier divisions.

(2) SS-Fla-Kompanie (SS antiaircraft machine-gun company).—Is the 15th company of the SS Panzer Grenadier regiment.

(3) SS-Gebirgsjägerregiment — SS-Geb.Jäg.Rgt. (SS mountain infantry regiment).—In the SS mountain division is normally stronger than an Army mountain infantry regiment.

(4) SS-Panzerregiment—SS-Pz.Rgt. (SS Panzer regiment).—In the SS Panzer division is stronger than that of an Army Panzer division.

(5) SS-Panzerpionierbataillon—SS-Pz.Pi.Btl. (SS Panzer engineer battalion).—In the SS Panzer division has 2 bridging columns.

(6) SS-Sturmgeschützabteilung—SS-Stu.G.Abt. (SS assault gun battalion).—Normally takes the place of the Panzerjägerabteilung in the SS Panzer Grenadier division.

████████████████████

May also occur in addition to the latter in the SS Panzer division.

(7) SS-Flakabteilung (SS antiaircraft artillery battalion).—Is an organic component of every SS division.

(8) SS-Werferabteilung (SS projector battalion).—Is an organic component of every SS Panzer division.

(9) SS-Panzerinstandsetzungsabteilung—SS-Pz.Inst.Abt. (SS tank repair battalion).—Is an organic component of every SS Panzer division.

(10) SS-Wirtschaftsbataillon—SS-Wi.Btl. (SS victualing battalion).—Handles food supply in every SS division.

(11) SS-Panzerkompanie (SS Panzer company).—Is an organic component of every SS mountain division which has no assault gun company.

(12) SS-Sturmgeschützkompanie — SS-Stu.Gesch.Komp. (SS assault gun company).—Is an organic component of every SS mountain division which has no Panzer company.

d. Intelligence and sabotage units.

(1) General.—The organization and employment of such units of the Waffen-SS is closely linked to the activities of the Security Service—SD (Sicherheitsdienst). The latter took over most of the Abwehr (Army intelligence service) in 1944. Identified SS intelligence and sabotage units in the field were of temporary nature.

(2) SS-Jagdverbände.—This organization was formed in October 1944 from the SS-Jägerbataillone and from elements of the Brandenburg division, whose intelligence and sabotage functions it took over. The development of the organization dates back to the rescue of Mussolini, which was organized by the present commander of the SS-Jagdverbände SS-Ostbf. Otto Skorzeny. The latter expanded the unit used in the rescue mission to an SS-Fallschirmjägerbataillon which was committed in daring raids in Yugoslavia. Subsequently a special drive was organized to select specially qualified members of the Army and the Waffen-SS for hazardous duty. These were incorporated into units known as SS-Jägerbataillone.

At present, units of the SS-Jagdverbände are believed to be employed as Gruppen (groups), which are identified by a capital letter (e.g. "B"). Their mission is described as follows: reconnaissance, sabotage, parachuting of agents, and political assassination.

e. Guard and security units.

(1) SS-Wachbataillone (SS guard battalions).—These guard important SS installations. They are numbered 1-6; the fifth was disbanded in October 1944.

(2) SS-Bahnschutz (SS railroad security service).—Detachments of this organization of the Waffen-SS guard railroad installations.

(3) SS-Postschutz (SS postal security service).—The Waffen-SS took this service over from the Reich Post Ministry. Its mission is not only guarding of postal installations but also supplying transportation of the type usually run by the postal system in Germany.

(4) SS-Kraftfahrstaffel-(Waffen-SS) Fronthilfe Deutsche Reichspost (SS motor transport unit, front aid German Reich Post).—This organization provides transportation within the framework of the SS-Postschutz. One regiment has been identified. This consists of five Kraftfahrabteilungen (motor transport battalions) numbered from one to five. Each battalion has 3 companies and a repair shop. They have their own busses and trucks. Personnel consists mainly of former members of the Reich postal transport service. Each battalion has, in addition, several security platoons (Sicherungszüge).

(5) Landstorm Nederland.—This organization of the Waffen-SS consists of Dutch volunteers, many of whom have signed up for only a one year period. The members received extensive military training. Many have returned to civilian life while forming an active reserve for this or-

Section II. UNIT HISTORIES

12. Introduction

This section consists of a catalogue of large German units, from army groups down to divisions, with their commanders, composition, home stations, and a chronology of pertinent data regarding their locations, conversions, engagements participated in, and events or circumstances having a bearing on their character or combat value. Last locations and commanders are those believed valid at approximately the end of January 1945, but it should be remembered that these are subject to frequent change.

All the divisions in the main numerical series are treated together in paragraph 16, but for Panzer Grenadier and Jäger divisions the entry consists only of a cross-reference to paragraphs 18 and 19, where all divisions of these special types are dealt with together. The special numerical series for the Panzer and mountain divisions are given separately in paragraphs 17 and 20, while parachute and Air Force field divisions are listed in paragraphs 21 and 22 respectively. All large units of the Waffen-SS, including armies, corps, and brigades as well as divisions, are discussed separately in paragraph 23.

Units which have been disbanded are nevertheless listed, with any historical material still of possible significance regarding them. All such units, as well as those which have been converted to other types or renumbered, are shown in parentheses.

13. Army Groups

Army Group Kurland (Formerly ARMY GROUP NORTH)

Commander:

Ia:

Formed as Army Group North at the time of the initial attack on the USSR in 1941 to control the armies advancing into the Baltic States. Subsequently in charge of operations in the Leningrad and Lake Ilmen areas. In January 1944 withdrew to the Narva River-Lake Peipus line, and in the following September to the Latvian coast. Redesignated Army Group KURLAND toward the end of 1944.

Autumn 44: Began forming, possibly as part of an Italian SS division. Personnel may be attached in small groups to other units.

SECTION III. TABLES OF IDENTIFIED UNITS.

24. Introduction

The following signs and symbols are used throughout this section:

- *— indicates that unit is believed to exist on the basis of the identification of the affiliated division or similar deduction.
- indicates that no unit is believed to exist under the heading in question.
- ... indicates a gap in the numerical series of units, which may be filled in later.
- () indicates that unit has been disbanded or destroyed.

Abbreviations used in these tables are not necessarily those most frequently encountered in German documents, but are chosen for their brevity. In each case the special nomenclature is explained at the top of the table.

The following standard prefixes are used throughout this section:

Pz. (armd)	Geb. (mtn)	Fest. (fortr)
le. (light)	s. (heavy)	s. s. (superheavy)
sf. (SP)	mot (mtz)	tmot (partly mtz)
RAD (Labor Serv)	H.Tru. (GHQ)	z.b.V. (spec purpose)
selbst. (indep)	verst. (reinf)	bod (static)
(M) (stomach)	(O) (ear).

NOTE: Divisional assault gun "battalion" (Stu.Gesch.Abt.) carrying division auxiliary number plus 1000 (e.g. Stu.Gesch.Abt. 1172 in 72.Inf.Div.) are the 2d Cos of the respective Pz.Jäg.Abt. of the division. They are now no longer called Stu.Gesch.Abt. but retain their old numbers. These are not included in the following list.

Antitank units of parachute divisions (series 1-8), Air Force field divisions (series 1-22), and SS divisions (series 1-31) are listed in the respective divisional tables above.

Although actually belonging to the infantry arm, tank destruction (Panzerzerstörer) units are included here since they fall into the numerical series of the antitank units.

Section IV. ROSTER OF SENIOR OFFICERS

41. INTRODUCTION

a. General. This section consists of an alphabetical roster of selected high ranking officers of the German Army, Air Force, SS, and Police, with pertinent data regarding their age, branch, rank, seniority, present and past commands, origin, and combat decorations.

Officers who are members of the Air Force or the Waffen-SS, are indicated as such. Army personnel have their basic arm or service indicated in the "branch" column. Should the specific arm or service be unknown, the word "Heer" is given to indicate an Army officer.

The ages given are usually those reached in 1945, but in some cases they are only approximate.

Seniority is the date of promotion to the present rank.

The command or appointment shown is that which the officer is believed to have at the time of publication, but if a command has not been recently confirmed, it is listed under "past commands".

b. German surnames. Since the use of German surnames is sometimes confusing to the uninitiated, the following aids are given for understanding the method of their alphabetical listings:

(1) Hyphenated names: listed under first element. Example: KOCH-ERPACH, Rudolf.

(2) Compound names connected by und: listed under first element. Example: ROTHKIRCH und PANTHEN, Friedrich Wilhelm von.

(3) Compound names connected by von: usually listed under first element, provided this is a surname and not a title (such as Ritter) or a Christian name. Example: FISCHER von WEIKERSTHAL, Walter.

(4) Compound names connected by zu or auf: same as in (3) above.

(5) Double names connected by genannt (abbreviated gen., meaning "called"): may be listed under either of the two names according to which is more commonly used. Examples: von DEWITZ gen. von KREBS, Karl—listed under K, but von HARTLIEB gen. WALSPORN, Maximilian, listed under H.

Christian names are seldom if ever used in signatures. Officers sign orders with family name and rank only. It is therefore difficult, at times, to discover an officer's Christian name or initials, so that in a few cases in the following list there is a possibility of confusion between officers having the same surname.

c. German titles. The principal German titles of nobility occurring in the following list are, in descending sequence:

Graf—count.

Freiherr (abbreviated Frhr.)—Baron. The title Baron also exists.

Ritter—knight.

von (abbreviated v.)—when used alone denotes the lowest rank of nobility and corresponds to the French de. Also used in combination with all the above titles. Variants are: vom, von der, von dem, von und zu, van. (All such particles are ignored in the alphabetical arrangement of names.)

Academic and professional degrees, such as Dr., Dr. Ing., Dr. h.c., Dr. habil., Dr. phil., Dipl. Ing., Dipl. Wirtsch., are considered more important in German than in English. Until May 1944 they were regularly shown before the name both in official military documents and in signatures and were a valuable means of differentiating between certain officers bearing the same name. They are therefore included in the following list, although the custom of using them was abolished by the OKW for all military personnel except members of technical branches, such as medical, veterinary, and engineer services.

d. German military rank. Literal translations of ranks above that of colonel are deceptive. In the following table the corresponding U. S. rank is given for each German rank. It should be noted, however, that the appointments held by officers of any given rank may vary widely in status, and no appointment carries or presupposes specific rank. For example; an infantry regiment may be commanded by an Oberst, an Oberstleutnant, or even a Major.

German Abbreviation	German Rank	Corresponding U S rank
Genfldm.	Reichsmarschall Generalfeldmarschall	None (Marshal of the Reich) General of the Army
Genobst.	Generaloberst General	General Lieutenant General
Gen.d.Inf.	der Infanterie	NOTE: In the following list this rank is abbreviated as "Gen."; the arm which forms the remainder of the title appears in the column headed Branch; for example Gen.d.Art. GOLLNICK appears as GOLLNICK, Art. Gen. Air Force lieutenant generals are styled General der Flieger (Lw.), der Flakartillerie (Flak), der Fallschirmtruppen (Lw.) (FS), or der Luftnachrichtentruppen (Lw.N).
Gen.d.Geb.Tr.	der Gebirgstruppen
Gen.d.Kav.	der Kavallerie
Gen.d.Pz.Tr.	der Panzertruppen
Gen.d.Nachr.Tr.	der Nachrichtentruppen
Gen.d.Art.	der Artillerie	Major General
Gen.d.Pi.	der Pioniere	Brigadier General
Genlt.	Generalleutnant	Colonel
Genmaj.	Generalmajor	Lieutenant Colonel
Obst.	Oberst	Major
Obstlt.	Oberstleutnant	Captain
Maj.	Major	Captain (Cavalry)
Hptm.	Hauptmann	First Lieutenant
Rittm.	Rittmeister	Second Lieutenant
Oblt.	Oberleutnant
Lt.	Leutnant

The Waffen-SS has its own nomenclature for ranks and grades. The same fluid situation exists with regard to rank as in the Army; a unit may be headed by a commander two grades above or below that called for by its Table of Organization.

The alphabetical list includes only selected officers of the SS and Police who have operational importance. The more important officers in administrative positions, such as the heads and group chiefs of the SS Main Operational Department (SS-Führungshauptamt—SS-FHA), the SS Main Economic Administrative Department (SS-Wirtschafts-Verwaltungshauptamt—SS-WVHA), and the Reich Central Security Department (Reichssicherheitshauptamt—RSHA) are included as well as field commanders of the Waffen-SS of regimental status and higher. Known Higher SS and Police Commanders (Höhere SS und Polizeiführer—HSSPf.), the regional commanders of the SS and police, are listed.

SS abbreviation	SS	German Army
RF-SS	Reichsführer-SS	Genfeldm.
Obstgrf.	Oberstgruppenführer	Genobst.
Ogruf.	Obergruppenführer	General
Gruf.	Gruppenführer	Genlt.
Brigf.	Brigadeführer	Genmaj.
Oberf.	Oberführer
Standf.	Standartenführer	Oberst
Ostbf.	Obersturmbannführer	Obstlt.
Stbf.	Sturmabannführer	Major
	Hauptsturmführer	Hauptmann
	Obersturmführer	Oblt.
	Untersturmführer	Lt.

e. Categories of officers. In addition to the regular line officers of the peacetime Army (aktive Truppenoffiziere), who carry titles of rank without qualification, officers may be found carrying the following qualified titles—

(1) Offiziere i.G. (im Generalstab).—General Staff Corps officers. Trained at the War Academy (Kriegsakademie) and assigned to one of the limited number of General Staff appointments (Generalstabsstellen).

The approximately 1,500 General Staff Corps officers represent the elite of the German officer caste. These officers are now normally major or higher. There are not more than two General Staff officers to a division, and they are distributed equally sparingly to the high echelons. The anti-Hitler putsch of July 1944, which was inspired by certain officers holding high positions on the General Staff, led to an abrupt cessation of General Staff training. This training was resumed in January 1945, but officers now being appointed have been investigated and approved by the National Socialist Party.

In the list below, officers belonging to the General Staff Corps are indicated as such by "GSC" in the last column. Since most officers of general rank have passed through the General Staff Corps but no longer officially belong to it, the designation is omitted in these cases.

(2) Offiziere (Erg), Offiziere (E), Ergänzungsoffiziere.—Officers on the supplementary list. Retired officers recalled, mainly for administrative duties, between 1934 and 1939. These officers are now authorized to use their titles of rank without qualifications.

(3) Offiziere d.R. (der Reserve).—Reserve officers. Men selected for commissions at the time when they completed their two years' service as conscripts or their twelve years' service as professional soldiers. Indicated in the list below by the abbreviation: Res Off.

(4) Offiziere d.L. (der Landwehr).—Qualification formerly used for reserve officers over 35 years of age.

(5) Offiziere d.B. (des Beurlaubtenstandes).—A collective term for Reserve and Landwehr officers.

(6) Offiziere z.V. (zur Verfügung).—Regular or reserve officers who have been technically retired (entlassen) on completion of their term of service, but who may be retained in service or recalled for a new assignment. In the list below z.V. status is indicated in the last column.

(7) Offiziere z.D. (zur Dienstleistung).—Qualification formerly used by certain types of recalled Offiziere z.V.

(8) Offiziere (W) (des Waffenwesens).—Ordinance officers. Not included in the following list.

(9) Offiziere a.D. (ausser Dienst).—Retired officers, performing no military service.

f. Appointments. (1) Command appointments.—The Supreme Commander of the Armed Forces is entitled Oberster Befehlshaber der Wehrmacht. The Commander in Chief of the Army is entitled Oberbefehlshaber des Heeres. Both appointments are held by Adolf HITLER who holds no actual rank (he left the Army in 1918 with the rank of Private First Class—Gefreiter) ; he is addressed for military as well as for other purposes as Mein Führer.

The Armed Forces High Command, embodying the former War Ministry is headed by the Chef des Oberkommandos der Wehrmacht—Chef OKW.

Heads of offices (Ämter), groups (Amtsgruppen), and Branches (Abteilungen, Inspektionen) of all higher headquarters staffs are also referred to as Chefs.

Officer appointments (Ernennungen) to the commands of units are published in Army Personnel Office (Heerespersonalamt—HPA) orders. These commands are designated as follows:

CG of an army group or equivalent command—Oberbefehlshaber

CG of an army—Oberbefehlshaber

CG of a corps, corps area etc.—Kommandierender General

CO of a regiment—Regimentskommandeur

CO of a battalion—Bataillonskommandeur (infantry or engineers) or Abteilungskommandeur (other arms)

CO of a company etc.—Kompaniechef, Batteriechef, or Schwadronschef.

If a unit commander becomes a casualty or proves grossly inefficient in the field, his immediate superior may appoint an acting CO in his place. The acting CO is said to be entrusted with the leadership of the unit (mit der Führung beauftragt—m.d.F.b.) ; he has full command and disciplinary powers but until his appointment is confirmed by the Army Personnel Office he is referred to not as Kommandeur but as Führer—thus, Führer eines Armeekorps, Regimentsführer, Batterieführer. In certain circumstances, particularly in administrative or staff positions, officers holding temporary commands but with limited authority are said to be entrusted with the routine duties of the permanent commander (mit der Wahrnehmung der Geschäfte beauftragt—m.d.W.d.G.b.).

(2) Staff appointments.—The general staff of the Army, of an army group, of an army, or of a corps is headed by a Chief of Staff (Chef des Generalstabes). At division level this function is combined with that of operations officer with the usual designation 1st General Staff Officer (Erster Generalstabsoffizier). The operations and intelligence officers are called Ia and Ic respectively. The supply officer is known generally as the 2d General Staff Officer or Ib; in an army he is called Oberquartiermeister and in a corps Quartiermeister. The personnel officer is designated Adjutant or II. Assistant staff officers are called Ordonnanzoffiziere.

(3) Peace station.—The peace station of an officer is indicated in the list below by “PS” and is the peace station given in the official Army Roster. It is usually, but not always, the assignment held prior to 1939. The peace station is given here in some cases in order to indicate the type of command or post in which an officer is usually employed.

g. Decorations. The most important German decoration, the Iron Cross, is cumulative in character; i.e. the higher grades can be awarded only after the recipient has been given each of the preceding lower grades. Therefore only the highest grade of the Iron Cross won is indicated in the list below. The following are the grades of the Iron Cross in descending order:

Decoration	Abbreviation	English
Grosskreuz zum Ritterkreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes		Grand Cross to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross (Held only by GÖRING)
Goldenes Eichenlaub mit Schwertern und Brillanten zum Ritterkreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes		Golden Oakleaves with Swords and Diamonds to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross. (Held only by Obst. RUDEL at present; only twelve to be awarded.)
Eichenlaub mit Schwertern und Brillanten zum Ritter- kreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes	Eich.m.Schw.- u.Br.	Oakleaf Cluster with Swords and Diamonds to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.
Eichenlaub mit Schwertern zum Ritterkreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes	Eich.m.Schw.	Oakleaf Cluster with Swords to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.
Eichenlaub zum Ritterkreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes	Eich.	Oakleaf Cluster to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.
Ritterkreuz des Eisernen Kreuzes	Ritt.	Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.
Eisernes Kreuz 1. Klasse	E K I	Iron Cross, 1st Class
Eisernes Kreuz 2. Klasse	E K II	Iron Cross, 2d Class

h. Abbreviations. The German abbreviations used in the following list are explained in Section V, Glossary of German Abbreviations, and the terms used are indexed in Section VI, Index of German Terms and Designations, below.

Section V. GLOSSARY OF GERMAN ABBREVIATIONS

German rules for military abbreviations are somewhat flexible, and a number of alternate forms may often be found for the same term. The Germans distinguish between abbreviations proper (Abkürzungen) and "short designation" (Kurzbenennungen); for Artillerieregiment, for example, the usual abbreviation is Art.Rgt. while the short designation is A.R. In general, the abbreviations used in this book are those most commonly found in German documents.

The following glossary lists the principal basic military abbreviations in alphabetical order but does not give all the possible combinations of these basic elements. Reference to the pages on which the various expressions are explained will be found in Section VI, Index of German Terms and Designations, below.
